SOLDIERS'
WAR CLAIM AGENCY,
No. 34 Montgomery Block,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
W. H. AIKEN, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW AND Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in California and Nevada, gives prompt attention to the collection of Additional Travel Pay, now due California and Nevada Volunteers discharged more than three hundred miles from home. Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply, and state company and regiment, and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional Bounty and Pay Act of July 25, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 2d, 1861, for three years, if not paid the same when discharged. Land Warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed to Mexican and Indian war soldiers. State of Texas has granted Pensions to surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. H. Aiken also attends to General Law and Collection Business. jy24-tf

A Difference of Opinion.

The Post has two editors who have equal power. This is not an advantage, but rather the reverse. The Jones editor believes that if H. W. Beecher were found guilty, the whole structure of Christianity would be endangered; therefore he writes editorials to prove Beecher a maligned and persecuted man. The independent editor who has ideas of his own, and is slightly liberal in his views, looks at the facts and evidence, and condemns Beecher. The Jones editor writes a Beecher editorial one day, and the independent editor writes an anti-Beecher editorial the next. The Post is an interesting paper.

A Prejudiced Man.

Muffington is not a jealous man, but he is disgusted at this Beecher-Tilton affair. His wife is religiously inclined, Muffington isn't. He, however, has never in any way interfered with his wife's liberty of conscience, and has never objected to her going to church or prayer meeting or Sunday school, or anywhere else. He says now, however, that he thinks it will show good taste in his wife if she does not encourage the visits of clergymen, until this Beecher-Tilton affair blows over a little. So a nice, tame, poodle-eyed parson without a bit of harm in him, doesn't call on the Muffingtons any more.

Slightly Sarcastic.

"My dear, where is my Morning and Evening Devotion?" asked Mr. Paul Partington—meaning a small book with that title, in which he sometimes read.

"Here it is," said Mrs. Partington, producing from the closet a dark bottle, and setting it on the table with a clean glass. "Here it is, Paul."

He looked intently into her face to see if malice were actuating her; but he found all there calmly serene. He would not destroy the pleasure of her satisfaction in having thus obliged him, so he refrained from explanation, and partook.

They Know How It Is.

The Chronicle is loud in its condemnation of hoodlumism. Without regard to the fact that they are sure to offend a large portion of their readers, the proprietors abuse hoodlums in good set terms. There is no more enthusiastic advocate of temperance than the reformed drunkard. Perhaps the Chronicle people have reformed, and hence their denunciation of hoodlumism. Let us hope this is the case.

Visiting Round.

A lady who was in the habit of spending most of her time in the society of her neighbors, happened to be taken ill, and sent her husband in great haste for a physician. The husband ran a short distance, and then returned, exclaiming: "My dear, where shall I find you when I come back?"

We are Shocked.

The Bulletin says the rendering of "La Fricassee" at the California Theatre by Lotta and Robert Pateman is "delightful." Oh! Mr. Pickering, and you a deacon of the church. This pains us even more than the conduct of Brother Beecher of Brooklyn.

Commercial Education.

Those desirous of giving their sons a first-class Commercial Education, to fit them for the duties of life, should give them a course in Heald's Business College, 24 Post street.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

"The Bells."

The plot of "The Bells," which is to be produced at Maguire's New Theatre, tomorrow night, for the benefit of Charles Wheatleigh, is as follows: "Fifteen years before the rising of the curtain, Mathias, the host of an auberge in Alsace, during the depth of Winter, for the sake of the gold he carried in his girdle, has cruelly murdered a Polish Jew who had been for one night his guest. The assassin has remained unsuspected. The stolen money has been to him the foundation of good fortune. He has prospered, enjoys the esteem of his fellow-citizens, and occupies among them the position of burgomaster. Still the sense of his guilt oppresses him. He is continually haunted by the sound of the bells of the sledge in which the Jew had driven from the door of the auberge. (For the fact that these sounds are audible to Mathias and the audience, but are not supposed to be heard by the dramatis personæ generally, the authors may plead the precedent of the introduction of the ghost in the closet scene of 'Hamlet.') Mathias' mental and bodily strength is being gradually undermined less by the torture of remorse than by the ceaseless dread of discovery. He sleeps alone in a locked chamber lest he should betray himself by talking in his sleep. He keeps constant watch over his every word and action. He has resolved for his greater security to bestow the hand of his daughter Annette and her large fortune upon Christian, a young sergeant of gendarmes, who has displayed some anxiety to pierce the mystery of the murder. As the husband of Annette, Christian will be silenced and disarmed should he learn anything to the prejudice of Mathias. But there is much to keep awake the memory of the murderer. He is required to reckon his daughter's dowry, which includes certain gold pieces stolen from the Jew. It is again Winter, and his friends and gossips are reminded by its severity of the date of the murder of the Polonais. Further, Mathias has seen at the fair of Ribeauville, the performances of a mesmerist able to wrest from his patients, in a clairvoyant state, confession of the most cherished secrets of their lives. Mathias hastens the union of Christian and Annette, and the wedding feast is celebrated. At night the burgomaster is visited by a fearful dream, which is in itself a curious psychological study. The preceding incidents and suggestions of the story are reproduced in the vision with enhanced and yet distorted effect. Mathias is half conscious that he is dreaming, but is constrained to yield to the terrors of his position. He believes himself on trial before a justice for the murder of the Jew, and, in spite of his protestations of innocence, is induced by the power of the mesmerist to divulge every particular of his guilt. He calls upon Christian to aid him, but is informed that, convinced of his criminality, Christian has perished by his own hand. Sentence of death is passed upon the prisoner. With morning come the burgomaster's family to his chamber. He staggers from his couch a wan ghost of his former self, and falls dead in the arms of his wife and child. His crime remains undiscovered; but it has been punished."

Too Thin.

The unheard of defence was lately set up by a young man who was sued for a breach of promise of marriage, that he broke off the engagement because the young lady was deficient in conversational powers. He couldn't make the jury, who were all married men, swallow any such nonsense, and they mulcted him in a verdict of a thousand pounds.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Removal—"White House" Restaurant

What Cheer Laundry

The Sharp Man.

The sharp man iz mistaken for the wise one, but he iz just az different from a wize one az he iz from an honest one.

He trusts tew his cunning for success, and this iz the next thing tew being a rogue.

The sharp man iz like a razor—generally too sharp for anything but a shave.

These men are not to be trusted—they are so constituted that they must cheat somebody, and, rather than be idle or lose a good job, they will pitch into their best friends.

They are not exactly outkasts, but liv clos on the borders of criminality, and are liable tew step over at enny time.

It iz but a step from cunning to rascality, and it iz a short step that iz alwuz invitin tew take.

Sharp men have but phew friends, and seldom a confidant. They learn to fear treachery by studyin their own nature.

They are alwuz bizzy, but like the hornet, want a heap of sharp watching.

The sharp man iz alwuz a vain one. He prides himself upon his cunning, and had rather do a shrewd thing than a kind one.—Josh Billings.

Wouldn't Die.

"O, gracious! no," exclaimed Mrs. Marrowfat to Mrs. Quogge, raising her hands and speaking in a very excited tone. "She was so ill when her new bonnet came home that she couldn't get up, but, dear sakes! Jane, that didn't matter nothing, for she just put that hat on and lay with her head out the front window the whole afternoon."

Very Thin.

The astronomical editor of the Memphis Avalanche is of the opinion that the tail of the Coggia comet is made up of Alex. H. Stephen's old editoral paragraphs in the Atlanta Sun. If this theory be the correct one that comet has a much longer but thinner tail than most astronomers suppose.

Poetical Places.

Manhansetahachusawonmock Island is not such a favorite resort since tourists found out the charms of Caterwaulingakoh. spmdapidosmlonkzfrz Bay. Both places, it is hardly necessary to state, are in Maine.

An Experiment Worth Trying.

If you want to find out a man's real disposition, take him when he is wet and hungry. If he is amiable then, dry him and fill him up, and you have an angel.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

"Zip; or, Point Lynde Light" has proved a trump card for Lotta. She receives most able support from Robert Fateman, who will, in course of time educate the critics of this city up to an appreciation of what low comedy is. We are sure Mr. Fateman himself has a very good idea of it. "Zip" will be played again this evening.

Opera House.

Among the attractions for to-night Cotton, Arlington and company will appear in the first part and in "The Black Brigade," Billy Arlington in a banjo solo, Miss Lulu Delmay in songs, Billy Rice and others in "Scenes in a Hospital," and Ben Cotton, Con T. Murphy, Billy Arlington, Miss Jennie Sherman, D. J. Sherwood and Geo. Richards in the farce of "The Watch Dog."

Maguire's New Theatre.

Boucicault's admirable drama of "Arrah na Pogue" was repeated last night, and went much more smoothly than on the first night of its production. Charles Wheatleigh as Shaun the Post, John Howson as Michael Feeney, E. J. Buckley as Oiney Farrell and Miss Mary Wells as Katy Welsh, all received much applause. "Arrah na Pogue" will be repeated to-night.

Pacific Hall.

The beautiful views of Ireland, pleasing music, fine singing and descriptive lecture constituting the entertainment known as "A Night in the Emerald Isle," cannot fail to be appreciated by all who visit Pacific Hall. The exhibition will shortly be taken into the interior.

Montgomery Queen's Great Show.

The double trapeze act by Leopold and Geraldine continues a great feature of the performance given by Montgomery Queen's great combination of equestrian and gymnastic talent. Little Mollie Brown appears every day and evening in a bare-back act and throws a somersault, and the clowns have introduced some very good comic business. The season is fast drawing to a close. Those who have not yet seen the great show should not delay.

Bella Union Theatre.

"The Waifs of New York," with Miss Kate Raymond and O. B. Collins in the leading characters, draws crowds to this house. This attractive drama must shortly be withdrawn to make way for novelties in preparation. The fire scene and the railroad sensation are received nightly with the most enthusiastic applause.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

"Ned Buckley's Regular Army" shows forth the strength of the company and causes much laughter. A capital bill will be presented to-night, and to-morrow night John C. Arnold's new play of "The North Ward Beecher Scandal" will be produced.

Woodward's Gardens.

The Ali Ben Abdallah troupe of Bedouin Arabs, one of the greatest attractions ever presented at this place, appear again Saturday and Sunday. The big entertainment and ball for the benefit of Harry Andrews, takes place on Saturday evening. The Hot Creek Indians will appear.

City Garden.

If you wish to pass a pleasant afternoon and evening on Sunday, you could not go to a more delightful place than the City Gardens. Dancing in the evining.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the finest complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Notes.

Bobby Newcomb, the favorite song and dance man, will take his farewell benefit at the Opera House to-morrow evening. The full programme, which includes a number of new acts by the Minstrels, and songs and dances, etc., by amateurs, can be found on our first page.

George T. Evans has been appointed Musical Director for the Mechanic's Fair Exhibition. If George doesn't make the music one of the most attractive features of the Fair, we have misjudged the man.

Maguire's California Minstrels will commence a short season at the Metropolitan Theatre, Sacramento, on Monday, August 10th.

The dramatic company at present at Maguire's Theatre will remove to the Opera House on Monday, when Joe Murphy, the favorite Irish actor, will commence an engagement of two weeks.

The thrilling drama of "The Bells" will be produced to-morrow night at Maguire's New Theatre for the benefit of Charles Wheatleigh.

The "Black Crook" season at Maguire's New Theatre will commence on Monday.

Spring Style Hats.

Light, beautifully finished and graceful in shape, the new Spring style of Hats manufactured at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street (second hat store below Kearny street), is just the thing to make a man look a hundred per cent. better. Don't wear a shabby old hat. Go to "The Hat Store" for a new one. Prices reduced. 3-v

No Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions, Club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relief by applying at Dr. R. H. Cowan's Institute, removed to 212 Kearny street, from 1 to 6 P.M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. References given if required. E

TO A THRUSH.

Ah, brother singer, piping there
In a glad rush of golden air,
As though to care unknown;
Oh, would I were a thrush to wing
The leafy world of woods and sing,
Like you, for joy alone!

Of all, ah me! that plagues us so!
Of days of work you nothing know,
Of nights of thought, not rest.
Oh, would I were a bird, and knew
Unclouded singing hours with you,
Unworked, undriven, and blest!

That little bill—to you 'tis sweet
A little bill to have to meet,
Which men can seldom say.
You well may sing; men moil and toil,
But thrushes have no pot to boil,
No small accounts to pay.

"Black care," so sings our Horace, "sits Behind us still," and all our wits
Are tasked its weight to bear;
Your children give you not a thought;
Within the nest they're clothed and taught;
You've not for that to care.

And then those songs of yours you trill
And chirp and warble when you will;
Oh, happy, happy lot!
While we must chirrup at all times,
And, sad or glad, must grind out rhymes,
Whether we like or not.

Then critical reviews we read;
To all their scoffs you pay no heed:
You mind them not a rush,
Nor lose in peace of mind or cash
Though they should growl your songs are trash;
Oh, would I were a thrush!

And yet, my jovial singer there,
You too, perhaps, may have your care
And trill, with anxious mind;
Your thrushship, perhaps, may be hen-pecked
If slugs to bring home you neglect;
Worms may be hard to find,

There may be feathered cares and woes
Unnesting nature never knows;
We judge but as we can;
And you there, jolly as you sing,
May think your lot not quite the thing.
And long to be a man.

—All the Year Round.

Couldn't Phase Him.

A countryman took his seat at a hotel table, opposite to a gentleman who was indulging in a bottle of wine. Supposing the wine to be common property, our unsophisticated friend helped himself to it with the gentleman's glass. "That's cool!" exclaimed the owner of the wine, indignantly. "Yes," replied the other; "I should think there was ice in it.

A Submissive Wife.

A Kentucky man while drunk ordered his wife to take a hammer and a nail and knock his teeth out. With that meekness of spirit and obedience which characterizes her sex, that loving wife obeyed the orders of her lord. When he got sober his swearing didn't count because he mumbled so it could not be understood.

The German for "Wink."

Some Chicago visitors went into a saloon in Cleveland, kept by a German woman, and called for whiskey. She told them that she couldn't sell any, and then whispered confidentially to one of them: "Ven you vant visky you must call for vine and pinch mit your eyes."

Absent Minded.

The latest case of absence of mind is that of a gentleman living in one of the suburbs, who, seeing an omnibus pass by, hailed the driver and got in. After riding a part of the way home, he suddenly remembered that he had left his horse and buggy standing at the corner where he just saw the 'bus!

Benevolence Rewarded.

A benevolent physician in Laporte county, Indiana, gave a Fourth of July picnic to seven hundred children, not even such delicacies as cake, strawberries and ice cream being omitted. He got back his outlay in colics, however, before the week was over.

Not Unusual.

An old maid is not without power. A writer observes that he has known one such to turn a steamboat excursion into an occasion of gloom and despondency.

Great Bargains in Clothing:

The only store in the city that has the largest cheapest and finest assortment of Men's and Boys Clothing, is H. Peyser's Montgomery Avenue Clothing Store, 719 Montgomery street, between Washington and Jackson. Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance and stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a T."
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins!
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.
CHARLES HAAKE, Proprietor.

If one wishes to pass an hour or two pleasantly at the game of billiards, no pleasanter place can be found in the city than Chapman & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, Northeast corner Bush and Kearny stree's entrance on Bush. From the window a good view can be had of two of our busiest streets Bush and Kearny. Local Option not in force; for the best of Wines, Liquors and Cigars, are served at the bar for 12½ cents. 6-I

JOE GIUSTA'S Restaurant, at 105 California Market, has been long and favorably known by the public as a place where nice Chops, Porter-House Steaks and Oysters in every style could be had. A short time since, Mr. Giusta made an addition of a whole floor to his place, so that he could accommodate families. His restaurant, as now constructed, can well be called a family restaurant. 5-M

Give the Girls a Chance.

At a meeting recently held at St. John's Wood, near London, to consider the subject of providing better facilities for the higher education of girls, Prof. Huxley presided In his remarks at the opening of the meeting he said he was not convinced that the average woman is as strong intellectually as the average man. That his conclusion, based upon considerable observation and reflection, was that the "central point of female capacity" is not quite so high as that of "male capacity," but that it must not be inferred that the lowest order of masculine intellect is higher than the lowest of female. With such Pecksniffisms he defined his position, and then proceeded to talk sensibly for a few minutes, during which he said that practical success in life depends not so much on natural superiority of body and mind as upon diligent, persevering endeavor, and that in respect of these, women have proved themselves fully equals of men wherever they have enjoyed opportunities for a fair trial. He was therefore decidedly in favor of giving the girls a chance with the boys in the race of life. Amen! say we.

Of Thrilling Interest.

Max Adeler remarks: I find in the daily papers two items which appear to me to possess thrilling interest. One states that "there is an epidemic among the goats of Asia Minor," and the other informs us that "Terre del Fuego is for sale." When I reflect upon the almost pathetic interest that is felt in this country in the sanitary condition of the goats of Asia Minor, and upon the vast number of Americans who do not sleep at night because of their great and irrepressible yearning to buy up Terra del Fuego at auction, and when I remember that American newspapers lately have paid for several costly cable dispatches which informed them that Cardinal Antonelli's gout is better, and that the Earl of Yarborough was drunker than usual, I feel that if it wasn't for a free and independent press the people of this country would soon lapse again into darkness and ignorance and hopeless chaos.

Women Loafers.

Women may hold meetings, and talk and prate of wrongs until the crack of doom; but this matter will not be helped until they prove that they honor and respect labor for labor's sake, and learn to show no less respect, at any rate, to the girl who sews for a living than to the fine lady who rolls through the street in her carriage. Labor must be honored in the first place, and then women must be taught that it is as disgraceful and contemptible for them to loll and laze about the house, as it would be for their brothers to idle and lounge in the streets; that a woman loafer is as bad as a man loafer; then some reformation may be expected, and not till then.

Perhaps So.

An old lady writes to say that she is warmly in favor of women doctors for women; that a sick woman will tell one of her own sex more about her feelings in five minutes than she would a male doctor in an hour.

Theatrical Gossip From London.

The Boston Courier's correspondent writes under date of July....The theatrical event of the week, is the production of Dion Boucicault's six-act drama of "Led Astray," at the Gaiety Theatre. All London was present upon the occasion, and in the private boxes and stalls I noticed a number of popular actresses and the gentlemen who generously and disinterestedly provide them with all the comforts and luxuries that money can procure. In addition to these persons I noticed many men distinguished in art and literary circles, and these gentlemen manifested great interest in the new play. I must frankly say, "Led Astray" is a disappointing piece. There is not a bit of heart in it. Boucicault has cleverly jockeyed it into a good start, and I hear the great Dion predict a run of three hundred nights for it. I wish he may get it, but I don't think he will. With his accustomed modesty, Mr. Boucicault has raised the prices of the stalls from seven to ten shillings. The great hit of the evening was made by Mr. Charles Thorne, a clever American acter. He took the audience by storm, and I can only compare his successful debut to that made by Mr. Sothern in 1862....From the Haymarket I hear that Mr. Robert Buchanan's comedy of "The Mad-Cap Prince," will not be produced as early as was expected .....Messrs. Jarrett and Palmer, the well-known New York Managers, have engaged Mr. Henry Irving for a series of his impersonations. We shall, however, have an opportunity of witnessing in London his renderings of several of Shakspeare's heroes before he steams across the Atlantic. "Hamlet" and "Richard the Third," are at present his favorite characters, in both of which he is likely to appear during the Autumn and Winter months....I mentioned in my last letter that Mr. John Oxenford was spoken of as a likely successor of Mr. Donne as licenser of plays. In addition to the clever dramatic critic of The Times, the names of Mr. Alfred Wigan, Mr. Palgrave Simpson and Dr. Westland Marston are mentioned.

The Blessed.

Blessed are they that are blind, for they shall see no ghosts. Blessed are they that are deaf, for they never lend money and never hear tedious stories. Blessed are they that are afraid of thunder, for they shall hesitate about getting married and keep away from political meetings. Blessed are they that are lean, for there is a chance to grow fat. Blessed are they that are ignorant, for they are happy in thinking they know anything. Blessed is he that is ugly in form and features, for the "gals" shall not molest him. Blessed is she who would get married, but can't, for the consolations of the gospel are hers. Blessed are they that expect nothing, for they shall not be disappointed. Blessed are they that do not advertise, for they shall rarely be troubled with a customer.

Historical.

The Reese River Reveille says: History speaks of Susan B. Anthony as bosom friend and companion of the wife of Julius Cæsar, and chronicles the fact that while a member of Cæsar's household Mark Anthony attempted to call the police. Should it be wondered at, in face of this record, that when Tilton applied for admission to her virtuous sanctuary that she should declare that if he entered that room it would be over her dead body. Theodore was not in a humor for walking over corpses, so he left her to the company of Mrs. Tilton, who, Cady says that Susie says, confessed her criminal connection with Beecher.

Pretty Rough.

Reason enough there was for doing it—George Falkenstein, we mean, who committed suicide at Pittsburgh, Penn., the other day; for he is described as a "foreigner, unmarried, despondent, homesick, and full of drink." Poor fellow!

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

"The Bells."

The plot of "The Bells," which is to be produced at Maguire's New Theatre, tonight, for the benefit of Charles Wheatleigh, is as follows: "Fifteen years before the rising of the curtain, Mathias, the host of an auberge in Alsace, during the depth of Winter, for the sake of the gold he carried in his girdle, has cruelly murdered a Polish Jew who had been for one night his guest. The assassin has remained unsuspected. The stolen money has been to him the foundation of good fortune. He has prospered, enjoys the esteem of his fellow-citizens, and occupies among them the position of burgomaster. Still the sense of his guilt oppresses him. He is continually haunted by the sound of the bells of the sledge in which the Jew had driven from the door of the auberge (For the fact that these sounds are audible to Mathias and the audience, but are not supposed to be heard by the dramatis personæ generally, the authors may plead the precedent of the introduction of the ghost in the closet scene of 'Hamlet.') Mathias' mental and bodily strength is being gradually undermined, less by the torture of remorse than by the ceaseless dread of discovery. He sleeps alone in a locked chamber lest he should betray himself by talking in his sleep. He keeps constant watch over his every word and action. He has resolved for his greater security to bestow the hand of his daughter Annette and her large fortune upon Christian, a young sergeant of gendarmes, who has displayed some anxiety to pierce the mystery of the murder. As the husband of Annette, Christian will be silenced and disarmed should he learn anything to the prejudice of Mathias. But there is much to keep awake the memory of the murderer. He is required to reckon his daughter's dowry, which includes certain gold pieces stolen from the Jew. It is again Winter, and his friends and gossips are reminded by its severity of the date of the murder of the Polonais. Further, Mathias has seen at the fair of Ribeauville, the performances of a mesmerist able to wrest from his patients, in a clairvoyant state, confession of the most cherished secrets of their lives. Mathias hastens the union of Christian and Annette, and the wedding feast is celebrated. At night the burgomaster is visited by a fearful dream, which is in itself a curious psychological study. The preceding incidents and suggestions of the story are reproduced in the vision with enhanced and yet distorted effect. Mathias is half conscious that he is dreaming, but is constrained to yield to the terrors of his position. He believes himself on trial before a justice for the murder of the Jew, and, in spite of his protestations of innocence, is induced by the power of the mesmerist to divulge every particular of his guilt. He calls upon Christian to aid him, but is informed that, convinced of his criminality, Christian has perished by his own hand. Sentence of death is passed upon the prisoner. With morning come the burgomaster's family to his chamber. He staggers from his couch a wan ghost of his former self, and falls dead in the arms of his wife and child. His crime remains undiscovered; but it has been punished."

Oh! Certainly.

We know the following must be true because we clip it from the "Religious News" column of an Eastern exchange: A Methodist parson, called to preach at an out-of-the-way town in California, was informed before entering the pulpit that he must be careful, as many of the assembled congregation were "roughs," and would not hesitate to disturb him if his remarks didn't suit. The holy man made no reply, but having reached the desk he took from his pockets two revolvers, and placing one on each side of the Bible gave a sharp glance around the house and said, "Let us pray." A more orderly service was never conducted.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Opera House.

The minstrels will give only a few more performances before going to Sacramento. To-night that inimitable song and dance artiste Bobby Newcomb will take his farewell benefit. The full programme is published in another column. It comprises the beneficiary in "The Girl with the Curl," and in The Jealous Husband," with Billy Arlington, Mestayer and White in song and dance, Billy Miller in a champion jig, and other attractions.

Maguire's New Theatre.

To-night Charles Wheatleigh will take his benefit and will present for the first time in California, the thrilling drama entitled "The Bells." The full cast is published on our first page, and the plot of the piece is given in another column. Mr. Wheatleigh deserves a bumper benefit, and will certainly have one. He caters well for the San Francisco public.

California Theatre.

"Zip, or Point Lynde Light" with Lotta in the character of the heroine has proved such a success that it will be played every evening this week, and at the Saturday matinee.

Pacific Hall.

This evening the children of the Catholic Orphan Asylum are invited to enjoy "A Night in the Emerald Isle." This evening this very pleasant entertainment will be given for the last time in this city

Montgomery Queen's Great Show.

Romeo Sebastian, Miss Mollie Brown, Miss Lizzie Stemple, Leopold and Geraldine, Nat Austin and all the star performers will appear at the matinee to-day, and again this evening. The great show is announced to close with this week, and Mr. Queen is giving before leaving, entertainments with free entree, for the children of the Orphan Asylums of San Francisco and San Rafael.

Bella Union Theatre.

In consequence of the great success of Miss Kate Raymond and O. S. Collins, in the sensation drama of "The Waifs of New York," it will be continued three nights longer. This evening in addition to this attraction the management announce the first appearance of the song and dance men Hook and Hart, and a new olio of acts songs and dances.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

The bill at this house is a very attractive one as may be seen by referring to our first page. Johnny Tears, Frank Mortimore and all the stars will appear.

Woodward's Gardens.

The Ali Ben Abdallah troupe of Bedouin Arabs, one of the greatest attractions ever presented at this place, appear again Saturday and Sunday. The big entertainment and ball for the benefit of Harry Andrews, takes place on Saturday evening. The Hot Creek Indians will appear.

City Garden.

If you wish to pass a pleasant afternoon and evening on Sunday, you could not go to a more delightful place than the City Gardens. Dancing in the evining.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Notes.

Messrs. Clark, Linden and Oberist, will be added to Maguire's California Minstrels when they open here for their new season, on the 24th inst. These are all Eastern performers of repute, and new to this coast. Clark is a first-class bass singer, formerly of the Parepa Rosa Troupe and later with the Kellogg Troupe. Linden is celebrated for his prima donna business a la Leon. Oberist is a good comedian, and the best Hungarian warbler on the stage. They are now en route, and other talent will follow in quick succession. The public cannot complain that Manager Maguire does not present them novelties enough.

Alexander Kidd, Jr., the popular young musician, of Maguire's Minstrels, was united in marriage by the Rev. John Bomphill, to Miss Dollie Nicholson, a fashionable young belle of this city, August 5th.

Joe Murphy will open in "Maum Cre."

Miss Belle Chapman is quite a favorite at the California Theatre. Even in small parts her stage training manifests itself.

Edmund Leathes is playing in "Led Astray," in London.

Another Victory for California.

Our worthy and respected citizen, Mr. Rulofson (Bradley & Rulofson), has returned from the East crowned with laurels, not only for himself but for the State of California. Mr. Rulofson, who was delegated to represent the Photographic Art Association of the Pacific Coast at the annual meeting of the Photographic Art Association of the United States, had the honor to be elected President of the Association. We are not informed whether it was owing to the beautiful finish and artistic style of his pictures, or, to his own personal appearance One thing is sure, that he has returned with a Gold Medal for the best work in America, placing California the first State in the Union in photographic art. Messrs. Bradley & Rulofson's establishment, 429 Montgomery street, is open to the public for the inspection of the finest pictures in the world, No climbing of stairs necessary, as they land you in the gallery by a magnificent elevator.

SIR MARMADUKE'S MUSINGS.

BY THEODORE TILTON.

I won a noble fame,
But, with a sudden frown,
The people snatched my crown,
And in the mire trod down
My lofty name

I bore a bounteous purse,
And beggars by the way
Then blessed me day by day,
But I grown poor as they,
Have now their curse.

I gained what men call friends,
But now their love is hate,
And I have learned too late
How mated minds unmate,
And friendship ends.

I clasped a woman's breast,
As if her heart I knew,
Or fancied would be true,
Who proved—alas, she, too—
False, like the rest.

I now am all bereft—
As when some tower doth fall,
With battlements and wall,
And gate, and bridge, and all—
And nothing left.

But I account it worth
All pangs of fair hopes crossed—
All loves and honors lost—
To gain the heavens at cost
Of losing earth.

So, lest I be inclined
To render ill for ill—
Henceforth in me instil,
O God, a sweet good-will
To all mankind.

A Smuggler's Narrative.

"We shall be, my dear madam," said I to a fellow passenger on the Dieppe boat, taking out my watch, but keeping my eye steadily on her, "we shall be in less that ten minutes at the custom house." A spasm—a flicker from the guilt within—glanced from her countenance. "You look very good-natured, sir," stammered she, I bowed, and looked considerably more so, to invite her confidence. "If I were to tell you a secret, which is to much for me to keep to myself, oh! would you keep it inviolable?" "I know it, my dear madam; I know it already," said I smiling, "it is lace, is it not?" She uttered a little shriek, and yes — she had got it there among the crinoline. She thought it had been sticking out, you see, unknown to her. "Oh, sir," she cried, "it is only ten pounds' worth; please to forgive me, and I'll never do it again. As it is, I think I shall expire." "My dear madam," replied I, sternly, but kindly, "here is the pier, and the officer has fixed his eye upon us. I must do my duty."

I rushed up the ladder like a lamplighter; I pointed out the woman to a legitimate authority; I accompanied her upon her way, in custody, to the searching house. I did not see her searched, but I saw what was found upon her, and I saw her fined and dismissed with ignominy. Then, having generously given up my emoluments as informer to the subordinate officials, I hurried off in search of the betrayed woman to her hotel. I gave lace twice the value of that she lost, paid her fine and explained: "You, madam, had £10 worth of smuggled goods about your person; I had nearly fifty times that amount. I turned informer, madam, let me convince you, for the sake of both of us. You have too expressive a countenance, believe me, and the officer would have found you out, at all events, even as I did myself. Are you satisfied, my dear madam? If you still feel aggrieved by me in any way pray take more lace; here is lots of it." When I finished my explanation, the lady seemed perfectly satisfied with my little stroke of diplomacy, though she would have doubtless preferred a little less prominent part in it.

Great Bargains in Clothing.

Stalls 91, 92 and 93, have been opened by Anderron & Marshall as the Long Branch oyster house. They are among the oldest oyster men in the city.

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen!
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a "T."
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins!
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners,"
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.
CHARLES HAAKE, Proprietor.

If one wishes to pass an hour or two pleasantly at the game of billiards, no pleasanter place can be found in the city than Chapman & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, Northeast corner Bush and Kearny streets entrance on Bush. From the window a good view can be had of two of our busiest streets Bush and Kearny. Local Option not in force; for the best of Wines, Liquors and Cigars, are served at the bar for 12½ cents. 6-I

JOE GIUSTA'S Restaurant, at 105 California Market, has been long and favorably known by the public as a place where nice Chops, Porter-House Steaks and Oysters in every style could be had. A short time since, Mr. Giusta made an addition of a whole floor to his place, so that he could accommodate families. His restaurant, as now constructed, can well be called a family restaurant. 5-M

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

SACRAMENTO.—On Monday Maguire's California Minstrels, Bobby Newcomb, Miss Lulu Delmey, Ben Cotton, Billy Arlington, Billy Rice and others will commence a season of one week at the Metropolitan Theatre. It is some time since the Sacramento people had any amusement, and the admirable entertainment given by this great combination of talent should draw crowded houses.

PORTLAND.—Madame Anna Bishop gave concerts here on Tuesday, 4th, Thursday, 6th, and will give another this evening. She was assisted by Mrs. Marriner, Alfred Wilkie, W. Campbell and Harry Lask.

SAN JOSE.—Joe Murphy opened at the Opera House on Wednesday evening in "Maum Ore." The Mercury says:

Joe Murphy played to a thousand-dollar house in this city on Wednesday night. FIGARO, now won't you stop slandering San Jose?

We never slandered San Jose. It is the worst show town on the face of the earth. There isn't another man living but Joe Murphy could draw a thousand-dollar house in San Jose. Edwin Booth wouldn't draw expenses, and Ristori or Lecocq would play to empty benches. Joe Murphy is exceptional. On Thursday night "Handy Andy" was played. Another entertainment was given last night, and the season will close to-night. Montgomery Queen's Great Show will show on the 13th. The Marionettes will commence a season of one week on the 24th, and then we expect the San Jose people will prove their appreciation of "the drama" by crowding the house. Jessie and Kitty Morse, twin sisters, twelve years old, gave a concert at Music Hall on Tuesday.

SALT LAKE.—The Vokes Family opened at the Theatre on the 3d, and have, of course, drawn crowded houses here as they have in every place where they have appeared.

VIRGINIA CITY.—The season at Piper's Opera House com enced on Monday, when "The Marble Heart" was performed, with J. Al. Sawtelle as Phidias and Raphael Duchalet, and Miss Carrie Coggswell as Marco. On Tuesday evening, Miss Annette Ince made her first appearance, as Julia in "The Hunchback." On Wednesday, "Elizabeth Queen of England," was produced, with Miss Ince as Elizabeth. On Thursday, "Ion" was played. To-night Miss Ince will take a benefit.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow,
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town.
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast.
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc. printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

FOREIGN DRAMATIC NEWS.

A new opera by Virginia Gabriel has been produced at Preston, England.

Messrs. Delehanty and Hengler appeared at the Oxford Music Hall, London, on the 29th.

Signor Brignoli is under engagement to Mr. Mapleson, of Drury Lane Theatre, for the Autumn season.

Legal proceedings are likely to ensue between the management of the Strand Theatre, London, and Miss Lydia Thompson.

The London Hornet says:—"A season at Astley's is contemplated in August, when a large drama will probably be produced, with one or two leading American actors." Who are they?

After a connection of nearly twenty years, Mr. Chippendale is about to leave the London Haymarket Theatre for the Lyceum, where he will play Polonius in "Hamlet," Mr. Henry Irving being the Hamlet, Mr. Clayton the King, and the veteran Compton the First Gravedigger.

The New York Dispatch says:—It is rumored that Dion Boucicault has leased the Princess Theatre, London, and purposes producing "Mimi" and "Darby O'Dowd." If he attempts to produce the latter gross plagiarism, which it will be remembered the Dispatch exposed on its production at Booth's Theatre, in London under the very nose of John Oxenford, from whose play "The Porter's Knot," it was stolen, we are afraid Dion will once more find London too hot to hold him.

Mr. John Oxenford is preparing Mr. Swinburne's tragedy of "Bothwell" for stage representation. We are not aware as yet on what boards it will be given.

M. Charles Lecocq was present at a recent performance of the Moore & Burgess Minstrels, and, after hearing the Chœur des Cuisiniers, from "Les Cent Vierges," sung by the Christy Choir, expressed his determination to write something expressly for the troupe.

Joaquin Miller is at present in Venice. He has just finished a play which he proposes to put on the stage.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Matthews have taken a villa at Richmond for the Summer months, and have issued invitations to their friends for several ensuing Sundays. This is a revival of the old charming theatrical society, and the afternoons are likely to be extremely popular.

Miss Bateman returns to the stage to play an act of "Leah" on the occasion of her father's benefit at the Lyceum, and when the legitimate Irving and the company leave for the provinces Miss Soldene stops into the sacred Lyceum with opera bouffe.

The villagers in Ober-Ammergau, in Bavaria, are giving, at intervals, this Summer, performances of a sacular play entitled "The Founding of the Monastery of Ettal," a patriotic drama. It was written by an aged ex-priest of Ober-Ammergau, Rath Daisenberger. King Louis was so much pleased with one of the performances last year that he invited the principal player to dine with him at his castle of Linderhof in the neighborhood.

Removal—"White House" Restaurant

The popular and well known Dining Saloon "White House", 112 Kearny street, Louis Meyer Proprietor, will remove Saturday the 28th July, to his new and more commodious premises 211 Sutter street, near the Centre Market. Mr. Meyer, in his new and elegant premises, will be able to better accommodate his numerous patrons. 7-bg

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions, Club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relief by applying at Dr. E. H. Cowan's Institute, removed to 212 Kearny street, from 1 to 6 P.M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. References given if required. 8

Stalls 74 and 75 are taken by the pioneer Poultry and Game dealers, Benjamin & Strabler. The finest Poultry and Game, and the Freshest Butter and Eggs in the city. 7-N

BOSTON OYSTER HOUSE.—L. O. Pratt has opened stalls 89 and 90 in Centre Market. Oysters in every style. Chops and Steaks of the choicest. Ladies private rooms up stairs. 7-E

Stalls 91, 92 and 93, have been opened by Anderson & Marshall as the Long Branch oyster house. They are among the oldest oyster men in the city.

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at "Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen!
White mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clam and crabs and terrapins
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.

CHARLES HAASE, Proprietor.

If one wishes to pass an hour or two pleasantly at the game of billiards, no pleasanter place can be found in the city than Chapman & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, Northeast corner Bush and Kearny streets entrance on Bush. From the window a good view can be had of two of our busiest streets Bush and Kearny. Local Option not in force; for the best of Wines, Liquors and Cigars, are served at the bar for 12½ cents. 6-r

JOE GIUSTA'S Restaurant, at 105 California Market, has been long and favorably known by the public as a place where nice Chops, Porter House Steaks and Oysters in every style could be had. A short time since, Mr. Giusta made an addition of a whole floor to his place, so that he could accommodate families. His restaurant, as now constructed, can well be called a family restaurant. 5-M

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

MAGUIRE'S NEW THEATRE.—The bill for last night when Charles Wheatleigh took his benefit, consisted of the drama of "The Bells, or, The Polish Jew," and the comedietta entitled "The First Night." The plot of "The Bells" was published in yesterday's issue. Charles Wheatleigh in the character of Mathias did some of the best acting we have seen for a long time. It was worthy of Fechter, in his best days. There was no over acting or straining for effect, every tone of voice, ever gesture was artistic and well considered and the result was admirable. During the scene in which Mathias is on trial (in a dream) for the murder of the Jew, Mr. Wheatleigh's acting was superb, and held the audience rapt in admiration. The play was carefully put on the stage, and the tableaux were effectively managed. The support was excellent. Miss Jeffreys Lewis, albeit she had not much to do in the part of Annette, save to look bewitchingly pretty and act naturally, accomplished this so well and with so little effort that she was an object of interest during the time she was on the stage. Edward Arnott was all that could be desired as her lover Christian, John Howson and George Giddens as the two old cronies, Father Walter and Hans, did some clever acting. Miss Mary Wells as Catherine, gave a pleasing representation of that good matron, Miss Sidney Cowell was pleasingly vivacious as Sozet, W. G. Coggswell was impressive and effective as President of the Court, R. J. Buckley did his business as the mesmeriser very well, and W. Bark as the jovial Fritz looked and acted well. In the afterpiece Mr. Wheatleigh showed his versatility by the very clever manner in which he played Mons. Achille Talma Dufard, Miss Sidney Cowell did some good acting as Emilie Antoinette Rose, and Miss Kate Browning filled the role of Miss Arabella Fitzjames, well. "The Bells" will be played at the matinee to-day, and this evening and to-morrow evening, the admirable bill which afforded so much pleasure to all who attended Mr. Wheatleigh's benefit last night, will be repeated.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—"Zip" with the vivacious Lotta in the title role has drawn crowded houses throughout the week. It will be repeated at the matinee to-day and again this evening. The water scene in the first act is generally admired, the Fricassee dance excites the most enthusiastic applause, and from the time the curtain rises until it falls on the final scene, the interest of the audience is sustained.

OPERA HOUSE.—Bobby Newcomb had a capital house last night when he took his farewell benefit. Mestayer and White acquitted themselves admirably in song and dance, and Billy Miller won much applause for his champion jig. At the matinee to-day, to-night and to-morrow night, the splendid bill which has drawn crowded houses during the week will be played. These will be the closing performances of the minstrel season. Joe Murphy will open on Monday, and the minstrels will go to Sacramento.

MONTGOMERY QUEEN'S GREAT SHOW.—At the matinee to-day and this evening, Miss Mollie Brown, Romeo Sebastian, Senor Faranta, Leopold and Geraldine, Madame Louise Tournair, and all the great artistes engaged here will appear in a very attractive programme of equestrian and gymnastic acts. There is an aerial ascension every evening at 7 o'clock. There will be a change of programme on Sunday evening. There will be matinees each afternoon of next week.

BENEFIT OF J. H. HUNTER.—The closing performance of the Marionettes will be given at Platt's Hall to-night for the benefit of J. H. Hunter the treasurer: On this occasion Mr. Hunter is determined that the hard working troupe shall have a square meal, and he is sure that they will perform all the better for it.

NEW BELLA UNION THEATRE.—Miss Kate Raymond and C. B. Collins in "The Waifs of New York," Hook and Hart in song and dance, Kelly, Summers and Woodard in "Tragedy and Carrots," Col. Mandeville and Matt Kelly in a brilliant first part, Miss Maggie St. Clair in songs, Miss Susie Robinson in song and dance, and many other attractions will be offered this evening.

BUCKLEY'S NEW VARIETY THEATRE.—To-night there will be a capital First Part and a great olio of songs, acts and dances in which Johnny Tuers, Frank Mortimore, Johnny Price, Ed Barry, John Kelly, Harry Devoy, Miss Maggie Brewer, Ida Fisk and a host of others will take part. There is always a great Saturday night bill at this house.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS. — The Arabs. The Ali Ben Abdallah troops of Bedouin Arabs, one of the greatest attractions ever presented at this place, appear again Saturday and Sunday. The big entertainment and ball for the benefit of Harry Andrews, takes place on Saturday evening. The Hot Creek Indians will appear.

CITY GARDENS.—Great Sunday Resort. If you wish to pass a pleasant afternoon and evening on Sunday, you could not go to a more delightful place than the City Gardens. Dancing in the evening.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—Captain Foster, the genial host of the Cliff House, entertains visitors from all parts of the Globe at his famous sea-side resort. The Cliff House is THE one thing San Francisco has to boast of as different from anything else in the world. Omnibuses run every day from the terminus of the Lone Mountain Railroad.

GOLDEN GATE PARK.—Those who drive out to the new park should visit The Villa which has just been opened. Here they will find four public parlors and ten private dining rooms. Guido Mangenberg, the proprietor, gets up epicurean breakfasts, dinners and suppers at short notice. Omnibuses will leave on SUNDAYS, at 9 o'clock A. M., from the corner of Market and Kearny Streets, and every hour afterward, until 4 o'clock, from the corner of McAllister and Fillmore streets connecting with the Market Street and Hayes Valley cars, and from the corner of Turk and Fillmore streets by the way of City Front and Lone Mountain cars.

GRAND SUNDAY EXCURSION.—The steamer Antelope leaves San Francisco every Saturday at 2:30. P. M. and on Sunday at 8 A. M. from Front Street Wharf, connecting with the cars of the S. F. & N. P. Railroad at Donahue for Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Healdsburg and Cloverdale. Excursion tickets are issued at reduced rates, and are good from Saturday to Monday. Those who wish to enjoy a little country air at the end of the week

NOTES.—Langrish and Glenn's New York Black Crook Company are rehearsing daily at the Opera House. On Monday the work of putting their scenery into Maguire's New Theatre will be effected by means of a whole army of machinists and carpenters. Everything is complete, and the members of the company are perfect in their various specialties, and in the dialogue and business of the play, they having been performing it in the East for the past three years. The scenery is all new, having been painted expressly for this trip. The box sheet will be open on Monday. "The Black Crook" season is for three weeks only.

In consequence of the rush to the Great Show continuing undiminished, Montgomery Queen has determined to prolong the season one week. Next week there will be a performance every evening and a matinee on Wednesday and Saturday.

Billy Bray made quite a hit in his clog dance, last night, at Bobby Newcomb's benefit.

The entertainment at Pacific Hall entitled "A Night in the Emerald Isle," closed last night with great eclat. The children of the Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum attended by invitation of the management, and enjoyed themselves thoroughly. The exhibition will be given in the chief towns in the interior.

Mark Twain behaved very squarely with G. B. Densmore with regard to the dramatization made by the latter of his book entitled "The Golden Age." He sent Mr. Densmore the price which John T. Raymond agreed to pay for it, and has made it the basis of his own play, in which Mr. Raymond is shortly to appear.

Joe Murphy, one of the particular favorites of the California public, whose popularity is so universal that he can draw crowded houses even in San Jose, will commence an engagement at the Opera House on Monday in the Irish drama of "Maum Cre." Mr. Murphy will be supported by the company from Maguire's New Theatre.

Geo. M. Ciprico, who was an amateur actor in San Francisco, and who has during his stay in the East made rapid progress in his profession, is "working the press" very successfully prior to starting as a star in a new piece entitled "Edmund Kean," written for him by P. A. Fitzgerald. A Morristown, Pa, paper makes him and his play the subject of a column editorial. We make the following extract to show that the Pennsylvania papers lay it on pretty thick:

Mr. Ciprico is the youngest legitimate "star" upon the stage, and is the most versatile scholar (in Philosophy, Astronomy, Mathematics, Law and Medicine as well as in his chosen art,) known in the profession.

We hope that Mr. Ciprico will succeed, but his success must depend at least as much on his own talent and perseverance as on newspaper notices.

John McCullough will make his reappearance in New York on Monday at Booth's Theatre in Boucicault's new play.

Next week will be the last of Lotta's engagement at the California Theatre. She will appear on Monday and Tuesday in "Firefly," on Wednesday and Thursday in "The Ticket of Leave Man," on Friday she will take her farewell benefit and will appear in "Little Nell and the Marchioness." On Saturday "The Ticket of Leave Man" will be played at the matinee, and in the evening Lotta will make her last appearance in "Zip." The wonderful Vokes Family will follow Lotta, commencing their engagement on the 17th.

There will be great doings at Woodward's Gardens to-day for the benefit of the enterprising manager, Harry Andrews. The Bedouin Arabs will appear in the afternoon and evening, Daisey Hinckley, Walter Hinckley, Mortimer Summers and Mr. Morrill will appear in Harry Andrews' original play "Whiffles Under a Cloud," and there will be a grand corroboree and ball. To-morrow the Bedouin Arabs will appear, and a great variety of entertainments will be given. Woodward's Gardens will be crowded, and every one will see everybody else there.

R. L. Gardner, Manager of Piedmont White Sulphur Springs, three miles from Oakland, has invited all his Rhode Island friends, members of the Press and a great many more to enjoy a Clam Bake and Chowder to-day, in the vicinity of the Springs. There will doubtless be a goodly company.

Joe Baldwin, brother of Ned O'Baldwin, who is also said to be "a man that's very handy with his fine," will put in his first appearance here at a sparring exhibition that is to come off at German Armory Hall, next Friday evening, for the benefit of Pete Lawlor. The wind up will be a set to between the two. "Oh, my head!"

Aimee, and the portion of her troupe that have been raising part of the Summer here, left for the East on Thursday last. Chizolla, Aimee's agent, is now in Paris engaging a new Opera Bouffe company, which will join her in New York early in the Fall.

Geo. H. Foster won the prize of a silver goblet, awarded to the best sentimental singer, at the opening of Shepherd's saloon, 19 Geary street, last Wednesday night.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

Mr. Taylcure's new piece, written for Mr. Chanfrau, is named "Wall street." Mr. Taylcure is said to be writing a play on the subject of "The Scarlet Letter."

Rose Wood and Lewis Morrison, supported by E. A. Locke, J. J. Prior, Harry Langdon, Marcus Moriarty, J. H. Smith, George Collins, Mary Andrews, Hett e Tracy, Ada Lawrence, Ed. P. Wilkes, Mrs Harry Langdon, Henry Brown and A. Rich, will wander through the provinces, bearing the name of Sherry's New York Theatre Company.

Jarrett & Palmer lost over $1 000 by the burning of the Adelphi Theatre, Chicago. They had loaned the manager their "Black Crook" armor.

It will not be necessary to get up a benefit for these gentlemen. They know how to take care of themselves.

Mr. John W. Norton, formerly of Booth's Theatre, will be the leading actor at De Bar's Opera House, St. Louis, next season. Messrs. Jarrett & Palmer have secured the services of Mr. George Bignold, an excellent English actor, for Booth's Theatre.

Chas. Bradlaugh, the English republican will again appear on the American platform this Winter.

Will that man never learn sense? He can't make money in this country.

Frank Chanfrau recently declined $12.000 for a sea-lot, at Long Branch, which he purchased from Edwin Adams not long ago for $3,000.

W. A. Mestayer was to commence an engagement at Toronto, Ont., July 27, thence to Montreal, Aug. 3d, for one week.

Baker and Farron, Montreal, August 10.

Mrs. Ettie Henderson, whose ill health has compelled her temporary withdrawal from the stage, is engaged in writing an original comedy on "Life at Long Branch."

Associate Manager Harry Palmer, of Booth's, Dion Boucicault and Katherine Rogers were expected to arrive from Europe on the 28th.

Ford's Grand Opera House, Baltimore, will reopen in September with Mrs. J. A. Oates's Comic Opera Troupe.

Mrs. Chanfrau will produce Tom Taylor's "Lady Clancarty" at the California Theatre, San Francisco, in September. Baltimore Providence, St. Louis, and other cities will probably see her in the same role.

Tony Pastor recently paid $'0,000 for a handsome

The New York Clipper has the following: Billy O'Neil, a talented variety performer, in company with Max Irwin sailed for California, July 23d, 1861, and after remaining there three years he went to Australia, where he was reported to have died in the Seaman's Hospital, Melbourne, August 5th, 1868. The following letter, purporting to have been written by him, was received by Mr. R. W. Butler, the well-known variety manager, of this city, a few days ago. As a "voice from the tomb," it has a doleful sound; but we cannot believe that the original Billy O'Neil is still in the flesh. Read the letter:

PROVIDENCE, R. I.

FRIEND BUTLER:—I am alive, and am here "dead broke;" I arrived in Boston from Melbourne, Australia, via Liverpool, England. I intend to astonish the natives at New York, among them The Clipper folks, who have me dead and buried! New friend Butler, I desire you to send me $15, in order to get to New York, and I will make it up in business. Direct to the post-office for

Yours very truly, BILLY O'NEIL.

Bob I am not dead yet.

[If William the genuine could make his way from Australia to Providence, it seems to us that he might have got a little farther, and landed in York without the intervention of Providence.—ED. CLIPPER.]

Frank Chanfrau has $5,000 worth of stock in the Cleveland new Opera House.

Miss Laura Kansom, "is about reorganising her female minstrel and variety troupe for the season of '74-75. She intends taking the road about the 12th of September. The following is a list of the company: Manager, C. T. Street; business manager, T. Wells; treasurer, D. Statham; music by Sig. Pasquali's Italian cornet band and orchestra; advance agent, W. Wood; the Howard Sisters, song and dance artists; Poole Sisters (Katy and Ella), serio-comic; Lillie La Verde, trapeze; Mollie Williams and Kitty Blanchard; comedians, Tony Wells and Lew Cloud; interlocutor, C. Jarvis; Mons. Stoffo, juggler; Franklin Brothers, song and dance; and Wm. Clark, Dutch comedian."

Josh Hart's Theatre Comique Combination commences a season at the Boston (Mass.) Theatre, July 27th.

Tony Pastor's Traveling Combination commenced a two weeks' season at the Howard Athenæum, Boston, Mass., July 27th.

At Niblo's, New York, the latest production has been the new burlesque entitled "Evangeline." The New York Herald says: The promised American extravaganza was produced at this house last night to a large audience, made up in great part of persons attached to the theatrical profession. It is due to the authors of this strange medley to say that they prepared the public not to expect too much from the piece, which has been heralded with considerable blowing of trumpets. Except the name, the new extravaganza has nothing in common with Longfellow's beautiful poem, and, indeed, it would be difficult, if not impossible, to unravel the story, which was loaded down with very indifferent puns and some amusing variety business. Whoever expects to find even the slightest connection between the scenes which go to make up this new contribution to the list of stage pieces will be disappointed. Whatever merit it has rests on the humor of isolated passages, and we regret to say that the humor is of the weakest kind.

"The most successful points of the burlesque are borrowed, and have nothing whatever to do with the obscure plot that must be assumed to exist somewhere, but is difficult to trace. The play is strictly a Summer piece and merely intended to while away an idle hour. In this it succeeds well enough. One or two hits that were intended for Boston, and could have no application outside, have been left without any attempt to localize them. The music of "Evangeline," though lacking the verve of French opera bouffe, is not without a certain sparkle, though from time to time the traces of foreign influence may be distinctly traced. The musical portion of the work is, however, much in advance of the literature. Bad puns are a poor substitute for real wit. In the work under consideration we regret to say that the humor was chiefly in the costumes, and the brightest sparks of wit were struck from the toes of breakdown performers. The acting for once was far ahead of the playwright's work. Miss Ione Burke making an especially effective Evangeline, and displaying an unlooked for amount of vocal ability. Her impersonation of Evangeline was marked by an archness and sprightly grace that at once attracted and held the sympathy of the audience. Mr. Crane, as Le Blanc, the notary, was irresistibly comic, and, with Miss Burke, bore the chief weight of the piece with much success. "Evangeline" will be played until further notice."

Josephine, wife of F. L. Wise, died suddenly at her residence in Baltimore, Md., on July 14, of apoplexy, in the 35th year of her age. She was a daughter of Mrs. Sophia La Forrest, one of the oldest surviving American actresses; and was born at Surinam, W. I., May 6, 1840, while her mother was on a professional tour in that country. As "Joey" La Forrest, in the early days of her professional career she was highly popular on the Pacific slope as a pantomimist and dancer. She was married to Mr. Wise in 1870, and during that season they were engaged with the Fanny B. Price Combination. The past two seasons they had been engaged with John T. Ford at his theatres in Baltimore and Washington, where she made many friends and enhanced her professional reputation. The past season she made a decided hit by her portrayal of the character of Joe, a forlorn and pitiable crossing-sweeper, in "Chesney Wold," and is said to have fairly divided the honors with the star—Mme. Janauschek. Mrs. Wise had for many years been subject to spasms, of which she had an attack on July 12th, but less violent than usual. On the morning of the 14th, after returning from shopping, she went to her room for the purpose of writing a letter, and when her husband returned, an hour later, he found her lying across the bed, and her face quite purple from the suffusion of blood. A physician was immediately summoned, who stated that she had been stricken with apoplexy and was beyond mortal aid. She died at five minutes past 1 o'clock P. M., mourned by those who knew her. The funeral took place on the 15th from her late residence, the Rev. Dr. Mead of the Episcopal Church conducting the services at both the house and the grave; and the Messrs. S. W. Glenn, Mark M. Price, W. H. Burton, H. O. Curly, J. B. Ashton and Harry Pierson acted as pall bearers. Her remains were interred in Baltimore Cemetery.

A Chicago correspondent says: "John Dillon, who is now playing at the Academy of Music, has it all his own way here now, and the business—despite the hot nights—has been absolutely surprising; so much so that Mr. Gardner has engaged him for another week. Mr. Dillon has appeared in a round of his old favorite characters, and has been received with the same enthusiasm that has ever characterized his appearance in Chicago. John Blaisdell, John Webster, Joseph Everham, Nellie McHenry and Miss Douglass have rendered excellent support in every play presented. After the close of the Dillon troupe, Mr. Gardner will present Mr. S. S. Baldwin in an exposé of spiritualistic manifestations. On August 24, Mr. Blaisdell will start out with a troupe, of which Mr. Dillon will be the chief attraction, playing at all the principal cities on the line of the U. P. R. R. Mr. Dillon's wife, John Webster and wife, and T. F. Egbert and wife will be in the party, and they will remain

TUESDAY..... .....AUGUST 11, 1874

Alas! Poor Brigham.

The comet didn't do so very much harm after all. Beyond a few floods and fires and a little hydrophobia and a few murders and suicides and a season of unusually warm weather, things went on much as usual. The comet didn't kill a king or kick up a revolution anywhere. The next astronomical event is the transit of Venus. What will the transit of Venus do? Ah! A gentleman who writes to the Salt Lake City Daily Press and signs the initial "J" tells us what the effect of the transit of Venus will be:

PAYSON, July 26, 1874.

EDITORS PRESS: I profess the science of astrology. It is a true science and works with an unerring hand the events that characterize history. It has been the study of my life, and a part of my religion. Jos. Smith claimed it to be a correct principle. A great event in the history of Utah is about to occur. It is great because it will effect the religious, social and material interests of the Territory. Brigham Young has been the presiding genius of this Territory for the last twenty seven years, and will continue so to be up to the time of his death. The event of which I speak will be his death. This man was born under the planet Venus, which, in conjunction with the moon and other planets of minor influence, had an effect on his character. The fact accounts for his two leading characteristics, amativeness and changeableness. On the 8th day of next December, Venus, his ruling planet, will make her transit across the orbits of the earth at the earth's nodes. All the events of Brigham Young's life conform to the figure up to that date, after when it becomes a blank. These facts I know from a figure drawn from the moment of his birth, on which I have spent the most careful labor, and know it, therefore, to be correct. I thought that inasmuch as it would be a marked event in our history, it would be well to give the public a hint of its close approach.

Now we should very much like "J" if it will not give him too much trouble to tell us if the transit of Venus won't play the blank with Henry Ward Beecher as well as with Brigham Young. Let him get out his tools and proceed to cast the horoscope of the Pastor of Plymouth Church. If he finds that the Mormon priest and the Plymouth preacher were born under the same stellar combination (as is indeed most like,) "J" might kill two dogs with one stone, if we may be allowed the expression.

Eastern Dramatic Notes.

The All Day City Item says: There is no truth in the statement that Olive Logan has gone to Long Branch. She is at her residence, 85 West Ninth street, New York, putting the finishing touches on the new play with which she will star this season. They are all new pieces, written by herself and her husband in collaboration, and with special reference to her style as a comedienne. She will begin her season at the Walnut Street Theatre, on the 31st of August, with her new comedy "The Woman Who Talks."

The Washington Star says: Charles Fechter, the celebrated actor, has made an engagement to appear in Washington on the 16th of January, and in Baltimore on the 25th of January next, under Mr. Ford's management. Owens, Toole, (English comedian), Clarke and Jefferson, will also appear in Baltimore and Washington, under the same management, the coming season.

A Dreadful Hallucination.

Spilkins, returning home from the lodge about 2 A. M., called his spouse's attention to the fact that he had discovered another comet, visible just over the eaves of his opposite neighbor's house. Mrs. Spilkins, vouchsafed a contemptuous glance in the direction indicated, and saw the glaring eye, and moon-illumined tail of a prowling tomcat. "Ah, Roderick," she murmured, "and has it come to this? To bed with you, at once, sir!"

Great Bargains in Clothing.

OUR BIOGRAPHY.

We have received the following communication and hasten to answer it:

OFFICE OF THE IRISH WORLD, No. 5 BARCLAY STREET.

NEW YORK, July 30, 1874.

DEAR SIR.—We are about to publish biographical sketches of Senators, Representatives and prominent Editors, particularly such as are identified with the Irish race, whether by blood, marriage, relationship or sympathy, and who are not afraid to proclaim their sympathy for Ireland in her struggle with England.

Conjecturing you sir, to be one of such, we have ventured to solicit from you a brief sketch of your life and services for publication in the Irish World. Yours truly,

PATRICK FORD.

Mr. Ford is right in his conjecture; he is clairvoyantly perceptive: We are of such. We have never been a Senator nor a Representative, but have been as long as we can remember, a prominent editor. As to being identified with the Irish race, we have always been, are so still, and shall continue to be so while memory holds a seat in this distracted globe. We never remember the time when our landlady was not an Irishwoman, and even when we were behind-hand with our rent, we always were in sympathy with her in her struggles to obtain it. Irish stout and Irish whisky have been our pet beverages for years and at night we have retired to a bed the sheets of which were the finest Irish linen and at times the mattrass has been stuffed with Irish feathers. So far from being afraid to proclaim our sympathy with Ireland in her struggle with England we are proud of it. We say let her struggle; we will sympathize. We have offered to be treasurer for no less than fifteen Fenian organizations and though our services were declined, we had the proud consciousness of having showed our willingness to help ourselves—or rather we ourselves had shown our willingness to help—as far we could. We have sat out the entertainments known as "The Hibernicon," "The New Hibernicon," "The Hibernianicon," "A Night in the Emerald Isle," "Panorama of Ireland," "Scenes in the Green Isle," and some fourteen others whose names we disremember, and we have read all the Irish weeklies published in the United States. Having thus briefly sketched our claims to be considered an Irishman, and confirmed your conjecture, we will proceed to write our biography for which the public have been longing for years past. You will pardon us Mr. Ford if we first give it to the public through the columns of FIGARO; from them you can if you see fit, transfer it to those of The Irish World. But not yet, not yet, our life is not complete. What we have done is but a preface to what we intend to do. Ireland shall yet hear of us. Adieu Mr. Ford, Erin go Bragh, Maum Ore, Nabochlish Colleen dagh.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at France by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins[1]
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again,
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.

Cæsarism.

A bucolic editor in the interior of Illinois has been recalling the time when Grant lived in Galena, supporting his family on $1,200 a year. He vouches for the story that once upon a time Nellie went to dine with a little friend, and when her host's mamma apologized for using napkins made from a worn-out table cloth, the artless girl exclaimed, "We don't have any at all at our house." The story is an important contribution to the pages of history. When we think that the Grant family now has napkins every day, we get some insight into the boundless ambition of that family's head and begin to believe in the possibility of Cæsarism. The man who can rise from nothing to napkins, is capable of laying his mailed hand on the neck of the bird of freedom and placing his iron heel on the liberties of a nation. If he has more than a half dozen napkins on hand just now we would advise him to send one to the bucolic editor to wipe his nose withal. His address is The Home Journal, Locon.

A Fair Excuse.

Said a college professor to a notorious laggard, who was once, for a wonder, promptly in his place at morning prayers, "I marked you, sir, as punctual this morning. What is your excuse?" "Couldn't sleep, sir," was the reply.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Maguire's New Theatre.

The first night of Langrishe and Glenn's New York Black Crook Troupe drew an audience that literally packed the theatre in every part. The balcony was crammed at half-past seven, and the dress circle, orchestra and passages were filled long before eight o'clock. The counting up showed that over 1800 had purchased tickets. The receipts were $1,352, and hundreds were turned away. In the play, J. K. Vernon as Hertzog, the Black Crook did some good acting, Miss Nellie Vernon was graceful and effective as Rodolphe, J. B. Langrishe was very amusing as Greppe, and Mrs. J. S. Langrishe quite successful in her impersonation of Dame Barbara. Miss Annie Mahon looked very pretty, and played the part of Amina well, Miss Kitty Elbert did some vivacious acting as Carline, and Miss Isabella Rabineau made a charming Rosetta. W. J. Gross, caused much fun by his Falstaffian make-up for Von Puffenguntz, and his acting in the role. Miss Eva West, formerly a resident of San Francisco, looked very pretty as Stalacta and read her part well. The gymnastic business of the part of Dragonfin was cleverly executed by Fred Runnels. The play, however, is but a small portion of the entertainment known as "The Black Crook." In the first act a well trained corps de ballet of shapely young ladies executed a Neapolitan ballet in better style than anything of the kind that has ever been done on the San Francisco stage. Next came Fred and Bonnie Runnels in a comic song and dance, and this was followed by a melodious and graceful song and dance ballet by ladies of the company. The majority of the ladies sing well. Mlle. Barretta after this appeared in a Spanish dance, which she executed in capital style, her fine figure and sunny face adding to the charm of the performance. This act closed with a grand incantation scene, appearance of Zamiel and "tableau of horror." The second act introduced the Bower of Beauty and Silver Lake by moonlight, a very beautiful scene. In the course of the act was given the ballet "The Revels of the Roses," in which Mlle. Jeannette Proscher, premiere danseuse assoluta appeared and captivated the audience by her personal beauty and graceful and artistic dancing. Her style of dancing reminds one of Sangali. Between the second and third acts Mr. Lorenzen gave a very pleasing musical performance on an instrument made of wood and straw; he was encored. In the third act the Runnels Family, who are wonderfully clever gymnasts, appeared in a new and original performance, which was much applauded. This was followed by the grand march of the Amazons, which presented many original features. One of the greatest bits of the evening was the remarkable performance of O. E. Dobson on the banjo. The banjo in his hands is a musical instrument of extraordinary power. No one can have any idea of what it is capable until they have heard it played by Mr. Dobson, who is emphatically a master of this instrument. Charming Miss Frankie Etta, who reminds us of Miss Ella Chapman, next appeared in a sailor hornpipe, and was much applauded. T. R. Clifton, a graceful gymnast, executed the seemingly impossible feat of making a double pirouette in the air from a horizontal bar, and catching the bar in his hands as he returned, Frank Blanchette executed some clever contortions, and Miss Frankie Etta delighted the audience with a song and dance and fairly brought down the house by her immitation of the jakey walk of a New York b'hoy. The feature of the concluding act prior to the grand transformation scene was the very clever and wonderfully amusing performance of Master Bonnie Runnels who is justly entitled to the name of the funniest Dutch comedian living, at any rate of his size. The audience, though it was nearly 12 o'clock, when he made his appearance recalled him again and again, and laughed until their sides were sore. The transformation scene was one of dazzling beauty, veil after veil slowly rose, each revealing a more beautiful picture than the one preceding it. Altogether the first performance of "The Black Crook," gave general satisfaction. There will be a performance every night until further notice. This evening the performance will be over by eleven o'clock. Considering the short time that the carpenters had possession of the house it is not to be wondered at that the performance last night was lengthened out until 12 o'clock.

Opera House.

Last night Joseph Murphy appeared at this house in the Irish-American drama of "Maum Cre," written expressly for him by F. G. Maeder. The public of San Francisco are familiar with the plot of the piece, it is therefore unnecessary to give it. Mr. Murphy received a most enthusiastic greeting on making his appearance on the stage in the character of Pat Donnelly, an Irish exile. He afterwards impersonated Nell Flaherty, Pat, Hugh McGinnis, Larry McCall and Dr. Dougbett. In the course of the piece he sang "The Bard of Armagh," written expressly for him by Gus Geary, "Nell Flaherty's Beautiful Drake," "Maum Cre" and other songs, all of which were much applauded. Mr. Murphy was well supported by Edward Arnott, George Giddens, E. B. Marden, W. G. Coggswell, E. J. Buckley, Miss Kate Browning, Miss Sydney Cowell, Miss Mary Wells, Miss Wilson and others. Altogether "Maum Cre" was never better played than it was last night. The scene in the gambling room was most effectively presented, and the tableaux were well managed.

California Theatre.

Miss Lotta caused quite a sensation last night by her spirited acting in the play of "Fire Fly." The piece was excellently put on the stage and well played throughout. It will be presented again to-night. To-morrow night Lotta will appear in the character of Bob Brierly in the "Ticket of Leave Man." On Friday, Lotta will take her farewell benefit; "Little Nell and the Marchioness," will be the play.

Bella Union Theatre.

There has seldom been a more attractive bill presented at this house than that which is now being played there. Miss Kate Raymond last night made as great success in the character of Dick, in "Dick, the Detective," as she did in "The Waifs of New York," and C. B. Collins was very good as Will Horsfall. The extravaganza of "Trips to the Moon," was splendidly put on the stage and well acted throughout. The grand marches and tableaux by the ladies of the company drew much applause. The same entertainment will be given this evening.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beau-

Montgomery Queen's Great Show.

Montgomery Queen's Great Show is now in its last week, positive engagements having been made at different towns in the interior for the ensuing week. The new programme is a very attractive one. It comprises an act called "The Two Horse Olympians" by Sebastian and Lee, a horseback somersault act by Miss Mollie Brown, Leopold and Geraldine in their great trapeze act, Senor Faranti in his graceful contortion act, Miss Lizzie Stemple in her skipping Rope Jig, and others in various specialties. Harry Cassland the musical grotesque, and Harry Sloman in his barrel and trunks act were popular features of the performance last night.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

Johnny Tuers in his specialties, John Kelly in his acrobatic song and dance, Frank Mortimore in the act entitled "Obeying Orders," and many other attractions are offered this evening.

Woodward's Gardens.

The attractions at these gardens are numerous. The troupe of Bedouin Arabs, perform every Saturday and Sunday.

City Gardens.

The Benevolent Society of the Germania Rifles will have a picnic at the City Gardens on the 30th of August.

Notes.

The Stanley Sisters, who have been connected with the California Theatre for several seasons past, departed for St. Louis this morning.

Little Mac's Combination is the latest. They have minstrel designs on the towns around Humboldt Bay, and will take their departure for Eureka by the steamer on Thursday morning.

Chiarini and his Circus Company were expected here on the last China steamer, but his success has been so great in Yedo, the capital of Japan, that he has concluded to tarry there awhile longer and gather in a few barrels more of that peculiar kind of Japanware known there as the coin of the realm, before coming to California. Is there any country in the world Chiarini hasn't shown in?

Maguire's Minstrels opened well at Sacramento last night. The Union says the house was good and commends the troupe as an "especially good one."

Joe Murphy's engagement at the Opera House is for only one week. He goes East from here; those that want to see Joe will have to hurry up.

Billy Emerson, the best of minstrels, will make his appearance at the Opera House in conjunction with the re-constructed Emerson Minstrels on Monday evening. At the same time Miss Lizzie Watson, serio-comic singer from London, and the "Wonderful Lotta," celebrated for her dashing trapeze act, in which she challenges the world, also from London, will make their first appearance. This will present a strong bill.

J. W. Dunbar, one of the original proprietors of the Opera House, and who was reported murdered in Mazatlan several months since, has recently, in conjunction with G. W. Jones, purchased the Russ House Saloon. They can always be found "at home."

Harry Corbyn has arrived as agent of the Vokes Family, Fred Vokes, Miss Jessie Vokes, Miss Victoria Vokes, Miss Rosina Vokes, Mr. and Mrs. Wardle Corbyn, will arrive to-night.

W. B. Gill, light comedian and dramatic author, arrived from Australia, on the MacGregor.

Jones & Dunbar's.

W. G. Jones and J. W. Dunbar having purchased the Saloon under the Russ House, would be pleased to see all their friends and the public generally at their symposium. The saloon has been entirely re-decorated and re-furnished. 8-x

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc. printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-oj

Removal—"White House" Restaurant

The popular and well known Dining Saloon "White House", 112 Kearny street, Louis Meyer Proprietor, will remove Saturday the 28th July, to his new and more commodious premises 211 Sutter street, near the Centre Market. Mr. Meyer, in his new and elegant premises, will be able to better accommodate his numerous patrons. 7-bg

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions, Club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relief by applying at Dr. E. H. Cowan's Institute, removed to 212 Kearny street, from 1 to 6 P.M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. References given if required. E

Hepburn has opened stall 4, with fresh meats of all kinds. Families and restaurants supplied on the shortest notice.

Stall 38, Holm & Boyle have a splendid assortment butter, eggs, cheese and a general assortment of fancy groceries. Goods delivered free.

Stalls 39 and 40 are occupied by Kerlin & Hassard, dealers in fruits, vegetables, etc., of the best and freshest. Delivered free of charge.

Stall 3, makes a magnificent show of fresh meats. Jos. O. de Volt & Co., wholesale and retail dealers, have one of the nicest stalls in the market. Restaurants and families will find it to their advantage to give them a call.

Love & Spindal occupy stall 37, with a superior stock of butter, cheese, eggs, hams, cured fruits, etc. Orders promptly attended to.

Robert S. Reardon has removed from the Occidental Market to stall 70. He is noted for having the best quality of meats.

John D. Coughlin, stall 5, supplies meats in large quantities, in good style, to ships, hotels, boarding houses and families at the lowest market prices.

Stalls 74 and 75 are taken by the pioneer Poultry and Game dealers, Bshjamin & Strasser. The finest Poultry and Game, and the Freshest Butter and Eggs in the city. 7-x

Boston Oyster House.—L. O. Pratt has opened stalls 89 and 90 in Centre Market. Oysters in every style. Chops and Steaks of the choicest. Ladies private rooms up stairs. 7-x

Stalls 91, 92 and 93, have been opened by Anderson & Marshall as the Long Branch oyster house. They are among the oldest oyster men in the city.

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Gorville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

If one wishes to pass an hour or two pleasantly at the game of billiards, no pleasanter place can be found in the city than Chapman & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, Northeast corner Bush and Kearny streets entrance on Bush. From the window a good view can be had of two of our busiest streets Bush and Kearny. Local Option not in force; for the best of Wines, Liquors and Cigars, are served at the bar for 12½ cents. 6-x

Jos Giusta's Restaurant, at 195 California Market, has been long and favorably known by the public as a place where nice Chops, Porter-House Steaks and Oysters in eve y style could be had. A short time since, Mr. Giusta made an addition of a whole floor to his place, so that he could accommodate families. His restaurant, as now constructed, can well be called a family restaurant. 5-x

Spring Style Hats.

Light, beautifully finished and graceful in shape, the new Spring style of Hats manufactured at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street (second hat store below Kearny street), is just the thing to make a man look a hundred per cent. better. Don't wear a shabby old hat. Go to "The Hat Store" for a new one. Prices reduced. 3-y

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

W. H. AIKEN, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW AND Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in California and Nevada, gives prompt attention to the collection of Additional Travel Pay, now due California and Nevada Volunteers discharged more than three hundred miles from home. Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply, and state company and regiment, and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional Bounty and Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875, so all snch claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 7, d. 1861, for three years, if not paid the same when discharged. Land Warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed to Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted Pensions to surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. H. Aiken also attends to General Law and Collection Business. jy24-tf

Turned up Again.

Here she is at last. We've been looking for her all the Summer. We knew she'd turn up in some country newspaper. This time it is the Burlington (Iowa) Hawkeye which has revived her. This interesting female, we are informed, can get up at six o'clock, kindle the fire, get breakfast, rout out the family, wash the dishes and six children, sew a button on the neck of her husband's shirt and hunt up his hat, go to a mission Sunday school and teach a class, attend church, rush home and have dinner over in time to attend afternoon Sunday school, read the Sunday school papers to the children, go to church at night, and talk on her way home about Sunday as a day of rest. And they don't die early, such women. It's only their brutes of husbands who say, "More's the pity."

Give Us a Rest.

Yesterday, we published a letter from the New York Irish World, begging us for our biography and before it was in print came another urgent letter from Messrs. Wright, Bosch, Smock and other prominent gentlemen, begging us to settle in Indianapolis, Indiana. The letter closed as follows:

"If your impressions are favorable toward a removal to this place, please inform us by letter, as we think there are other considerations of a personal nature, which can be adduced, to bring you to an affirmative decision."

We can't do it. Indeed, gentlemen, we can't. We have to remain here to keep the Press of San Francisco in decent order and keep the English language from being mangled to death by a lot of uneducated literary wolves. We are weary of these repeated invitations and in the language of H. W. B., exclaim, "Give us a rest."

A New Voice Discovered.

Madame Patti heard, the other evening, behind the scenes at Covent Garden, a little girl singing, after Mlle. Marimon, note for note, in an exquisite voice. Upon inquiry, the girl was discovered to be the child of Mr. Redmond, an employee of the theatre. Under Madame Patti's kind direction, the artists of the opera subscribed a sum sufficient to send the child to Italy and educate her for the stage; but the little girl refused to leave her parents. If ever there was a case in which education should be compulsory, this is one.

A Hard Case.

Ladies unaccompanied with gentlemen are not admitted to the concerts of the Champs Elysees in Paris. Quite recently a female presented herself at the gate, and the ticket-taker intercepted her, saying, "Pardon, madame, ladies cannot go in alone." The lady, with unfeigned candor, "But, sir, what am I going to do? my poor husband has just died, the day before yesterday."

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-oj

Great Bargains in Clothing.

American Actors Abroad.

Dion Boucicault deluged London with bills announcing his two American actors: Mr. Robson was declared to be "the typical representative of the eccentric comedy of the great Eastern cities of America—Philadelphia, New York and Boston;" and his associate was referred to after the following fashion: Mr. Charles R. Thorne, of Californian origin, may be said to represent the artistic excellence of the great West of America. Figaro good-naturedly laughed at these "high-toned" introductions in a bit of nonsense entitled "Led Across the Atlantic by Dion Boucicault; or The Two American Comedians," a portion of which is good enough to quote:

ACT III.

SCENE—Mr. Stuart Robson's Sitting Room. The English newspapers and reviews scattered about the apartment. Mr. Bobson and Mr. Thorne are discovered smoking.

Mr. Bobson. Well, Charles, it—seems to me—have not set the—Thames on fire?

Mr. Thorne. Your delivery's against you Stuart.

Mr. Bobson. And your part's against you. You haven't a comedy part at all.

Mr. Thorne. Really, I cannot understand Boucicault putting us to play in such a piece as this. Why not have written a comedy of American life and manners?

Mr. Bobson. Just so.

Mr. Thorne. There's one good scene for me with the cards, but take that out of the piece and what is left to fill up six acts?

Mr. Robson. That little—English gal—acts well—I say?

Mr. Thorne. You mean Miss Rosella? Yes, there's lots of talent there. The big one, too, means well.

Mr. Robson. I hear—that Dion found—her out, too.

Mr. Thorne. As he did us, do you mean?

Mr. Robson. Yes.

Mr. Thorne. Then why not take her to the States and introduce her to New York as a representative of the symmetric excellence of the great metropolis? And he could throw in Leathes as representing the eccentric love-making of the British stage.

Mr. Bobson. Don't you feel—rather—that—you've—appeared under false pretences?

Mr. Thorne. I wish he hadn't sent those bills out.

Mr. Robson. So do—I.

Mr. Thorne: You needn't bother. You're all right with that delivery.

Mr. Robson. Go along with you, Charles.

Mr. Thorne. Now let us go and ask Bouci to change the piece. (They go.)

CURTAIN.

That Mr. Boucicault will change the piece is very improbable, for he has made every preparation for a long run, and is understood to have said at his club that he should keep "Led Astray" on the boards for three hundred nights.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen!
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend. "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a T."
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again,
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.

Clubs for Ladies.

A London correspondent says: Our lady readers may be interested to know that a movement for the formation of a "Ladies and Gentlemen's Club," is taking root, and receiving the patronage of ladies of high rank. A committee has been appointed, and it is looking out for premises in the neighborhood of Bond street. The strong-minded element is very conspicuous among the ladies who are working the affair. It is proposed to have ladies' dressing rooms in the club, so that ladies who reside out of town may make in the club house all the changes of toilette necessary for park, opera, evening party, or ball. Of course there is to be a general dining-room, but a handsome smoking-room for gentlemen is among the arrangements decided on by the ladies. Any lady who is given to cigarettes must take her whiff in this apartment. In spite of all these detailed proposals, however, the great question still remains—are ladies clubable? For my own part I agree with a writer in the Saturday Review who, in a recent article capitally written, argued in the negative.

Very Likely.

If Uriah's wife had given us her version in writing of a certain great scandal, it is highly probable that she would have represented Uriah as a mean, contemptible fellow as compared with King David, and it is more than likely would have fully justified, if she had not highly commended, the manner of his taking off.

London Customs.

The Danbury News Man in his last letter from London, remarks: All the theatres are provided with convenient bars tended by young women. And these young women who tend bars in England get from seventy-five to one hundred and thirty dollars a year and their board. They rarely found hospitals.

How to kill Flies.

A gentleman up town, of an inquiring turn of mind, wanted to try the effect of flies. He did try. He went round, burning them off the walls and window curtains with his little lamp. The curtains only cost two hundred a set, and there were five of them. A thousand dollars isn't too much to pay for a successful experiment.

Recovered.

The young man who swore six months ago that he couldn't live out of her presence, now goes to picnics, and theatres, and doesn't take her along. And yet he is not in a galloping consumption.

Mild Excitement.

A cynical friend of ours says: "A great many women take to church going as men do to drinking—for the excitement. The one party is about as religious as the other." Our friend takes sugar in his pretty often.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Opera House.

Another large audience enjoyed the acting of Joseph Murphy in "Maum Ore' last night. In each of the six different impersonations in which he appeared he received much applause, and his songs and specialties were fully appreciated by all present. Mr. Murphy's engagement is for one week only, therefore, those who wish to see him must not delay.

California Theatre.

"Fire-Fly," with Lotta in the title role, was received with great favor again last night. To-night the young California star will appear in the male impersonation of Sam Willoughby, in "The Ticket-of-Leave Man," T. W. Keene will play Bob Brierly, John Wilson, Hawkshaw, Miss Bella Pateman, May Edwards, and altogether the cast will be a very strong one.

Maguire's New Theatre.

This house was thronged again last night, when "The Black Crook" received its second representation. Without omitting any of the specialties introduced on the first night, the performance was shortened so that the audience got home in good time. To-night the scenery will be shifted still more speedily, and everything will be perfect. Among the many attractions of the variety portion of the entertainment none are more popular than the song and dance business of Miss Frankie Rita and the admirable banjo playing of C. E. Dobson.

Montgomery Queen's Great Show.

The Great Show will give but a few more exhibitions in this city. Miss Mollie Brown, Romeo Sebastian, the Belmont Brothers, George Sloman, Harry Causland and all the stars will appear both at the matinee to-day and in the evening. The admission fee has been reduced to fifty cents for all parts of the house; reserved seats, one dollar. Tickets admit both to the menagerie and circus, and there are no extras except candy for the elephant and nuts for the monkeys, which can be purchased at reasonable rates in the menagerie tent, of the candy butcher.

Pacific Hall.

The French artistes from Lima, assisted by Mlle. Franzini, will give a performance at the above-named hall on Saturday evening. It will comprise "Le Violoneur" one act operetta by Offenbach "L'Homme n'est pas parfait" a vaudeville by M. Durne, and Offenbach's operetta of "Une Demoiselle en Loterie." The cast of each of these pieces is published on our first page.

Bella Union Theatre.

Miss Kate Raymond as Dick Allen, O. B. Collins as Wm. Horsfall, and Miss Jennie Johnson as Martha Allen, play their respective parts in the thrilling drama of "Dick, the Newsboy," with much skill. "Trips to the Moon," with its brilliant tableaux and marches is a small, but by no means inconsiderable, edition of "The Black Crook," and is a great feature of the bill.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

"Hard Cheek," "The Two Pompeys," "Obeying Orders" and "Ned Buckley's Regular Army," are only a few of the acts to be performed at this lively place of amusement.

Woodward's Gardens.

The attractions at these gardens are numerous. The troupe of Bedouin Arabs, perform every Saturday and Sunday.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour's visit will be profitably spent here.

Notes.

San Francisco is well supplied with amusements at present. We have Lotta at the California Theatre; Langrishe & Glenn's Black Crook Company at Maguire's New Theatre; Joe Murphy at the Opera House, Montgomery Queen's Circus, corner of Mission and Seventh streets; dramatic burlesque and minstrel performance at the Bella Union Theatre; minstrel and variety ditto at Buckley's Variety Theatre and the "Bescher-Tilton Scandal!" at the new Chinese Theatre—Sing Ping Yuen. By way of variety we shall have a French performance at Pacific Hall on Saturday night, and a Spanish dramatic performance at the California Theatre on Sunday night. In addition to these legitimate entertainments we have two-bit concerts, and a German Band for those who seek cheap amusements.

The great circus will fold its tent after Saturday night's performance, and proceed Southward on its way to Los Angeles. Montgomery Queen advertises that sealed proposals will be received for the lumber used in the construction of the circus, which has been used just long enough to thoroughly season it, up to Friday.

The famous Vokeses arrived last evening, and expressed themselves delighted with their overland trip. Fred Vokes visited the various places of amusement last night, winding up with the Chinese Theatre. The stunning make-up, terrific combats, and gorgeous wardrobes seen in that temple of Oriental drama, and especially the scientific musical performances of the leader of the orchestra, as he played on the Chinese fiddle with one hand, and clashed the enormous cymbols with the other, deeply impressed him. It was a decided case of stage infatuation.

Maguire's Drama in Company, now playing at the Opera House, will open the new theatre, at Gilroy, on Monday, August 17th, and perform there for four nights. They will play at the Opera House, San Jose, on Friday and Saturday, August 21st and 22d, and will probably return home thereafter for a week's rest, after their arduous labors in endeavoring to please the hypercritical inhabitants of that rural village.

Chair and Basket Factory.

The Buckeye Chair and Basket Factory, Walter W. Moses, & Co., proprietors, 920 and 922 Market street, is prepared to execute orders (whole sale and retail) for carriages, cradles, chairs, work stands, market baskets etc. The Buckeye, sells everything low as any other responsible house. 7-bg

The New Mint Restaurant.

For Oysters that will melt in your mouth, for delicious Steaks and Chops, for a splendid Dinner, go to the New Mint Restaurant and Oyster Saloon, 1016 Market street, opposite Fifth street. Families supplied with California and Eastern Oysters. 7-bg

THOUGHTS.

"The sun sat in a sea of brilliant hues,
Crimson and gold and azure; one by one
I saw the colors blend and interfuse,
And follow down the pathway of the sun,
I almost wished with them to fade away
Over the distant edge, and die as they.

Thus spake my friend half lightly; but my hear
Shrank, trembling at the words with sudden fear.

"And when the time shall come for us to part,
Must each go on his way alone?" I said;
"And in that unknown country shall we meet,
Or seek each other with unresting feet?

Shall we love there, as here—what thinkest thou?"
He answered slowly with a thoughtful face:
"If from my nature could be taken now
All memories, passions, hopes, the love and grace
Which is of thee, and maketh up the whole,
'Twould leave the merest shadow of a soul.

But if our lives begin anew, 'twill be
As if we ne'er had lived." With blanched cheek
I answered, "Say not that, it frighteth me"
"Why," said he, smiling, "how art thou so weak?
Why fear or wonder? Let us live our best.
And to our Father's goodness leave the rest."

Feminine Vagaries.

If to her share some female errors fall,
Look on her face, and you'l forget them all.

The regulation bathing suit of the Quaker City belle at Long Branch is sober gray.

Why do women talk less in February than in any other month? Because it is the shortest month in the year.

The Peoria woman who wanted to throw herself into her husband's grave, a few months ago, has just married a lightning-rod man.

"Young in years, but an old eloper," is a portion of the description of a runaway wife which was left at an Indianapolis station-house.

Maud Muller, von Summer afternoon,
Vas tending bar in her fadder's saloon;
She solt dat bier and singed "Shoo Fly,"
And vinked at dhe men mit her lefd eye.

Ladies are adopting the plan of opening their sunshades when they are unlucky enough to have seats on the sunny side of a car. It makes things pleasant for their neighbors.

It is very common now for ladies to have boots made of a piece of the material of their dresses. The gray or brown linen are especially desirable for wear with linen costumes.

For evening toilettes white dresses are the most distingue, or those of pale, soft shades of rose, blue, mauve, and straw-color. Skirts are often covered up to the waist with narrow flounces.

The most jaunty hats worn for driving are of white chip, the brim turned up close; a soft white scarf twisted lightly around the crown, and two or more white ostrich plumes laid over the top.

As additions to watering-place toilettes there are sleeveless jackets and aprons of silk matching in shade. Both are trimmed with showy dispositions of lace, and embroideries of either black or white jet.

All lace scarfs are now beaded. The newest importations are Spanish blonde, with beads outlining its figures; guipure heavily beaded, and plan Brussels net has leaves of finest jet sewed in its meshes.

She can stand it pretty well once or twice; but when you spill a saucer of rasberry jam into her lap the third time, things get uncomfortable, and she works her countenance as if she wasn't born to be an angel.

Says a Detroit editor: Chicago may talk about the homely women of Detroit, but there is one redeeming feature. When one of them gets mired they don't have to dig up half the street to get a sixteen-foot scantling under her foot for a pry.

An Idaho schoolmarm has introduced a new feature in her school. When one of the girls misses a word, the boy who spells it, gets permission to kiss her. As a result, the girls are fast becoming poor spellers, while the boys are improving.

Removal—"White House" Restaurant

The popular and well known Dining Saloon "White House", 112 Kearny street, Louis Meyer Proprietor, will remove Saturday the 28th July, to his new and more commodious premises 211 Sutter street, near the Centre Market. Mr. Meyer, in his new and elegant premises, will be able to better accommodate his numerous patrons. 7-bg

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions, Club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relief by applying at Dr. B. H. Cowan's Institute, removed to 212 Kearny street, from 1 to 6 P.M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. References given if required. 8

Music Hath Charms.

Pianos tuned and repaired, at moderate prices and satisfaction guaranteed, by one that understands the business. Also, will perform on Piano at Evening Parties, etc. Orders left at 754 Market or 54 Third street, will receive prompt attention by G. W. Morgan. 4-v*

Madame Clara Antonia, de Paris, Business and Medical Clairvoyant and Independent Trance Medium, 134½ Post street, near Dupont. Correct diagnosis and special attention to the treatment of diseases. Consultations in French, German and English. 6-o

CENTRE MARKET.

WHO OCCUPY THE STALLS.

The premium stalls 1 and 2 are occupied by Abe Newman. Superior beef, mutton, smoked and corned beef always on hand.

Heubsch has opened stall 4, with fresh meats of all kinds. Families and restaurants supplied on the shortest notice.

Stall 36, Holm & Boyle have a splendid assortment butter, eggs, cheese and a general assortment of fancy groceries. Goods delivered free.

Stalls 39 and 40 are occupied by Kerlin & Hassard, dealers in fruits, vegetables, etc., of the best and freshest. Delivered free of charge.

Stall 3, makes a magnificent show of fresh meats. Jos. O. de Volt & Co., wholesale and retail dealers, have one of the nicest stalls in the market. Restaurants and families will find it to their advantage to give them a call.

Love & Spindal occupy stall 37, with a superior stock of butter, cheese, eggs, hams, cured fruits, etc. Orders promptly attended to.

Robert S. Reardon has removed from the Occidental Market to stall 70. He is noted for having the best quality of meats.

John D. Coughlin, stall 5, supplies meats in large quantities, in good style, to ships, hotels, boarding houses and families at the lowest market prices.

Stalls 74 and 75 are taken by the pioneer Poultry and Game dealers, Benjamin & Strasser. The finest Poultry and Game, and the Freshest Butter and Eggs in the city. 7-m

Boston Oyster House.—L. O. Pratt has opened stalls 89 and 90 in Centre Market. Oysters in every style. Chops and Steaks of the choicest. Ladies private rooms up stairs. 7-e

Stalls 91, 92 and 93, have been opened by Anderson & Marshall as the Long Branch oyster house. They are among the oldest oyster men in the city.

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnificent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
And drink their Rhenish hock."

If one wishes to pass an hour or two pleasantly at the game of billiards, no pleasanter place can be found in the city than Chapman & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, Northeast corner Bush and Kearny streets entrance on Bush. From the window a good view can be had of two of our busiest streets Bush and Kearny. Local Option not in force; for the best of Wines, Liquors and Cigars, are served at the bar for 12½ cents. 6-i

Joe Gruszi's Restaurant, at 105 California Market, has been long and favorably known by the public as a place where nice Chops, Porter-House Steaks and Oysters in every style could be had. A short time since, Mr. Giusta made an addition of a whole floor to his place, so that he could accommodate families. His restaurant, as now constructed, can well be called a family restaurant. 5-m

Spring Style Hats.

Light, beautifully finished and graceful in shape, the new Spring style of Hats manufactured at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street (second hat store below Kearny street), is just the thing to make a man look a hundred per cent. better. Don't wear a shabby old hat. Go to "The Hat Store" for a new one. Prices reduced. 3-v

Bad Taste in Marysville.

The Appeal objects to the condition of the streets of that town in this mild but firm way: "It ain't so much because it is swill, but because of the painfully inartistic manner of its stewing that we object to the frequent deposits of the same on the Carson-street side of the Plaza fence. For instance the potato peelings are all mixed up in the chicken feathers, when the sour hash lies coldly neglected apart from the beef bones. As to the egg-shells and coffee grounds, the way they are dumped into a common mass, regardless of color or form, the effect is positively shocking to a lover of the fine arts. We also noticed the skin of boiled ham as unskillfully deposited as if it was a mere sheep's pelt in a slaughter house. We must confess, also, that we despair of a recent arrangement of the tin cans and oyster shells thereabout deposited.

Burn Your Letters.

The San Jose Mercury gives the following advice which is good: If people would only burn all their love letters, or letters containing secrets and other matters the publication of which would in any way compromise any person living, a great deal of mischief would be avoided in the world. The friends and confidants of to-day may become the bitter and sworn enemies of to-morrow; and then matters are often brought to light that had infinitely better been consigned to oblivion. People who save letters of this kind do so usually from the motive of a lack of confidence in their correspondents, which is an unworthy sentiment to entertain towards those who thus confide in them. Let all record of human frailties perish, and the world would be all the better for it.

A mathematical professor in a Sacramento high school calculates that if each gnat in that city should in one night obtain one-tenth of a drop of human blood for supper every person in the town would be dead in the morning. So one would gnaturally suppose.

When any one out West relates a circumstance that takes more than two men to believe, they interrupt him by asking if he has a photograph of the occurrence.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc. printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

A LIVE PAPER.

The San Mateo Times is a "live paper." The following which appears in the issue of August 1st, proves that its proprietor has been taking lessons from the manner in which the San Francisco "live paper" was conducted until it was crushed down into decent forbearance by the force of public opinion and the Sun:

During a recent visit to Redwood City we dropped into a ladies' establishment on Main street for the purpose of soliciting a subscription for the Times. As we crossed the threshold our eye caught the upward glance of the divinity who presided over the scant array of bonnet-frames and silk ribbons which the show-window contained; we approached, and in our blandest tone asked the fair daughter of Eve if she wouldn't like to subscribe for our paper. The question had scarcely left us, before the face of the lady was wriggled with contortions, as if something of the nature of a cramp was griping her. The freckled face, which had been of a dirty yellowish hue, became a spotted red, resembling a bad case of the small pox, the orifice, or opening, which is commonly known as the mouth, became distended,—

"From ear to ear it stretched."

The lips parted, exhibiting a row of double deckers which would have made short work with a decent sized pigs, head, while the eye had all the low cunning proverbial of master Renard's optic. We were about to drop the book which we carried in our hand and rush to the lady's assistance, tap her on the back (for she seemed too frail to slap) and entreat her to throw it out. Our humane intentions were doomed to disappointment, for ere the philanthropic look of the Samaritan had yet died away from our handsome visage, and while the look of anxiety was still hovering on it, there came from the cavern with the glistening teeth, a sharp, gutteral exclamation, which caused us to instantaneously change, not alone our base, but the sweet smile on our features. "No, sur, I—don't—want—yer—San—Mataho—paper!" We have but to add, that in our haste to retire, we forgot all about the etiquette of courts, and instead of bowing gracefully, keeping our proboscis in full view of her majesty, we actually ran from her presence. If the lady in question should be fortunate enough to catch a glimpse of this paragraph, she will please accept our apology for taking such an unceremonious departure from "furninst her."

All this abuse is showered on the lady in question because she said "No, sir, I don't want your San Mateo paper." If she had taken the paper without the inducement of a gift map, she would have escaped. This is "journalism" in the nineteenth century in the State of California. It is a Chronic disease for which some cure should be found, and that speedily.

Gratifying.

The little Post publishes a good deal of reading matter, such as it is, now-a-days. It has to do this, advertisements being hard to obtain for a temperance and religious organ.

That is a quaint bit of humorous criticism wherewith the St. Louis Globe speaks of a certain long-winded Missouri orator as a man who "has a sleeping car attached to his train of thought."

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen!
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a "T."
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins'd
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again,
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.
CHARLES HAAKE, Proprietor.

New York Summer Sports—Ladies Swimming Race.

The shore of the East River, in the vicinity of Fifty-fourth street, was lined with spectators of the swimming matches announced for yesterday. The rained poured in torrents, but the water was as smooth as glass. The first event was the ladies' race, for which there were three entries, Miss Frederick Sands, Miss E. Kruger and Miss Maggie Broderick. The course was from the bath to a stake-boat anchored up the river and return; a distance of one mile. The first prize was a gold medal, handsomly designed, with the date and name of the donor. The second prize was an amethyst ring, valued at $40. Miss Kruger was the first to get away, followed by Misses Sands and Broderick which position they maintained until turning the stake-boat, when Miss Sands pushed desperately forward and gained on Miss Kruger until, at the stand, she was fully eight lengths ahead of Miss Broderick, who came in second, Miss Kruger, third. Time, 13 minutes and 48 seconds.

The next race was for boys between the ages of eleven and fourteen years; for the first prize, a gold ring, and for the second, a set of studs. There were six entries. The course was from the bath to a stake-boat anchored in the river and return, a distance of half a mile. It was nip and tuck between McKenzie, Samuels and O'Connell until at the stand, O'Connell by desperate spurting, came in first. The last race of the day was for men, for which there were over twenty entries, but only six appeared. There were three prizes to be contested for, the first a gold medal and championship; the second, gold ring, and the third a silver medal of the same pattern as the gold one. The course was from the bath to the upper rocks off Bickwell's Island and return, a distance of two miles. The contestants were Wm. Foster, West Winter, Paul Callon, G. Herseman, J. Luttenbach and George Herseman. Betting was in favor of Callon, who now holds the championship, 10 to 7. It was evident that his backers were aware of his qualities, as he swam completely away from the others, coming in fully two minutes ahead of Foster, who was second, and Winter third. This race was called a draw, as the others were blinded by the rain, and will be competed for to-day.—N. Y. Sunday Mercury, August 2.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

Lotta presented an attractive appearance in pants last night at the California Theatre in the character of Sam Willoughby, and played with much animation. Miss Bella Pateman made a very pleasing May Edwards, T. W. Keene appeared in the part of Bob Brierly, Mrs. Judah presented an admirable impersonation of Mrs. Willoughby and Robert Pateman as Jim Dalton had another opportunity of showing that he is a capital character actor as well as the best low comedian we have ever had on the California stage. "The Ticket of Leave Man" will be played for the benefit of Miss Lotta, whose engagement will close on Saturday evening.

Maguire's New Theatre.

The rush to this theatre to see "The Black Crook" continues unabated. The performance is so varied and the ballet so attractive that it cannot fail to please. The names of the performers and the various specialties in which they appear are published on our first page.

Opera House.

Joe Murphy will appear but a few nights more in the play of "Maum Cre" at this house. It is very popular, and Mr. Murphy receives much applause for his impersonations and songs. "Maum Cre" will be played again to-night. To-morrow night Mr. Murphy will take his farewell benefit, and undoubtedly a crowd will be there.

Montgomery Queen's Great Show.

The Great Show will give but a few more entertainments at reduced prices. Fifty cents now admits a person to the menagerie and circus, and children are half price. The circus performances of itself is worth more than the price of admission. Little Miss Mollie Brown is an unexceptionably brilliant star, and Sebastian, Leopold and Geraldine, Nat Austin and others are very good in their respective specialties.

Pacific Hall.

The French artistes from Lima, assisted by Mlle Franchi, will give a performance at the above-named hall on Saturday evening. It will comprise "Le Violonneux" one act operetta by Offenbach "L'Homme n'est pas parfait" a vaudeville by M Durue, and Offenbach's operetta of "Une Demoiselle en Loterie." The cast of each of these pieces is published on our first page.

Bella Union Theatre.

Miss Kate Raymond and O. B. Collins appear nightly in the thrilling drama of "Dick, the News boy," Miss Mollie Brown plays Mollie Brown in "Trips to the Moon," Hock and Hart perform a double clog dance, Miss Camille King presents serio-comic gems, and altogether a very attractive performance is given.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

To-night in addition to a great programme of acts songs and dances, J. U. Arnold's play entitled "Screecher and Bilaem," written expressly for this house, will be produced for the first time. Johnny Tuers, John Kelly, Frank Mortimore Miss Maggie Brewer and others, whose names appear on our first pge, are included in the cast.

Woodward's Gardens.

The attractions at these gardens are numerous. The troupe of Bedouin Arabs, perform every Saturday and Sunday.

A Grand Picnic.

The Germania Rifle Benevolent Fund will have a grand picnic at the City Gardens, Sunday, August 30th. They will be escorted to the Gardens by different military companies. Amusements of every kind are the order of the day. The ladies will have a grand raffle, and in the evening there will be a splendid ball. The ladies and officers of the company are sparing no pains to make it the finest picnic and ball of the season.

Badger's Park, Oakland.

The fifteenth annual picnic, encampment and ball of the Shields Guard will take place on Saturday and Sunday, the 15th and 16th of August. A ball will take place Saturday night (the first time Badger has ever ligated up at night). The officers of the company have spared no pains to make it the finest picnic of the season.

City Gardens.

A grand variety show will be given at these Gardens on Sunday. A splendid minstrel show will be given during the afternoon and a grand ball in the evening. The Gardens under the present management are becoming very popular.

John McCullough in New York.

The despatches from New York announce the continued success of Mr. McCullough, in Bouciscault's new play, in spite of the oppressively warm weather. The Alta's telegrams of last night say:

NEW YORK, August 12.—The new play of "Bells Lamar" continues to draw largely at Booth's Theatre, though not so large as on the opening night. The Sun, in reviewing the play, says: "The statement is published that this piece was written expressly for Mr. John McCullough. If so, the writer made a mistake—the part made up for Mr. McCullough is too small for that gentleman; it does not give scope for the best exercise of his talent. It is well enough in kind, but not sufficient in degree. Mr. McCullough does well—he plays his part with grace, tenderness, sufficient strength and proper feeling. What should, perhaps, be more to his credit as an artist, is, that he does not overstep the limits of his character."

Notes.

John Howson, the excellent comedian and versatile actor, went East this morning. In low comedy parts, burlesque, strong character parts and gentlemanly old men, he is equally strong. During his engagement in this city, each character he assumed, was a new success. We regret that Mr. Howson should have been lured away to the East, and trust that he will before long return to San Francisco, "the only school for actors."

Miss Lizzie Watson, a London star versatile artist, will appear at the Opera House on Monday next. Harry Braham, also from London, a grotesque humorist and vocalist, will make his first appearance at the same time.

The Ninth Industrial Fair of the Mechanics' Institute, will open on Friday, August 28th. The public are to have four and a half acres of Fair this year, that being the exact quantity of ground covered by the Fair building.

WE CAN MAKE HOME HAPPY.

Though we may not change the cottage
For a mansion tall and grand,
Or exchange the little grass plat
For a boundless stretch of land—
Yet there is something brighter, dearer,
Than the wealth we'd thus command.

Though we have no means to purchase
Costly pictures, rich and rare—
Though we have no silken hangings
For the wall so cold and bare—
We can hang them o'er with garlands,
For flowers bloom everywhere.

We can always make home cheerful,
If the right course we begin;
We can make its inmates happy,
And their truest blessings win;
It will make the small room brighter,
If we let the sunshine in.

We can gather round the fireside
When the evening hours are long;
We can blend our hearts and voices
In a happy, social song;
We can guide some erring brother,
Lead him from the path of wrong.

We may fill our home with music,
And with sunshine brimming o'er;
If against all dark intruders
We will firmly close the door—
Yet, should evil shadows enter,
We must love each other more.

There are treasures for the lowly
Which the grandest fail to find:
There is a chain of sweet affection
Binding friends of kindred mind—
We may reap the choicest blessings
From the poorest lot assigned.

The Fellow That Looks Like Me.

Max Adeler who writes for a Philadelphia paper, has a friend named Slimmer, who deserves pity. He was going up to Reading the other day, and when reaching the depot he happened to look in the ladies' room. A woman sat there with a lot of baggage and three children, when she saw Slimmer she rushed at him, and before he could defend himself she flung her arms about his neck, nestled her head upon his breast, and burst into tears. Slimmer was amazed, indignant, confounded, and ere he could find utterance for his feelings, she exclaimed:

"Oh, Henry, dear Henry! We are united at last. Are you well? Haven't you longed to see your own Louisa?"

And she looked into Slimmer's face and smiled through her tears.

"Madame," said he solemnly; "if I am the person alluded to as Henry, permit me to say that you have made a mistake. My name is Lemuel; I have no aunt Martha, and I don't own a solitary Louisa. Oblige me by letting go my coat, it excites remark."

Then she buried her bonnet deeper into his waistcoat, and began to cry harder than ever, and said:

"Oh, Henry, how can you treat me so? How can you pretend you are not my husband?"

"Madame," screamed Slimmer, "if you do not cease sopping my shirt bosom, and remove your umbrella from my corn, I shall be obliged to call the police. Let me go I say."

And he tried to disengage himself from her embrace—while all the brakemen, and the baggage master and the newsboys stood around, and said his conduct was infamous. In the midst of the struggle a stranger entered with a carpet-bag. He looked exactly like Slimmer—and when he saw his wife in Slimmer's arms became excited, and floored Slimmer with that carpet-bag, and smote his nose and caromed on his head, and asked him what he meant. Slimmer was removed on a stretcher, and the enemy went off with his wife and family in a cab. He called next day to apologize. His wife had made the mistake because of Slimmer's likeness to him. And now Slimmer wishes he may soon be kicked in the face by a mule so that he will resemble no other human being on earth.

Stalls 74 and 75 are taken by the pioneer Poultry and Game dealers, Benjamin & Strasser. The finest Poultry and Game, and the Freshest Butter and Eggs in the city. 7-x

BOSTON OYSTER HOUSE.—L. O. Pratt has opened stalls 89 and 90 in Centre Market. Oysters in every style. Chops and Steaks of the choicest. Ladies private rooms up stairs. 7-x

Stalls 91, 92 and 93, have been opened by Anderson & Marshall as the Long Branch oyster house. They are among the oldest oyster men in the city.

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

If one wishes to pass an hour or two pleasantly at the game of billiards, no pleasanter place can be found in the city than Chapman & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, Northeast corner Bush and Kearny streets entrance on Bush. From the window a good view can be had of two of our busiest streets Bush and Kearny. Local Option not in force; for the best of Wines, Liquors and Cigars, are served at the bar for 12½ cents. 6-i

JOE GIUSTA'S Restaurant, at 105 California Market, has been long and favorably known by the public as a place where nice Chops, Porter-House Steaks and Oysters in every style could be had. A short time since, Mr. Giusta made an addition of a whole floor to his place, so that he could accommodate families. His restaurant, as now constructed, can well be called a family restaurant. 5-M

Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply, and state company and regiment, and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional Bounty under Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 3d, 1861, for three years, if not paid the same when discharged. Land Warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed to Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted Pensions to surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. H. FRIDAY..... .....AUGUST 14, 1874

Speed.

Goldsmith Maid trotted a mile at Buffalo last week in 2: 15½, and made the second heat at Rochester, on August 12th, in 2:14¾, beating all records and her own time clean out of sight. Lulu who was entered in the 2: 24 race at Buffalo, August 11th and won three straight heats in 2:21, 224½, and the third heat in the marvelous time of 2: 16¾. The fastest third heat ever trotted. Look out for Lulu hereafter. This years' racing will be celebrated for its unprecedented record.

Foul Play.

The parties immediately interested in the Beecher-Tilton case, in speaking of it, draw their similes from the poultry yard. Beecher talks of "nest-hiding," and the Rev. Leonard Bacon says, "Theodore Tilton has for the last three years been hatching to lay this egg." The Plymouth Church Congregation seems to be a big poultry yard, and, Henry Ward Beecher is still the favorite rooster.

Simple Man!

The Post's "regular dramatic reporter" wants looking after by the Commissioners of Lunacy. On Tuesday he confesses he gave what he terms "a complimentary notice of the 'Black Crook' without seeing the performance." Any "regular dramatic reporter" that will do that must be loony. We mean the confessing.

H'm!

We wonder what it means. Mr. A. J. Stevenson had a long puff in the Brevities column of Wednesday's Alta. He is spoken of as one of the most liberal men in San Francisco. To whom in the Alta office has the liberal A. J. Stevenson lent two dollars and a half? We suspect that Brevity man.

"Flushing the Sewers."

When we saw an editorial with the above heading, in the Bulletin the other day, we thought it was something about the proceedings of the Plymouth Church Investigating Committee, but it wasn't, it simply referred to the sanitary work needed in San Francisco.

Ante-Mortem Inquest.

Coroner Rice has been holding an ante-mortem inquest on a Chronicle reporter. He was thinking of committing him for contempt of Court for maliciously reporting proceedings, but finally let him off, bringing in a verdict of "Chronic" insanity.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc. printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

An Intelligent Ticket Taker.

A writer in a London musical paper says: "A rather funny incident in connection with the Handel Festival will, perhaps, cause some amusement. By some foolish arrangement, the press were supplied with tickets, on one voucher of which a demand was made that the name of the musical critic shall be signed, possibly with a view to future actions for libel. As I regarded this as a foolish infraction of the ever-recognized anonymity of the press, I resolved to practice upon the Crystal Palace authorities a harmless little practical joke. Accordingly I filled in the blank space left for signature with the name 'Geo. Fred. Handel.' The venerable old gentleman who collected the tickets took this particular voucher in his hand, looked at me, and then at the ticket, with an expression of face which said 'Blowed if I didn't think he was dead years ago,' and opening the door with an extraordinary low bow, paid proper homage to the great man who thus honored the festival held to his memory with his august presence."

Think of This.

The deleterious effects of chewing gum on the pocket were never so vividly presented as by a western philosopher. He speaks right out in meeting after this sound style: "Do you chew gum? The price of three pieces a week, at one cent apiece, amounts to $1 56 a year, or in sixty-seven years to $104 52. That sum will purchase a complete set of Appleton's Cyclopedia, a marriage license, a black bombazine dress for your aunt, a German silver coffin plate, and a cheroot. Cut this out, young man, and paste it on the back of your girl's photograph." And the female crusaders haven't presented the horrors of chewing gum to their deluded sisters.

Not Too Trusting.

We were talking the other day to a man who has unbounded confidence in his wife. Said he: "The only woman I'd trust with a secret is my wife. I know her. She wouldn't split." "All right," answered we. "We bet you didn't tell her of the secret of being on that picnic last week with that nice young thing who wore a white dress trimmed with cherry-colored ribbons. If you had, we'd bet she'd have split—your head." Since that time he has been reticent about his wife's ability to keep a secret.

An Irreverent Congregation.

The New York Dispatch says: One of the phases which must strike the thinking reader of the Brooklyn scandal, is the familiarity with which the members of the Plymouth congregation speak of God. One would think from their manner of speaking, that they were in constant consultation with the Almighty. They are as familiar with Him as though He were their twin brother. We fear that this familiarity has bred contempt for His laws.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
White mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a T."
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins'g
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again,
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.
CHARLES HAAKE, Proprietor.

How it is Done.

That was shrewd advice of a learned lawyer to a pupil: "When the facts are in your favor, but the law opposed to you, come out strong on the facts; but when the law is in your favor and the facts are opposed to you, come out strong on the law." "But," inquired the student, "when the law and the facts are both against me, what shall I do?" "When, then," said the lawyer, "talk around it!"

True Enough.

A little five-year old boy had been to the circus, with which, of course, he was delighted. Saturday night came, and while leading him to bed, his cousin said, Well, Sinclair, I suppose you want to go to church to-morrow? The little fellow paused a moment and then answered, Cousin Mollie: "If church was anything like a circus, you wouldn't have to ask me to go." Alas! for human nature.

Helped Himself.

A little fellow tumbled into the fountain and managed to crawl out before any one reached him. Pale and dripping he was put to bed, and when his mother requested the young man to thank God for saving him, Young America answered, "I 'spose God did save me, but then I held on to the gwass, too."

A Louisiana man puts a two-ounce can of nitro-glycerine inside of a chicken, tosses the chicken to an alligator, and that alligator does not trouble the bayou any more.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Maguire's New Theatre.

"The Black Crook" with its fine scenery, capital ballet and very attractive variety entertainment will be presented again this evening and also at the matinee to-morrow. Mlle. Jeanette Proschc, is a danseuse of great skill, and bids fair to become more popular than any of the great terpsichorean artistes who have before appeared in this city. Miss Frankie Etta is already an established favorite and the performance of the Runnels Family are rewarded nightly by shouts of applause.

Opera House.

To-night Joe Murphy will take his benefit and will appear for the first time this season in the very popular play of "Help" in which he presents some of his most pleasing character impersonations. The usual matinee performance will be given to-morrow, and on Sunday evening Mr. Murphy will make his last appearance.

California Theatre.

To-night, Lotta, the particular pet of the public of San Francisco, will take her farewell benefit, and as a matter of course, all her friends who knew her in "the early days" will rally on this occasion. The bill will consist of "Little Nell and the Marchioness," in which the beneficiary will appear in two roles, and Robert Pateman in his wonderful impersonation of Quilp. At the matinee to-morrow, "The Ticket of Leave Man" in which T. W. Keene appears to better advantage in the role of Bob Brierly, than in any other which has been assigned to him during the present season will be played for the last time and the Lotta season will close in the evening with "Zip; or, Point Lynde Light"

Montgomery Queen's Great Show.

Montgomery Queen's Great Show, the most complete organization that ever crossed the Rocky Mountains, will positively close after the performance on Saturday night. The collection of animals is a very valuable one, and comprises many never before seen on the Pacific Coast. The performance given by the Circus Troupe, for variety and excellence, can scarcely be surpassed. Such a phenomenal star as little Miss Mollie Brown is, is seen only once in a century, and is a novelty that cannot fail to delight. Leopold and Geraldine the gymnasts, stand at the very head of the profession, and were for some time the leading feature at the principal variety theatres in the East. Romeo Sebastian is a graceful and daring rider who has few equals in the equestrian profession. Nat Austin is an exceptionally clever jester, reminding one, more of one of Shakespeare's creations than of the modern clown. Billy Burke, the other merry fellow indulges in broad humor and grotesque fun which makes all classes of people laugh whether they wish to or not. Signor Farania is the most graceful and accomplished contortionist we have ever seen, and the others who make up this great combination are all good in their respective specialties. Never has so admirably managed a circus visited this city. Every one connected with it, understands his duty perfectly, and consequently all goes well. Montgomery Queen, to whose enterprise the citizens of San Francisco owe the rich entertainment they have enjoyed so much during the last three weeks, is the prince of showmen, and his views of how the claims of an entertainment to be patronized should be presented to the public are most ably carried out by Claude Williams, whose position as Press agent, gives him many opportunities of becoming acquainted with what suits the public in every city which he visits. There will be a matinee to-day and an evening performance, and as we said above, to-morrow night the great show will close.

Pacific Hall.

The French artistes from Lima, assisted by Mlle Franzini, will give a performance at the abovenamed hall on Saturday evening. It will comprise "Le Violonneux" one act operetta by Offenbach, grand concert in which M Dauphin will take part, a vaudeville by Durue, and Offenbach's operetta of "Une Demoiselle en Loterie." The cast of each of these pieces is published on our first page.

Pacific Hall.

On Monday evening a complimentary benefit to Frank G. King will be given at this hall by Little Nell, J. G. Russell, the popular baritone, Clarence E. King, and other amateurs whose names are published elsewhere.

Bella Union Theatre.

The double clog dance by Hook and Hart is a great feature of the admirable bill presented at this house. "Dick the Newsboy," with Miss Kate Raymond in the title role, and O. B. Collins as Wm. Horsfall has proved a popular hit, and the lively extravaganza of "Trips to the Moon" is as great a favorite with the public as ever.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

"The Screecher and Bilkem Scandal" written for Ned Buckley by J. C. Arnold was produced at this house last night and drew much applause and laughter. H. W. Screecher's character is cleared from stain in this play as effectually as it could be by any investigating committee. The same bill will be played to-night.

Woodward's Gardens.

The attractions at these gardens are numerous. The troupe of Bedouin Arabs, perform every Saturday and Sunday.

A Grand Picnic.

The Germania Rifle Benevolent Fund will have a grand picnic at the City Gardens, Sunday, August 30th. They will be escorted to the Gardens by different military companies. Amusements of every kind are the order of the day. The ladies will have a grand raffle, and in the evening there will be a splendid ball. The ladies and officers of the company are sparing no pains to make it the finest picnic and ball of the season.

Badger's Park, Oakland.

The fifteenth annual picnic, encampment and ball of the Shields Guard will take place on Saturday and Sunday, the 15th and 16th of August. A ball will take place Saturday night (the first time Badger has ever lighted up at night). The officers of the company have spared no pains to make it the finest picnic of the season.

City Gardens.

A grand variety show will be given at these Gardens on Sunday. A splendid minstrel show will be given during the afternoon and a grand ball in the evening. The Gardens under the present management are becoming very popular.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

New Furnishing Goods.

Cheap, at the What Cheer Laundry.

AT THE LAST.

The stream is calmest when it nears the tide,
The flowers are sweetest in the eventide,
The birds more musical at close of day,
And saints divinest when they pass away.

Morning is lovely, but a holier charm
Lies folded close in Evening's robe of balm;
And weary man must ever love her best,
For Morning calls to toil, but Night to rest.

She comes from heaven, and on her wings doth bear
A holy fragrance, like the breath of prayer;
Footsteps of angels follow in her trace,
To shut the dreary eyes of Day in peace.

All things are hushed before her as she throws
O'er earth and sky her mantle of repose;
There is a calm, a beauty, and a power
That Morning knows not, in the Evening hour.

"Until the evening" we must weep and toil,
Plow life's stern furrow, dig the weedy soil,
Tread with sad feet our rough and thorny way,
And bear the heat and burden of the day.

Oh! when our sun is setting may we glide
Like Summer evening down the golden tide;
And leave behind us as we pass away,
Sweet, starry twilight round our sleeping clay!

A Pleasing Picture.

The New York Tribune says: If we want to see what civilization has done for us, in a nutshell, compare these old men choosing as under the eye of God their wisest and most upright man as their ruler, and solemnly invoking for him judgment and honor and "Old Cockeye" acting as clown for the House with unbounded applause and playing fantastic tricks in the filth of his friends' dishonor. Only a people morally great as we, can afford to make a jest of theft and a vulgar farce of our legislation.

Smart Boy.

Rather a good story is told on Senator Carpenter. Wishing to be witty at the expense of a page, he told the boy to go to the document room and get him a copy of the Mortification bill. Some Senators sitting near were informed of the joke; and prepared to laugh at the page's discomfiture. The lad went on his errand and soon returned with a copy of the bill for the repeal of the salary grab! The Senators roared, and Carpenter grinned a ghastly smile.

How Is It.

A lady writer points out the fact as worthy of notice that, "while the men who commit suicide are almost always unmarried, the women are married or widowed." This leads to the inference that, while men cannot live without women, women find life unbearable with them.

Sociability.

The Indianapolis Journal says: "It is understood that the burglars of this city are about to organize a society for social and intellectual improvement, and the advancement of business. Several of the new police will be made honorary members."

Mildly Put.

Nowadays, when anybody wants to tell somebody that he lies, he says: "You talk like one of the Plymouth congregation."

They won't allow people in Missouri to whistle the "Mulligan Guards" in church any more. Is this Christian charity?

New Wine and Oyster House.

Mr. A. Freeman, formerly under the California Theatre, will open Saturday evening his new Wine and Oyster House at 223 Sutter street opposite the Centre Market. Oysters fresh from the beds, and Wines of the finest brands. Mr. Dave B. Magee will be found at this establishment. 8.

Removal—"White House" Restaurant

The popular and well known Dining Saloon "White House", 112 Kearny street, Louis Meyer Proprietor, will remove Saturday the 28th July, to his new and more commodious premises 211 Sutter street, near the Centre Market. Mr. Meyer, in his new and elegant premises, will be able to better accommodate his numerous patrons. 7-bg

"Bon Ton."

The "Bon Ton" Saloon of the California Theatre is being newly fitted up by J. E. Slinkey, proprietor of the Overland House, who is going to run it as a first-class bit house instead of two bits as heretofore. The opening takes place Saturday night, 15th inst.

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions, Club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relief by applying at Dr. R. H. Cowan's Institute, removed to 212 Kearny street, from 1 to 6 P.M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. References given if required. x

Music Hath Charms.

BOSTON OYSTER HOUSE.—L. O. Pratt has opened stalls 89 and 90 in Centre Market. Oysters in every style. Chops and Steaks of the choicest. Ladies private rooms up stairs. 7-x

Stalls 91, 92 and 93, have been opened by Anderson & Marshall as the Long Branch oyster house. They are among the oldest oyster men in the city.

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

If one wishes to pass an hour or two pleasantly at the game of billiards, no pleasanter place can be found in the city than Chapman & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, Northeast corner Bush and Kearny street's entrance on Bush. From the window a good view can be had of two of our busiest streets Bush and Kearny. Local Option not in force; for the best of Wines, Liquors and Cigars, are served at the bar for 12½ cents. 6-x

JOE GIUSTA'S Restaurant, at 105 California Market, has been long and favorably known by the public as a place where nice Chops, Porter-House Steaks and Oysters in every style could be had. A short time since, Mr. Giusta made an addition of a whole floor to his place, so that he could accommodate families. His restaurant, as now constructed, can well be called a family restaurant. 5-M

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

SACRAMENTO.—Maguire's California Minstrels opened at the Metropolitan Theatre on Monday to a splendid house and their performances were much enjoyed. The Bee says: The audience enjoyed the fun thoroughly, and some sober old business men who go around with their faces drawn, looking like they had lost their friends, were observed laughing till the tears ran down their cheeks. One old fellow left about the middle of the performance, saying his sides ached, but in about five minutes he again returned to see it out. When he tried to go away, "first he would and then he wouldn't, then he smiled and said he couldn't."

SAN JOSE.—Maguire's Dramatic Company will play here on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of next week. On Thursday evening of this week "Dreden McCloud's Great Eastern Dramatic Pantography of Ten Nights in a Bar Room and Scenes from the Life of Joan of Arc" exhibited to a "select" audience. The Mercury says the performance was a clever one and Carl Hayman's off-hand sketches showed considerable talent.

SALINOX.—Maguire's Dramatic Company will open the new Gilroy Theatre on Monday night, with "Frou-Frou." "Caste" will be played on Tuesday, and "The New Magdalen" on Wednesday.

VENICIA.—The Amateur Dramatic Club have made arrangements for new scenery, etc., for their entertainments during the Fair week, and some of the plays have already been cast and the parts given out to study. Several new pieces are to be presented, and the exhibitions will be well worthy of a liberal support, the full proceeds, except rent of hall, lights, etc., to go towards the aid of the Agricultural Society, under whose auspices the performances are given.

VIRGINIA CITY.—George D. Chapin, supported by J. Al. Shewelle, A. D. Billings, Mrs. Chas. Edmonds, Miss Carrie Cogswell, Miss A. A. Adams, Miss Nellie Cummings, Miss Carrie Lipmin and others opened at Piper's Opera House on Monday in "Enoch Arden," on Tuesday night "School" was performed, on Wednesday "Foul Play" constituted the bill, with Miss Annette Ince as Helen Rolleston.

SALT LAKE.—The Vokes took a railroad car of dollars out of Salt Lake. The stock are now playing to quiet business.

DENVER.—The Theatre is now called Theatre Comique, the lessees, T. B. Archer & Co. Miss Jessie Harmon, the Perry Brothers, Miss Carrie Chapman, Lou McCarty and other favorites are numerized in the company.

SALEM.—Madame Anna Bishop's Concert Company performed at Reed's Opera House on Monday.

ALBANY.—Madame Anna Bishop gave a concert on the 11th.

PORTLAND, O.—Mrs. Marriner received a complimentary benefit on Thursday last. Mme. Anna Bishop, Alfred Wilkie and others appeared. Madame Anna Bishop, Alfred Wilkie and Mr. Lear will start on a tour Monday for Eastern Oregon and Washington Territory. Mr. Campbell and Mrs. Mariner are on their way back to San Francisco.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corvillo keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

FOREIGN DRAMATIC NEWS.

London dates are up to the 18th ult. The thermometer was 88 deg. in the shade. Theatrical business is generally bad chiefly owing to the heat. The six-act comedy drama, "Led Astray," has been produced at the Gaiety. The houses are not half filled. This looks bad, but to produce a lengthy piece in the month of July in London is a hazardous experiment. Mr Boucicault expressed his opinion that "Led Astray" would certainly run for three hundred nights, but recent experiences have taken a little conceit out of him. Of the two actors, Charles Thorne and Stuart Robson, that Mr. Boucicault brought from America, the first named has made a mark; but Mr. Robson is not understood, and his performance goes for nothing. Dion's temperament is sanguine.

Mr. Edward Ledger, one of the late proprietors of the Era, has now the direction of that organ.

The Emily Soldene troupe will visit America in the autumn. Mr. C. Morton says he has no share in the enterprise. Miss Soldene will give opera bouffe at the Lyceum theatre in London for a few weeks, dating from August 1st.

"Olancarty," at the Olympic, has proved a paying item, and has run well through the year. The next novelty at this theatre will be an adaptation of "The Two Orphans." John Oxenford is to put this into English shape.

The Royal Aquarium and Summer and Winter Garden Society, a limited company, is being formed, with a capital of £200,000 in shares of £5 each, to establish for London an Aquarium and Winter Garden. The site is to face the Houses of Parliament and Westminster Abbey. There will be a splendid conservatory and promenade, surrounded by galleries, and constructed mainly of glass. Within the building will be given vocal and instrumental performances. Reading-rooms and a library will be added, also a picture gallery.

Tom King, lion tamer, of Day's Menagerie, was married at Plymouth on the 5th, to Lorina, eldest daughter of Mr. Day. The wedding originally arose from the fact King rescued the young lady from a leopard that attacked her as she was in the cage rehearsing a performance with him.

Miss Plessy Mordaunt is in London.

Herr Wiljalba Frikell, who appeared at Steinway Hall last Winter, recently lost all his capital by the failure of a German bank. He is now performing in London.

Lydia Thompson (Mrs. Henderson), with her husband, Alexander Henderson, is at Carlsbad, drinking the famed waters of that place, expecting to return to London renewed in health, where the fair Lydia and a newly-organized company will open the new Charing Cross theatre, Sept. 5th, and will play in England up to February, when they will sail for this country, and commence a season of fifteen months March 1st.

Dan Bryant and family are in London, guests of G. W. Moore of the Moore and Burgess Minstrels.

The Porte St. Martin promises for October next a spectacular comic drama by Jules Verne. It will be called "Around the World in Eighty Days," and is taken from the romance which bears that title.

In Germany most of the Stadt theatres are closed, the companies migrating to the Gardens.

In Berlin the favorite summer theatrical resort is Kroll's Theatre and Gardens, where open-air concerts constitute the chief attraction. Wallner's Theatre is still open for the farewell representations of Clara Zeigler. At Wolterdorf's theatre, Carl Schulz's company from Hamburg are playing. At the Victoria Theatre "A Word About Parliament" has proved highly successful. The Louisienstadt Theatre is playing a sensational drama. The Walhalla still keeps up its reputation for variety. At present the stars are the Montazini Family of singers, the Brothers Gilfort (American athletes), Jenny Mills, Gus Westbrook and Lilly Aldston (English singers and dancers). Herzog & Schuman's Circus closed on the 7th with the benefit of the English clown, Burgess.

The Summer theatre in Cologne, Mosler's Tivoli, was burnt on the night of June 22d.

"Bon Ton."

The "Bon Ton" Saloon of the California Theatre is being newly fitted up by J. E. Slinkey, proprietor of the Overland House, who is going to run it as a first-class bit house instead of two bits as heretofore. The opening takes place Saturday night, 15th inst.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
White mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
No longer doubt this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again,
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

OPERA HOUSE.—"Help" has seldom been so successfully presented as it was at this house last night, when Joe Murphy took his benefit. Joe appeared in the characters of Ned Daly, Pat O'Shaughnessy, Mickiel O'Gaff, and Christoph Van Liebenstiel, and introduced his specialties "The Peerless of the Period," "The B Flat Clarionet" "The beatiful Little Market Girl," "The Gay Horse Jockey" with bone solo, imitations of a horse race and a double Irish Jig, with Miss Annie Lawrence. He was much applauded in each of these performances. "Help" will be played at the matinee to-day, to-night and to-morrow night, when Joe Murphy will make his last appearance.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—A capital performance of "Little Nell and the Marchioness" was given at this theatre last night, when Miss Lotta took her farewell benefit. The beneficiary won much applause both as Little Nell and the Marchioness. Robert Fateman electrified the audience with his wonderful impersonation of Quilp. Henry Edwards played the part of Grandfather Trent excellently, and Miss Belle Chapman as poor persecuted Mrs. Quilp, acted the part with much feeling. At the matinee to-day "The Ticket of Leave Man" will be performed. Miss Lottie will appear as Sam Willoughby, and T. W. Keene will present one of the best impersonations of Bob Brierly seen on any stage. This evening the Lotta season will close with the revival of the very successful play entitled "Zip; or, Point Lynde Light."

MAGUIRE'S NEW THEATRE.—It is a week since the "Black Crook" Company opened at this house, and there is not the slightest sign of any falling off in the attendance. No sooner are the doors opened than the house is filled, and those who come after the curtain has risen walk sadly away, unable to get in. There is reason enough for this. The ballet is very attractive Mlle. Jeannete Proscher is as pretty as she is talented. Master Bennie Runnels is the funniest of Dutch comedians, Miss Frankie Etta the most vivacious and piquante of song and dance artists. C. B. Dobson the best performer on the banjo living, and in fact all are pleasing in their various specialties and the play moves like clock work. At the matinee to-day, to-night and to-morrow night two or three thousand more people will see and enjoy the performance of "The Black Crook."

MONTGOMERY QUEEN'S GREAT SHOW.—There will be a matinee to-day, and to-night the last exhibition of Montgomery Queen's Great Show will take place. After this the darling and graceful little Miss Mollie Brown, the clever Romeo Sebastian, the extraordinary Ferante, the funny Billy Burke, the philosophical Nat Austin, the unapproachable Leepold and Geraldine and all the other brilliant stars who have made their orbit here, will pass to another sphere of action and delight the inhabitants of other towns. Even San Jose cannot be insensible to the attractions of such a show as this. It is two shows for one admission fee, and that is what just suits the good but penurious folks of San Jose.

PACIFIC HALL.—The French artistes from Lima, assisted by Mlle Franzini, will give a performance at the above-named hall to-night. It will comprise "Le Violonneux" one act Operetta by Offenbach, grand concert in which M Dauphin will take part, a vaudeville by Darne, and Offenbach's operetta of "Une Demoiselle en Loterie." The cast of each of these pieces is published on our first page.

NEW BELLA UNION THEATRE.—Cal. Mandeville and Matt Kelly appear on the ends in the Firt Part at this house and create much amusement. Hook and Hart receive much applause nightly for their very artistic clog dance. Miss Kate Raymond, O. B. Collins, Miss Jennie Johnson, H. R. Archer and others appear to good advantage in the drama of "Dick, the Newsboy" and "Trips to the Moon," with its hits at the follies of the day, grand marches and attractive tableaux is a great success.

BUCKLEY'S NEW VARIETY THEATRE.—Judging from the applause it nightly receives, we imagine that J. C. Arnold's original play entitled "The Screecher and Bilkem Scandal," will run until the Plymouth Church committee have come to a decision. Johnny Tuers appears nightly in his specialties and a great variety of performances may be expected by all who visit this house.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS.—The attractions at these gardens are numerous. The troupe of Bedouin Arabs, perform to-day and to-morrow.

CITY GARDENS.—Minstrel entertainment. A grand variety show will be given at these Gardens on Sunday. A splendid minstrel show will be given during the afternoon and a grand ball in the evening. The Gardens under the present management are becoming very popular. The programme appears on our first page.

BADGER'S CENTRAL PARK—THE PICNIC. The fifteenth annual picnic, encampment and ball of the Shields Guard will take place on Saturday and Sunday, the 15th and 16th of August. A ball will take place Saturday night (the first time Badger has ever lighted up at night). The officers of the company have spared no pains to make it the finest picnic of the season.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—Captain Foster, the genial host of the Cliff House, entertains visitors from all parts of the Globe at his famous sea-side resort. The Cliff House is THE one thing San Francisco has to boast of as different from anything else in the world. Omnibuses run every day from the terminus of the Lone Mountain Railroad.

GOLDEN GATE PARK.—Those who drive out to the new park should visit The Villa which has just been opened. Here they will find four public parlors and ten private dining rooms. Guido Mangenberg, the proprietor, gets up epicurean breakfasts, dinners and suppers at short notice. Omnibuses will leave on SUNDAYS, at 9 o'clock A. M., from the corner of Market and Kearny streets, and every hour afterward, until 4 o'clock, from the corner of McAllister and Fillmore streets connecting with the Market Street and Hayes Valley cars, and from the corner of Turk and Fillmore streets by the way of City Front and Lone Mountain cars.

GRAND SUNDAY EXCURSION.—The steamer Antelope leaves San Francisco every Saturday at 3:30. P M. and on Sunday at 9 A. M. from Front Street Wharf, connecting with the cars of the S. F. & N. P. Railroad at Donahue for Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Healdsburg and Cloverdale. Excursion tickets are issued at reduced rates, and are good from Saturday to Monday. Those who wish to enjoy a little country air at the end of the week could not choose a finer trip than this excursion offers.

PICNIC OF THE GERMANIA RIFLES.—The Germania Rifle Benevolent Fund will have gust 30th. They will be escorted to the Gardens a grand picnic at the City Gardens, to-morrow Aug by different military companies. Amusements of every kind are the order of the day. The ladies will have a grand raffle, and in the evening there will be a splendid ball. The ladies and officers of the company are sparing no pains to make it the finest picnic and ball of the season.

NOTES.—The Opera House is never so well patronized as when the minstrels are there. We prophesy that on no night next week will there be even standing room after eight o'clock, for Emerson, the great, will on that occasion make his reappearance. Mr. Emerson brings with him Lottie the wonderful female gymnast from London, via Australia. With these will appear Ben Cotton, Billy Rice, Billy Arlington, and Maguire's California Minstrels. No one satisfies the public of San Francisco like Billy Emerson, and he will receive a perfect ovation on making his reappearance.

On Monday evening the Vokeses who have probably created more fun in this world than any other artistes living, will commence an engagement at the California Theatre. They will open in their popular specialty of "The Belles of the Kitchen," which they have played over two thousand times in Europe and America. There is but one verdict about the Vokeses, they are inimitable. Youth, good looks, irrepressible animal spirits, consummate art and a thorough desire to please the public have made them favorites wherever they have appeared. Their fun is the genuine article, and will pass current in all parts of the world.

On Monday evening Frank G. King will be the recipient of a complimentary benefit at Pacific Hall. An entertainment will be given by Little Nell, J. G. Russell, Clarence E. King, Tom Christy, Charley Wright, Johnny Williams, Billy Mestayer Billy White, Ed. Smith, Charley Scott, Wm King, Fred. Monell and Willie and Frank Sheridan. After the performance there will be a ball.

The Ninth Industrial Fair of the Mechanic's Institute will be opened on Tuesday, August 18th. Col. W. H. L. Barnes will deliver the opening address. The Art Department will be more complete this year than on any former occasion, being under the direction of the San Francisco Art Association. The Secretary of the Committee Fred Whymper has succeeded in bringing together for this occasion the best works of art in San Francisco.

Mr. J. T. Morse, the business manager of Dr. J. E. Healy's Hibernian gems, another New York Show, has leased Platt's Hall for a season commencing Monday August 24th. This entertainment which has been very successful in the East, consists of a series of beautifully painted panoramic sketches of Ireland, interspersed with appropriate music and clever dramatic sketches.

Little Mac, Jake Wallace, and a minstrel company sailed for Eureka, Humboldt Bay on Thursday.

The route of Montgomery Queen's Great Show is as follows: Redwood City, August 17th; San Jose, 18th; Gilroy, 19th; Salinas, 20th; Watsonville, 21; Santa Cruz, 22d; Santa Clara, 24th; Centreville, 26th; Haywards, 26th; Oakland, 27th and 28th.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

Charles Pope stars next season in an adaptation of "Samson"—not Salvini's Samson.

A New York paper says: Mr. J. H. Stoddart, who ranks high among our eccentric actors, and who so long delighted the playgoers as a member of Wallack's company, will star throughout the country next season, commencing early in September under the management of his brother, Mr. G. W. Stoddart, who has just returned from Europe. He will be supported by a company of ladies and gentlemen of ability and reputation, among whom will be Mrs. G. W. Stoddart, a sterling actress, long and favorably known in Philadelphia, Boston, and other metropolitan cities.

The New York Dispatch says:

Mr. Robert Fateman has at length compelled the California critics to acknowledge his merits.

If the people referred to had been "critics" they would have been able to decide on Mr. Fateman's merits during the short time he was at the Opera House, last year.

Mr. Charles Calvert for many years manager of the Prince's Theatre, Manchester, and one of the most erudite Shakspearean scholars and actors living will come to this country to superintend the production of "Henry V." at Booth's Theatre, next February.

M. Imrie Kiraify has returned from Europe after making arrangements for the production at Niblo's Garden on Sept. 7th of the great Parisian spectacle "Paradise Perdu," to be called "The Deluge." The entire stage and scenic arrangements will be characterized by complete novelty and a gorgeousness of meaning never equaled in this city even by the "Black Crook." Numerous European artists whose names, have been mentioned from time to time in our columns, have been engaged, and the ballets under the direction of the Brothers Kiraify will be perfectly dazzling. "The Deluge" is intended to be the spectacular sensation of the season.

Lionel Brough, among the most celebrated comedians of England, has been engaged by the Thompson troupe, and will accompany them to this country in February next.

Willie Edouin and wife (Alice Atherton) sail for England August 15th, to join Miss Lydia Thompson and company, at their opening in London, September 5th.

Mrs. Chanfrau will play in the great success of the London season, Tom Taylor's Olympic drama "Lady Clancarty," next Fall.

Mr. Claude Barroughs, joins the forces at Booth's Theatre, under Messrs. Jarrett & Palmer.

Violetta Colville has been presented with a beautiful pair of black Shetland ponies by R. B. J. Miles, the Cincinnati manager.

Lydia Thompson has forwarded instructions to re-invest in stocks of the United States the sum of $211,000.

A New York paper says: Toole, the celebrated English comedian arrived in New York on Monday. He is of a short compact build, very dark complexion, and piercing black eyes. He has not much of the cockney accent, but sufficient to unmistakably to fix his origin. He was delighted with his first view of an American theatre and speaks in the highest terms of its completeness and brightness, so different from the majority of London places of amusement. He very much dreaded the voyage across the Atlantic, being a great victim to mal de mer, but the sea, he said, was like glass, and he never before found a climate where one can so soon recuperate from a sea voyage as that of New York. He will appear at Wallack's Theatre, in "Wig and Gown," August 31.

The New York Courier speaking of the performance at Niblo's Theatre says: Despite the fact that the daily press has abused the new burlesque, "Evangeline," most effectually, still it has proved a success, and possesses, moreover, a good many qualities that should make it one. It dialogue is, at times, exceedingly dreary, it is true, and there is but little, if any, sequence, to its plot and incidents, while the good taste of burlesquing so exquisite a poem as Longfellow's "Evangeline" may be justly questioned. The great redeeming feature of the piece is the music, which is by E. Everitt Rice, and is of a bright, dashing, ad captandum order that is very attractive. It has a smack of the true Offenbach spirit, and it is evident that, were Mr. Rice to devote himself to the task, he could write an acceptable opera bouffe.

The opening night at the Lyceum Theatre is fixed for the 24th inst, and will introduce the ever-popular Aimee and her new company from Paris in a new opera, "La Timbale d' Argent," by a new composer, Leon Vasseur. In the company we find such sterling favorites of the French stage as Miles. Minelly, Gandon and Kid, and MM. Dubonchet, De Boer, Genot, Guyot and Leonard. Two operas by Offenbach, "La Princesse, de Trebisende" and "La Jolie Parfumeuse" will be produced during the season, which will be necessarily limited owing to other engagements, such as Miss Neilson, Emily Soldene, Ristori, &c:

The season at the Fifth Avenue Theatre will begin Aug. 15th. The opening play will be a new drama by Mr. Augustin Daly. New plays by Bret Harte and Bronson Howard will probably follow this, and later, Mr. Daly designs reviving one of Shakspeare's least acted comedies, and also will produce, with some importance, a novel arrangement of "The School," modelled after the adaptation of that play which has been produced at the Prince of Wales' Theatre, London, in which the action is fitted and confined to one scene in each act. The company regularly engaged for the next season comprises Misses Ada Dyas, Fanny Davenport, Sara Jewett, Fanny Morant, Mrs. G. H. Gilbert, Misses Alice Gray, Nellie Mortimer, Nina Varian, Stella Congdon, Lizzie Griffiths, Agnes Herndon, Bijon Heron and Emily Rigl, who has abandoned Terpsichore for Thalia, Messrs. Charles Fisher, D. H. Harkins, Geo. Clark, Louis James, B. F. Ringgold, James Lewis, Frank Hardenbergh, W. Davidge, J. W. Jennings, Geo. Parks, Owen Fawcett, Hart Conway, Geo. Devere, D. Whiting, James S. Peakes, Frank Chapman, Geo. Gilbert, Beekman, I. Devau, W. Etynge, and Sol. Russell. There is a probability that this very excellent role of artistes will be crowned by the addition of the name of Mr. E. L. Davenport.

Gilmore's proposition for the lesseeship of the Grand Opera House has been accepted, and having obtained the $100,000 required for the enterprise, alterations in the auditorium will be commenced immediately, and before Christmas the West side will possess a magnificent music hall.

Miss Edith Gray, a noted young London actress will accompany Wybert Reeves on his starring tour during the coming season. She will appear as the heroine of several new plays.

J. K. Emmet, the popular illustrator of Teutonic character, will return to New York from London about the middle of September and commence a tour of the United States; John B. Rogers, his agent, arrived recently, and advertises that Mr. Emmet's repertoire will include his favorite specialties of "Fritz" and "Max" and that he will also appear in a new Irish drama written expressly for him.

W. A. Mestayer, Montreal, August 3, one week. Announced to open again there 17th.

Mr. William Wheatley, of past managerial repute both in New York and Philadelphia, is lying dangerously ill at his Coney Island villa.

It is definitely settled that Mr. Clifton W. Tayleure will be associated with William Stuart in the management of the New Park Theatre and that Little Nell will be the opening attraction in a new play during the present month.

The San Francisco Minstrels, with Birch, Wambold and Backus, will dedicate their new hall corner of Twenty-ninth street and Broadway, August 31.

The buxom Eliza Weathersby, of blonde burlesque celebrity, now in the Boston Museum stock is alleged to have been recently married.

Charles Hanlon fell twenty-five feet while swinging on his trapeze at the Arcade, Jersey City, on the 29th. He struck his side violently against the corner of a table and was very badly injured.

A menagerie exhibitor says lions range in value from $1,500 to $4,600, and live from eight to twenty years. The next most valuable animal is the Bengal tiger, which lives from fifteen to twenty years. African elephants range from $800 to $4,000 and live three score years. Camels and llamas are worth about $4,000.

Frank Mayo and Rosa Rand play in Springfield, Mass., for one week, commencing on the 17.

H. F. Daly will be stage-manager at the Boston Museum next season.

Miss Louisa Percy comes to this country with the Majilton Family.

Miss Alice Brooks will travel with Mr. L. P. Barrett this Fall.

The season at the Boston Museum will commence on the 24th.

Miss Fanny Hayward is engaged at the Boston Museum.

Boucicault's new play of "Bell Lamar" with John McCullough in the leading role, is being played at Booth's.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
W. H. AIKEN, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW AND Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in California and Nevada, gives prompt attention to the collection of Additional Travel Pay, now due California and Nevada Volunteers discharged more than three hundred miles from home. Soldiers can depend on fair treatment. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply, and state company and regiment, and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional Bounty under Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $ 60 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 2d, 1861, for three years, if not paid or the same when discharged. Land Warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed to Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted Pensions to our surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mexican Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. H. The China News.

The Elizabeth Journal published in New Jersey, which borders on the United States, has the following notice of the China News:

"One of the most singular documents that has ever been seen in this city is a copy of a Chinese paper, published in San Francisco. The only words in English in the whole sheet, which is about one-half the size of the Journal, are under a large display headline in the most outlandish Chinese characters, and seem to be an interpretation of them as follow: "The Chi a News, July 17, 1874." The frightful looking characters are placed in every conceivable position on the paper. Some are in horizontal lines, some in long parallel columns, and others are too diversified in form to know what direction they belong to. The editorial columns are doubtless conducted with great ability, while the local and poetic departments seem to be marked with all the ardor and fire and infernal machines necessary to make it a success. Special attention seems to be paid to the foreign news department, and judging from the looks of the advices something frightful is going on in China or San Francisco—it's doubtful which. So far as could be seen the editor was not off on an excursion and no reporter was wanted. In the home circle department there was seemingly much good taste displayed, and if the paper isn't a profitable thing to have in every well regulated family then it is difficult to tell what is to read in this enlightened age.

The copy referred to, which is as bright as a new pin, was sent to Mr. G. J. Parkinson, by Chauncy Ryder, who is now in San Francisco, and when he has read it through, he is going to let us have it, and probably we will print some of its shorter articles if we can find old nails and horse shoes enough for type."

What a Pity!

In answer to a correspondent, who asked, Was Charles Sumner, a total abstinence man? The Herald of Health, says: We are sorry to say he was not. He was always a lover of fine wine, and much of it. His Boston friends provided him with many a cask and casket. His palate took a wide range, from Sicilian and Spanish light wines, to port and Madeira, and the best clarets of France and Hungary. He was a very great eater, and liked sweet breads, game, large hot joints, and the mountain mutton of the Bull Run and Caloctin country. He breakfasted light, and took no lunch; consumed over two hours at the table and then sat up by a droplight opening his mail, reading and talking until midnight.

Option Juice.

The Virginia Enterprise says that "never before in the history of California have the rattle-snakes and tarantulas proved so outrageously bold and venomous. They fairly swarm in and around the towns which have adopted local option, and, strange to say, seem, to take a vicious delight in biting 'no-license' men. It takes a full gallon of whiskey to cure a snake or tarantula bite, and it is estimated that several thousand gallons have been used up for that purpose since the last elections. 'Snake bit! Gimme sum whiskey!' is the frightful cry now continually going up from the unfortunate inhabitants of the temperance towns of California.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc. printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-oj

What Cheer Laundry

Is the best Laundry in San Francisco.

Joaquin Miller.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean asks this question: What has Joaquin Miller been doing abroad that his name should be stricken from the rolls of two clubs in London, of which he was elected a member only last year? Whatever he has been doing, he has not been keeping himself clean, or times have changed with him. And what aristocratic club wants anything to do with a man who will persist in wearing under his finger nails deep mourning for his departed decency? Only the most brilliant intellectual accomplishments could in any degree atone for so untidy a personnel, so studiously affected a savagery of appearance; and that the unsavory and unsightly ugliness of it might be kept out of mind, his brain should scintillate without ceasing—which it does not. While you watch and admire the brilliant beauty of a piece of fire works, the very miserable paste-board contrivance that holds it and forms its base-work is unnoticed. But when the last star-shower has died away, and nothing but that very miserable contrivance is left, you ought not to be expected to continue your admiration. Your first impulse as to pass is to kick it out of the way. Joaquin was brilliant while in full play. But the fire has left him, nearly, if not altogether; and why should it be necessary for him to commit an overt offense in order to justify his being dropped from the London club-rolls?

The Smiths.

In a certain Western city a man determined to get up a directory. They never had one there before, and it was anticipated with a great deal of pleasure. Everybody was rejoicing about it. But the printer who was to set up the book found that he had run out of all his capital S's before he got as far as the Smiths, and, as he found he was going to lose money on the job, he determined not to buy any more type. So he told the foreman just to lead off all the rest of the names commencing with S with any capital letter that came handy. There were fifteen hundred and sixty-seven Smiths in that town, and when the directory came out, the whole of them rushed to it, to see their names in print. It was ascertained that every one of them was described under such names as Mith, Pith, Jith, With, Syth, Xith, Fith, Hythe, Iith, Tith, &ith, and ever so many more of the same kind. Fifteen hundred and sixty-seven madder men than those fifteen hundred and sixty-seven Smiths never pranced around over the boundless prairies of the West. They waited on the directory man in a body next morning, intending to macerate his nose, but he took the early train for San Francisco, and when last heard from had obtained a permanent situation in a Hong Kong temple as assistant idol maker. That city is without a reliable directory yet.

Plausible.

Few men have a readier excuse for their homage, than the Grecian sage, who, being asked why philosophers always ran after rich men, while rich men never courted philosophers, replied, "Because the latter know they want money, while the former haven't sense enough to know they want wisdom."

Fat Folks.

M. Quad says: I like fat folks. There is somethings jolly right in the fact of one's being a great big porpoise, and you never saw a fat man or woman but what was good-natured, unless disappointed in love. I often wish I stood in Baker's shoes. He weighs 270 pounds, and when seen coming down the street resembles a sloop under full sail. When he enters a street car everybody shoves along at once, and if it's crowded, two and three men will get up at once to offer him a seat. He is of importance wherever he goes. If he sits on an inquest he influences the jury, and if he predicts the weather, people put faith in him. If there's a crowd around a sick horse Baker elbows his way right in where I couldn't get, and they are always sure to make him cashier at Sunday school excursions, send him invitations to deliver Fourth of July orations, and he is the man always selected to present the fire company with new hats and a speech.

And there's Mrs. Scott, who weighs nearly as much as Baker. When it's a hot day everybody asks after her comfort, and when it's a cold day everybody congratulates her on her being fat. She was made the president of a benevolent society, the treasurer of an art association, and the "head man" in a monument enterprise, just because she was fat and "could fill the chair" better than any lean woman. If she went aboard the ferry boat they always placed her in the centre of the cabin in the best arm-chair aboard, so that she could not careen the craft over, and if forty lean women hung over the railing to starboard or port, nothing was ever said or cared about it. She had the biggest tent at a camp-meeting, the best place to see the Fourth of July fireworks, and grocers were always sending her early strawberries and first vegetables.

I fell in love with a fat girl once. I loved madly, because I was loving 207 pounds of girl. She was amiable, tender-hearted, good-natured and true, and I think she loved me. We were to be married in the Fall, and I should probably have been one of the happiest of husbands, when an accident dashed my prospects. She fell overboard just as we were about to leave the wharf on a steam boat excursion. Three or four sailors plunged after, and they got a gang-plank under her, a cable around her waist, and towed her to the wharf. Then they rigged a derrick and lifted her out by sections, but they were so long about it that she took a severe cold, and the result was death. There were months and months after that, that I never could pass a load of hay without thinking of my lost Amanda and shedding tears, and, even to this day, I never see an elephant or a rhinoceros without her dear visage rising up before me.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen!
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T,'"
Nosooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapin!
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

To night, the talented and irresistibly funny Vokeses will make their first appearance before a California audience at this house. Since the announcement of their engagement the demand for seats has been very large and places are secured for the whole of this week. They will present on this occasion, the one act comedietta entitled "The Bells of the Kitchen." The plot is simple enough, but the fun is indescribable. The master and mistress of the house being out, Lucinda Scrabbe (Miss Jessie Vokes), Mary (Miss Victoria Vokes), and Barbara (Miss Rosina Vokes), determined to have High Jinks during their absence. Timotheus (Fred Vokes), and Wiggins (Fawdon Vokes), young men "keeping company" with the girls, come in and the fun grows fast and furious. Operatic scenas are sung, bits of plays rehearsed and extravagant burlesque dances executed. This performance with the comedy of "Faint Heart Never Won Fair Lady" in which Miss Fateman, Barton Hill, Henry Edwards, Mrs. Saunders, Miss Carrie Wyatt and others will appear, will make up the bill for this evening.

Maguire's New Theatre.

"The Black Crook" will enter upon its second week at this house to-night and its prospects are as bright as ever. If all the people who were unable to gain admission last week attend this week, there will be a succession of crowded houses. The play, the scenery, the ballet, the bright and pretty faces, the shapely forms, the handsome dresses, the grand Amazon march and the host of specialties introduced make up an entertainment which the public cannot expect to enjoy again after the "Black Crook" company has taken its departure.

Opera House.

To-night, that most popular of Minstrels, Billy Emerson, who has just returned from Australia, will make his appearance at this house. He will take one of the ends in the first part, in which he will sing 'I wish I was," and tell Australian stories and in second part, will appear in his album of songs and dances, and also his great specialty of "Old Black Joe;" J. G. Oberist the Swiss Warbler, will make his appearance in the first part, and also in the afterpiece; Miss Lottie a famous gymnast, from London, will perform on the trapeze, assisted by her brother Frank, and Ben Cotton, Billy Arlington, Billy Rice and all the others will appear in a great entertainment, the programme of which is published on our first page. Those who have any idea of getting in will have to go to the Opera House in pretty good time to-night.

Platt's Music Hall.

"Dr. Healy's Hibernian Gems," is the title of a very popular Eastern entertainment that will open at Platt's Hall, on Monday August 24th. It consists of 85 large and beautifully painted views of the cities, scenery and historical ruins of Ireland. These views will be interspersed with short and lively dramatic sketches acted by Mr. John Moran better known as "Barney the Guide," Miss Rose O'Reily, Miss Jennie Moran, Miss Norah O'Brien, Mr. Wally Price and others. The descriptive lecturer will be given by Dr. John Healy, lecturer and tourist.

Bella Union Theatre.

The popularity of Miss Kate Raymond and O. B. Collins, at this house, continues unabated. On Saturday and Sunday nights, the Bella Union Theatre was crowded to suffocation. To-night, there will be an entire change of bill. After the minstrel first part, "Old Chums," "The Artful Dodger," the grand spectacular drama of "The French Spy," Menken's favorite play, with Miss Kate Raymond as the Arab Boy, O. B. Collins as Mohammed, and the rest of the castin good hands, will be performed. An interlude of songs and dances will be given, and the whole will conclude with the negro act "Glycerine."

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

"The Screecher and Bilkem Scandal," draws crowds to this popular variety theatre, and John Kelly as H. W. Screecher, Johnny Tuers as The Bilkem, Frank Mortimore as the Legal Whitewasher, and others engaged in its representation, cause much amusement by their clever acting. A full variety performance is given in addition.

PICNIC OF THE GERMANIA RIFLES.—The Germania Rifle Benevolent Fund will have a grand picnic at the City Gardens, Sunday, August 30th. They will be escorted to the Gardens by different military companies. Amusements of every kind are the order of the day. The ladies will have a grand raffle, and in the evening there will be a splendid ball. The ladies and officers of the company are sparing no pains to make it the finest picnic and ball of the season.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Notes.

The variety entertainment given yesterday in the Pavilion at the City Gardens, drew a good crowd of people and all thoroughly enjoyed the fun afforded them by Johnny Tuers, Frank Mortimore, John Kelly and others.

The French artistes from Lima who so unfortunately lost their leading lady by death immediately after their arrival in this city gave a very good performance to a very poor house on Saturday evening at Pacific Hall. Our French citizens should take advantage of the presence of these artists to inaugurate a revival of the French drama in San Francisco.

Wilson's Circus performed at Omaha on the 7th, and the Bee on the 8th devoted nearly a column of its space to enumerating the particulars in which it surpassed all others. With the Dockrills, the Konebels and the Carlo Family, it can hold its own with any circus on the road.

The Shell's Guard had a very good attendance at their picnic at Badger's Park, yesterday. The whole entertainment was most pleasantly conducted.

Signorina Adeline Speranza, is to be the recipient of a complimentary benefit, at the California Theatre, next Sunday evening. Pietro Bacosi, Miss Fanny Marston and other talent will appear.

Dr. Aborn.

An Opinion of Boston.

A juvenile correspondent of the Home Journal sends the following paper in praise of the Hub:

Don't I like Boston? You bet! It doesn't come quite up to Chicago, of course, but then a feller mustn't ask too much. This old pond is something to brag of, but then we've got a stunner of a lake. To be sure there isn't a wide awake, water-proof telegraph wire a-clicking under it, telling on the poor chaps that have run away from the police-hawks, but then there's the tunnel, and the crib where the man killed himself, because he was sick of his own company. But it doesn't grow fish like this briny deep here. Don't I love 'em though? O, sugar! Helibut is tip-top, and shad (minus the backbones), and I'd rather eat pink salmon and green peas, than kiss my ma. But lobster, oh my, don't it go down easy? Just give me a lobster's claw to suck and I wouldn't change places with the most virtuous reward-of-merit chap in all North America. Boston is a bully old town, and brother Fred says they laid out the streets just where the cows went to pasture. I guess some of those old Mayflower moolies must have been cross-eyed so they couldn't follow their noses straight. But I like crooked streets; they kind of sharpen a feller's wits, and he's got to keep his eye peeled, now I tell you, or he'll find himself brought up standing just in the same place, when he thought himself somewhere else, half a mile off.

Dramatic Notes.

John Gilbert is at Newport, on a visit to Charlotte Cushman.

Mr. Fechter will act in Washington, beginning January 18, next year.

Mrs. F. S. Chanfrau intends to act "Lady Clancarty," in Tom Taylor's drama of that name.

The opening piece at the Lyceum Theatre, New York, August 24, will be "La Timbale D'Argent," by M. Leon Vasseur—with Mlle. Aimee in the chief part.

The Majiltons will begin a professional tour of this country, this month, at Providence, R. I., in a new spectacle play, by M. F. W. Green, of London.

Miss Katharine Rogers is now announced at Booth's Theatre, New York, as Miss K. Rogers Randolph.

Mr. Irving, engaged at Booth's Theatre for eccentric and low comedy parts, comes from the Pittsburg Theatre.

Mr. Toole, the English comedian, was entertained at a dinner by the Lotos Club, August 6.

Mr. John S. Clarke, the comedian—recently arrived home from Europe—will fill engagements in various cities during the coming season.

Mr. Atkins Lawrence, who was to play at the Museum during the engagement of the Walcots, is quite ill in Wilmington.

The Vokes family have signed a re-engagement with Mr. F. B. Chatterton, and play in London in the Christmas pantomimes.

Whatever Is Is Right.

Don Tulano says: I am an optimtist. I believe and am sure that there is no such thing as evil; that just in the same way as physical philosophers have long ago agreed that cold and darkness have no existence, but are simply "less light" and "less heat;" so, too, moral philosophers have got to acknowledge that what we call evil, aye, the very worst forms of it, are only "less good." I believe that this world is governed by perfectly just laws, and by a perfectly good and all powerful God; I am sure that if I had been God, I would have made things just as comfortable as possible, consistently with their own best good; and I am not going to believe that God has done otherways. We think things very bad down here; but it is not so, it cannot be so; everything is going right. For either God couldn't arrange things better, or he wouldn't or he didn't know how to, but as we presuppose his all powerfulness, and his perfect goodness, we must allow that it was because he would not, and that for very good reasons of his own.

How Is It.

A lady writer points out the fact as worthy of notice that, "while the men who commit suicide are almost always unmarried, the women are married or widowed." This leads to the inference that, while men cannot live without women, women find life unbearable with them.

Sociability.

The Indianapolis Journal says: "It is understood that the burglars of this city are about to organize a society for social and intellectual improvement, and the advancement of business. Several of the new police will be made honorary members."

If one wishes to pass an hour or two pleasantly at the game of billiards, no pleasanter place can be found in the city than Chapman & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, Northeast corner Bush and Kearny streets entrance on Bush. From the window a good view can be had of two of our busiest streets Bush and Kearny. Local Option not in force; for the best of Wines, Liquors and Cigars, are served at the bar for 12½ cents. 6-r

Spring Style Hats.

Light, beautifully finished and graceful in shape, the new Spring style of Hats manufactured at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street (second hat store below Kearny street), is just the thing to make a man look a hundred per cent. better. BOSTON OYSTER HOUSE.—L. O. Pratt has opened stalls 89 and 90 in Centre Market. Oysters in every style. Chops and Steaks of the choicest. Ladies private rooms up stairs. 7-x

Stalls 91, 92 and 93, have been opened by Anderson & Marshall as the Long Branch oyster house. They are among the oldest oyster men in the city.

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow,
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

JOE GIUSTA'S Restaurant, at 105 California Market, has been long and favorably known by the public as a place where nice Chops, Porter-House Steaks and Oysters in every style could be had. A short time since, Mr. Giusta made an addition of a whole floor to his place, so that he could accommodate families. His restaurant, as now constructed, can well be called a family restaurant. 5-x

San Jose Manners.

The Garden City Times, published in San Jose says :—It would appear that when abroad or in strange places, that some people forget even the axioms of gentility, by the reckless abandon they assume. We find persons who in a friend's parlor, would affect puritanical airs, assuming the most ridiculous attitudes and using the most careless language. Of course no one objects to that ease and grace that makes one appear composed and at home, but our views on the "eternal fitness of things" rebels against the social latitude of things that permits men to occupy two chairs at once, to throw their monster feet over the balcony railing to squirt their filthy nicotine in the presence of ladies. We noticed at the panorama last night about four pairs of feet and legs run out over the balcony, and hung threateningly over the heads of the curious ones in the pit, and would not back until the management shouted "put those feet down."

Don't Comprehend.

The San Jose Mercury says: Some of the San Francisco papers are ridiculing Prof. Denton's theory of psychometric investigation of the planets, by allowing a ray of light to impress the forehead of the inspector. What these journalistic sharps don't understand they consider ridiculous. It is not likely they will ever comprehend Prof. Denton's theory. It would take a ray of light of sufficient power to melt brass to make an impression on their caputs.

THE PULPIT AND THE STAGE.

Under the above heading the dramatic critic of the Call published yesterday a letter from the Board of Managers of the congregation worshipping under the auspices of Dr. Carpenter, thanking Manager Maguire for the use of his theatre for religious purposes. The dramatic critic comments on this as follows:

We don't think much of the practice of holding church services in theatres. The bane and antidote being brought thus closely together are apt to get slightly mixed.

This as the utterance of one who should if, he does not, respect the drama and be devoted to its interests is about the coolest thing we ever met with. In the opinion of this gentleman the stage is a bane, a destroyer of souls, and the Church is the antidote to the baneful teachings of the drama, a saver of souls! We are happy in the belief that a very large proportion of the clergymen of the present day take a far more liberal view of the situation than is enjoyed by the dramatic critic of the Morning Call. Many of them believe that the stage under proper management can be made as great an instrument for good as the pulpit. Churches are too often prostituted from their original purpose to become mere booths in Vanity Fair where gay dresses, secular music and sensation discourses are the attractions and while the words fly up, the thoughts remain below. Equally there are theatres which so far depart from "the purpose of playing, whose end both at the first, and now was, and is to hold as 'twere the mirror up to nature, to show virtue her own feature, scorn her own image, and the very age and body of the time, his form and pressure," as to present nothing on the stage but caricatures of humanity, idiotic grimaces and grotesque contortions which appeal only to the lowest and most degraded natures. Entertainments of this kind may be considered a bane inasmuch as they gratify ignorant and low tastes, and do not in any way cultivate either the soul or the fancy of those who witness them. But, even to these the general church services and the ordinary run of sermons can scarcely be accounted an antidote. High Tragedy or Grand Opera raises the thoughts above the petty circumstances of every day life, and the soul expands under its influence. So the grand Cathedral service with its solemn chants, grand ceremonial, dim light and all attendant circumstances shutting out the world, acts upon the soul through the imagination. These are helps to devotional feeling. The stage in its purity seeks to instruct as well as amuse. Surely there is the essence of a dozen sermons in "The Ticket of Leave Man," Tom Taylor's admirable translation from the French, recently presented at the California Theatre, W. S. Gilbert's play of "Charity" was a grand sermon. The "M. Alphonse" of Alexandre Dumas has done, is doing a great work. The religious feeling is not out of place in a theatre, and there are plays which stimulate rather than repress it. We hail with joy the entente cordiale which is growing between, the Pulpit and the Stage. Each of these great teachers may be made more potent for good than it is at present, and modifications in accordance with the spirit of the times must be accepted by each. As to the characterization of the Church and the Stage made by the critic of the Call—the bane and antidote—we denounce it is an insult to the honorable profession of which FIGARO is, and always will continue to be the defender and upholder.

An Eccentric Patent Sofa Bed.

Max Adeler says : We have a good deal of company at our house this Summer, and as we were considerably crowded, I bought one of the "patent sofa beds" which are advertised in the stores and put it in the sitting-room, so that I could bunk there at nights and give up my bed to some of my friends. The new apparatus was intended to be used as a sofa in the day time and as a bed at night. The back worked on hinges, and was operated by a strong spring. When it was turned down a catch held it, and the sofa made a very wide and comfortable bed; while, if the piece of furniture was not needed at all, the back could be turned over on the seat and the whole affair stowed away in the garret.

I used it first on the night of the glorious Fourth. When the last fire-cracker had exploded and the last rocket had gone up, I turned in. I always turn over once before going to sleep, and just as I was about to turn, the catch slipped and the back flew up with such force that it flung me clear across the room against the book-case. I was very calm. I did not swear or get excited. I spread the machine open again and laid myself on the seat instead of on the back, for about one o'clock I dreamed I had fallen into vesuvius and was being thrown out by an eruption, and when the shock woke me I was lying up against the book-case, with one foot through the glass door. The catch had slipped again! I still tried to preserve my temper, and after pushing the concern open, I went to bed again on the seat, but before I could fix myself comfortably the machine gave a couple of convulsive jerks, a premonitory heave and a rattle, and the next moment the back had closed down over me, and that spring was holding it there with what seemed to me to be diabolical force. I had just made up my mind that it would be impossible to extricate myself, and was getting ready to die with suffocation, when Mrs. A. came over to tell me that her aunt had neuralgia and to get me to go for the doctor. When by the light of the lamp, she saw what the situation was, she screamed for help, and her uncle Jones came down and released me just as I was about to take my farewell gasp. Since then I have slept on the floor, Any man who wants to buy a patent sofa bed that is warranted to execute maneuvers upon the slightest provocation, can get one at a considerable sacrifice. The present owner has no further use for it.

"I Wish I Were Dead."

Beecher explains how he came to say "I wish I were dead." He says people round him were always saying it and he caught the habit. First, Tilton would say "I wish I were dead," then Mrs. Tilton would say, "I wish I were dead," and then Frank Moulton would say, "I wish I were dead." Mr. Beecher says he said it in fun, he didn't really wish he were dead. We believe Mr. Beecher thinks it is funny to tell lies.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a T."
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name.
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again,
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.

THERE IS LIGHT BEYOND.

Though you stand beneath the shadow,
Oh, do not be dismayed,
But with bold, true heart press onward,
Through the darkness and the shade,
To the light beyond.

He who dwells deep in the valley,
Only sees the tempest cloud
That obscures the mountain's summit
With its thick impervious shroud,
And the light beyond.

Though your heart is bathed in sorrow
And despair, look far above;
You will see the lustrous shining
Of the stars of Hope and Love
In the light beyond.

Through Death's dark, mysterious shadow
We must pass, to reach Heaven's light;
Then, sad hearts, why still keep pining
To grope here in worldly night,
When there's light beyond?

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Maguire's New Theatre.

The attractive spectacular and variety performance entitled "The Black Crook," held its own bravely, last night, against the counter attractions of the first appearance of the Vokeses, and the re-appearance of Billy Emerson. Entire new dances were introduced and the ballet revealed in new and beautiful costumes. Little Bessie Rennels received the usual number of encores for his Dutch songs, the charmingly piquant Miss Frankie Etta gained as much applause as ever for her clog hornpipe and other performances. O. E. Dobson the champion banjo player of the world delighted the audience with his extraordinary performance on the big and little banjo, and the whole entertainment was characterized by much spirit and careful attention to detail. "The Black Crook" will draw well for many nights to come.

Opera House.

There was an immense rush to this house last night when that most popular of all California favorites, Billy Emerson, made his re-appearance. Long before the time for the performance to commence a steady stream of people poured down Bush street, and before the curtain rose the house was filled to overflowing. Those who were unable to gain admission last night can try again to-night Emerson, on making his appearance, was greeted with a storm of applause which lasted some time. When this subsided, he took his seat on the end, and the fun commenced. The only change in Billy is, that he is brighter and funnier than ever. He kept the house in a roar of laughter, and sang in a style which could scarcely be surpassed. J. G. Oberist made a decidedly favorable impression, his Swiss warblings being applauded to the echo. Miss Lettie, who appeared on the trapeze, is a gymnast of phenomenal powers, and created much enthusiasm by the grace and daring which she displayed. Billy Emerson was untiring in his efforts to please his California friends, who had mustered in such force to greet him, and gave some of the most popular selections from his voluminous album of songs and dances. He afterwards appeared in his great specialty of "Old Black Joe," in which he is confessedly without a rival. Billy Rice, Ben Cotton, Billy Arlington and others appeared to the best advantage in the acts and specialties selected for the occasion, and the screaming farce of "The Rival Runners" concluded one of the best performances given at the Opera House for many a night. The same entertainment will be given this evening.

California Theatre.

This theatre was crowded to suffocation last night. The performance commenced with the capital comedietta of "Faint Heart Never Won Fair Lady," which was excellently well acted by Barton Hill, Miss Bella Pateman, Miss Carrie Wyatt, Mrs. O. H. Saunders, S. W. Leach and others, and was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience, who testified their appreciation by calling for the principal performers at the close of the play. Barton Hill's Ruy Gomez was an admirable bit of acting, and Miss Pateman played the role of the Duchess with much spirit and read the epilogue capitally. This over, the orchestra played, and then the curtain rose on "The Belles of the Kitchen," and Miss Jessie Vokes and Miss Victoria Vokes made their appearance and received that cordial greeting always given by a San Francisco audience to new comers. Next came Miss Rosina Vokes, who received a similar tribute to well-established merit, and Fred Vokes and Fawdon Vokes were equally honored. Everyone knows what "The Belles of the Kitchen" is, as regards plot. It is an original version of "High Life Below Stairs." Miss Jessie Vokes is a good actress, Miss Victoria Vokes is a delightful singer, most artistic dancer and splendid burlesque artiste, Miss Rosina Vokes is, in truth, "the incarnation of fun," Fawdon Vokes is a clever actor and admirable dancer, and Fred Vokes is the great original of all the Mejilton and Girard business, and more extraordinary and amusing than all of them put together. The incidents of this most mirthful extravaganza are mentioned on our first page, and if we attempted to give any further description of them we should fail. From the time the curtain rose until it fell the laughter was honest and hearty, and no one felt ashamed to laugh. It was splendid fun. Miss Rosina Vokes, as Barbara, has vis comica enough to stock half a dozen low comedians and then have enough left to make her the funniest actress on the stage. In addition to this she is a most graceful and artistic dancer. Miss Victoria has a very fine soprano voice, which she uses with good effect in burlesque opera, and Fred Vokes is equally happy in the possession of a good voice and cultured style of singing. There never was a greater success than that achieved by the Vokes last night. "The Belles of the Kitchen" and "Faint Heart Never Won Fair Lady" will be repeated to-night.

Platt's Music Hall.

"Dr. Healy's Hibernian Gems," is the title of a very popular Eastern entertainment that will open at Platt's Hall, on Monday August 24th. It consists of 85 large and beautifully painted views of the cities, scenery and historical ruins of Ireland. These views will be interspersed with short and lively dramatic sketches acted by Mr. John Moran better known as "Barney the Guide," Miss Rose O'Reily, Miss Jennie Moran, Miss Norah O'Brien, Mr. Wally Price and others. The descriptive lecture will be given by Dr. John Healy, lecturer and tourist.

Bella Union Theatre.

Last night, after an excellent First Part, and an interlude comprising the acts of "Old Chums," "Artful Dodge," serio-comic gems by Miss Camille King, double clog dance by Cook and Hart, and other attractive performances, the military spectacular drama entitled "The French Spy," was capitally performed with Miss Kate Raymond as Henri St. Almee, Hamet and Mathilde de Merio, O. B. Collins as Mohammed and a generally good cast. Miss Raymond made a success in this piece as she has in every play in which she has appeared. The same bill will be played this evening.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

Lively first part, brilliant interlude of acts, songs and dances, and the original play of "The Screech and Bilkom Scandal," prove sufficiently attractive to crowd this popular variety theatre every night.

PICNIC OF THE GERMANIA RIFLES.—The Germania Rifle Benevolent Fund will have a grand picnic at the City Gardens, Sunday, August 30th. They will be escorted to the Gardens by different military companies. Amusements of every kind are the order of the day. The ladies will have a grand raffle, and in the evening there will be a splendid ball. The ladies and officers of the company are sparing no pains to make it the

Mechanics' Institute Fair.

The Ninth Industrial Exhibition of the Mechanics' Institute will open to-day at eleven o'clock in their grand new pavilion at the corner of Eighth and Mission streets. There will be an opening address by Col. W. H. L. Barnes, the "Hallelujah Chorus" and "Thanks be to God" sung by the united chorus of Oakland and San Francisco, under the direction of George T. Evans, and a grand display of industrial products, works of art and horticultural specimens. The holders of space were very busy yesterday arranging different articles they had entered for exhibition, the collaborateurs of the catalogue were rushing hither and thither, the hanging committee in the Art Gallery were assigning good places to the best pictures, officer Barbier was decorating the building with flags and streamers of bunting, carpenters were putting the finishing touches to stands, and every one was working for dear life to make the exhibition as complete as possible for the opening day. There is yet a great deal to be done, and the procrastinating ones will not have all their goods in to-morrow, but the opening ceremony with its spirited address and fine vocal music will make those who attend look over the incompleteness which there is sure to be in many departments unless Aladdin's genius of the lamp went to work last night after we left.

PICNIC OF THE GERMANIA RIFLES.—This, one of the most popular of our German Military Companies, will hold a Grand Picnic and Festival at the City Gardens, on Sunday, August 30th. The Picnic will be for the benefit of the Benevolent Fund of the company, and there will be a grand rally. Amusements of every kind will be the order of the day. The ladies who have earnestly espoused the cause, will hold a grand raffle, and in the evening, a splendid Ball will given in the Pavilion. The officers of the company have pledged themselves to make this the finest Picnic of the season. The Germania Rifles, will be escorted to the Gardens by delegations of Military Companies.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Toole the English Comedian.

The following New York special dispatch to the Alta announces the reception given to the great comedian last night:

NEW YORK, August 17th.—The reception given to the celebrated English comedian, J. L. Toole, at Wallack's, to-night, on his first appearance in this country, was probably the most hearty and enthusiastic ever accorded a foreign artist. He choose for the first night Alberg's comic drama entitled 'Wig and Gown.' When he first appeared on the stage, and the audience recognized him, thunders of applause followed, and it was fully five minutes before the play was allowed to proceed. The great comedian, in the meantime, stood trembling with emotion, but dashed into his part before he could become untitled for it. His make up was exceedingly grotesque, and his features and expression so changeable that he managed to keep the house in a continuous roar of laughter. At the close of the second act Toole was called before the curtain and presented with an immense bouquet, representing a steamer sailing upon a sea of flames."

Whatever Is Is Right.

Don Fulano says: I am an optimtist. I believe and am sure that there is no such thing as evil; that just in the same way as physical philosophers have long ago agreed that cold and darkness have no existence, but are simply "less light" and "less heat;" so, too, moral philosophers have got to acknowledge that what we call evil, aye, the very worst forms of it, are only "less good." I believe that this world is governed by perfectly just laws, and by a perfectly good and all powerful God; I am sure that if I had been God, I would have made things just as comfortable as possible consistently with their own best good; and I am not going to believe that God has done otherways. We think things very bad down here; but it is not so, it cannot be so; everything is going right. For either God couldn't arrange things better, or he wouldn't or he didn't know how to, but as we presuppose his all powerfulness, and his perfect goodness, we must allow that it was because he would not, and that for very good reasons of his own.

What a Pity!

In answer to a correspondent, who asked, Was Charles Sumner, a total abstinence man? The Herald of Health, says: We are sorry to say he was not. He was always a lover of fine wine, and much of it. His Boston friends provided him with many a cask and casket. His palate took a wide range, from Sicilian and Spanish light wines, to port and Madeira, and the best clarets of France and Hungary. He was a very great eater, and liked sweet breads, game, large hot joints, and the mountain mutton of the Bull Run and Caloctin country. He breakfasted light, and took no lunch; consumed over two hours at the table and then sat up by a droplight opening his mail, reading and talking until midnight.

How Is It.

A lady writer points out the fact as worthy of notice that, "while the men who commit suicide are almost always unmarried, the women are married or widowed." This leads to the inference that, while men cannot live without women, women find life unbearable with them.

If one wishes to pass an hour or two pleasantly at the game of billiards, no pleasanter place can be found in the city than Chapman & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, Northeast corner Bush and Kearny streets entrance on Bush. From the window a good view can be had of two of our busiest streets Bush and Kearny. Local Option not in force; for the best of Wines, Liquors and Cigars, are served at the bar for 12½ cents. 6-I

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 218 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

JOE GIUSTA'S Restaurant, at 105 California Market, has been long and favorably known by the public as a place where nice Chops, Porter-House Steaks and Oysters in every style could be had. A short time since, Mr. Giusta made an addition of a whole floor to his place, so that he could accommodate families. His restaurant, as now constructed, can well be called a family restaurant. 5-M

A Sensation.

Centreville has had a sensation. It occurred in that place on Wednesday morning of last week, and is described as follows by a correspondent of the Argus: "A very singular phenomenon occurred at a certain house—a simultaneous appearance of two apparitions at two opposite windows. There were several spectators, all of whom were shocked at the sight. To make sure, however, that all had not been dreaming some fanciful thing, a second look was taken, and there, as certain as could be, stood the figures of two men; and so far had they departed the custom of visitors generally from that strange land, they had donned gentlemen's real apparel. Both appeared to be trying to get out of the room, and were scrambling at the windows in a desperate way, as if to fly from some awful peril. We looked about the room but could see nothing frightful, except the strange visitors themselves. When, lo! both vanished, we knew not whither. I am confident they left all who were spectators of this strange scene full believers in apparitions, ghosts, etc., and in this day of wonders, we cannot tell what may not appear to shock delicate nerves, or terrify the community.

Unmoved.

The New York Dispatch says: The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher has rested all his life under the cornice of popularity. The exceptional publicity recently given him does not, therefore, affect him as it might other men. It neither elevates nor depresses. He is the same strong, self-poised man. This was shown the other day in the cars between this city and Peekskill, the country residence of the great sermonizer. He was on board. The car was filled with passengers. Nearly all of them had one of the pictorial papers which presented more or less correctly the features of the three prominent characters in the most remarkable scandal since Cæsar, Marc Antony and Cleopatra were morally involved. Mr. Beecher met the gazed of all gazers. Every eye went for his features to compare them with those presented by the artist. A common man would have reddened, paled or wriggled; but the target remained impassive. It was triumph for him, and only to be secured by long experience.

English Foot Coverings.

The Danbury News man in his last letter to his own journal remarks: I have not seen a pair of boots since I have been in England. Shoes are the universal article of foot wear, and those pulled around by the hostlers, are thickly studded with staring nails head. Eight ounces of these nails are frequently used in a pair of shoes, and some pairs, used by miners, have from a pound and a half to two pounds of these iron nails in them. The iron enters their soles by the wholesale. I shouldn't like to have an English miner for a father-in-law.

There is a parody on Grey's famous Elegy, called "An Elegy in a London Theatre, not by Grey," begins:

The curtain falls, the signal all is o'er,
The eager crowd along the lobby throng;
The youngsters lean against the crowded door,
Ogling the ladies as they pass along.

The gas-lamps fade, the footlights hide their heads,
And not a soul beside myself is seen,
Save where the lackey dirty canvas spreads
The painted boxes from the dust to screen.

International Copyright.

Mr. M. F. Mahony, in the Athenæum, makes a suggestion regarding a new international copyright law that should be received with thoughtful consideration, as it presents a view of the case that would certainly, if entertained, lead to an improvement over the present state of things. He says:

Let it become law that, if an English publisher advertises or announces a book by an author, a British subject, say for a month before the day of publication (giving title and other particulars so as to establish a proper identification of the book), that meanwhile, if, during the intervening month, the author chooses to publish his book in America, so as to obtain by a prior publication the copyright there, the English copyright shall, nevertheless, remain intact, having been already legally secured by the antecedent announcement of the English publisher. Suppose, for illustration, that Messrs. Chapman & Hall should, on the first of next August, announce that a novel, entitled ——, by Mr. Anthony Trollope, will be published by them in London on the first of September, the book in question should appear in New York through an American publisher, (thereby securing the copyright in America to the author), nevertheless, no English firm except Messrs. Chapman & Hall shall be entitled to reproduce it in England, their right having been already obtained by the act of previous announcement—an act which, of itself, necessarily presupposes a perfected contract between themselves and the author.

A False Alarm.

About midnight last Sunday, a young woman living on Third street, awoke from her slumbers. As she unclosed her eyes, she beheld what seemed the form of an obese man struggling to get into her chamber window. She was horror-struck, but not dumbfounded. She gave utterance to shriek after shriek. Soon there were hurrying feet on the stairs, and a man's voice shouted: "Tilly, open the door." "I can't!" shrieked Tilly. "You burst it open." Immediately a heavy shoulder was placed against the door; it burst open, and a man in his night clothes tumbled in. "What's the matter, Tilly?" he shouted. "Don't you see that man trying to get in my window, papa?" The old man cast his eye at the window. On the instant, bang! bang! bang! bang! went the five chambers of his revolver. And still the man was struggling to get in the window. Then the old man went over and grabbed the intruder by the collar, and yanked him into the room. And then the old man gave utterance to the ejaculation: "Well, I'll be d—d! Tilly, you're a blasted fool!" And Tilly then discovered that the cause of her alarm was a black silk dress she had hung by a nail on the window, and which had been drawn out by the wind and inflated. Tilly doesn't look pleased when any body asks her if that wasn't a rather unsatisfactory sort of a man who occupied her chamber window?

Warm Weather.

The weather in St. Louis is pretty hot at present. A paper of that city says: "Yesterday a steamboat was at the wharf discharging lead. A negro would start with a bar on his shoulder, but before he could get to the dray the lead would melt and run over him, making it necessary to cut him out with a cold chisel." And yet histories of George Washington and his little hatchet are not unknown in St. Louis.

Music Hath Charms.

The Music of New York.

A New York paper thus describes the musical sounds of that city: We were startled, the other day by a stentorian voice under our window howling—

"Ca-lams to bake
And ca-lams to fry,
And ca-lams to make
The old pot-pie."

We looked out of the window. There sat a young man in a cart. He was surrounded by clams, and dressed in a straw hat, red shirt, gray pants, and cowhide boots. He saw us, and raising his hand to his mouth, shouted: "Here you are. Hard shelled ca-lams. The finest you ever seed. Ca-lams as can't be beat. Come and buy. Here you are.

Ca-lams to bake,
And ca-lams to fry,
And ca-lams to make
The old pot-pie.

"Sashay up on your ear and buy. Don't be bashful. Oh, ca-lams, ca-lams!" Suddenly from all the surrounding buildings heads were poked out, and girl voices, and boy voices, and men voices shouted in fearful unison and astonishing volume: "Oh, ca-lams! Oh, ca-lams! Oh, ca-lams!" And then the red-shirted youth got angry, and he stood up among his clams, and shook his fist, and shouted: "You're a blasted lot of galoots. If some of you fellows come down here I'll bust your snoots as nice as I'd open one of these ca-lams." And again the girl and men and boy voices shouted: "Oh, ca-lams! Oh, ca-lams! Oh, ca-lams!" And then the red-shirted youth sat down on the dashboard of his wagon, took the reins in one hand, with the other hand he flung a clam at the horse's head, and he shouted, "Geet up!"

Theodore Tilton.

The St. Louis Globe says: "This we remember of Theodore Tilton, that he it was who first unmuzzled the religious press from its party and sect bigotry, and opened the campaign for religious good-fellowship. Sects to-day are comparatively nothing. Christianity is vastly more important than the petty barnacles for which each sect was quarreling. If Tilton be a devil, and the present controversy proves him so to be, yet give the devil his due."

A Retort.

Mr. Marriott of the News Letter is calling on the medical men of San Francisco to show their diplomas. They might retort on the incarnation of original sin by asking him to show his ticket of leave.

Commercial Instruction.

If you wish to educate your sons for Commercial pursuits, you should send your children to Heald's Business College for a Course.

Returned.

Mr. S. J. Nathan, the fashionable clothier of Montgomery street, has returned from the East.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a T."
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "mash nice dinners,"
Whoever doubts this let him rush

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Opera House.

Billy Emerson is the idol of the hour. The Opera House was crowded to suffocation again last night, and the popular minstrel appeared at his best. Miss Lottie is a marvel of grace, beauty and symmetry. Of her it may truly be said "she glides through the air with the greatest of ease." The affecting sketch of "Old Black Joe," with Emerson in his remarkably clever impersonation of the aged darkey returning to the old plantation after an absence of twelve years, is a great feature of the excellent bill presented. The performance concludes with the amusing sketch entitled "The Rival Runners," in which Ben Cotton, Billy Arlington, Billy Rice, J. F. Oberist and others appear.

California Theatre.

Another immense audience enjoyed the sparkling comedietta of "Faint Heart Never Won Fair Lady" and "The Belles of the Kitchen" last night. The Vokeses produce the same effect on every audience. The house rings with laughter. There is fun on the stage, and it advances like a huge tidal wave until it overwhelms the audience. No one is critical—all give themselves up to unrestrained mirth. A visit to the California Theatre at the present time will do invalids more good than a prolonged stay at many of the leading Springs of California.

Maguire's New Theatre.

The "Black Crook," with new costumes and a new ballet, for the present week continues to draw crowded houses. Mlle. Jeannette Prescher, Miles. Baretta and Velsey, and the corps de ballet are a great feature of the very varied and excellent entertainment given.

Mechanics' Institute Fair.

The Ninth Industrial Exhibition of the Mechanics' Institute, was formally opened yesterday. The opening address by Col. W. H. L. Barnes, was interesting and appropriate, and the "Hallelujah Chorus" and "Thanks be to God" were admirably sung by the combined choirs of San Francisco and Oakland, under the direction of George T. Evans. The exhibition is at present very incomplete, but gives promise of a grand display during the latter portion of the week. The Art Department presents a very fine collection of pictures. We shall refer to the chief features of the exhibition from day to day as it becomes more complete.

Italian Opera.

On Sunday evening an operatic entertainment will be given at the California Theatre, for the benefit of Signorina Adelina Speranza. The opera of "La Traviata," will be given, in which the beneficiary will appear as Violetta, P. Baccei as Alfredo Germont, G. Marra as Giorgio Germont and Mrs. G. T. Evans, Miss A. McCabe and other artistes will assist.

Bella Union Theatre.

"The French Spy," with the talented Miss Kate Raymond in the title role and O. B. Collins in the melodramatic role of Mohammed, has proved a hit at this house, and in conjunction with a lively first part and olio of songs, acts and dances draws crowded houses.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

Mlle. Blanche appears in song and dance, Miss Maggie Brewer in ballads, Miss Katie Zoe in songs, Johnny Tuers in acts, and the leading members of the company assist in the representation of the popular play entitled "The Screecher and Bilkem Scandal," which has made quite a sensation.

Platt's Music Hall.

"Dr. Healy's Hibernian Gems," is the title of a very popular Eastern entertainment that will open at Platt's Hall, on Monday August 24th. It consists of 85 large and beautifully painted views of the cities, scenery and historical ruins of Ireland. These views will be interspersed with short and lively dramatic sketches acted by Mr John Moran better known as "Barney the Guide," Miss Rose O'Neil, Miss Jennie Moran, Miss Norah O'Brien, Mr. Wally Price and others. The descriptive lecture will be given by Dr. John Healy, lecturer and tourist.

Woodward's Gardens.

The Bedouin Arabs, will make their last appearance in their wonderful pyramids, and other feats on Sunday next. A sacred cow and other animals from Montgomery Queen's Menagerie have been purchased for the Gardens.

PICNIC OF THE GERMANIA RIFLES.—This, one of the most popular of our German Military Companies, will hold a Grand Picnic and Festival at the City Gardens, on Sunday, August 30th. The Picnic will be for the benefit of the Benevolent Fund of the company, and there will be a grand rally. Amusements of every kind will be the order of the day. The ladies who have earnestly espoused the cause, will hold a grand raffle, and in the evening, a splendid Ball will given in the Pavilion. The officers of the company have pledged themselves to make this the finest Picnic of the season. The Germania Rifles, will be escorted to the Gardens by delegations of Military Companies.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc. printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 3 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 8-oj

OBITUARY OF A BASE-BALLER.

J. Smith is dead. That fine young man
We never shall see no more.
He'd been a member of the club
Since 1864.

His nose was Roman, and his eyes
Continually were peeled,
He made a splendid umpire, and
A beautiful left field:

His hair was red, and shingled close;
Much sunburned was his face,
He never shone with more effect
Than on the second base.

Though not a matrimonial man,
He dearly loved a match,
And, like his sis'er, had but few
Superiors on the catch.

Feminine Vagaries.

A crew from Vassar is suggested for the next regatta, How all the boats would hug Vassar.

Newly imported passementeries and fringes are heavy with jets, small balls and acorns being scattered throughout the trimmings.

Newport belles have given up carrying lapdogs in their pony phaetons. There is a corner in Maltese and tortoise-shell kittens there now.

The most brilliant colors are selected for ashes and garnitures for white costumes. Again brilliant sang de Prusse and Vesuve are favorites.

Since New York housekepers got to sprinkling pies with croton oil and leaving them around loose, servant girls have given up evening lunches.

Blue silk is a favorite dress at the sea-side resorts as the most becoming to light eyes and hair. Sometimes the hair fades before the dress does.

Crystal lockets are among pretty bits of jewelry, and white-faced watches, enclosed in crystal, safely, are among the rages of certain yachtswomen.

A few black silk toilettes, recently imported show pipings of black satin, and an exceedingly heavy kind of passementerie, made brilliant with jets.

Indianapolis women are relating little reminiscences of how they used to romp with Henry Ward Beecher. "But, sir," they add, "I was very young."

The fashionable belt for black dresses, worn alike with basques and polonaises, is entirely covered with jet beads, as if made of solid jet; a fringe of jet hangs from the lower edge.

New fans are made of pale blue, or sulphur colored silk, with mountings of carved ivory. Bright little pictures of storks, beetles, and lizards, with odd blossoms and grasses, are seen upon the silk.

A Frightful Tragedy.

Newspapers ought to be more explicit. Bungus, the reporter for the Daily Argus, was over at Vineland, N. J., the other day, and when the Vineland paper came out he was astonished to perceive in it among other items of local news the following:

"Mr. Green's Isabella, although very prolific and in a healthy, thriving condition, was chopped up by him on Wednesday, and then burned to ashes. It is to be feared that he will regret his action in the matter."

Of course, the editor referred to Mr. Green's grapevine; but Bungus naturally conceived the idea that Green had butchered his wife or servant girl, and he immediately sent off a dispatch to the Argus, which came out next morning with terrific headlines announcing: "A frightful tragedy in Vineland!" "Inhuman butchery of a woman!" "She is burned to ashes!" etc. The story was contradicted on the following day, when Bungus had obtained fuller information; but it is thought he will have to resign. There is such a thing as being too enterprising.

The Plymouth Church Ghouls.

The Sacramento Bee speaking of the Plymouth Church Committee says: Whatever may be the verdict of the Committee, and no one doubts what it will be, the verdict of the world, which is now scanning and weighing all the evidence, will be that the acts and actions of the Committee have been, if possible, far more scandalous and scandalizing than those alleged against Beecher and Mrs. Tilton. Bad as is the alleged conduct of these two, it is only a weakness to which all flesh is liable, and is venial in comparison to that of the Committee, which manifests a calculating, cold-blooded and fierce malignity of heart and disposition by endeavoring to befoul the reputation of Moulton, Carpenter and other gentlemen of good repute, whose only offense is that they have hitherto been personal friends of Tilton.

If one wishes to pass an hour or two pleasantly at the game of billiards, no pleasanter place can be found in the city than Chapman & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, Northeast corner Bush and Kearny streets entrance on Bush. From the window a good view can be had of two of our busiest streets Bush and Kearny. Local Option not in force; for the best of Wines, Liquors and Cigars, are served at the bar for 12½ cents. 6-r

Spring Style Hats.

Light, beautifully finished and graceful in shape, the new Spring style of Hats manufactured at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street (second hat store below Kearny street), is just the thing to make a man look a hundred per cent. better. CENTRE MARKET.

WHO OCCUPY THE STALLS.

The premium stalls 1 and 2 are occupied by Abe Newman, Superior beef, mutton, smoked and corned beef always on hand.

Hepburn has opened stall 4, with fresh meats of all kinds. Families and restaurants supplied on the shortest notice.

Stall 36, Holm & Boyle have a splendid assortment butter, eggs, cheese and a general assortment of fancy groceries. Goods delivered free.

Stalls 39 and 40 are occupied by Kerlin & Hassard, dealers in fruits, vegetables, etc., of the best and freshest. Delivered free of charge.

Stall 3, makes a magnificent show of fresh meats. Jos. O. de Volt & Co., wholesale and retail dealers, have one of the nicest stalls in the market. Restaurants and families will find it to their advantage to give them a call.

Love & Spindal occupy stall 37, with a superior stock of butter, cheese, eggs, hams, cured fruits, etc. Orders promptly attended to.

Robert S. Reardon has removed from the Occidental Market to stall 70. He is noted for having the best quality of meats.

John D. Coughlin, stall 5, supplies meats in large quantities, in good style, to ships, hotels, boarding houses and families at the lowest market prices.

Stalls 74 and 75 are taken by the pioneer Poultry and Game dealers, Benjamin & Strasser. The finest Poultry and Game, and the Freshest Butter and Eggs in the city. 7-N

BOSTON OYSTER HOUSE.—L. O. Pratt ha opened stalls 89 and 90 in Centre Market. Oysters in every style. Chops and Steaks of the choicest. Ladies private rooms up stairs. 7-E

Stalls 91, 92 and 93, have been opened by Anderson & Marshall as the Long Branch oyster house. They are among the oldest oyster men in the city.

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

JOE GIUSTA'S Restaurant, at 105 California Market, has been long and favorably known by the public as a place where nice Chops, Porter-House Steaks and Oysters in every style could be had. A short time since, Mr. Giusta made an addition of a whole floor to his place, so that he could accommodate families. His restaurant, as now constructed, can well be called a family restaurant. 5-M

Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing, enclose stamp for reply, and state company, regiment, and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional Bounty under Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 2d, 1861, for three years, if not paid the same when discharged. Land Warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1856, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed to Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted Pensions to surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. H. THURSDAY.....AUGUST 20, 1874

Not Dead But Forgotten.

A London letter says: "It is not true, as reported by a Paris journal, that the famous Taglioni 'vient de mourir de faim a Londres, oubliee de ceux qui l'ont tant applaudie,' but it is true that this renowned dancer, who had all the world at her feet twenty years ago, is now in London giving lessons in dancing for a trifling sum at a wretched lodging-house in Soho Square. She is very, very poor. Mlle. Sangalli, the present head of the ballet at the Paris Grand Opera, proposes to give a benefit for Taglioni, and if something of this kind is done in each of the capitals which used to be wild about Taglioni, that old lady might end her days in peace and comfort."

Low Journalism.

The Post is going to the devil about as fast as any paper ever did. Yesterday, it devoted about half a column of its editoral space and a considerable portion of its local columns, to the subject of a personal slight received by one of its editors. It appears that Judge McKinstry declined the acquaintance of Mr. Bell of the Post which he had a perfect right to do, and Bell, because he happens to have command of the columns of a newspaper, lays the matter before the public and claims their sympathy. He can't get it from us. If a man speaks to another man who doesn't want to know him, and gets snubbed for it, we say it serves him right, were he twenty times an "editor."

A Final Decision.

A loving wife of Vermont thus notices the departure of her husband from her bed and board: "Whereas, my charming husband, Daniel G. Bedell, has left me for the twelfth time, without just cause or provocation, this is to warn all persons from trusting him on my account, as I am done paying his debts and supporting him. Hereafter he must eat his own feed or starve."

Quite Enough.

"Is there any person you would wish me to marry?" said a wife to a dying spouse, who had been somewhat of a tyrant in his day. "Marry the devil, if you like!" was the gruff reply. "No, I thank you, my dear; one husband from the same family is enough for me."

A Natural Thought.

A little Bridgeport shaver who wanted to be a good boy, was told by his mother to pray. He said he had prayed, but he didn't get good. He was told to keep on praying. "But," said he, "I don't want to be teasing Him all the time."

Would be a Trustee.

The boy who, when asked to what trade he would wish to be brought up, replied. "I will be a trustee, because ever since papa has been a trustee we have had puddings for dinner," was a wise child in his generation.

A Painful Premonition.

Max Adeler says:

The most painful instance of a man having a premonition of death, that I know of, was that of Mr. Fortescue, who lived in our village. He came home, one afternoon, with a pallid face, and told his wife that he was deeply impressed with the conviction that he would die within forty-eight hours. Then, while she was bathed in tears, he sat down and had a long talk with her, giving directions about his affairs, advising her about managing the dear children when he was gone, and telling her how tenderly he loved her, and how hard it was for him to part from her. After a few passionate expressions of affection and regret, Mr. Fortescue sent for a lawyer and made his will. Then he went around and bade good-by to his friends and sought a minister, from whom he obtained religious consolation, and from whom he parted weeping. Proceeding to the tailor's, he purchased a burial suit; and then, after making all the arrangements with the undertaker for the funeral, he bought a handsome satin-lined rosewood coffin, and wrote out a list of the friends whom he wanted to act as pall-bearers. The tombstone selected by him at the marble-yard bore a representation of a flower with a broken stem, and the legend, "Not lost, but gone before;" and in his interview with the grave-digger at the cemetery he selected a spot near where his mother was laid under the green trees, for a tomb, at the same time giving directions that violets should be planted above him in the early Spring. It was very melancholy, and full of deepest pathos. This was in 1844, and he is still alive and hearty, having since been twice in the State Legislature, once in jail for assult and battery upon his wife, and having been turned out of the Temperance Society for drinking too much bewildering rum. He resides in Pencader, where he keeps a billiard saloon, and he attributes that warning to his having been too bilious.

A Husband Sold.

Some years since, when all the world was mad upon lotteries, the cook of a middle-aged single gentleman drew from his hands her earnings and savings of some years. Her employer was anxious to know the cause, and she told him that, having repeatedly dreamed that a certain number was a great prize, she had bought the whole ticket. He called her a fool for her pains, and never lost a chance to tease her on the subject. She seemed to take his taunts in good humor, saying it would all turn out right by and by. One morning he opened his paper at breakfast and saw it announced that the very numbers that Bridget had dreamed and bought had drawn the great prize of a hundred thousand dollars! Bridget was summoned, and the wily gentleman proceeded to inform her that he had long valued her as a friend, and, being desirous to settle himself for life, he would be willing to make her his wife, if she had no objection. Bridget had always thought him a dear, good man, and would be glad to do anything to please him. So he finished his breakfast, told Bridget to put on her best things, the parson was sent for, and made them one that very morning. After it was all over, the cautious husband said to his bride. "Well, Bridget, you have made two good hits to-day; you have got a good husband, and now bring me the lottery ticket you and I have laughed so much about, and let us see what the number of it is." Thus answered Bridget, "Please don't laugh any more about that; I knew there was nothing in them dreams, and I sold it to the butcher a month ago!"

A Texas Mystery.

Texas is full of mysteries. One of the most recent is that of a man who was locked in jail at night, and the next morning was found hanging to a tree a mile away. These mysteries never appear to be solved. Another occurred a short time since. Ten men went out to hunt for a horse thief. They returned in two days. "Didn't you ketch him?" they were asked. "Waal, yees, we ketched him," was the answer. "Whar is he?" "I rayther think he escaped in the wood." The horse thief was found a few days afterward all riddled with bullets. He was probably so troubled by his conscience that he committed suicide. The mystery is how he managed to shoot himself in so many different places.

Kidnapping Mrs. Maginnis' Boy.

The excitement that existed in Philadelphia concerning the case of the kidnapped child extended to all classes, and every mother in this city was for a time so wrought up upon the subject that she could hardly be induced to permit her children to go out of her sight. Gillespie lives in Tenth street in the same row with Mrs. Maginnis. He moved in a few days ago, and Mrs. Maginnis had not had an opportunity to become acquainted with him. He is very near-sighted, and when he came home the other afternoon he thought he saw his boy playing in the gutter, and he approached the youngster with the intent to pick him up and carry him into the house. The fact, however, was that it was Mrs. Maginnis' boy, and that estimable woman was watching him with one eye, while the other one rested upon the second story window which she was washing. When she saw Gillespie seize the child she knew at once that the kidnapper had come, and as Gillespie walked off with the boy under his arm, a red-haired woman in a condition of frantic excitement might have been seen shooting down stairs and through the front door with the velocity of light. Gillespie discovered his mistake just as he caught sight of the infuriated Maginnis approaching him, and, apprehending trouble, he dropped the child and ran. By the time he had got around the block twice, Gillespie had not only Mrs. Maginnis and six policemen at his heels, but one thousand eight hundred and nine people, and a half a hundred dogs. At last he darted up an alley and endeavored to jump over his back fence, but just as he reached the top, the avenging Maginnis arrived and caught him by the legs, and before he could explain himself the policemen had hammered him considerably, and four of the dogs had bitten chops out of his legs. He is in bed yet, and will not be around again, probably, till the bumps on his head subside and the dog bites heal. When he does go out again he will wear glasses.

A Misproposal.

A story is told of a young New Yorker at Newport, who felt, under just such circumstances, that his time had come. Having resolved to propose, he went below for a glass of champagne, in order to get courage to undertake what the bravest may well flinch from. One glass of Veuve Clicquot induced him to take seven or eight more; for he was fearful of the result. Properly nerved at last, though a little obfuscated by his potations, he went on deck.

He knew where his charmer, his beloved Kittie, was sitting. He glanced at the spot. There she was still, evidently waiting for him. He was emboldened, and, stepping briskly forward, he said without hesitation: "You know I love you—will you be my wife?" He did not look at her, but, with bent head, paused to learn his fate.

A ripple of laughter followed, and then came the words: "Well, really, Mr.——, I was not quite prepared for this. Indeed, you have taken me altogether by surprise. First and foremost, you would better consult my husband."

The suitor looked up, and saw, not Kittie, but a young married lady he was well acquainted with.

While he had been below, Kittie had gone to the other end of the vessel and Mrs.—— had sat down in her place.

Base Ball.

A contemporary says: A little cock-eyed fellow strolled into the office last evening, with a piece of manuscript in his hand and a merry twinkle in his eye, saying: "Say, Mister, will you put our game in the paper?" "What game, my son?" "Why, I belongs to the Arrow Base Ball Club, and we had a match game with the Gem for 40 cents, and after we licked 'em they stole our bats from us, put a head on the umpire, and took the 40 cents." "Well, what do you want to mention that in the paper for?" "Oh, we don't want anything said about that, but we wants to challenge 'em for a square game of forty-nine innings." Just here an elderly lady, with an umbrella under her arm, came creeping slowly in the door, and caught the youngster by the left ear and waltzed him off down the steps. The boy said nothing; neither did the old woman. Both thoroughly understood each other.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
Stop," said my friend. "let's go in here"
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins[illegible]
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again,
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

The Vokeses will appear again this evening in their very amusing specialty "The Belles of the Kitchen." The evening's entertainment will commence with the standard comedy of "The Honeymoon," in which Robert Pateman will appear as the mock Duke.

Maguire's New Theatre.

"The Black Crook" continues to be a great attraction at this house. The new ballet is received nightly with much applause, and the numerous specialty artistes never fail to please.

Opera House.

Billy Emerson, who is a host in himself, appears nightly with Miss Lottie, the most graceful of gymnasts, Oberist the Swiss warbler, Billy Rice, Ben Cotton, Billy Arlington and many others. The programme for to-night is published on our first page.

Bella Union Theatre.

Miss Kate Raymond and O. S. Collins have achieved great popularity at this house. They are sterling artistes and deserve success. "The French Spy" is given every evening with a lively first part and varied olio. Miss Lizzie Watson and Harry Braham are underlined to appear on Saturday.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

"The Screecher and Bilkem Scandal" draws like a house on fire, and the first part and interlude make up a good entertainment.

Italian Opera.

On Sunday evening an operatic entertainment will be given at the California Theatre, for the benefit of Signorina Adelina Speranza. The opera of "La Traviata," will be given, in which the beneficiary will appear as Violetta, P. Bacci as Alfredo Germont, G. Marra as Giorgio Germont and Mrs. G. T. Evans, Miss A. McCabe and other artistes will assist.

Mechanics' Institute Fair.

The Pavilion on Mission street, is the most popular pleasure resort in the city. So far from its location keeping people from visiting it, the receipts for the last three days have been greater than at any of the former exhibitions given in this city.

Platt's Music Hall.

"Dr. Healy's Hibernian Gems," is the title of a very popular Eastern entertainment that will open at Platt's Hall, on Monday August 24th. It consists of 85 large and beautifully painted views of the cities, scenery and historical ruins of Ireland. These views will be interspersed with short and lively dramatic sketches acted by Mr. John Moran better known as "Barney the Guide," Miss Rose O'Reily, Miss Jennie Moran, Miss Norah O'Brien, Mr. Wally Price and others. The descriptive lectur will be given by Dr. John Healy, lecturer and tourist.

Woodward's Gardens.

The Bedouin Arabs, will make their last appearance in their wonderful pyramids, and other feats on Sunday next. A sacred cow and other animals from Montgomery Queen's Menagerie have been purchased for the Gardens.

PICNIC OF THE GERMANIA RIFLES.—This, one of the most popular of our German Military Companies, will hold a Grand Picnic and Festival at the City Gardens, on Sunday, August 30th. The Picnic will be for the benefit of the Benevolent Fund of the company, and there will be a grand rally. Amusements of every kind will be the order of the day. The ladies who have earnestly espoused the cause, will hold a grand raffle, and in the evening, a splendid Ball will given in the Pavilion. The officers of the company have pledged themselves to make this the finest Picnic of the season. The Germania Rifles, will be escorted to the Gardens by delegations of Military Companies.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc. printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

Removal—"White House" Restaurant

The popular and well known Dining Saloon "White House", 112 Kearny street, Louis Meyer Proprietor, will remove Saturday the 28th July, to his new and more commodious premises 211 Sutter street, near the Centre Market. Mr. Meyer, in his new and elegant premises, will be able to better accommodate his numerous patrons. 7-bg

Music Hath Charms.

THE LITTLE DOLL THAT LIED.

BY SARAH O. JEWETT.

"Why Polly! What's the matter, dear?
You look so very sad;
Has your new doll been taken ill?
It cannot be so bad."
Nine of the dolls sit in a row,
But there is one beside—
See, in the corner, upside down,
The little doll that lied,

Out in the corner, all alone,
The wicked doll must stay;
None of the rest must speak to her,
Or look there while they play.
All her best clothes except her boots,
Are safely put aside;
The boots are painted on her feet—
The little doll that lied!

Oh, lying's such a naughty thing!
Why, she might swear and steal,
Or murder some one, I dare say;
Just think how we should feel
To have her in a prison live,
Or, worse than that, be hung!
What won't she do when she is old,
If she did this so young?

And now the silver mug and spoon
Come into use again,
And down the faces of the dolls,
The tears run fast as rain,
Three have tipped over with their grief,
Their tears cannot be dried;
Their handkerchiefs are dripping wet—
The little doll has lied!

The Old Melo-Drama.

This happy paragraph is from the London Globe: "Pleasant people there are in the world of elderly melo-drama, bearing at least a semblance of reality; patient heroines with sad brows and pallid cheeks, born only to suffer meekly; delightful sailors ever cracking jokes or shooting villains, and good-humoredly hitching themselves up with a hearty 'Ay, ay, sir,' and touch of the forelock. The lovers are dull persons for the most part, haughty of mein and awkward in gait; they affect swords, which often they cannot draw, and cover their white Berlin gloves under a halo of aristocracy. And then the villains! How they scowl and grind their teeth, and roll their eyes, enough one would think to render them objects of suspicion to the police; richly dressed, too, for are they not all marquisses, just as modern wicked people are all baronets? How came theatrical malefactors to change their rank? Did some evil baronet once commit a stupendous crime that fixed him as a type?".

Robert Browning.

Robert Browning has the rare felicity of knowing just what his late wife thought of him before she ever looked into his face. The Contemporary Review is printing the letters she wrote before her marriage, and in one of them is this passage: "Browning, however, stands high with me. I want very much to know what you mean by his worst faults, which you have touched upon. Will you tell me in confidence, and I will promise never to divulge it if you make a condition of secrecy? Mr. Browning knows thoroughly what a true poet's work is: he is learned, not only in profane learning, but in the conduct of his genius; he is original in common things; his very obscurities have an oracular nobleness about them which pleases me."

A Religious Gentleman.

He must be a nice sort of man this father of whom the Cumberland, Tenn., Courier sweetly says: "We learn that a sanctimonious cuss in this county now and then quickens the circulation of blood in his five-year-old by the application of a rod that cuts and leaves great gouts of blood over her body. That is a poor way to make her say her prayers, and were he in some sections he would be taken to the nearest creek and immersed so effectually that his hypocritical soul would speedily join his father, the devil. He usually does his beating after neighbors are asleep. A word to the wise."

A Truly Democratic Community.

There is a doctor in Pittsburg, Pa., who is running for office on the Democratic ticket. Recently he was called to attend a poor Chinese woman, and he succeeded in bringing into the world bouncing, almond-eyed twins. The very next day his name was stricken, from the ticket, upon the charge that he was assisting Coolie immigration. The Executive Committee told him they would never support a man who had so little regard for the dignity of the workingman.

If one wishes to pass an hour or two pleasantly at the game of billiards, no pleasanter place can be found in the city than Chapman & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, Northeast corner Bush and Kearny streets entrance on Bush. From the window a good view can be had of two of our busiest streets Bush and Kearny. Local Option not in force; for the best of Wines, Liquors and Cigars, are served at the bar for 12½ cents. 6-i

Spring Style Hats.

Light, beautifully finished and graceful in shape, the new Spring style of Hats manufactured at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street (second hat store below Kearny street), is just the thing to make a man look a hundred per cent. better. Don't wear a shabby old hat. Go to "The Hat Store" for a new one. Prices reduced. 3-v

CENTRE MARKET.

WHO OCCUPY THE STALLS.

Hepburn has opened stall 4, with fresh meats of all kinds. Families and restaurants supplied on the shortest notice.

Stall 36, Holm & Boyle have a splendid assortment butter, eggs, cheese and a general assortment of fancy groceries. Goods delivered free.

Stalls 39 and 40 are occupied by Kerlin & Hassard, dealers in fruits, vegetables, etc., of the best and freshest. Delivered free of charge.

Stall 8, makes a magnificent show of fresh meats. Jos. O. de Volt & Co., wholesale and retail dealers, have one of the nicest stalls in the market. Restaurants and families will find it to their advantage to give them a call.

Stalls 74 and 75 are taken by the pioneer Poultry and Game dealers, Benjamin & Strasser. The finest Poultry and Game, and the Freshest Butter and Eggs in the city. 7-w

BOSTON OYSTER HOUSE.—L. O. Pratt has opened stalls 89 and 90 in Centre Market. Oysters in every style. Chops and Steaks of the choicest. Ladies private rooms up stairs. 7-z

Stalls 91, 92 and 93, have been opened by Anderson & Marshall as the Long Branch oyster house. They are among the oldest oyster men in the city.

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Colville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

JOS GIUSTA'S Restaurant, at 105 California Market, has been long and favorably known by the public as a place where nice Chops, Porter-House Steaks and Oysters in every style could be had. A short time since, Mr. Giusta made an addition of a whole floor to his place, so that he could accommodate families. His restaurant, as now constructed, can well be called a family restaurant. 5-M

Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply, and state company and regiment, and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional Bounty under Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be settled before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 2d, 1861, for three years, if not paid at time when discharged. Land Warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions as allowed to Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted Pensions to surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Florida Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. S. Not Popular.

The Post, one of its editors (the Beecher editor) having been snubbed by Judge McKinstry of the Supreme Court, tries to get even in the following manner. It says:

The Supreme Court is not, as at present constituted, very much respected in this State, though feared in some quarters for its direct power for good or evil. Somehow or other, whether the Court works hard or whether it takes matters easily, it does not gain in popularity. Its decisions do not make friends for it.

There is something more than absurd in the idea of a Supreme Court desiring "popularity" and needing "friends." A popular judge is not necessarily the best judge, and and as a rule we are rather suspicious of the "popular judge." If the Supreme Court has the respect of the people it need not seek popularity.

Populating California.

The San Mateo Times tells the following amusing incident: "The Census Marshal of Spanishtown, while going his rounds lately to ascertain the number of children in his district entitled by law to draw school money, called at a house where he found the lady in charge busily at work attending her household affairs, and put the usual questions as to whether there were any children residing there. The lady answered that there were, and in answer to farther inquiries, informed the Marshal that she had six of them, the oldest of whom was four years, and that she had been married five years. She showed the astonished census-taker three pair of twins who were gamboling and frisking about in an adjoining room."

How's This?

The El Dorado Republican says: Men are wanted, and none are to be had. In the face of all the howl against the d— Chinamen for over-running the country and keeping white men out of employment, it is difficult to get all the men—white or copper colored—that are required to carry on the industries of the State. Mining developments in this country are now being retarded in consequence of the scarcity of help, and it is even difficult to procure Chinamen to work on the ditch as fast as is wanted. We must have more laboring men. Shall we import from the bogs or the celestial isles? Which class is most preferable? We are not prepared to answer the question, much as we detest the heathen from the flowery kingdom.

Plain English.

"Do you understand the English language?" said a McLean county man the other day, addressing a lightning-rod agent. "I do," replied the agent. "Then I'll be —— I want any more of your rods." The lightning man, somewhat electrified, drove on.

How Nice!

The San Rafael Herald says:

Mr. S. F. Barstow, editor of the Marin County Journal, during the temporary absence of Mr. R. J. Trumbull is acting as Superintendent of the Presbyterian Sunday School.

San Rafael is a nice little town, full of nice houses and nice people and nice churches, and even the editor of the Marin County Journal is nice. A pretty fix we should be in in San Francisco if we wanted to find a newspaper man to run a Sunday School during the temporary absence of the Superintendent. Fancy Charley DeYoung and Mike running a Sunday School! or Fred Marriott or the other Fred—Macrellish, Mr. Pickering would volunteer, perhaps, but after all he wouldn't adorn the position. Harry George would always be ringing in his Land Policy, and telling the children that in the happy land of Canaan all the taxes were put on real estate. Bell would devote all his time to whitewashing Beecher, because he is a "clergyman." Sands Forman couldn't be trusted to run a Protestant Sunday School, because he edits the Catholic Guardian, Tommy Newcomb isn't serious enough, the Open Letter people are too liberal in their views for Sunday School work. Running over the names of all the newspaper men in the city, we cannot think of one who would be suitable for the position of Superintendent pro. tem. of a Sunday School, and we know that we should have to do it ourselves. We trust, however, that the necessity will not arise.

A Serious Matter.

The Oregon Statesman says: A certain fair one during a recent visit to Portland had occasion to write to a couple of young gentlemen in this city. With one she was on very intimate terms, with the other her acquaintanceship was but slight, but she was at the same time desirous it should be cultivated. Writing both letters the same day, imagine her dismay on hearing a few days afterwards that she had changed the envelope and had assured her almost stranger friend that she was oh, so lonesome without him, missing as she did his rapturous kisses, and, tender, loving caresses, etc., etc., closing her letter by signing herself, "Your own until death, Mary." Her favored lover had to content himself by being assured she had arrived safely, and would be pleased to hear from him, signed yours with respect, ——. On being informed of her embarrassing mistake she returned home and is now trying to straighten matters out.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc. printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

An Infant Medium.

A New York Mercury correspondent has been interviewing a wonderful infant, possessing the gift of prophecy, and he thus relates the result of his visit to the phenomenon: "A man named Ahern resides about four miles from Johnsonville, on the Tennessee River. He is a man of moderate means, yet industrious and honest. He has a family of five children, all bright and intelligent and perfectly formed.

On Saturday, the 11th of July, last, another child—a girl—was added to the household, which possessed no peculiar marks or attractions with the exception of a heavy suit of hair, as black and coarse as that of an Indian. She also had twenty well-formed teeth. A small double log tenement, with a stack chimney and a small porch in front, situated in a beautiful growth of natural forest trees, on the bank of the Tennessee River, is the birth-place of the most remarkable freak of nature. The child prospers finely, and the neighborhood for miles around are going to and from the house of Ahern to witness this modern prodigy.

But the most wonderful part of this peculiar creature remains to be told. On Thursday, the 16th of July, while the child seemed to be asleep in her crib and a silence prevailed in the room, a noise was heard to proceed from the crib, which resembled the voice of a grown woman. The only words to be distinguished were, "July 25th, 26th, 27th." Everybody in the room rushed to the bedside to catch the sound, when the child, with its eyes closed, said in a clear and contralto tone of voice, "A furious storm will come July 25th, 26th, and 27th—but not yet." At the close of this little speech the room was almost depopulated, some running to the neighbors, six miles off, almost frantic with fright. Several spiritualistic mediums were sent for, and after arriving upon the spot they used all the powers known to the art to draw from the child some spiritual manifestations.

The child spoke but little after this, and would not notice questions or the crowd that surrounded her bedside. But on the 26th of July, in the night, the voice came from the body, with but a slight movement of the lips, and said: "The storm rages." This created a great deal of satisfaction among the unbelievers in miracles, some of whom remarked: "The stars are shining brighly; in fact, not a cloud can be seen." Little did they know of the terrible storm that was carrying on its bosom thousands of dollars of property and hundreds of lives in the cities of Pittsburg and Allegheny.

No further mention is made of any word uttered by the child until the morning of the 29th of July, about half-past 9 o'clock. An old negro named Isaac Halliburton, who has always been foremost on electioneering occasions, had dropped in with some newcomers to view the "great wonder." While standing by the crib, looking at the child, she suddenly looked up into his face, and, in a clear, distinct voice, said: "Woe to you and your race in August next; look well to your households; stay close to your homes; for a storm will rage far worse than the one just passed, which will wipe all negro stragglers from the face of the earth. Take hold, colored people, and respect this warning."

This last prophecy seems very likely to be fulfilled. A war of races is imminent in the South.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance and stray
To weave a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a stream
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here;
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that.
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again,
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Maguire's New Theatre.

"The Black Crook," with its troupe of pretty girls, its bright scenery, handsome dresses and varied specialties draws well. The performance is now ever in good time every evening. "The Black Crook" will be played at the matinee to-morrow. There will be an immense crowd.

Opera House.

To-night and at the matinee to-morrow the universally popular Billy Emerson, the daring and graceful Miss Lottie, the sweet-voiced J. G. Oberist, Ben Cotton, Billy Rice, Con T. Murphy, Billy Arlington and all the rest of the brilliant artistes making up the combination now known as the Emerson Minstrels will appear in a great programme.

California Theatre.

The performance at this house last night commenced with the fine old comedy of "The Honeymoon," in which Barton Hill did some excellent acting as Duke Aranza, Miss Belle Pateman played the role of Julianna with much skill and Miss Ellie Wilton and Miss Jennie Lee as Violante and Zamora looked charmingly pretty, dressed tastefully and acted their parts to perfection. Robert Pateman as the mock Duke, gave one of the most amusing representations of the role ever seen on the California stage, and, however much he may have run counter to the motives of some of our over-nice critics, certainly succeeded in making the audience laugh most heartily. After this came the Volcanos—Misses Jessie, Victoria and Rosina and Messrs. Fred and Fawdon in their distractingly funny specialty entitled "The Belles of the Kitchen." The same bill will be played to-night. At the matinee to-morrow, "Faint Heart Never Won Fair Lady," and "The Belle of the Kitchen" will constitute the entertainment.

Bella Union Theatre.

Col. Mandeville and Matt Kelly appear in the first part, Cook and Hart in clog dance and song and dance, Miss Kate Raymond and O. B. Collins in "The French Spy," and others in various specialties make up a very attractive performance at this house.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

"The Haunted Tavern," "Political Speeches," "The Drum Major," "The Screecher and Silkem Scandal" and other entertainments will be presented to-night.

Italian Opera.

On Sunday evening an operatic entertainment will be given at the California Theatre, for the benefit of Signorina Adelina Speranza. The opera of "La Traviata," will be given, in which the beneficiary will appear as Violetta, P. Bacci as Alfredo Germont, G. Marra as Giorgio Germont and Mrs. G. T. Evans, Miss A. McCabe and other artistes will assist.

Mechanics' Institute Fair.

The Pavilion on Mission street, is the most popular pleasure resort in the city. So far from its location keeping people from visiting it, the receipts for the last three days have been greater than at any of the former exhibitions given in this city.

Platt's Music Hall.

"Dr. Healy's Hibernian Gems," is the title of a very popular Eastern entertainment that will open at Platt's Hall, on Monday August 24th. It consists of 85 large and beautifully painted views of the cities, scenery and historical ruins of Ireland. These views will be interspersed with short and lively dramatic sketches acted by Mr. John Moran better known as "Barney the Guide," Miss Rose O'Kelly, Miss Jennie Moran, Miss Norah O'Brien, Mr. Wally Price and others. The descriptive lecturer will be given by Dr. John Healy, lecturer and tourist.

Woodward's Gardens.

The Bedouin Arabs, will make their last appearance in their wonderful pyramids, and other feats on Sunday next. A sacred cow and other animals from Montgomery Queen's Menagerie have been purchased for the Gardens.

City Gardens.

No more pleasant or delightful place in the city to spend a day and evening than the City Gardens. Next Sunday lots of amusement and a dance in the evening.

PICNIC OF THE GERMANIA RIFLES.—This, one of the most popular of our German Military Companies, will hold a Grand Picnic and Festival at the City Gardens, on Sunday, August 30th. The Picnic will be for the benefit of the Benevolent Fund of the company, and there will be a grand rally. Amusements of every kind will be the order of the day. The ladies who have earnestly espoused the cause, will hold a grand raffle, and in the evening, a splendid Ball will given in the Pavilion. The officers of the company have pledged themselves to make this the finest Picnic of the season. The Germania Rifles, will be escorted to the Gardens by delegations of Military Companies.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Notes.

Ernest Linden, female impersonator, and J. B. Kimble, middleman and Ethiopian comedian, arrived yesterday evening, under engagement to Manager Maguire. They will appear at the Opera House on Monday.

A number of our amateur banjo players are taking lessons of O. E. Dobson during his stay in this city.

Fisherman's Rest.

This place will open on Sunday in connection with its regular business a splendid gymnasium, under Mr. Gallandett's proprietorship. The best Boats, Fishing Tackles, etc., in the city. Free Lunch daily. Railroad Wharf, Long Bridge.

Music Hath Charms.

Pianos tuned and repaired, at moderate prices and satisfaction guaranteed, by one that understands the business. Also, will perform on Piano at Evening Parties, etc. Orders left at 754 Market or 54 Third street, will receive prompt attention by G. W. Morgan. 4-v°

Dr. Aborn.

Oculist, Aurist, Catarrh, throat and lung physician, corner Post and Kearny streets. Entrance on Post street. Office hours 10 1-2 A.M. to 3 P.M., 6 to 7 P.M. 7-q

PLIGHTED, A. D. 1874.

BY ALICE WILLIAMS.

"Two hearts with but a single thought,
Two hearts that beat as one."

NELLIE, loquitur.

Bless my heart! You're come at last.
Awful glad to see you, dear!
Thought you'd died or somethin, Belle—
Such an age since you've been here!
My engagement? Gracious! Yes.
Rumor's bit the mark this time.
And the victim? Charley Gray,
Know him, don't you? Well, he's prime.
Such mustachios! Splendid style!
Then he's not so horrid fast—
Waltzes like a seraph, too.
Has some fortune—best and last.
Love him? Nonsense. Don't be "soft,"
Pretty much as love now goes;
He's devoted, and in time
I'll get used to him, I s'pose.
First love? Humbug. Don't talk stuff!
Bella Brown, don't be a fool!
Next you'll rave of flames and darts,
Like a chit at boarding school.
Don't be "miffed," I talked just so
Some two years back. Fact, my dear!
But two seasons kill romance,
Leave one's views of life quite clear.
Why, if Will Latrobe had asked
When he left, two years ago,
I'd have thrown up all and gone
Out to Kansas, do you know?
Fancy me a settler's wife!
Blest escape, dear, was it not?
Yes, it's hardly in my line
To enact "Love in a Cot."
Well, you see, I'd had my swing,
Been engaged te eight or ten;
Got to stop some time, of course,
So it don't much matter when.
Auntie hates old maids, and thinks
Every girl should marry young—
On that theme my whole life long
I have heard the changes rung!
So, ma belle, what could I do?
Charley wants a stylish wife;
We'll suit well enough, no fear,
When we settle down for life.
But for love—stuff! See my ring!
Lovely, isn't it? Solitaire
Nearly made Maude Hinton turn
Green with envy and despair.
Hers ain't half so nice, you see—
Did I write you, Belle, about
How she tried for Charley, till
I sailed in and cpt her out?
Now she's taken Jack McBride,
I believe it's all from pique—
Threw him over once you know—
Hates me so she'll scarcely speak.
O yes! Grace Church, Brown and that;
Pa won't mind expense at last,
I'll be off his hands for good;
Go t a fortune two years past.
My trousseau shall out-do Maude's,
I've carte blanche from Pa, you know,
Mean to have my dress from Worth!
Won't she just be raving though?

—Scribner's.

How Carl Rosa got Married.

The Chicago Times contains the following: "Carl Rosa and Parepa, antipodal as they were in complexion, stature, and avoirdupois, were supremely, harmoniously, excellently adapted to associated enterprise. He had never undertaken management until after his marriage, and he is indebted to her, it is said, for the inspiration. He is so modest and retiring a little fellow that many persons have wondered how he could summon courage to propose to a woman so much larger than himself.

The manner of his proposal is thus related: "The musical twain were en route to Hartford by rail seated side by side; Rosa seeming to be unusually depressed. Parepa, a close observer, and always sympathetic, noticing his melancholly, inquired the cause. He answered:

"I have been unlucky in this country. For some reason or other I have not been able to keep my friends in America. With the best of feelings and intentions, I appear to lose as rapidly as I make them. I think I have not to-day a single friend."

"Oh, I am sure you have!" responded she brightly.

"Alas!" he exclaimed, sighing, "I fear I have not!"

"Indeed, you are mistaken, my good Carl. If you have not regarded me heretofore, I promise you now that I will always be your friend."

Rosa's boyish face kindled with delight; he took her gloved hand, and with chivalrous instinct lifted it to his lips.

"And," she added with a charming ingenuousness, "I will be your wife also, if you like."

A fortnight later they were married. She had long been fond of him, and he of her, and she knew it. But he was so sensitive and self-depreciating that she felt that he would not reveal his affection unless he were liberally encouraged.

Few men or women have been better partners, sentimentally or financially, than Parepa and Rosa. They gave English and Italian opera at the Academy in better style than it had been given, and, notwithstanding the great expense to which they had gone, they realized handsomely from the endeavor. Rosa and his wife cleared here over $250,000.

Removal—"White House" Restaurant

The popular and well known Dining Saloon "White House", 112 Kearny street, Louis Meyer Proprietor, will remove Saturday the 28th July, to his new and more commodious premises 211 Sutter street, near the Centre Market. BOSTON OYSTER HOUSE.—L. O. Pratt ha opened stalls 89 and 90 in Centre Market. Oysters in every style. Chops and Steaks of the choicest. Ladies private rooms up stairs. 7-x

Stalls 91, 92 and 93, have been opened by Anderson & Marshall as the Long Branch oyster house. They are among the oldest oyster men in the city.

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow,
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters RAW,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

JOE GIUSTA'S Restaurant, at 105 California Market, has been long and favorably known by the public as a place where nice Chops, Porter-House Steaks and Oysters in every style could be had. A short time since, Mr. Giusta made an addition of a whole floor to his place, so that he could accommodate families. His restaurant, as now constructed, can well be called a family restaurant. 5-x

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

OPERA HOUSE.—At the matinee to-day and again this evening, the brilliant programme which has delighted thousands during the week, will be repeated. Billy Emerson is, if anything, a little funnier than ever, and keeps the audience in a roar while he is on the stage, except indeed, in the sketch of "Old Black Joe." In this he moves them to tears by the pathos of his acting. Miss Lottie has made a great hit. No such graceful and attractive lady performer on the trapeze has ever been seen in this city. The bill bounds in bright acts, and the entertainment concludes with "The Rival Runners" in which Ben Cotton, Billy Arlington, Billy Rice, J. F. Oberist and others appear.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—At the matinee today "Fairs Heart Never Won Fair Lady" and the Vokeses in "The Belles of the Kitchen" will constitute the entertainment. To-night the comedy of "The Honeymoon," with Barton Hill, Miss Ellie Wilton, Miss Jennie Lee, Robert Pateman and others in the cast will precede "The Belles of the Kitchen." The theatre has been crowded every evening since the Vokeses commenced their engagement. Miss Rosina's laugh is the most infectious we ever heard. When she laughs all must join in merry chorus.

MAGUIRE'S NEW THEATRE.—The "Black Crook" Company fear no opposition. Until everyone in San Francisco has seen the wonderfully varied and attractive performance given by them, there is sure to be a succession of good houses. To-morrow night will be the last of the "Black Crook" season. There will be a matinee to-day and a performance to-night and to-morrow night. O. E. Dobson's banjo playing, Miss Frankie Etta's singing and dancing, the performance of the Runnels Family, the ballet by Mlle. Jeannette Prescher, Mlle. Barette, Mlle. Kelsey and corps de ballet, Amazon march and the numerous other features of the entertainment have already been commented on in these columns. On Monday night "The Devil's Magnet," a standard English spectacular drama, will be produced with entire new specialty business by the variety artists of the company, and new scenery, dances, ballets and songs. Among the latter will be the original "Old Sam Simons' Quartette," very quaint and funny. This play was a great success in New York and Chicago.

ITALIAN OPERA AT CALIFORNIA THEATRE. To-morrow evening an operatic entertainment will be given at the California Theatre, for the benefit of Signorina Adelica Speranza. The opera of "La Traviata," will be given, in which the beneficiary will appear as Violetta, P. Baccei as Alfredo Germont, G. Marra as Giorgio Germont and Mrs. G T. Evans, Miss A. McCabe and other artistes will assist.

THE MECHANICS' INSTITUTE FAIR. — The Pavilion on Mission street, is the most popular pleasure resort in the city. So far from its location keeping people from visiting it, the receipts for the last three days have been greater than at any of the former exhibitions given in this city.

PLATT'S MUSIC HALL—GRAND PANORAMA. "Dr. Healy's Hibernian Gems," is the title of a very popular Eastern entertainment that will open at Platt's Hall, on Monday August 24th. It consists of 35 large and beautifully painted views of the cities, scenery and historical ruins of Ireland. These views will be interspersed with short and lively dramatic sketches acted by Mr. John Moran better known as "Barney the Guide," Miss Rose O'Reily, Miss Jennie Moran, Miss Norah O'Brien, Mr. Wally Price and others. The descriptive lecture will be given by Dr. John Healy, lecturer and tourist.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS. — Last week of the Bedouin Arabs, will make their last appearance in their wonderful pyramids, and other feats on Sunday. A sacred cow and other animals from Montgomery Queen's Menagerie have been purchased for the Gardens.

CITY GARDENS—GRAND AMUSEMENTS.— No more pleasant or delightful place in the city to spend a day and evening than the City Gardens. Next Sunday lots of amusement and a dance in the evening.

PICNIC OF THE GERMANIA FIFLES.—This, one of the most popular of our German Military Companies, will hold a Grand Picnic and Festival at the City Gardens, on Sunday, August 30th. The Picnic will be for the benefit of the Benevolent Fund of the company, and there will be a grand rally. Amusements of every kind will be the order of the day. The ladies who have earnestly espoused the cause, will hold a grand raffle, and in the evening, a splendid Ball will given in the Pavilion. The officers of the company have pledged themselves to make this the finest Picnic of the season. The Germania Fifles, will be escorted to the Gardens by delegations of Military Companies.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—Captain Foster, the genial host of the Cliff House, entertains visitors from all parts of the Globe at his famous sea-side resort. The Cliff House is THE one thing San Francisco has to boast of as different from anything else in the world. Omnibuses run every day from the terminus of the Lone Mountain Railroad.

GOLDEN GATE PARK.—Those who drive out to the new park should visit The Villa which has just been opened. Here they will find four public parlors and ten private dining rooms. Guido Mangenberg, the proprietor, gets up epicurean breakfasts, dinners and suppers at short notice. Omnibuses will leave on SUNDAYS, at 9 o'clock A. M., from the corner of Market and Kearny streets, and every hour afterward, until 4 o'clock, from the corner of McAllister and Fillmore streets connecting with the Market Street and Hayes Valley cars, and from the corner of Turk and Fillmore streets by the way of City Front and Lone Mountain cars.

GRAND SUNDAY EXCURSION.—The steamer Antelope leaves San Francisco every Saturday at 2:30. P. M. and on Sunday at 8 A. M. from Front Street Wharf, connecting with the cars of the S. F. & N. P. Railroad at Donahue for Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Healdsburg and Cloverdale. Excursion tickets are issued at reduced rates, and are good from Saturday to Monday. Those who wish to enjoy a little country air at the end of the week could not choose a finer trip than this excursion offers.

NEW BELLA UNION THEATRE.—To-night in addition to the drama of the "French Spy," with Miss Kate Raymond in the title role, and many other attractions set forth on our first page, the management announce the first appearance of Miss Lizzie Watson, a popular comic and character vocalist, and Harry Braham, grotesque humorist. Miss Watson will present her bouquet of melodies, Harry Braham his character sketches, and the two will appear together in an original musical entertainment.

BUCKLEY'S NEW VARIETY THEATRE.—"The Hotel Runners" and "Clam-sel," together with a bright first part and varied and entertaining interlude, continues to draw crowded houses. It will be retained on the stage until further notice. Johnny Tuers, Frank Mortimore, Mlle. Blanche and a host of favorites appear nightly.

NOTES.—John McCullough's star engagements for the Fall and Winter season are as follows: Booth's Theatre, August 10th; Cleveland, Pittsburg, Baltimore, Washington, Cincinnati, Orleans, Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Boston, San Francisco. He will appear in Boucicault's new play of "Belle Lamar."

Tom Taylor's drama of "Lady Clancerty," which is yet running at the Olympic Theatre, London, England, will be produced for the first time in America at the California Theatre, on September 6, by Mr. Chanfrau.

Wardie Corbyn, business manager of the Vokes Family will be disengaged October 15, and advertises that he is prepared to accept a similar position with a first-class company of artists, or to take an interest in an established theatre.

Miss Lizzie Watson, comic vocalist, and Harry Braham, grotesque humorist, who recently arrived from Australia, will make their first appearance in this country to-night at the Bella Union Theatre.

The extravaganza of "Fun in a Fog" underlined for production at the California Theatre by the Vokeses is new here. It relates the adventures of Percival Postlethwaite, (Fred) a captain of the Muddletown militia, England, and his cockney valet, Dan, (Fawdon) who have come to America to see the sights, and in company with a cousin of Percival's, Grace Gaybird, (Miss Victoria) her friend Ella Hamilton. (Miss Jessie) and a mischievous waiting-maid, (Miss Rosina) we find them on an American yacht in the Gulf of Mexico. Here their tribulations are very great, for the three mischievous young ladies indulge in no end of practical jokes at their expense, and the unfortunate cockneys are brought to great grief through the wild pranks of their companions. The fog which has detained them during the continuance of the revels finally clears up, however reconciliations and explanations take place, and the party are supposed to sail merrily on their course.

A New York paper says: It is not the matter of the Vokes Family entertainments, that is of any particular consequence. Their beauty and charm rest in the entire absence from them of anything that is coarse or vulgar. They are uproariously, ridiculously funny, but into them there enters no tinge of anything that could shock the eyes or ears of the most refined. It is for this reason that their hold upon public favor is so secure. They have in no instance pandered to a morbid taste to win temporary triumphs. The performances they have given us have been pure and innocent. Replete with guileless merriment, and so thorough in their art, that seldom before have art and mirth walked so becomingly together hand in hand.

All visitors from the East confess that the entertainment given by Manager Maguire at the Opera House, far surpasses anything of the kind presented at the leading New York Variety Theatres. While they are content with a couple of star performers, Mr. Maguire has half a dozen engaged at the same time. At present Billy Emerson, Ben Cotton, Billy Arlington, Billy Rice, Miss Lottie, and other great specialty artistes are at the Opera House, and next week the company will be augmented by the appearance of the famous female impersonator, Otto Linden, who brings with him dresses made by Worth, of Paris and J. B. Kimble, middleman and comedian. No wonder the Opera House is crowded, but where the profit comes in it is hard to say. Mr. Maguire gives the people too much for their money.

The advance agent of John Wilson's Circus, writes from Sedalia, Mo., under date of August 15th. The show was on that date at Leavenworth, Kansas. He says: "We open in St. Louis in September. The weather is awfully hot here 112 degrees to-day. Our show had an accident to-day. Just as the mail and express train for St. Louis was taking us on behind—we have three flat cars two box, one stock car and 2 pairs of coaches—they were traveling like sixty, you bet, and on one of the flat cars the band wagon and seats were piled up high, and long stakes driven in on the side to keep them together; there was a dozen or more canvass men sleeping on the stuff, and the stakes gave way and spilled all the seats, men and everything for seven or eight miles over bridges and culverts along the road, before it could be found out, and the engine had to back down and pick up the men and stuff. Some were hurt badly, others bruised some, and they left the circus train and went on to Leavenworth and sent a switch engine out after the wreck."

Mr. John Q. Adams, will deliver a lecture on "Shakespeare," before the Pacific Total Abstinence Society, on Sunday evening, in their Hall, corner Market and Sixth streets. The lecture will, doubtless, prove both entertaining and instructive.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

In New York, at Niblo's Garden, a new dramatic version by Henry Watkins, of the novel of Griffith Gaunt, was produced on the 10th with Miss Henrietta Irving as Catherine Gaunt.....Tony Pastor's new season is to commence on the 24th. Collyer and Cooper have joined the company..... John T. Raymond is shortly to appear at the Park Theatre in the drama of "Col. Sellers," originally produced at the California Theatre under the title of "The Gilded Age."....At Woods' Museum, the following ladies and gentlemen have been engaged for the regular season of 1874-5: Louis Aldrich, J. R. Grismer, A. H. Sheldon, Welsh Edwards, Harry Colton, Harry Stewart, Chas. Sturges, W. H. Meeker, W. H. Partello, G. C. Charles, L. R. Willard, Christie Miller, L. R. Birchler, Charles Wilson, Mrs. D. B. Van Deren, the Misses Sophie Miles, Lizzie Kelsey, Belle Howitt, Florence Stratton, Elsie Moore, Nellie Sanford, Therese Wood, Kate Harrison, Eliza Shay, Mary Wilson, Tillie Page, and Kate Neville.....J. L. Toole made his American debut at Wallack's on August 17th, in the characters of Hammond Coote in a new comic drama entitled "Wig and Gown," and Simmons in the petit drama of "The Weavers." The Misses Eliza Johnstone and Agnes Mitchell and Messrs. W. Herbert and H. Westland, from the London Eng., theatres, upon the same evening, made their American debut. Mr. Toole will commence a tour of the principal cities on Oct. 5, and the abovenamed ladies and gentlemen will accompany him .....The World, speaking of Boucicault's latest play "Belle Lamar" now running at Booth's Theatre, New York, says: The presentation of the play was upon the whole successful. The plot is clever, the situations ingenious and effective, the pictures striking and vivid, and the characterizations strong. Great cleverness has been shown in the subordination of political to domestic interests and the superiority of patriotism to partisanship. Morally the play is unexceptional, Æsthetically it is picturesque, natural, and interesting, each act ending with a strong situation and the whole finishing up with a tableau and rescue not unlike that in 'Jessie Brown.' It was likewise acted with unusual tact, spirit, and feeling. Mr. John McCullough made a soldierly and manly officer, and was most cordially welcomed by the audience. Mr. Owen Marlowe and Mr. McKee were also the recipients of popular approbation, and Miss Rogers in the role of the wife, was, as usual, careful, sympathetic, and thoroughly artistic. It is sufficient to remark that the play, from all the indications was a distinct and instant success. At the close of the performance the principal actors were called before the curtain, and finally Mr. Boucicault was himself demanded by the audience. In response to the call he appeared and spoke as follows: "You ask me to speak. I appreciate the compliment, for I have been making speeches to you for the last three hours, and you have left me nothing to say but to thank you for the very kind enthusiasm with which these speeches have been received. I am very proud and happy that the management has inaugurated their first season so successfully, and I feel sure they will develope the intellectual drama in this theatre as plentifully as they developed the physical drama at Niblo's."

The New York Mercury says: Nine regular places of amusement will be open in this city during the current month. These will include the Globe, Booth's, the Olympic, Theatre Comique, Wallack's, Daly's Fifth-avenue, Lyceum, Tony Pastor, and the San Francisco Minstrel Hall. Of these the Globe was inaugurated on the 3d, in the presence of a very large audience. The interior had been retouched, and presented a very gay appearance. After a new musical potpourri by Wannemacher's orchestra, the farce of the "Two Puddifools" afforded George F. Ketchum and Jennie Satterlee opportunities for broad comedy; George F. McDonald for paternal comedy; J. F. Kilbourne, light comedy; Minnie Jackson, matronly comedy; and Katie Wilson, confidential amateur comedy. Senator Bob Hart relieved this with a very learned discourse on the Darwin theory, and exhibited a wonderful capacity for quoting Latin. He brought down the house repeatedly, and his triumph as an orator culminated with the impassioned quotation, "Tiltorum Beechorum maximum adulatorum populi."

The Park Theatre, Broadway, will be reopened on September 14 h, with John T. Raymond in Mark Twain's play, "Colonel Sellers."

FIGARO'S notice of the play as originally produced at the California Theatre is being copied into all the New York papers, FIGARO being, as we think we have observed before, "the only dramatic authority on the Pacific Coast."

Mr. Boucicault returns to London early in September.

John Gilbert is at Newport, on a visit to Miss Cushman.

Miss Jane Coombs appeared at the Grand Opera House, Cincinnati, on the 19th.

Mr. George Belmore will make his American debut at Booth's theatre, on Jan. 1, 1875.

Mr. Joseph Jefferson commenced his season at McVicker's theatre, Chicago, on the 20th.

Messrs. Simmons and Solcum will open their season at the Arch Street Opera House, Philadelphia, on the 31st.

Miss Katherine Rogers Randolph commences an engagement at Robinson's Opera House, Cincinnati, Nov. 16.

Mr. Barry Sullivan's engagement at Booth's theatre, commences in Aug., 1875, and will extend over one hundred and fifty night. He is to receive $300 per night, and $150 for every matinee in which he appears.

The Wallace Sisters—Jennie, Minnie and Maud—have secured the sole right to play John Brougham's dramas, "Little Dorritt" and "Minnie's Luck." The former, Mr. Brougham wrote especially for Miss Jennie Wallace. Their company this season will be an unusually attractive one; among them will be found a number of New York favorites—E. C. Coleman, the great "Quilp;" H. B. Philips, J. O Stevens, C. S. Rogers, Mrs. Berrell, Misses Jennie, Minnie and Maud Wallace.

The Brooklyn Park theatre will open Aug. 31st, with the stock company for one week, after which the season will be filled out with stars. The theatre is under the management of the well-known comedian, E. Lamb, who is now supervising important alterations on the stage and in the auditorium. A new drop-curtain is being painted, and a new carpet laid. The company consist of E. Lamb, principal comedian; Frank Evans, leading man; C. Norris, juvenile; T. Rind, old men; F. Lamb, comedy; C. H. Thompson, character and old men; J. S. Phibert, H. Clifton, T. Evans, J. P. Cook, general business; Miss Blanche Grey, Fanny Lee, May Arlington, Fanny Reeves, Julia Burton and Mary Madden. The stars engaged are John Brougham, Dominick Murray, Lucille Western, Lotta, Mrs. F. S. Chanfrau, Aimee Opera Bouffe, Miss LeCleroq, Maggie Mitchell, Frank Chanfrau, Edwin Adams, Katherine Rogers, Joseph Murphy Frank Mayo, and Rosa Rand, Wybert Reeves and Agnes Booth.

Unusual activity prevails on the stage and in the auditorium of Augustin Daly's Fifth Avenue theatre, which will re-open on the 25th, with "Jealousy," a new society play by the author of "Divorce." It is said to deal not only with the passions of the human heart, but also a most interesting question of the courts.

The Olympic theatre, Pittsburg, Pa., was opened on the 8th, for a short season, by Minnie Loder's Combination troupe. The manageress, who has achieved great popularity in the East, took a farewell benefit on the 14th. Signor Ed. Monta, gymnast, and Mlle. Eugenie Garerta, performer on the revolving globe, were at Shelby's Comique, Buffalo.

The Sheridan, Mack & Day Combination commence their season at the Academy of Music, New Orleans, in September.

During the time that combinations are performing at the Varieties theatre, New Orleans, La., next season, Mrs. D. P. Bowers, supported by J. E. Gwens' company, will make a four weeks' tour among the Southern cities.

Miss Eliza Weatherby received a benefit at the Boston (Mass) Museum, August 8th, when "Aladdin" received its fortieth and last representation. The boudoir scene from "The Enchanted Beauty" was also given, and that burlesque was revived on Aug. 10, and performed until the close of the season.

The appended letter from a relative of Billy O'Neill may prove of interest to the individual who wrote the letter from Providence, R. I., to Robert W. Butler, which we published in a recent issue of the Clipper, as well as the profession in general:

MEMPHIS, TENN., Aug. 2, 1874.

FRANK QUKEN, ESQ.—DEAR SIR.—I was much surprised and annoyed at seeing in your last edition, a paragraph headed "Does he Still Live?" in which it stated that a letter had been received from a person in Providence, R. I., who styled himself Billy O'Neill, and who stated that he was not dead, but had arrived from Australia by way of England, and was out of funds. Now, sir, this is an infamous falsehood; for Billy O'Neill, the Irish comedian is dead, and buried in Melbourne Cemetery. He died at his residence in Melbourne (and not at the Sailors' Home, as erroneously reported) on September 24, 1868, and was buried on the 26th. He was followed by all the leading members of the profession. In the next year, in October, Tommy Peel, the jig-dancer died, and was buried, by his own request, in the same grave, and their remains lie together. It is but right that the false statement should be refuted, and by so doing you will greatly oblige Mrs. Watson (formerly Mrs. O'Neill) of this city, and myself, who am his brother-in-law. Yours, respectfully,

JAMES H. QUINN, JR.

P. S.—I inclose a memory card. The memory card bears the following inscription:

IN MEMORY OF
WILLIAM O'NEIL,
Who Died September 24, 1868,
AGED 31 YEARS:
"Not Lost, But Gone Before."

Concerning the same subject, Frank Hussey, recently from Australia, writes: "If their is any doubt about the death of Billy O'Neil, people can set their minds at ease, as I buried Tommy Peel with him; and Mr. Sweeny, the bill-poster, in Melbourne, Australia, holds the deed of the lot. The person who wrote to Mr. Butler saying he is Billy O'Neil—well, I will not say what I think about him, but I know what I could do if I could see him."

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

GILROY.—Maguire's Dramatic Company opened the Gilroy Theatre on Monday night, appearing in "Frou-Frou;" "Caste" was played on Tuesday, and "The New Magdalen" on Wednesday. They drew capital houses. Montgomery Queen's Great Show exhibited on the 19th to good business.

SAN JOSE.—Maguire's Dramatic Company, comprising Miss Jeffreys Lewis, Edward Arnott, Miss Mary Wells, W. G. Coggswell and others, opened at the Opera House, on Thursday evening in "Frou Frou" to a "fair" house. We wonder what the San Jose people want. On Friday evening "Caste" was played to unfair patronage. The season will close with a matinee to-day and performance this evening. On Monday the Marionettes will open at the Opera House. Dancing dolls will, we fancy, suit the people of San Jose. They will show a week. On the 31st "The Black Crook" Company will commence an engagement. Montgomery Queen's Great Show drew well on Monday last and "took money out of town." Good for Montgomery Queen!

EUREKA.—A correspondent writing under date of August 14th, says: "Again we have a little 'show news' to chronicle. Little Mac and Jake Wallace Combination, arrived per steamer Pelican to-day, and commence a short season at Pratt's Opera House, on Monday, 17th. The troupe is an excellent one, including Little Mac, Jake Wallace, Cotton and Willis, song and dance artists, Prof. Carl Williams, violinist, and that delightful soprano, Miss Louise Irving, familiarly known as the "Mocking Bird Vocalist." She will take a benefit during the week. Vivian, another Eureka favorite, it is rumored will return soon. Good artists are always welcome here, and need never fear to return again."

PORTLAND.—Mrs. Marriner had a good benefit on the 13th. The Oregonian says: Mrs. Marriner and Mr. Campbell of the troupe leave on the steamer, and we trust they will find it convenient to visit our city at no distant day. To Mr. DePrans much is due for the excellent management as well as the increased attendance last evening. Mme. Bishop, Mr. Wilkie and Mr. Lask leave for Walla Walla this morning.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

FOREIGN DRAMATIC NEWS.

The London Musical World gives its readers this information: "Madame Christine Nilsson proceeds to Paris on the way to C burg, where she will be the guest of the Duke and Duchess. She returns to London August 31, and will sing gratuitously at two charity concerts on September 15 and 16, or the benefit Jenny Lind Infirmary at Norwich. From October 20 to December 20 she will sing at St. Petersburgh and Moscow, leaving Brussels, December 20, for the opening of the new Grand Opera House at Paris, January 1, 1875, on which occasion she will perform Ophelia in M. A. Thomas' "Hamlet" At the close of her Paris engagement, February 5, she proceeds to the Imperial Opera House, Vienna, where she will sing in "Hamlet" and "Faust" in the German language, returning to London early in May."

Capoul, the tenor, does not go to America this year, as was generally thought. He has just signed—through dispatch for he is still at his chateau at Toulouse—an engagement for four months, for the respectable sum of 60,000 francs. He will pass three months at St Petersburg and one month at Moscow; but according to treaty, he sings but eight times a month. Apropos of Capoul, he gives good news to one of the most sympathetic of composers, Victor Masse, who has reached the realization of his fondest dreams. He is about to see his opera of "Paul and Virginia," created by Patti and Capoul. This result is due to the Marquise de Caux, who expressed the desire to create the role of Virginia, and it is now formally announced by the director of the Imperial Theatres of Russia that the work will be presented this season.

"Led Astray" is not drawing well at the Gaiety Theatre, London.

Delehanty & Hengler have made a great hit at the Oxford Music Hall, London.

The Majiltons have been creating a sensation at the Royal Alexandria Theatre, Liverpool.

The editor of the London Figaro, Mr. Mortimer, writes to the Arcadian that his new comedy, Lord Churchmouse, was written for Mr. and Mrs. Kendall (Madge Robertson), and will not be produced at the Haymarket as has been stated. The place of its first representation has not yet been decided upon.

M. Gounod says he has not been fairly remunerated for "Faust" in England, and therefore will not allow "Mirella" to be produced there. This is hard, considering it is one of the best in Adelina Patti's repertoire.

Watt Phillips is writing a new piece for J. S. Clarke, and it will be produced when the last named gentleman assumes the management of the Charing Cross Theatre.

Camille Dubois was singing in opera bouffe, Manchester, England, at last advices.

Whether Mme. Patti receives £200 or £2 0 a night it is certain that she fills the theatre, no matter who it may be that sings with her, no matter whether the opera in which she sings be put on the stage with or without befitting scenery.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc. printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 8-oj

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bonquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men,
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners,"
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain!
Who goes there once will go again,
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.
CHARLES HAAKE, Proprietor.

JOE GIUSTA'S Restaurant, at 105 California Market, has been long and favorably known by the public as a place where nice Chops, Porter-House Steaks and Oysters in every style could be had. A short time since, Mr. Giusta made an addition of a whole floor to his place, so that he could accommodate families. His restaurant, as now constructed, can well be called a family restaurant. 5-M

W. S. AIKEN, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW AND Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in California and Nevada, gives special attention to the collection of Additional Bounty, now due California and Nevada Volunteers discharged more than three hundred miles from home. Soldiers can depend on fair treatment. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply, and state company and regiment, and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional Bounty under Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 2d, 1861, for three years, if not paid between when discharged. Land Warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed to Mexican and Indian wars soldiers. State of Texas has granted Pensions to our living veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. S. Aiken also attends to General Law and Collection business. jy28-tf

Popular Amusements.

The New York Mercury has the following: A boarding-house keeper up-town applied to Judge Donohue, in the Supreme Court, for an injunction to close a concert saloon in Sixth avenue, adjoining her house, as a nuisance. Voluminous affidavits were read, but the Judge, last Friday, denied the application and dismissed the case. By this decision Judge Donohue has shown a keen and proper appreciation of the value and necessity of popular amusements. Our theatres, concert halls, and other similar places of public resort, constitute one of the most attractive features of our city. If the cursed puritanical spirit could succeed in suppressing them, it would prove the hardest blow against our commercial prosperity, as the thousands of country merchants would seek some other city where the hours of leisure and rest from business can be passed in innocent and enjoyable recreation. Judge Donohue deserves to be honored for his firmness and wisdom in this case.

Opera in Dresden.

A correspondent of Dexter Smith's paper says: Last evening we attended the opera—German opera—and presuming upon the musical reputation of the people, anticipated much pleasure. But, alas for the opera in Dresden! In the first place, the theatre itself was more like a barn, with its rafters and timbers exposed, than like a temple of the drama. Barnum would throw up a better temporary place of exhibition for his circus in a country village. As to the vocalism, it was simply ridiculous, and the acting a caricature. The orchestra was passably good, but the performance, as a whole, was execrable.

Pretty Rough.

A morning contemporary said on Friday: Ah Jim was committed to the Insane Asylum yesterday. He prays all the time and will not work.

This is pretty hard. Ah Jim has been made a Christian and taught to pray, and now he shows a desire to run the thing into the ground he is put in the Insane Asylum. There are many who preach and pray and don't work who escape being sent to the Insane Asylum. We think Ah Jim ought to be the judge of how much praying is necessary to save his soul.

How Much did it Cost.

The Local Brevities man says: "A well-known gentleman treated the Alta editorial staff." We never read those local inanities, or we might, we suppose, by reading the paragraph the first line of which caught our eye, learn who the gentleman was and what each member of the editorial staff took. We suppose Mr. Stevenson has been lavishing his money on the Alta people again.

The Young [illegible] Guest.

"I'm a strang[illegible]
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Was ever been his boast.

"He's got nice cozie private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Spring Style Hats.

Light, beautifully finished and graceful in shape, the new Spring style of Hats manufactured at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street (second hat store below Kearny street), is just the thing to make a man look a hundred per cent. better. Don't wear a shabby old hat. Go to "The Hat Store" for a new one. Prices reduced. 8-v

Sensible Preaching.

In these days when a few ignorant, bigoted, narrow-minded persons assail amusements of all kinds, it is refreshing to hear such an [illegible]ment as the following, from a sermon by Rev. Mr. Bavlin, an eminent Baptist clergyman of Chicago:

"I do not wish to be understood in an unqualified manner as endorsing the theatre, nor would I have you understand me as passing a sweeping sentence of condemnation against it. There would be no argument in such a treatment of the subject. Harsh denunciation is not argument. Unfounded and unproven charges against respectable members of the dramatic profession, come from whomsoever they may, are slanders which will surely react upon their author by a law as inexorable as fate, and there is no escape from it. The pulpit is no exception to the rule. It circumscribes the limit of its usefulness when it deals in bitter invective and utters charges which it is powerless to prove, and concerning the truth of which it of necessity knows nothing. When all the members of the profession are indiscriminately denounced from the pulpit as abandoned characters, thousands of respectable people all over the land know the charge is false and unwarranted, and the man who makes it sinks in their estimation in the precise ratio of the falsity and unfairness of the charge. Because there are abandoned characters on the stage is no more a proof that all are so than it would be to say that because villains are to be found in the pulpit, therefore all clergymen are villains. The customary way of setting at naught all acts of the legitimate drama, as affording an entertainment wholly unfit to be patronized by decent people, thus condemning all because some are bad, is an argument of no more force than to say, because there are some books published, which are immoral in their character and influence, therefore all books should be condemned indiscriminately, and the publishing business ended. It is used as an argument that vile characters attend the theatre, therefore no woman can attend it and be a lady. It would be just as consistent to say that because fallen women enter the stores of our down-town merchants and buy their goods, therefore no honorable woman can purchase goods there and preserve her honor. The argument is as good in the one case as in the other. It is specious and good for nothing in either case. The virtuous lady and the harlot stand side by side and purchase goods over the same counter, one for one purpose and the other for another, and they go their ways, the one no better, perhaps, for her near approach to a virtuous woman, and the other certainly no worse for her close proximity to a vicious character."

Grass.

An Eastern exchange says: A man has actually "gone to grass" who used to reside near Cheyenne. Losing his reason he fled the haunts of humanity, and was afterward discovered, minus all apparel, feeding on the herbage like an ox, or a steed. A dislike for the pervading fashions might carry even a sane man a good way toward a disposition to discard many garments this warm weather; but to drop all and become a nude grass-cutter, requires a special mission, as well as teeth and taste for the performance.

Began Early.

A politician [illegible] a compliment a well-to-do farmer, said: "You must have begun life early to accumulate such an estate as this?" "Yes," replied the farmer, "I began life when I was a mere baby."

Mark Twain Gets a Customer.

A correspondent sends us the following, which, though not indorsed by Governor Bramlette or the Trustees of the Library is good enough to be published as an amusing bagatelle:

MESSRS. MARK TWAIN & BARNUM—Gentlemen:—We read with great interest and with sincere gratification of your lease of the comet Coggia, and of the trip of which we propose to avail ourselves. In our five gift concerts we have pretty much exhausted the advertising facilities of this mundane sphere, and like new Alexanders, only awaited new worlds to conquer. Thanks to your enterprise and management, this facility is now afforded us. We desire to know your price for one hundred double staterooms, as near amidship as possible, and not more than thirty or forty miles apart. We wish you to deposit one of our agents on every star of respectable magnitude and particularly on each of the planets. These agents will await your return. For the return trip we will, of course expect from you security for the vast sums of money with which these agents will be loaded, and shall expect you to preserve their incognito from all the other passengers.

Our enterprise is one of no ordinary magnitude, and therefore, our agents will be men of high degree who must be supposed to be guests of yours, invited for a pleasure trip. We shall also need about one hundred square miles in the hold of the "Coggia" for circulars, library papers, and tickets to the last gift concert. Please make this freight a separate item in your bid. Of course, as each agent leaves the comet to stop at a star, the freight will be diminished by the amount he takes ashore with him. Mr. Geo. Francis Train will get off at Mercury, Mr. Henry Ward Beecher at Venus, Gen. John Pope at Mars. The agent at Jupiter will be appointed by President Grant, and will probably consist of Matt. Carpenter.

Efforts are on foot to get Boss Tweed pardoned in time to send him to Saturn, where his acquaintance with rings will be of value to us. Should this effort fail, Boss Shepherd will take his place. Old Probabilities will go as far as U-rain-ia. People of less note will go to stars of less magnitude. If you prefer to take a part of the risk we will give you a commission on all the tickets that are sold on the trip.

All of our agents you will positively prohibit from going near the railing, as their enthusiastic nature might peril their valuable lives. An early reply, will oblige,

Yours truly,

PUBLIC LIBRARY KENTUCKY.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here."
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a T."
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To those hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

California Theatre.

To-night the performance will commence with the comedietta of "Naval Engagements," which will be presented with the following excellent cast: Admiral Kingston, Henry Edwards; Lieutenant Kingston, Barton Hill; Dennis, Robert Pateman; Short, William Barry; Miss Mary Mortimer, Miss Bella Pateman; Mrs. Pontifex, Mrs. Judah. After this the inimitable Vokeses will appear in their musical, comical, mystical extravaganza entitled "Fun in a Fog," in which Fred, will play Percival Postlethwaite; Fawdon, Dan. Miss Victoria, Grace Gaybird; Miss Jessie, Ella Hamilton; and Miss Rosina, Janet. We published the plot on Saturday. An extraordinary melange of songs, duets dances and funny business will be introduced in the course of the piece.

Maguire's New Theatre.

To-night, Langrishe and Glen's great spectacular and variety organization, will present for the first time in California a spectacular drama entitled "The Devil's Magnet." New acts, new songs, new dances, and new variety business will be introduced. Mlle. Jeanetta Proscher and the ballet troupe, Master Bennie Runnels, Charles R. Debson, Frank Clifton, Miss Frankie Etta and all the stars will appear. A feature of the peformance will be the latest Eastern sensation entitled "Old Sam Simons."

Opera House.

To-night in addition to Billy Emerson, the charming Miss Lottie, the old favorite Ben Cotton, the humorous Billy Arlington, the sweet voiced J. F. Oberist and many others whose names are published on our first page, Ernest Linden burlesque prima donna, who is said to rival Leon in the magnificence of his toilette and vocal power, and J. R. Kemble basso and interlocutor, will appear. The trapeze act of Miss Lottie, in which she is ably assisted by her brother Frank, has created a perfect furore. It will be repeated every night during the present week.

Platt's Music Hall.

Dr. Healy's bright and varied entertainment entitled "Hibernian Gems," will commence a season at this house to-night. Eighty-five views of Ireland will be exhibited, a descriptive lecture will be delivered by Dr. Healy, and between the views, dramatic sketches will be acted and ballads sung by John Moran, Miss Rose O'Reilly, Miss Jennie Moran, Miss Norah O'Brien, and Wally Price, character actor and vocalist. A list of the views and full programme of the musical and dramatic entertainment may be seen by referring to our first page. There will be a matinee every Wednesday and Saturday.

Bella Union Theatre.

Both Miss Lizzie Watson and Harry Braham who made their first appearance in California, at this house last night, were very successful. Miss Lizzie Watson has a good voice and a very artistic style of singing: She was much applauded and frequently encored. Harry Braham is a character vocalist of decided merit; he introduced a number of funny personages to the audience and caused much laughter. These artistes will appear again to-night in conjunction with Miss Kate Raymond, O. B. Collins and others whose names appear on our first page. The play for to-night will be "The French Spy" which drew crowded houses last week.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

A very bright and varied performance is given at this house by a company comprising Johnny Tuers Edward Barry, Frank Mortimore and a host of other popular favorites.

PLATT'S MUSIC HALL—GRAND PANORAMA. "Dr. Healy's Hibernian Gems," is the title of a very popular Eastern entertainment that will open at Platt's Hall, on Monday August 24th. It consists of 85 large and beautifully painted views of the cities, scenery and historical ruins of Ireland. These views will be interspersed with short and lively dramatic sketches acted by Mr John Moran better known as "Barney the Guide," Miss Rose O'Reily, Miss Jennie Moran, Miss Norah O'Brien, Mr. Wally Price and others. The descriptive lecturer will be given by Dr. John Healy, lecturer and tourist.

PICNIC OF THE GERMANIA RIFLES.—This, one of the most popular of our German Military Companies, will hold a Grand Picnic and Festival at the City Gardens, on Sunday, August 30th. The Picnic will be for the benefit of the Benevolent Fund of the company, and there will be a grand rally. Amusements of every kind will be the order of the day. The ladies who have earnestly espoused the cause, will hold a grand raffle, and in the evening, a splendid Ball will given in the Pavilion. The officers of the company have pledged themselves to make this the finest Picnic of the season. The Germania Rifles, will be escorted to the Gardens by delegations of Military Companies.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Notes.

"La Traviata," was performed at the California Theatre, last night, for the benefit of Signorina Adelina Speranza. Signor Pietro Bacci appeared as Alfredo and Signor Marra as Georgio Germont. The house was crowded to overflowing, and the benefit was a well-deserved testimonial to a thorough artiste.

Miss Lotta will appear at Piper's Opera House, Virginia City, during the present week.

Maguire's Dramatic Company will open at the Metropolitan Theatre, Sacramento, this evening.

The Evening Telegram, the evening edition of the Herald, has the following notice of George Darrell who came here from Australia, and was very popular: "Mr. George Darrell, the actor-author, who recently created such a favorable impression on our theatre-going public during an engagement at the Bowery Theatre, has written an original society play under the title of "Her Face, Her Fortune," which he has readily disposed of to a lady star, who finds it peculiarly suited to her qualities as an actress. Mr. Darrell, who comes from Australia, is almost entirely unknown to American audiences, but his success at the Bowery, in one of his own plays, has secured him several lucrative engagements already, the first one commencing on the 17th instant, at Albany.

Dental Work.

The Handwriting on the Wall.

The Stockton Leader tells the following: Some of us do persist in employing Chinese help, in spite of all the annoyances that they give. But a very few of our citizens were perhaps aware, that the little slips of red paper, on which Chinese characters would be written or marked, and which are wasted on the cellar door, or wood-shed, or pantry locker were actually a tersely condensed report of their treatment by their masters in the house, so that in case they get discharged, the succeding "John" could know all about his future bosses beforehand. A little instance that occurred the other day at an elegant residence on ——, well, we won't tell the name of the street for fear of offending the Herald, illustrated "the ways that are dark and tricks that are vain," of our Mongolian brethren. A gentleman who had considerable trouble with his help, engaged a new cook yesterday. The man appeared delighted with his new place until he went into the cellar after some wood, when glancing at a placard that was pasted on the door, he turned not pale—but green—and with a hop, skip and a jump, he ran through the house into the street. On being followed by the master of the house, who asked him what was the matter, he replied: "Me no wantee here stop—woman here talkee bad—quick, long tongue—pay no money—workee all day—me go." And he went.

Watering Place Ladies.

A correspondent of the St. Louis Globe writing from Newport, remarks regarding the ladies of that watering place: The majority of them are from Boston, Philadelphia, and New York, whose respective traits are easily detected in the feminine representatives. The Bostonian is the most self-satisfied; the Philadelphian, the most reserved; the New Yorker the most self-possessed. The first is defiant in her provincialism; the second is in a little doubt of herself, as her primness and reticence denote; the third is assured of her cosmopolitalism, and convinced she was born to conquer. The Hub depends on her culture and her tongue; the Quaker City on her lineage and propriety; Manhattan on her individuality, on her capacity to win whosoever she thinks worth her attention.

Orderly People.

There are persons who are never easy unless they are putting your books in order—that is, according to their notions of the matter—and hide things, lest they should be lost, where neither the owner nor anybody else can find them. This is a sort of magpie faculty. If anything is left where you can find it, it is called litter. There is a pedantry in housewifery as well as in the gravest concerns. Sir Walter Scott complained that whenever his maid-servant had been in his library he could not sit comfortably to work again for several days.

A Candid Little Boy.

A teacher, wishing to improve the occasion, said to the boys at the conclusion of a strawberry festival: "Have you enjoyed these berries to-day?" "Yes, sir," "Yes, sir," came from all sides with unmistakable heartiness. "Well, children, if you had seen these berries growing in my garden, and had slipped in through the gate, without my leave, and picked them from the vines, would they have tasted as good as now?" "No, sir," was the prompt reply. "Why not?" "Because," said a wide awake boy, "then we shouldn't have had sugar and cream with 'em."

Persevering Little Boys.

The good old nursery song says "If at first you don't succeed, try, try, try again." We hear of two little boys who live in Birmingham, England, who evidently knew and appreciated this song. They pushed a younger boy into the canal three times successively, he twice escaping death by swimming away and crawling out of the water. The last time the youthful murderers went in themselves and held their victim under water till he died.

Principally.

A citizen of a country town, noted for his dishonesty, was lately taken very ill, and becoming alarmed sent for a clergyman, who came to see him, and laid down the divine law to him with great faithfulness and emphasis. The sick man was much affected, and said, "Well, parson, I think you're right, and I've made up my mind that if I get well I shall in the future live principally honest."

A Hard Time.

Dr. Haskell, who has been delivering lectures on temperance throughout the interior for several months, must have had a rather unpleasant experience. He is in Los Angeles now, and says: "This is the first city I have been in, since I started out to lecture, where I have been kindly treated by the press."

What of It?

A religious paper remarks that many of our churches tire of the present mode of conducting the services of song in the house of the Lord. In some cases the singers hardly get the burnt cork off their faces in season for the morning worship. Italians and Jewesses, who sing at the the theatre until midnight on Saturday at a heavy salary, appear in the church to praise the Lord.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc. printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

If one wishes to pass an hour or two pleasantly at the game of billiards, no pleasanter place can be found in the city than Chapman & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, Northeast corner Bush and Kearny streets entrance on Bush. From the window a good view can be had of two of our busiest streets Bush and Kearny. Local Option not in force; for the best of Wines, Liquors and Cigars, are served at the bar for 12½ cents. 6-I

The Green Room.

SOLDIERS'
WAR CLAIM AGENCY,
No. 34 Montgomery Block,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
W. H. AIKEN, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW AND Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in California and Nevada, gives special attention to the collection of Additional Travel Pay, now due California and Nevada Volunteers discharged more than three hundred miles from home. Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply, and state company and regiment, and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional Bounty and Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 2d, 1861, for three years, if not paid to same when discharged. Land Warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained. And increased when allowed for war claim disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed to Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted Pensions to our living veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. H. Aiken also attends to General Law and Court business. jy28-6f

A Hazy Crowd.

The persons composing the Investigating (whitewashing?) Committee in the Beecher case are represented as "all honorable men." They appear to us a very low pack. The last thing they did was to get Bessie, Tilton's adopted daughter, before them and ask her opinion of Mr. Tilton's morals. The girl testified that she once saw Susan B. Anthony sitting on Tilton's knee. This didn't suit the Committee. There couldn't be any immorality about that, though there might be an excess of Christian love and charity. So they said tell us something about Mrs. Cady Stanton, tell us something "improper" about her and Tilton. The girl said she never saw Tilton caressing Mrs. Stanton, but they used to sit up late and play chess. A nice business these honorable gentlemen have gone into. Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton, that charming, loveable old lady whom no one who loves goodness can fail to love at first sight is to be dragged into this mess! It would take a good deal more evidence to make us believe one word against the fair fame of this excellent lady than to convince us that the popular preacher of Plymouth Church gratified every desire of his nature regardless of laws of religion and morality.

Too Much to Expect.

Senator Jones is expected to arrive in San Francisco in a few days. Contrary to the expectations of the rival editors of the Post, he will not bring that Bullock press with him. It would scarcely be worth while to buy a new press for the Post if it is to be run in future as it has been of late. Harry George's liberal views could scarcely keep a paper afloat as long as it is burdened with Beecher, Temperance and the English Agricultural laborer. Senator Jones has no hobby of his own and can scarcely be expected to buy expensive harness for the hobbies of other people.

A Queer Dish.

The Chronicle among its "Household Receipts" or "House, Farm and Garden," or somewhere else says it has been asked what is the best stuffing for horses feet, and replies:

"Take of common tar, two parts; soft soap, one part; linseed meal sufficient to give tenacity to the mass."

We don't think this can be nice, though it may be nourishing. We wouldn't stuff calves' feet in this way. We may have made mistakes, but we think this was written by the Chronicle's own cook.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Spring Style Hats.

Light, beautifully finished and graceful in shape, the new Spring style of Hats manufactured at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street (second hat store below Kearny street), is just the thing to make a man look a hundred per cent. better. A volume is shortly to appear entitled "The Crimes of the Ministry."

Epitaph on the Evening Post: "Rum's Doings."

Wilkes' Spirit explains that actors don' really kiss each other on the stage, after all!

A bank cashier eloped with the soprano of a fashionable church in New York the other day. She admired his notes and he admired her's.

The telegraph companies might have the decency to enclose death telegrams in black-edged envelopes. It would make the blow less sudden.

They ejected a man from a Long Branch ball-room the other night merely because he wanted to pray to the dancers.

The latest alliterative attempt of the Call's critic is "made the colored crescent coruscant with wit."

The Baltimore Saturday Night says: The familiar face of Miss Lisle Lester, whilom "lady reporter" of the "Evening News," is missed in the purlieus of the City Courts, and the gatherings about the Altar of Hymen. On dit she has gone to Brazil on a mission for the New York Tribune. Heaven be praised!

Fashionable wine-drinking in Boston having declined sixty per cent., according to Dio Lewis, dealers should govern their sales according.

The Call critic was disappointed in the Vokeses. It is safe to say that he is the only man who saw them who was. The Call critic is in a chronic state of disappointment.

The pet name applied to Mrs. Beecher is "the Griffin of the Heights."

It is predicted that Paris fashions will not change radically in form, while the political situation remains unchanged.

Plymouth Church is one of the best paying places of amusement in the country. Half a million dollars would not be too much to spend to sustain the reputation of its star preacher. Hence the verdict.

Saratoga is the paradise of shoddy; families of good blood and breeding generally prefer Newport.

How she loved him! Read Mrs. Tilton's letters.

Opera in Dresden.

A correspondent of Dexter Smith's paper says: Last evening we attended the opera—German opera—and presuming upon the musical reputation of the people, anticipated much pleasure. But, alas for the opera in Dresden! In the first place, the theatre itself was more like a barn, with its rafters and timbers exposed, than like a temple of the drama. Barnum would throw up a better temporary place of exhibition for his circus in a country village. As to the vocalism, it was simply ridiculous, and the acting a caricature. The orchestra was passably good, but the performance, as a whole, was execrable.

"Hard Up" Men.

The Leader says: There are twenty-nine tramps knocking around Stockton. They all hang out at Aliskys', not a thousand miles from the corner of American and Main. They are all apparently looking for work, but none of them want it. A farmer dismounted from a well-fed, sleek looking nag, to-day, at Aliskys' and asked: "Any ploughmen here?" "No." "Any man going sheep-farming?" "No." "Any one that can drive a horse?" "No." "Well, by Josh all-hemlock, what can you do boys?" "Well Sur"—was the response by a dozen voices, "We kood ate a square meale!"

Johnny Thompson's Style.

A great many of our readers will remember a negro minstrel of the name of Johnny Thompson, who played an engagement at the Olympic Melodeon, and was affectionately designated by those who knew him best "The Lively Fraud." This Mr. Thompson, last Fall, engaged a company in New York, to travel in the Western States. In one of the small towns in the West, about the time of the panic, business became so dull that the "lively fraud" shut up the theatre. One of the company approached him and said, "Well, Johnny, what are you going to do?" "What'm gwan to do I'm gwan to sherry my nibbs to York, that's what'm gwan to do," replied the nigger commedian. "But," remonstrated the other, "the company are all here without money to get away with. Two of the women are at the hotel with no money to pay their board, and their baggage will be seized." "I can't help it," replied the "lively fraud," "I an't got no money." His interviewer, glancing at the brilliant pin which shone in the shirt front of Thompson, and represented nearly $1,000, said, "Johnny, that pin doesn't look as if you were dead broke. You might do something for the people you have brought so far away from home." "W-h-a-a-a-a-t!" yelled the minstrel, "Hock my sparkers for a lot of duffers, not much, I won't," and he sherried his nibbs to York," leaving the people whom he had engaged, to starve for all he earned.

Rough on Sothern.

When Sothern was in Chicago he telegraped to V. Beamer, the manager of the Academy of Music, and Library Hall, Pittsburgh, to ascertain on what terms he could have the latter place. The Trustees of Library Hall, are very particular as to the class of entertainment they allow. Mr. Beamer being out of town the janitor of the Hall opened the dispatch signed "Sothern" and telegraphed back "What is the nature of your entertainment?" When Mr. Beamer returned, the janitor showed him Sothern's telegram, and copy of answer sent. Mr. Beamer immediately wrote to Sothern, telling him the dates and terms on which he could have the Hall. Mr. Sothern replied tersely that as "He was so little known in Pittsburgh, he didn't think he would appear there; at least, until the public of Pittsburgh had heard something of him."

Watering Place Ladies.

A correspondent of the St. Louis Globe writing from Newport, remarks regarding the ladies of that watering place: The majority of them are from Boston, Philadelphia, and New York, whose respective traits are easily detected in the feminine representatives. The Bostonian is the most self-satisfied; the Philadelphian, the most reserved; the New Yorker the most self-possessed. The first is defiant in her provincialism; the second is in a little doubt of herself, as her primness and reticence denote; the third is assured of her cosmopolitalism, and convinced she was born to conquer. The Hub depends on her culture and her tongue; the Quaker City on her lineage and propriety; Manhattan on her individuality, on her capacity to win whosoever she thinks worth her attention.

Persevering Little Boys.

The good old nursery song says "If at first you don't succeed, try, try, try again." We hear of two little boys who live in Birmingham, England, who evidently knew and appreciated this song. They pushed a younger boy into the canal three times successively, he twice escaping death by swimming away and crawling out of the water. The last time the youthful murderers went in themselves and held their victim under water till he died.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Maguire's New Theatre.

The spectacular drama of "The Devil's Magnet" was produced last night with new and gorgeous scenery and new variety business. The transformation scene with which the evening's entertainment closes is quite novel and in many respect surpasses that of "The Black Crook." The audience lingered after the curtain had fallen and demanded another view of the beautiful scene. The Runnels Family appeared in a new act, O. E. Dobson did magical things with his banjo, Miss Frankie Etta appeared in a new dance, Master Bonnie Runnels was encored repeatedly in his comic specialties, Miss Jeannette Proscher charmed all with her new dances, and the old time chant of old Sam Simons was given with good effect by Mrs. Langrishe, J. S. Langrishe, Miss Annie Mahon and W. J. Gross. The new bill is likely to prove quite as satisfactory if not more so than "The Black Crook," and should be enjoyed by all during the present week, which is the last of the season.

Opera House.

This house was crammed last night, and a splendid entertainment was given. Billy Emerson appeared to good advantage in the first part and also in the interlude. Ernest Linden, the new burlesque prima donna, has a most musical falsetto voice, dresses magnificently and burlesques the style of the singers of the day, both operatic and variety hall, in the most amusing manner. J. R. Kemble gave the audience a taste of his quality in "The Clock-Maker's Hat," and established his reputation as a very amusing comedian. Miss Lottie, assisted by her Brother Frank, performed her unequaled and thrilling trapeze act, and the performance concluded with "The Comedy of Errors," in which J. R. Kemble, Con. T. Murphy, Ben Cotton, Billy Arlington and Ernest Linden all appeared. The piece went screamingly. The same bill will be performed to-night.

California Theatre.

There was a capital house last night, when the Vokeses entered upon the second week of their engagement. The performance commenced with the charming comedietta of "Naval Engagements," judiciously cast to the full strength of the company. Henry Edwards played Admiral Kingston, Barton Hill Lieutenant Kingston, Robert Pateman Dennis, William Barry Short, Miss Bella Pateman Miss Mary Mortimer, and Mrs. Judah Mrs. Pontifex. It is needless to say that the piece was excellently well played. After this came "Fun in a Fog," which, in the opinion of many, is even "more excellent fooling" than "The Belles of the Kitchen." Fred Vokes certainly has more chance to display his comic talents than in the first named piece, but on the other hand Miss Rosina Vokes cannot be as funny as she is in the character of Barbara. One thing is certain, that the audience were kept laughing from the time the curtain rose until it fell on the final scene. Fred Vokes' impersonation of the weak-minded and sorely sea-sick Percival Postlethwaite, is one of the best bits of comic acting ever seen on the stage. There was nothing coarse or over-strained about it, his sufferings were delicately suggested to the audience, and the efforts he seemingly made to conceal them provoked roars of laughter. Fawdon Vokes was very amusing as Dan the valet, Miss Victoria Vokes acted well and sang and danced splendidly in the character of Grace Gaybird, Miss Jessie Vokes filled the role of Ella Hamilton cleverly, and Miss Rosina Vokes fairly brought down the house by her war dance in Indian costume, in which, by the by, she looked more bewitching than ever. This excellent bill will be repeated this evening.

Platt's Music Hall.

This hall was well filled last night both up stairs and down stairs. The first exhibition of Dr. Healy's Hibernian Gems proved a decided success. The pictures are pretty and correct, the lecture is concise and entertaining, and the songs, dramatic sketches, dances and comic scenes are decidedly popular. John Moran is a capital Irish comedian; he was encored again and again, the audience seeming desirous that he should sing and dance for them the evening through. Miss Rose O'Reilly has a good voice and won much applause for her songs. Wally Price made a hit in a serio comic song, extolling the one virtue of the late Jim Fisk viz., that "he never went back on the poor," and he and the indefatigable Moran appeared as "The Mulligan Guards." The entertainment was altogether a very lively one and will doubtless draw crowded houses for many nights to come.

Bella Union Theatre.

Extraordinary attractions are presented at this popular variety theatre. Miss Kate Raymond and O. B. Collins appear to immense advantage in "The French Spy," and Miss Lizzie Watson and Harry Braham are already great favorites. The former sings admirably and has made a hit in Irish songs, the latter is as funny in his facial contortions as Kenebel, and sings comic songs capitally. The programme, which comprises many other good things, is published on our first page.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

"Clamcel" in which Johnny Thurs is unrivalled, "Hotel Runners," "Going to the Races" and "The Double Bedded Room" are some of the acts to be performed to-night at this popular place of amusement, besides which, a full first part and a great variety of songs, ballads and dances will be given.

Mechanics' Institute Fair.

All San Francisco is going to the Fair. The attendance is immense. Thousands of people visited the pavilion yesterday. Beautiful works of art, fine music, and a crowd are sufficient inducements to anyone. Everybody will be there again to-day.

Woodward's Gardens.

On Saturday and Sunday, the Bedouin Arabs, who have been re-engaged, will perform their great act of turning somersaults over a bridge of bayonets, form wonderful living pyramids, and do other unprecedented feats. Everybody should see the Arabs.

PICNIC OF THE GERMANIA RIFLES.—This one of the most popular of our German Military Companies, will hold a Grand Picnic and Festival at the City Gardens, on Sunday, August 30th The Picnic will be for the benefit of the Benevolent Fund of the company, and there will be a grand rally. Amusements of every kind will be the order of the day. The ladies who have earnestly espoused the cause, will hold a grand raffle, and in the evening, a splendid Ball will given in the Pavilion. The officers of the company have pledged themselves to make this the finest Picnic of the season. The Germania Rifles, will be escorted to the Gardens by detachments of Military

NO AND YES.

BY THEODORE TILTON.

I watched her at her spinning;
And this was my beginning
Of wooing and of winning.

But when a maid opposes,
And throws away your roses,
You say the case forecloses.

Yet sorry wit one uses,
Who loves and thinks he loses,
Because a maid refuses.

For by her once denying
She only means complying
Upon a second trying.

When first I said, in pleading,
"Behold my love lies bleeding!"
She heard me half unheeding.

When afterward I told her
And blamed her growing colder—
She dropped upon my shoulder.

Had I doubt? That quelled it—
Her very look dispelled it,
I caught her hand and held it.

Along the lane I led her,
And while her cheeks grew redder,
I sought outright to wed her.

Good end from bad beginning!
My wooing came to winning—
And still I watch her spinning.

A Dilapidated Michigander.

The Detroit Free Press is responsible for the following: "Be you on the police force?" inquired a dilapidated man as he entered the Central Station, Saturday, and addressed a sergeant. He was informed that such was the case, when he continued: "Well, I'm clean tuckered out. It's that wife of mine. I'm a fool—a blasted old fool, sir! I'm fifty and she's twenty."

"She wants to gad and I want to stay at home, and if I say a word it's the teapot, flat-iron, or whatever comes handy. I have argued, and scolded, and scolded and fit, and here I am. Look at this black eye! Look at me all over, mister police force! Once I was happy, now I am busted. She wants me to go to every picnic and excursion and festival and dance, and its killing me by inches."

"Then she wants a new dress to-day, a bonnet to-morrow, a bustle next day, and so on, and I've got to get 'em or have a fight. I've stood it all along, but I'm broken now. See that 'ere arm—see where she put her teeth in thar this morning when I would not let her have money to buy a pair of high-heeled shoes. Just lay yer eyes on that air scar, mister police force."

"It's pretty tough," said the sergeant, as he looked.

"Tough! Great heavens! it's awful, perfectly awful to bite me in that way," continued the old man. "But the end has come. I've got relashuns over thar who wouldn't see me abused, and she's welcome to what's in the house. If any one comes around here sayin' I've committed suicide or disappeared, just tell them how it is, mister police force—tell 'em I suffered and suffered until I had to leave her to die. Tell everybody to beware of her; she looks nice, but she's a virago, a hipercrit—a regular yaller fox behind the currant bushes."

The sergeant promised, and the old man rolled down his sleeves and pursued his journey toward the ferry.

What of It?

A religious paper remarks that many of our churches tire of the present mode of conducting the services of song in the house of the Lord. In some cases the singers hardly get the burnt cork off their faces in season for the morning worship. Italians and Jewesses, who sing at the the theatre until midnight on Saturday at a heavy salary, appear in the church to praise the Lord.

Re-Opened.

The Hot Scotch Saloon, 336 Sutter street, between Kearny and Montgomery, has been purchased by Capt. Geo. Caleb and Thos W. Reid and thoroughly renovated. It will be opened on Wednesday evening, the 26th inst., with first-class Liquors of all kinds. Chowder every evening as usual.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here;
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a T."
So sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply, and state company and regiment, and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional Bounty and Pay to Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 2d, 1861, for three years, if not paid to same who discharged. Land Warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed to Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted Pensions to surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. H. The Assassin Dramatist.

The New York Dispatch has the following which we suspect has some reference to the author of "Dust and Diamonds:" Has anybody seen the corpses of slaughtered dramatic critics lying around loose in Union Square? A great but unappreciated American dramatist threatened a few nights ago to shoot five or six dramatic critics. He ought to go about the shooting at once. The Beecher sensation is played out, and the newspapers want something startling to take its place. "The Assassin Dramatist," "The Bloody Ink Slinger," "The Demon Paper Spoiler," "The Fiendish Playwright," "The Actor's Horror," etc. would be pleasant titles for the dramatist to glide over in his cell. And his trial would do what none of his plays ever did—draw full houses.

Is Cheerful.

Some of our particular friends who are in the habit, when they find a customer, of placing too high an estimate upon their stock, may profit by the following conversation between two parties in an adjacent county town: "Bob, that's a fine horse you have there; how much is he worth?" "Three hundred and fifty dollars." "Not so much as that." "Yes, every cent of it, and another fifty on the top of it." "Are you sure?" "Yes, I'd swear to it." "All right." "Why are you so inquisitive?" "Merely for assessing purposes. I am Assessor for this Ward, and I only wanted to know at what you rated your nag."

A Blunder.

A blunder in what was intended for a pretty speech was perpetrated by a dignitary of the Episcopal Church, who, after marrying a pair, partook of the wedding breakfast. In the speech which he of course would make, he said: "We cannot, I am sure, do better than express a desire that the result of their union may prove strictly analogous to that of the parents of the fair bride." A scene ensued, in the midst of which he sat down discomfited. His next-door neighbor whispered: "She is not their daughter, but a neice who came to live with them when her own father and mother were divorced."

Very Likely Not.

Miss Anthony denies that Tilton ever let her sit on his knee. She says moreover that Bessie is half an idiot, and that Mrs. Tilton had repeatedly said she could not teach her the first elements of "truth." Perhaps some one else might have been more successful. Mrs. Tilton has been telling "stories" herself at a great rate lately. However, Miss Bessie was just the witness the Committee required. Wanted six half idiots, or three whole ones, without any regard for the truth to Mackenzie Tilton and whitewash Beecher.

A Good Record.

A family servant, who died in New York city lately, is mentioned in the obituary column of a morning paper as the "faithful servant and friend of the family of the late Governor Van Ness for sixty years." Think of that, ye housekeepers who change servants every month.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell your," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Death of John Collins.

The death of John Collins was announced by telegraph on the day following its occurrence. We take the following from the Philadelphia All Day City Item, dated August 15th:

On Thursday night, about 12 o'clock, Mr. John Collins, the well-known Irish comedian, expired at his residence in this city, having been ill some months. He was born at Lecan, near Dublin, Ireland, in 1811, and was in his sixty-third year at the time of his death. His attention was turned to the stage in early life, and at the age of eighteen he proceeded to London to study for the profession of his choice. Gifted with a good voice, he made his debut as first tenor in an English opera troupe at the Haymarket Theatre, where he made a great hit as Captain MacHeath, in the "Beggar's Opera." He was soon persuaded, however, to Irish comedy, and in this new field was successful from the start. Tyrone Power, the unrivalled delineator of the eccentric Irish gentleman of the old school, unfortunately been lost on the steamer President, and Mr. Collins found a hearty welcome in the roles which had ceased for a time to have a capable exponent. A decided success at home led him to try his fortunes in this country, and he made his first appearance before an American audience at the Park Theatre, New York, on the 14th August, 1846, as McShane in Boyle Bernard's farce of "The Nervous Man and the Man of Nerve."

On the 31st of August, 1846, he made his first appearance before a Philadelphia audience, in "The Nervous Man," and as Teddy Meloney in "Teddy the Tyler," Mr. Collins achieved as decided a success in this country as at home, and speedily became a great favorite. In addition to the parts already named, he was remarkably successful in such as Paddy Rooney in "The Happy Man," Sir Patrick O'Plenipo in "The Irish Ambassador," and O'Callahan in "His Last Legs." He was almost the last of the school of actors who have achieved success in genteel eccentric Irish comedy. He adhered to Power's repertoire through most of his career, and played it longer than any actor who has ever attempted that line of business.

After making the rounds of this country many times with great success, drawing crowded houses wherever he appeared, he made a visit to England in the Fall of 1852, which he repeated in 1864, and two years later he went to Australia on a professional tour. Of late years his most decided success was achieved in "Paul Clifford," and up to within a recent period he has occasionally been seen on the stage, maintaining, despite his advancing years, the activity, energy, and sprightliness of middle life.

Mr. Collins will long be remembered by our old play-goers for the hearty enjoyment received at his hands. In this city, where he had his home, he was a universal favorite in a large circle of friends, among whom his death will create general regret.

Plymouth Church a Club House.

In "Gath's" interview with Tilton, he asked the latter, "What is Plymouth church anyway?" "Well," said Tilton, "it is a kind of club-house, with female attendants. There are 2,200 members. There are about fifty very rich and cordial men in the church who look on it in the light of a social club. They are generally worldly men, who like Beecher and the snappy, smartish things he has to say, his humor and his company; and they put up their money, rejoice in the institution, and otherwise play poker, go to the theatre, or what not. Beecher is a magnificent preacher, full of such things which touch the sensibilities of people, and a vast mass of women go there for their souls to be comforted and made good. Now put these two elements together, the warmth and belief of all these women, the wealth and public spirit of those men, and you can make, in a detached, Gallian town like Brooklyn, an institution equal to a merchants' exchange. There are plenty of men belonging to Plymouth Church who do not care whether Beecher is a debauchee or not.

A Man of Few Words.

"Waiter!"

"Sir!" replied the waiter.

"Waiter, I am a man of few words, and I don't like to be continually ringing the bell and disturbing the house; I'll thank you to pay attention to what I say, and to remember that although there are three ways of doing things, I only like one way, in those who have subordinate stations and minds. In the first place, bring me a glass of brandy and water (cold), with a little sugar, and also a teaspoon; wipe down this table, throw some coals on the fire, and sweep down the hearth; bring me in a couple of candles, pen, ink and paper, some wafers, and a little sealing-wax; tell the hostler to take care of my horse, dress him well, stop his feet, and let me know when he is ready to feed; order the chambermaid to prepare me a good bed, take care that the sheets are well aired, and a glass of water in the room; send the boots with a pair of slippers that I can walk to the stable in; tell him I must have my boots cleaned and brought into the room to-night, and that I shall want to be called at five o'clock in the morning; ask your mistress what I can have for supper; tell her I should like a roast duck, or something of that sort; desire your master to step in, I want to ask him a few questions; send me the directory; change this five dollars' worth of stamps into bills, none of them to be worn; when does the mail arrive with the letters, and what time before midnight does the mail leave?—just tell me what time it is by the clock on the landing, and leave the room.

New York Treatment of Thiefs.

In the Sixth District Court of Brooklyn, Justice Semler, the following case came before the Court:

Judge—Timothy St. John, (in answer, a forlorn specimen of humanity presented himself.) You are charged with being drunk in the public streets.

St. John—Well, your honor, I am subject to chills and the ague, and in that condition, one can easily be mistaken for being drunk, and mine is no exception.

Judge—Officer, how about this man?

Officer—He was traveling along the streets in a maudlin state and wishing for some more gin. I felt sorry for him and took him in.

Judge—You were here before me not long ago.

St. John—Yes, sir, Judge. I have had a chill ever since then, and I have one now.

Judge—I guess you're a pretty hard case, and I'll send you for ten days to Raymond Street Jail to recuperate and get that chill off, and if you are brought before me again I'll send you for twenty-nine days; take him down.

Perfectly Justifiable.

The Hartford Post gives this notice to a young man: "The young man who came into this office, this morning, sat down on a box, and then bounced up with a yell and fled like one bewitched, is requested to return four long brass tacks that were on the box when he took his seat. No questions will be asked—we understand it all; but we want those tacks—we have use for them. That box is specially devoted to parties who not only read our exchanges, but spirit them away, and the tacks are what we depend on for excitement.

Provoking.

Youthful simplicity is beautiful, but it may become exasperating. A school teacher wishing his pupils to have a clear idea of faith, illustrated it thus: "Here is an apple you see it, and therefore know that it is is there; but when I place it under this tea cup you have faith that it is there, though you no longer see it." The lads seemed to understand perfectly and the next time the teacher asked them, "What is faith?" they answered with one accord, "An apple under a tea cup!"

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Opera House.

Billy Emerson in first part and interlude, Ernest Linden in prima donna impersonations and afterpiece, J. R. Kemble in two acts, the wonderful Lottie in her great trapeze act, and numerous other attractions are offered to-night. In order get seats it is necessary to go early.

California Theatre.

To-night the capital play of "Naval Engagements" will be performed and the Vokeses will appear in their amusing extravaganza of "Fun in a Fog."

Maguire's New Theatre.

This week is the last of the season of spectacular plays at this house. "The Devil's Magnet" should certainly draw well during the remaining nights of the week. The transformation scene is of itself an attraction that should fill the house.

Platt's Music Hall.

Dr. Healy's "Hibernian Gems," consisting of eighty-five views of Ireland, and Irish songs, sketches, dances and character impersonations, will be exhibited at the matinee to-day and again this evening. John Moran is one of the liveliest Irish comedians ever seen, and Wally Price is a great favorite. In consequence of Platt's Hall being engaged for to-morrow night there will be no performance by the Healy troupe.

Bella Union Theatre.

Miss Kate Raymond and O. B. Collins in "The French Spy," Miss Lizzie Watson in her bouquet of melodies, Harry Braham in comic songs, Cook and Hart in "The O'Shaughnessy Guard," and many other attractions are offered for this evening.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

Johnny Tuers in song and dance, Frank Mortimore in acts, Miss Ida Fisk in banjo solos, and a host of other favorites in various specialties will appear to-night.

Mechanics' Institute Fair.

All San Francisco is going to the Fair. The attendance is immense. Thousands of people visited the pavilion yesterday. Beautiful works of art, fine music, and a crowd are sufficient inducements to anyone. Everybody will be there again to-day.

Woodward's Gardens.

On Saturday and Sunday, the Bedouin Arabs, who have been re-engaged, will perform their great act of turning somersaults over a bridge of bayonets, form wonderful living pyramids, and do other unprecedented feats. Everybody should see the Arabs.

PICNIC OF THE GERMANIA RIFLES.—This one of the most popular of our German Military Companies, will hold a Grand Picnic and Festival at the City Gardens, on Sunday, August 30th The Picnic will be for the benefit of the Benevolent Fund of the company, and there will be a grand rally. Amusements of every kind will be the order of the day. The ladies who have earnestly espoused the cause, will hold a grand raffle, and in the evening, a splendid Ball will given in the Pavilion. The officers of the company have pledged themselves to make this the finest Picnic of the season. The Germania Rifles, will be escorted to the Gardens by delegations of Military Companies.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Removal.

Dr. George F. Thomas, has removed his Consultation Rooms, to 420 Kearny street, near California. The Dr. treats all private diseases of every form, with the utmost skill. 8-x

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here;
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.
CHARLES HAAKE, Proprietor.

Re-Opened.

The Hot Scotch Saloon, 336 Bush street, between Kearny and Montgomery, has been purchased by Capt. Geo. Caleb and Thos W. Reid and thoroughly renovated. It will be opened on Wednesday evening, the 26th inst., with first-class Liquors of all kinds. Chowder every evening as usual.

The New Mint Restaurant.

For Oysters that will melt in your mouth, for delicious Stakes and Chops, for a splendid Dinner, go to the New Mint Restaurant and Oyster Saloon, 1016 Market street, opposite Fifth street. Families supplied with California and Eastern Oysters. 7-bg

New Wine and Oyster House.

Mr. A. Freeman, formerly under the California Theatre, has opened his new Wine and Oyster House, at 228 Sutter street opposite the Cen-

THE UNKNOWN DEITY.

There stood an altar in a lonely wood,
And over was a veiled deity,
And no man dared to raise the veiling hood,
Nor any knew what god they then should see.

Yet many passed to gaze upon the thing,
And all who passed did sacrifice and prayer
Lest the unknown, not rightly honoring,
Some great god they should anger unaware.

And each one thought this hidden god was he
Whom he desired in his most secret heart,
And prayed for that he longed for most to be—
Gifts there was no fixed godhead to impart.

Nor prayed in vain, for prayers scarce breathed in word
Were straight fulfilled, and every earthly Ether
Showered down on men, till half the world had heard
And left all ancient gods to worship this.

But Jove, in anger at his rites unpaid,
Tore off the veil with one fierce tempest-breath,—
Lo! that to which all men their vows had made
Shuddering they saw was their fell foeman, Death.

And all forgot the blessings they had had,
And all forsook the kindly carven stone.
'Tis now a shapeless block; the Zephyrs sad—
None else—their mightly prayers around it moan. —All the Year Round,

Feminine Vagaries.

If to her share some female errors fall,
Look on her face, and you'll forget them all.

A fashionable lady says her husband is the latest thing out.

Fresh and beautiful and over sixty years of age is the latest description of Bismarck's wife.

A very slight difference—That between a fashionable woman's ball-room toilet and her bath-room toilet.

A young lady in Des Moines put vitriol on her scalp to take dandruff off, and what scalp she has left doesn't bother her any.

The new "La Belle Kellogg" shoe has quarters of patent leather, with sandal, fronts of black kid, inlaid with bands of blue silk.

The latest style for carriage boots are tops of heavy corded silk, embroideries of seed-jets, bows of silk, and Louise Quinze heels.

Anna Dickinson says that no true gentleman will wear a paper collar. She probably thinks a pair of spurs is all the apparel a fellow wants.

A new importation of Parisian handkerchiefs provides a deep hem, set in with a few rows of colored silk or linen in old-fashioned "cat stitch."

A wealthy English widow, whose passion is small feet, offers to marry the man who is over five feet tall, and can wear her shoe, number threes.

Women sometimes get high, but Mrs. Roster tops them all. She has climbed to the summit of Popocatapel, the greatest altitude ever attained by a woman.

Rosa Bonheur is fifty-two years old, and unmarried. She rejoices with a subdued joy that no man has ever been able to divide her pure and unselfish love for cattle.

Caution to young men, Because you find a young lady playing the piano in the parlor it is no sign that her mother is not at the corner grocery running in debt for a peck of potatoes.

The Power of Love.

Not while one human heart beats will the tales of woman's devotion to the objects of her affection cease to be told. In the absence of our poet we will attempt to note in sober prose, an instance of this devotion in the Chicago fire. A woman with heart-strings torn with agony, watched the roof of her house glowing with prodigious flames. Those dear to her still remained in the building; was it any wonder that her eye lighted with an almost maniac glare; and her frantic movements showed all the torture she was enduring? It was too much—too much. Before the alarmed bystanders could stop her she had rushed desperately into the flaming house, animated by a heroic self-sacrifice. Let us rejoice that it was rewarded. She emerged unharmed, carrying in her noble arms the innocent creatures she had saved—four cats howling and clawing like mad.

Boston Politeness.

"Will you kindly rise, sir, and allow me to take my hat from under you?" said one gentleman to another at a recent Boston concert. "I'm sorry to interrupt your enjoyment of the sonata, but you've sat upon the hat through two movements, and as the last two are very long and quite exciting, the hat might suffer from your appreciation of the music."

Spring Style Hats.

Light, beautifully finished and graceful in shape, the new Spring style of Hats manufactured at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street (second hat store below Kearny street), is just the thing to make a man look a hundred per cent. better. Don't wear a shabby old hat. Go to "The Hat Store" for a new one. Prices reduced. 8-v

Music Hath Charms.

Stalls 39 and 40 are occupied by Kerlin & Hassard, dealers in fruits, vegetables, etc., of the best and freshest. Delivered free of charge.

Stall 3, makes a magnificent show of fresh meats. Jos. O. de Volt & Co., wholesale and retail dealers, have one of the nicest stalls in the market. Restaurants and families will find it to their advantage to give them a call.

Stalls 74 and 75 are taken by the pioneer Poultry and Game dealers, Benjamin & Strasser. The finest Poultry and Game, and the Freshest Butter and Eggs in the city. 7-N

BOSTON OYSTER HOUSE.—L. O. Pratt has opened stalls 89 and 90 in Centre Market. Oysters in every style. Chops and Steaks of the choicest. Ladies private rooms up stairs. 7-E

Stalls 91, 92 and 93, have been opened by Anderson & Marshall as the Long Branch oyster house. They are among the oldest oyster men in the city.

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc. printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

If one wishes to pass an hour or two pleasantly at the game of billiards, no pleasanter place can be found in the city toan Chapman & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, Northeast corner Bush and Kearny streets entrance on Bush. From the window a good view can be had of two of our busiest streets Bush and Kearny. Local Option not in force; for the best of Wines, Liquors and Cigars, are served at the bar for 12½ cents. 6-1

The Green Room.

This popular resort of the profession and all epicures who can appreciate good liquors and a good lunch, is directly opposite the California Theatre. It has just been beautifully frescoed and is now a model of taste and elegance. Everybody goes to the Green Room between the acts. 2x

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions, Club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relief by applying at Dr. R. H. Cowan's Institute, removed to 212 Kearny street, from 1 to 6 P.M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. References given if required. 2

W. H. AIKEN, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW AND Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in California and Nevada, gives prompt attention to the collection of Additional Travel Pay, now due California and Nevada Volunteers discharged more than three hundred miles from home. Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply, and state company and regiment, and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional Bounty under Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 2d, 1861, for three years, if not paid the same when discharged. Land Warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed to Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted Pensions to survivors veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. H. Disreputable Foolery.

Dispatches from Sacramento state that Edward Arnott, the leading man of the dramatic company now playing there, and little Sam Genese, the stage manager of the same company, went out early yesterday morning to settle a personal difficulty by fighting a duel. A dispatch says: "Arnott knew before going to the ground that there were to be no bullets in the pistols, and on that condition he agreed to fight, but Genese was in earnest in his intentions." After three shots were fired "Captain Stevens of the police force" put in a pre-arranged appearance and arrested all parties, who were soon after released. That police captain should be broke of his office for his acquiesence in the affair. Mock duels are but pitiful jokes at best; and may be generally set down as profitless affairs to the getters-up thereof. The public are too apt to jump at the conclusion in such cases, that if all the fun was on one side, all the courage was on the other.

Too Bad.

We suppose some one has been raking up the accusation against the Chronicle people, that at the commencement of the trouble between North and South, they were rank secessionists. The senior partner certainly did publish in "The Dramatic Chronicle," of which he was then proprietor, the most virulent secession article which ever saw light in California, but what of that? Let by-gones be by-gones. What makes us fancy that this story is being circulated to the discredit of the Chronicle is, that yesterday, to prove their loyalty, the proprietors caused to be written nearly half a column of railing against Beriah Brown of "the infamous Democratic Press," and a large amount of howling against the wicked and misguided men who believed in secession. It is pretty rough on the Chronicle people to have to do this kind of thing every now and then in order to make the present residents of San Francisco think that they were on the Union side during the war.

One of Sothern's Jokes.

Sothern met the Vokesses in Salt Lake and gave them what information he could about San Francisco. Among other things he told Wardle Corbyn, their agent, on his enquiring about the hotels, that there were several good hotels in the city, but there was one house at which it was the rule for all first-class professional people to put up; the name of it was "The Cliff House!" Wardle Corbyn came here fully intending to take the troupe to that famous hostelry, but Harry Corbyn informed him of its locality and prevented Mr. Sothern's kindly advice being acted on. He said that the Cliff House was an excellent place, but "a little out of the way of the theatres."

"Right you Are."

We clip the following from the San Jose Mercury:

Joe Davis, a race rider, eloped with a married woman from Eastern Oregon, taking her child along, and went to Silver City, Idaho. The deserted husband followed them, recovered the child, and said he had no further use for the woman.—[Exchange.

Probably if he had treated the woman as a wife should be treated, and not as a thing for "further use," as he says, she would never have left him. It is this "use" of women by coarse, animal husbands, that destroys all love, and leads to elopements and all sorts of marital inharmony.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow,
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish bock."

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there. The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated.

DOING AND SAYING.

There is many a man whose life is almost blameless who is looked on with suspicion in the community because he does not profess much. He says he believes in doing to others as he would have them do to him, in never doing anything mean and in having charity for all. These principles are not high enough for some so-called religious people. These gain a reputation for sanctity by their denunciation of the vices of others. They own that they do not succeed in acting up to their principles, but they keep themselves afloat with their professions. They would never be seen talking to a "bad" man or a "bad" woman. The other man who doesn't profess is not apt to consider any man or woman "bad." Nearly anyone is good enough for him to talk to. He is not afraid of being polluted by contact with unrighteous people. Consequently he has no character in the community. He is a man of "lax principles." He says that under certain circumstances he would probably do what the highly virtuous people pronounce wrong. He is a casuist. What is wrong in one man is right in another. It would actually be a sin for some persons to go to the theatre while others can do so innocently. One man may actually become inebriated without committing a mortal sin, while another would imperil his soul by doing so. It is much easier to profess than to practice. Hence many people make up for the vileness of their deeds by the purity of their professions—that is they try to do so. As no two people are exactly alike, each person must be left the right to govern himself according to his conscience. If he infringes on the rights of others, he must be checked, but as regards his own personality he should be free to use or abuse it. Education, will, in course of time, take the place of preaching. Time was when the Church was the only source of education. Some people seem to think that it is so still. The worst of it is, that many seem to imagine that "professing religion" is all that is necessary. We know many men who, professing no named religion, practice religion in their lives. They are scouted by the "religious" world as free-thinkers, infidels, (i. e. men who dare to claim that thought is free, that they have a right to use their own thought instead of that of other men, and who do not believe anything which their reason, God's best revelation to man, teaches them is false,) yet we would rather have dealings with these men whose rule of life is not clearly defined, than with the professors who shudder at the idea of saying anything wrong, yet practice evil in secret. We have here'ofore suffered without remonstrance the publication of FIGARO's sermons by our contemporaries, as those of H. W. Beecher. Under the present circumstances we suggest that this sermon, if duly credited, will have fully as much weight as if it were attributed to the Plymouth preacher.

We Are Glad to Hear It.

The Post having scoffed at a country editor who advertised that he had $50,000 to loan, the San Jose Mercury says:

"The Post seems to incline to the opinion that country editors are, as a rule, poverty-stricken wretches, dependent on old clo' men for raiment, and on the charity of the community for hash. It is all a mistake. Almost any of them can loan you $50,000 as easy as they can $5, and they think no more of a $10 piece than a farmer does of a yoke of cattle. We tell you that the newspaper business pays big in the country, and everybody who touches journalism outside of San Francisco soon counts his coin by the thousands. Why, right here in San Jose, during the last three months, we have had two daily papers started, and after running three or four weeks the proprietors discontinued their work and retired with a fortune. But they were moderate in their desires. After we have made enough here to give all our relatives a $100,000 in a good dividend-paying stock, we intend to move the Mercury to San Francisco and expend a few millions, running a paper for fun."

We hope the Mercury will soon be in a position to be moved. We want a good paper in San Francisco.

Divorce a Saving Power.

There was a funny scene the other day in a magistrate's office, at Pittsburgh, which will bear detailing. The 'squire, who is a good-natured sort of a man, was sitting at his desk wrapped up in the details of the great scandal, when a large-sized colored female entered with the tread of an amateur Lady Macbeth. "Is you de law boss in dis shop?" she inquired. "I am the alderman," he answered, "if that is what you want to know." "Dat's it. I'se an injured woman, and been 'sposed on by a culled woman-puson who cooks on a steamboat." "What is the nature of your complaint?" inquired the magistrate. "Complaint? Why I an't sick boss." "I understand; but what is it that you want me to do for you?" "Do you know Simpson Brutus, who barbers at a shop on Fifth-avenue?" "I do not," said the squire. "Ben, boss, I tole ye. Dat yah Simpson is married to me by de laws of the cullud pusson's church, and I got the stifcate to prove it. Dis mornin' I go down to de boat to see a fren', and I fine Simp sittin' on de capstan with Skimp-eye Mary, de cook what live up in Hayti. Wuss dan dat, boss; he had his arm around her waist and was talking love nonsense which I listened to afore dey seed me. When dey seed me the gal run, and Simp he says to me he was just a foolin'. Now boss I don't want none of dis Bleechton-Tilter business afore de church 'thorities, but I want Simp brot rite to de court-house an' put through." "What charge do you desire to prefer against him?" inquired the Alderman. "Ain't you de 'Squire? What you ax me for? Dat's 'nuff, ain't it, to wake snakes 'bout Simp and skeer dat woman off?" "Do you charge him with desertion, or abandonment, or failing to support you, or do you want a divorce?" "Boss, I tink de last's de best of 'em. Divorce 'im an' den he'll be so sorry an' he'll quit dat oder woman and come and live some like sensible Simp as he always was." This was out of the 'Squire's line of business, and the visitor was referred to the prothonotary's office.

A School of Cookery.

The suggestion is made—and none could well be made more timely—that woman of wealth, fashion and influence imitate the example of English women of rank and fortune, and establish schools of cookery. If their is any one defficiency in our modern life, it is in this department of housekeeping; in fact, among women of fashion the art of house-keeping itself is but little thought of. If men, the heads of families, let their business go to pot in the same way that many women do theirs by letting it all go to the "heap" below stairs, our social and domestic condition would soon show a great deal worse than it does now. But what an essential part of life and health, and of success in business, too, is bound up with good cooking; yet, how few are the women who know even so little about it as the servants in the kitchen. Think of the digestion and spirits of a whole people dependent on the care and skill of housekeepers; yet all entrusted to hirelings whose knowledge of it is simply nothing. There has got to be a social revolution on this subject. Cookery and good house-keeping must be made fashionable. Women may get together to reform social matters as much as they have a mind to, but they will never succeed until they have reformed the present habits of housekeeping.

Oysters.

As strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen!
White mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looms so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a T."
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clam and crabs and terrapins!
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name.
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.

CHARLES HAAKE, Proprietor.

BUSYBODIES.

It is a fact, as I've been told,
That people in the days of old,
Got rich in silver and in gold,
No matter what they bought or sold,
By minding their own business.

They did not try to wound one's fame,
Or slander anybody's name;
They cared not when you went or came,
They pleased themselves—you did the same.
If it was your own business.

And if a man did what was right
In his own mind, and in the sight
Of God and Law, by day and night,
He went ahead and fought the fight,
Determined on his own business.

But in degenerate modern days
There's quite a change in people's ways,
And what a person does or says
Must be held up unto the gaze
Of every busybody.

And if you do not tell them, too,
Where you are going, and what to do,
They get in such an awful stew,
They'll even watch and follow you—
Those very busybodies.

And then they surely think they know
Just when you come and when you go,
And they will whisper, so and so,
To every friend and every foe—
These very busybodies.

But if we take the pains to see
Who these very busybodies be,
We find there's not a he or she
Who has a decent history,
Among these busybodies.

But let us no more notice take
Of evil tongues; but for their sake,
We'll hope and pray they soon may wake
From wickedness, and money make
By minding their own business.

A Hard Case.

Max Adeler says: That case of Yarnall's is exciting a good deal of interest down our way just now. Last Spring Yarnall began to visit one of the Metcalf girls, and for a while he was so attentive there that everybody felt certain there would be a match. On towards July things seemed to be coming to a crisis, and in fact they were, for Yarnall had made up his mind to propose to Matilda. It was on Friday evening that he called for the purpose, and as the weather was warm he sat in the parlor with her without a light, the front windows being open. Yarnall didn't perceive a good chance of introducing the subject for some time, and his nervousness made him warm. Just as he was on the point of proposing, he wanted to wipe his brow, but he found that he had left his handkerchief in his hat. He excused himself for a moment while he went into the hall to get it, and as he did so Matilda went out through the back parlor door to get a glass of water. Her mother came in as she went out, and when Yarnall returned, he found the old lady, who is a widow and also named Matilda, sitting on the sofa. Supposing of course that it was his own Matilda he summoned up courage and asked her to be his. The old lady was surprised; but widows are courageous, and she accepted him on the spot. Just as he was recovering from his amazement at the sound of her voice, a shriek was heard and the young Matilda fell fainting on the carpet. Yarnall tried to explain, but Matilda refused to believe him and finally he left the house in disgust. Then the old lady sued him for breach of promise and Matilda acted as witness. It seems likely Yarnall will lose, and if he does he will remain a bachelor.

Savages Singing Hymns.

Max Adeler tells this: The fact that Watt's hymns have been translated into the Choctaw language and have become favorites with the braves, is perhaps not generally known, but it is nevertheless a fact. It is very affecting to think of a noble red man sitting upon the fence and singing "how doth the little busy bee," while he watches his wife carrying home a couple of bushels of potatoes upon each shoulder, and wondering if he couldn't swap that squaw for a jug of robust rum. And it is even more touching to imagine the dusky son of the forest chanting, "I want to be an angel," while he dances around a white man who is pinned to the ground with a stake between his ribs and a bonfire on his bosom. There is something majestic about the Indian. He not only has a poetic and musical language, he not only spurns idolatry, but he has immortal longings and a weakness for snatching other people's hair.

Spring Style Hats.

Light, beautifully finished and graceful in shape, the new Spring style of Hats manufactured at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street (second hat store below Kearny street), is just the thing to make a man look a hundred per cent. better. "One of Sothern's Jokes."

Mr. Wardel Corbyn, agent for the Vokeses, writes from the Occidental Hotel, to set us right about a little story we published yesterday, under the above title. Mr. Corbyn says:

"Under the heading of 'One of Sothern's Jokes,' you very erroneously describe me as the victim. Allow me to assure you that I never saw Mr. Sothern in Salt Lake; that he never mentioned the "Cliff House" to me in his life; that my arrangements to reside at this hotel were made months before we arrived in this city; that I knew the location of the "Cliff House" perfectly, and therefore, never had an idea of residing there."

Mr. Corbyn in alluding to the series of published jokes of Sothern adds, "possibly they may be some wit or fun in such inventions, but I have failed to find either, and desire not to be mixed up in such trash." All right. Our little story was no invention. It was a true incident. Only in place of Mr. Corbyn being the party to it, it was one of the prominent members of the company of which he is agent. We made this mistake and no more.

Make a Big Job of It.

While Judge Morrison with the Rev. Otis Gibson and others are sitting as an Investigating Committee to try the virtue of Mrs. Di Hee, Mrs. Ah Fung, Mrs. Ah Lin and other Chinese ladies, they might extend their operations. Let a High Court of Virtue be established, and arraign all the inhabitants of San Francisco, who have arrived at maturity, male as well as female. Let us have this thing settled. San Francisco would, we are sure, come out of the trial as double-refined gold from the furnace. We not of more value than many China-Let us all have our morals looked into. Are women?

The Rival Editors.

The religious editor of the Post is writing editorials "exposing" spiritualism, the liberal editor allows fair reports of spiritualism to appear. Jones will be here soon and the Beecher-Temperance-Religion editor will probably be told that he can trot his hobbies away to some other hitching post. We can imagine Jones in the character of Othello gazing with dismay on the wreck of the Post and exclaiming "silence that dreadful Bell!"

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow,
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Toole in New York.

The New York papers are not enthusiastic over Toole, the English comedian. The World, in speaking of "Wig and Gown," says:

"It cannot be said that this play is either symmetrical or natural. It has one good situation, and abounds in low comedy characterization and incidents; but its main interest lies in its farcial episodes, not in the suffering or success of the principal characters. The situation referred to is represented as a very silly barrister indeed, whose questions, trepidation, confusion and mishaps owe all their absurdity to their impossibility. No barrister ever did or ever could act as idiotically as Mr. Coots does in the presence of a judge on the bench.

"Mr. Toole is a man of medium size, with a pleasant but somewhat rugged face. He speaks with a strong English accent and pronunciation, and at times reminds one a little of Burton in his younger days, not in his acting, but in certain facial mannerisms, and an unctuous method of pointing a humorous remark. So far as we are able to judge of him after one night's performance, he appears to be a comedian pure and simple, not of the highest order, but possessing that combination of intelligence, talent, and sportiveness to make a pleasant impression in any low comedy part that he assumes. An afterpiece called "The Weavers" gave additional evidence of this."

This is what we call letting Mr. Toole down gently.

Burlesque in Boston.

Jay Pee of the Boston Courier says reflectively: And so the burlesque season at the Museum is ended. For six weeks steadily has Edonin jumped, Weathersby smirked, and Maguinnis sung. But now the trinne combination is dissolved, the tripartite covenant is broken; (you see reminiscences of Henry and Theodore will color my similes). Maguinnis has laid his nursery rhymes away in lavender; the fair Eliza, after folding up her silk tights and packing her blonde wigs, has sought fresh fields and pastures new, and Sir Edonin of the tireless calves has skipped to New York, from whence he will leap the Atlantic about August 15th, and recommence his regular jumping in a London theatre some time in September. As an intellectual leaper Willie is the only living rival of Bolossy Kiralfy. As an exponent of the difficult art of wearing silk tights, Eliza is only excelled by Lydia Thompson, and as a warbler of Irish ditties, Sir Daniel is surpassed by no one. Will we ever see them jump, smirk and sing together again? I hope so, I am sure, for without them what would the summer burlesque be at the Museum.

A Slight Mistake.

The Sacramento Bee says: As our readers are doubtless aware, a group of statuary has recently been placed on the State Capitol which is supposed to represent a buffalo in the act of goring a horse on which is mounted an Indian woman with her babe. A friend of ours who was not posted as to the design, in speaking of it the other day, remarked that "you never in the world would take that lower thing for a sheep until you got close to it." He has left the city for a few days, as the artist who designed the group expressed a desire to see him for about five minutes.

A Saintly Woman.

One of those sentimental philosophers, whose writings wedelight in, says that there is "something soothing and delicious in the recollection of a pure-minded woman's affections; it is th oasis in the desert of a worldly-man's life, to which his feelings turn for refreshment, when wearied with the unhallowed pasions of this working day world." That's our feeling exactly. Had we written that sentence ourselves we couldn't have more beautifully expressed our recollections of one pure-minded female. She was one of the sort that was a success in making a desert around her. This pure-minded woman's custom was to attend church twice every Sunday, and two evenings in the week. Her husband wasn't one of the sort who hankered severely after the church. He would sooner have taken his pipe and flagon of ale and sit on the backstoop and talked about politics and the drama, and old-time sprees. But as soon as he would plant himself for an evening's enjoyment, in would come that pure-minded woman, and say: "Henry, it's near church time, and you haven't got shaved yet. Hurry up, or well be too late for the opening services." Then Henry would say: "Look here, Julia, I'm about tired of this church-going. I want to enjoy myself. It isn't much enjoyment to hear those old fools, that have about as much taste for music as a rabid oyster, howl and shriek for an hour. And I ain't much interested in the preacher. You see, it seems to me that I am about through feeding on pap, and that's the kind of mental food he sets before us. If you feel like going, go; but excuse me. I'll pass this once." Then that pure-minded wife would sit down on a chair, and weep, and say she was rightly punished. She had disobeyed her parents in marrying him, and now he was irreligious, and defamed that good and holy man, the pastor, and spoke disrespectfully of those godly men who led in the hymn, singing. Would he kill her? She would like it better if he would give her a dose of arsenic or cut her throat, than to kill her by inches. His ungodliness was destroying her. She could not live it she knew he was ungodly. And then she would weep and sob, and bemoan her sad fate, until this wretch of a husband would say, "Well, don't take on so about the matter. I'll go again and listen to those old blokes." And then they'd go to church, and get home about 11 o'clock at night and go to bed, and in the morning he'd have to get up and make the fire and cook the breakfast. After communing with saints, the pure-minded woman didn't feel like handling beefsteak and onions, and sausages, and stewed tomatoes. But after he went away she would sit down at the table and put away a quantity of those edibles that must have astonished the sweet little angel that sits up aloft. She died one day, and now that man is married to an ungodly woman, and she darns his stockings, and washes his shirts, and makes the fire, and cooks the breakfast, and he thinks on that pure-minded woman and is happy—because she is dead.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Maguire's New Theatre.

To-night and at the matinee to-morrow "The Devil's Maguet," with its brilliant variety entertainment, fine ballet and beautiful scenery will be played. The season will close with the present week.

Opera House.

The great Billy Emerson, the dashing prima donna Ernest Linden, the sweet-voiced J. G. Oberist, the wonderful Miss Lottie, the popular J. R. Kemble and a great many others will appear at the entertainment to-night and at the matinee to-morrow.

California Theatre.

The laughable extravaganza of "Fun in a Fog," admirably played by the Vokeses, will be repeated this evening and at the matinee to-morrow. It will be preceded by the domestic drama of "Woman's Love; or, Kate Wynsley, the Cottage Girl."

Platt's Music Hall.

Dr. Healy's "Hibernian Gems" will be presented this evening and at the matinee to-morrow. Miss Rose O'Reilly's songs, John Moran's illustrations of Irish wit, Wally Price's comic songs and Miss Jennie Moran's sprightly acting make up a popular entertainment.

Bella Union Theatre.

Miss Kate Raymond and O. B. Collins in "Jack Sheppard," Miss Lizzie Watson in ballads and character songs, Harry Braham in comical impersonations and a great variety of other attractions are presented at this house.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

The ever-popular burlesque "Manager's Troubles," "Stocks up and Stocks Down," Johnny Thers in song and dance, "Struck Oil," and other popular performances will be given this evening.

Mechanics' Institute Fair.

There was a good attendance at the Fair yesterday. The receipts at the box office so far aggregate $30,000. The two seals in the fountain had a sharp fight yesterday afternoon. The spotted one won. Though the managers discountenance such exhibitions, the fight will probably be repeated to-morrow afternoon.

Woodward's Gardens.

On Saturday and Sunday, the Bedouin Arabs, who have been re-engaged, will perform their great act of turning somersaults over a bridge of bayonets, form wonderful living pyramids, and do other unprecedented feats. Everybody should see the Arabs.

PICNIC OF THE GERMANIA RIFLES.—This one of the most popular of our German Military Companies, will hold a Grand Picnic and Festival at the City Gardens, on Sunday, August 30th The Picnic will be for the benefit of the Benevolent Fund of the company, and there will be a grand rally. Amusements of every kind will be the order of the day. The ladies who have earnestly espoused the cause, will hold a grand raffle, and in the evening, a splendid Ball will given in the Pavilion. The officers of the company have pledged themselves to make this the finest Picnic of the season. The Germania Rifles, will be escorted to the Gardens by delegations of Military Companies.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Ackerman's Grand Opening.

The public are specially invited to attend the opening of Ackerman's Grand Central Variety Establishment, on Monday evening at seven o'clock. The various departments of this magnificent establishment will be thrown open for inspection. No Goods will be sold on this occasion. No. 209 Sutter street, near Kearny street. 8 bg

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a T."
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins!
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.
CHARLES HAAKE, Proprietor.

Re-Opened.

The Hot Scotch Saloon, 336 Bush street, between Kearny and Montgomery, has been purchased by Capt. Geo. Caleb and Thos W. Reid and thoroughly renovated. It will be opened on Wednesday evening, the 26th inst., with first-class Liquors of all kinds. Chowder every evening as usual.

The New Mint Restaurant.

For Oysters that will melt in your mouth, for delicious Stakes and Chops, for a splendid Dinner, go to the New Mint Restaurant and Oyster Saloon, 1016 Market street, opposite Fifth street. Families supplied with California and Eastern Oysters. 7-bg

Washing Returned in One Day

And we never disappoint, at the What Cheer Laundry. No Chinamen employed.

A DOOMED MAN.

[This poem relates a terrible story of the struggle between good and evil in the human soul, suggested perhaps by Retzsch's famous picture of the chess players, and teaching the same awful moral with equally impressive empasis.]

It is the good ship Hildebrand
That sails the stormy sea—
But her course doth stand away from land,
No danger can there be.

Though the tempest blow, and the wild waves flow,
The ship is stout and strong.
And safely to the port will go,
Let the voyage be short or long.

"Come, tell a story of the seas"—
A comrade asks the master,
"With this gallant breeze, you may rest in ease,
The sea-mew flies not faster."

"Then fill the glasses all around,"
The well-pleased master cries,
"And I'll tell what is found in a ship that is bound
To no port till the last man dies.

"There floats a ship in the northern clime
That has drifted a hundred years;
For a fearful crime, till the end of time,
A fated man it bears.

"Upon the deck, and on the mast,
The ever-falling spray
Is borne by the blast, and freezes fast,
Till the ship is an iceberg gray.

"And, in the cabin, pale and wan,
Between two spectres grim,
Sits a fated man, while they strive who can
Gain the troubled soul of him.

"And one plays for the fiend of hell,
And one redeems from sin,
And the dice they toll as they fall from the shell;
But neither yet shall win,

"And ever there the die are cast,
For the fated man to see,
Until the last of earth is past
He sits in agony.

"Long years ago I once did sail
Far into the frozen North,
And I heard a hail, like a dying wail,
From a drifting ship sound forth:

"Upon the deck, and on the mast,
The ever-falling spray
Was borne by the blast, and frozen fast,
Like an iceberg huge she lay.

"Oh tell me does the end draw near?
And when will time be done?
There many a year he has watched in fear
While his soul is lost and won."

Epitaphs and Such.

An Eastern writer says: I took a walk through the cemetery yesterday, and I have been in a brown study ever since. Cushman's tombstone stands up there a foot above all of them, and on it I read:

"Let us meet him in Heaven."

I don't know who ordered that epitaph, but I used to live beside Cushman. Many's the time I kept him from pounding his wife when he was drunk, and I went bail for him when he stole a horse and wagon, and was on the jury that sent him to State Prison for stealing hay. He was killed in a saloon row, and if I ever "meet him in Heaven" I shall ask him whether he climbed over the wall or tunneled under it.

Davidson has a very nice headstone, with a pair of clasped hands on it, and these words:

"Too pure for earth,
Gone to Heavenly rest."

I was much affected at reading these lines, but I couldn't help but wonder if he repented selling me a bogus lottery ticket; of setting fire to the railroad sheds; of stealing a carpet of the Methodist Church, and of several other little matters, which caused him to make the acquaintance of the jailor. It is possible that he was "too pure for earth," but I know men that would bet $10 on it.

Thatcher has a monument with a lamb on top, and his loving wife has put on these words:

"I shall meet him up there."

I don't know what they put the lamb on for. Lambs don't carry the disposition which Thatcher had. I could cover that monument with chalk marks if I could commence to remember the times I had seen him come home, throw his wife out of doors and play smash with the furniture. Wasn't I present when he bit Billy Madden's left ear off in a fight? Wasn't I around when he broke his son's ribs? Wasn't I there when he gouged Jack Spray's eye out? And now his widow is trying to live so that she may meet him "up there." If she should look around and fail to see his beloved phiz in that region of enternal bless, she needn't think strange of it.

Peterson's tombstone held me a great while. It is of costly Italian marble with an urn on top, a hand with the fingers pointing upwards, and it bears the words:

"Gone before—blighted by earth's wickedness. We shall gather with him on the other shore."

I remember when he was blighted, though it's a long time ago. He undertook to lick a fellow who wouldn't vote his ticket, and he was knocked over a chair and had his skull fractured. The coroner said it was the worst blight he had seen for six months. I know not but his numerous family will "gather with him on the other side," but I have my doubts. If they should ever see him again, or if they think they will, I know of several grocers and butchers who will give 'em ten per cent. to collect old accounts of twelve years standing.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc. printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

If one wishes to pass an hour or two pleasantly at the game of billiards, no pleasanter place can be found in the city than Chapman & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, Northeast corner Bush and Kearny streets entrance on Bush. PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

SACRAMENTO.—Maguire's Dramatic Troupe, under the management of Harry Eytinge, opened at the Metropolitan Theatre, on Monday evening in "From Post," to a fair house. On the following evening "Caste" was performed. The Bee announced it as a "brilliant society drama," and on the talking to draw the stupid and unappreciative Sacramentans observed: "The play of 'Caste,' not a very attractive one, was well presented at the Metropolitan last night to a fair audience. Each part was well represented, but the piece itself is too heavy and long to please general audiences." We will have some more "attractive" plays than "Caste" written for Sacramento. On Wednesday, "The New Magdalen" was played, (J. H. Lennox business). "Caste" was repeated on Thursday evening. Last night "The Lady of Lyons" was played. The Black Crook Company will appear at the Metropolitan Theatre on Friday and Saturday of next week.

SAN JOSE.—We know the dancing dolls known as "The Royal Marionettes" would afford an entertainment suitable to the intellect of the people of San Jose. The bucolic population went wild over them. They close a week's engagement at the Opera House this evening. San Jose does appreciate the drama. We shall send up a Punch and Judy show shortly. On Monday the Black Crook Spectacular and Variety Troupe will appear, and will also play on the following evening. We hope the Marionettes haven't "taken all the money out of the town."

STOCKTON.—The Black Crook Combination company will perform at the theatre on Wednesday and Thursday.

OAKLAND.—Montgomery Queen's Great Show exhibited here yesterday afternoon and evening to immense business. There will be a matinee today and an evening performance.

VIRGINIA CITY.—Lotta commenced an engagement at Piper's Opera House on Monday in "The Little Detective;" this play was repeated on the following evening. On Wednesday, "Little Nell and the Marchioness" was performed, and "Zip" followed, closing the engagement. On Monday Joe Murphy will appear.

IDAHO CITY.—Morrill's San Francisco Minstrels report from Idaho City, under date of August 18. The Owyhee Avalanche, speaking of this troupe says: "They give splendid performances and draw crowded houses wherever they go.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

FOREIGN DRAMATIC NEWS.

London dates to August 1st report no new pieces at the London theatres. The Lyceum was to reopen that evening with Emily Soldene's bouffe company, and the Haymarket was to close 3d, with the annual benefit of Manager Buckstone. The Queen's, the Royalty, the Holborn Amphitheatre and the St. George's Theatre, Langham place, were announced to be let, and the Alexandra Theatre, Camden-town was to be sold.

English opera was doing well at the Crystal Palace, with Blanche Cole, Nordblom, Aynsley, Cook, Carleton, Mr. Sharp and Lucy Franklin.

A man, styling himself Kansas Jack, eight feet two inches high, and weighing 640 pounds, was announced as a Rocky Mountain trapper and scout from America, and was soon to show in a dramatic specialty at an indefinite London theatre. Nobody ever heard of him in this country yet his reputation here was announced as enormous.

The Welsh Choral Union presented at the Hanover square Rooms, July 24th, a testimonial to Edith Wynne. One portion of the testimonial consisted of a bust of the lady, represented by a replica of the bust at present in the Royal Academy, that in marble not being as yet completed. Suspended from the neck was a simulated medal bearing the inscription "Eos Cymru Pencerddes"—"The Nightingale of Wales, Chief Songstress." The head was adorned with flowers, oak leaves, and ears of wheat, the latter the old sign of Wales, and bearing the Bardic symbol. The second portion of the testimonial was a gold bracelet, the centre of the Holbein pattern, constructed so as to be removed and worn as a pendant, with a leop of diamond and enamel. Three rows of brilliants on a gold ground in the centre, represented the three druidical rays of light; and around were the letters "Eos Cymru," in diamonds on a garter of dark blue enamel.

Arthur Holmes, who attended theatres to dress the hair of actresses, bandaged his eyes, July 17, and was in the act of jumping from the Westminster Bridge, when caught by a policeman. The chaplain of the House of Detention said he had reason to believe that a tender, but hopeless, sentiment for an actress had caused the attempt at suicide. He had, however, he thought, talked him out of future attempts, and the man was therefore discharged.

Mme. Nilsson, after the completion of her Russian engagement, will go to Paris to open the New Grand Opera House, if it be finished, on the 1st of January, 1875, as Ophelia in "Hamlet," with M. Faure in the title part.

Gye, makes his money during the opera season in London principally by the numerous concerts at which some of his artists appear, and for which he is liberally paid. The opera subscription would not suffice to pay expenses.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc. printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here.—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a T."
So sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins,
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again,
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.
CHARLES HAAKE, Proprietor.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

OPERA HOUSE.—The great array of Minstrel and variety talent at this theatre has crowded it every night during the week. In addition to the Great Emerson, there are the Wonderful Lotties and her brother Frank, in the best and most dashing and daring trapeze act ever done in this city, Ernest Linden the black prima donna impersonator, J. R. Kemble the comedian, Cotton Arlington, Murphy, Oberist, Rice, Russell and others, forming altogether the best minstrel company in the United States. The present bill will be given to-night and to-morrow night for the last time.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—The Vokeses will close their second week to-night, with "Fun in a Fog," and "Woman's Love." On Monday, they will commence the last week of their engagement and produce what is reputed to be their best piece "The Wrong Man in the Right Place." The very title is suggestive of fun.

MAGUIRE'S NEW THEATRE.—On Saturday and Sunday nights the last performances of Langrishe and Glenn's Black Crook Company will be given in this city. "The Black Crook," with the entire new company brought out from New York by the enterprising Managers, numbering twenty-two persons—the largest dramatic company ever brought to this State by any Manager—took the town by storm on its first week; the aggregate receipts being near $9,000. The strong competition presented by the Vokeses and Billy Emerson induced the Managers to withdraw "The Black Crook" at the end of its second week and produce "The Devil's Magnet," with which they will close their San Francisco season on Sunday night—not to-night, as has been erroneously stated by some of the morning papers.

THE MECHANICS' INSTITUTE FAIR.—There was a good attendance at the Fair yesterday. The receipts at the box office so far aggregate $30,000. The two seals in the fountain had a sharp fight yesterday afternoon. The spotted one won. Though the managers discountenance such exhibitions, the fight will probably be repeated to-morrow afternoon.

PLATT'S NEW MUSIC HALL.—Dr. Healy's "Hibernian Gems" has done a good business during the week, and will doubtless draw large audiences at the matinee to-day and this evening. The beautiful scenes and characteristic songs and sketches, give pleasure to all who attend. There will be no performance on Sunday night.

NEW BELLA UNION THEATRE.—The bill for to-night and to-morrow night will consist of "Jack Sheppard," with Miss Kate Raymond as the idle apprentice, and O. B. Collins as Blueskin. "The Doubled-Bedded Room," "The Broker's Help," and a great variety of interlude business. Miss Lizzie Watson will appear in her new specialty, "Military Style," with drum accompaniment, and in character sketches. Harry Braham will appear in new songs, and in conjunction with Miss Watson, in the new musical sketch entitled "I'm a Married Man Myself."

BUCKLEY'S NEW VARIETY THEATRE.—"Manager's Troubles," "Four O'Clock Train," "Capt. Blowhard's Troubles," "The Parent's Warning," a first part, a musical olio and a great variety of songs, ballads and dances will be given to-night and to-morrow night.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS.—To-day and to-morrow the Bedouin Arabs, who have been re-engaged, will perform their great act of turning somersaults over a bridge of bayonets, form wonderful living pyramids, and do other unprecedented feats. Everybody should see the Arabs.

PICNIC OF THE GERMANIA RIFLES.—This one of the most popular of our German Military Companies, will hold a Grand Picnic and Festival at the City Gardens, on to-morrow, August 30th. The Picnic will be for the benefit of the Benevolent Fund of the company, and there will be a grand rally. Amusements of every kind will be the order of the day. The ladies who have earnestly espoused the cause, will hold a grand raffle, and in the evening, a splendid Ball will given in the Pavilion. The officers of the company have pledged themselves to make this the finest Picnic of the season. The Germania Rifles, will be escorted to the Gardens by delegations of Military Companies.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—Captain Foster, the genial host of the Cliff House, entertains visitors from all parts of the Globe at his famous sea-side resort. The Cliff House is THE one thing San Francisco has to boast of as different from anything else in the world. Omnibuses run every day from the terminus of the Lone Mountain Railroad.

GOLDEN GATE PARK.—Those who drive out to the new park should visit The Villa which has just been opened. Here they will find four public parlors and ten private dining rooms. Guido Mangenberg, the proprietor, gets up epicurean breakfasts, dinners and suppers at short notice. Omnibuses will leave on SUNDAYS, at 9 o'clock A. M., from the corner of Market and Kearny streets, and every hour afterward, until 4 o'clock, from the corner of McAllister and Fillmore streets connecting with the Market Street and Hayes Valley cars, and from the corner of Turk and Fillmore streets by the way of City Front and Lone Mountain cars.

GRAND SUNDAY EXCURSION.—The steamer Antelope leaves San Francisco every Saturday at 2:30 P. M. and on Sunday at 8 A. M. from Front Street Wharf, connecting with the cars of the S. F. & N. P. Railroad at Donahue for Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Healdsburg and Cloverdale. Excursion tickets are issued at reduced rates, and are good from Saturday to Monday. Those who wish to enjoy a little country air at the end of the week could not choose a finer trip than this excursion offers.

NOTES.—J. R. Marshall, formerly of Lee & Marshall so long in the circus business, reports to FIGARO from Mazatlan, August 12th. He has showed the Royal Tycoon Japanese Troupe in all the coast cities of Central America, where they never saw a Japanese troupe before to big business. Business in Mazatlan has been fair—average $350 per night, theatre is a fine one. He takes the troupe to Guaymas and Hermosillo, and expects to be in San Diego about September 15th.

The last Shanghai China News announces the last week of Chiarini's circus in that place. They gave a family matinee on the 22d, "commencing at 3 P. M. and ending at 7." In the evening the doors opened at 8 o'clock and performances commenced at 9. The prices were $2, $1, and 50 cents. Letters received by Astredo state that after a short season in Japan, the troupe will take passage for this city. Chiarini's agent will probably arrive by the next steamer.

Maguire's Dramatic Company will open at his New Theatre on Monday night in "Divorce."

The Lone Star Social Club will celebrate their Fifth Anniversary Ball at Union Hall on the evening of Sept. 1st.

The California Pioneers will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the admission of California as a State on Wednesday, Sept. 9th, by a grand festival at Woodward's Gardens. On Thursday the members of the association and their families, and a few invited guests, will make an excursion around the bay in one of the Pacific Mail Company's largest steamers. On Friday night they will have a grand ball at Union Hall. The honored old boys intend having a good time generally, and enjoying themselves. Long may they live to do it.

"Lately," says a dramatic correspondent, "I went to hear a light opera which had been running six months. The prima donna of the evening was a young woman who, when the piece began its run, was one of the chorus singers in that very opera and on that very stage. There is more earnest search after singing voices than there is for pearls in oysters. In every nook and cranny of every land the prima donna hunt is going on; for while a singer may do without an impresario, the latter cannot possibly do without singers. Their agents attend divine service in churches of every denomination, on the look out for promising vocalists; they visit theatres and meeting-rooms where public speaking is going on, with ears sharpened to detect musical possibilities in a speaking organ whose owner has not suspected them; they haunt low singing-halls where beer is sold and tobacco smoked, ready, if a voice be found, to transport it to the Italian opera, or cultivate it at their own expense until it is fit to warble the world of music-lovers to its feet."

Signor Bacci, of late a resident of San Francisco, will be tenor of Maretzek's Violetta Colville troupe.

Fillip Fillippe, in pious melodies, Jared, N. Y., 15th.

The coming Strakosch opera season will be inaugurated at the Academy of Music September 28th. The new company will consist of Miles. Heilbronn, Albani, Pelentini and Maresi, prima donne soprani; Anna Louise Cary, prima donna contralto; Signori Debassini, Devillier and Carlo Carpi, tenori; Tagliapetr and del Puente, bariton, and Tiorini and Scolari, bassi. Signor Mazzo will be musical director. Max Strakosch announces that in addition to the familiar operas he will present Wagner's "Flying Dutchman," Gounod's "Romeo and Juliet," Marchetti's "Ruy Blas," and Verdi's "Requiem."

Miss Fanny Brough, who is at present in New York, under engagement to Messrs. Jarret and Palmer, is a very talented comedy actress and a member of the famous Brough family, so well-known to the present generation of English playgoers. Miss Brough will make her debut on the withdrawal of "Belle Lamar."

The last Clipper says: Marcus R. Mayer, business agent, and Willie Seymour, stage-manager of the Lawrence Barrett Combination, left for Grand Rapids, Mich. (where the opening performance is to be given on Aug. 25), the former on Aug. 12th and the latter on the 13th.

Simmonds & Wall, dramatic agents, 609 Broadway, state, through a card in the Clipper, that the right to perform "Clancarty, or Wedded and Wooed," a drama by Tom Taylor and J. Steele MacKaye, can only be secured through them or Mr. MacKaye, and that all infringements of the authors' rights will be prosecuted.

"What Should She Do? or Jealousy," is the title Mr. Daly has now given to the new play with which he was to commence his season at the Fifth Avenue Theatre on Aug. 25th. The action takes place at London, Eng., and Jamaica, W. I. Mr. Roberts has painted a scene of tropical luxuriance for the island view.

Johnny Allen and Miss Alice Harrison are to act in the following dramas during the season of 1874-75: "Schneider," "Life in New York," and "Old Uncle Holtz."

Fanny Cathcart, supported by George Darrell, James J. Bartlett and a dramatic company, commence a six nights' engagement at the Opera House, Albany, N. Y., Aug. 17th, opening with "Leah."

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
W. H. AIKEN, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW AND Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in California and Nevada, gives personal attention to the collection of Additional Travel Pay, now due California and Nevada Volunteers discharged more than three hundred miles from home. Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply, and state company and regiment, and whether you have applied for additional Bounty under Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 2d, 1861, for three years, if not paid has same when discharged. Land Warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for wounds than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed to Mexican or Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted Pensions to our living veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. H. Aiken also attends to General Law and Collection business. jy26-6f

Come Now, Stop This!

The San Jose Mercury, speaking of the Royal Marionettes, says:

"Last night was witnessed another fine performance of this justly popular "What is it?" Five crowded houses in five days, with an almost positive certainty of two more, and the largest of the season, to-day, doesn't look much as though San Jose was a bad show town, when a meritorious entertainment comes along. A few days before Joe Murphy played two nights to an average of a thousand dollars a night, and Montgomery Queen's circus did a business of over three thousand dollars. And now comes the Marionettes on the heels of these entertainments and performs for an entire week to immense houses throughout. Notwithstaning all this, San Jose is constantly made a but of by certain burnt cork blackguards of San Francisco, simply because our people did not appreciate their threadbear stupidities, and permitted them to gyrate to empty benches.

Who the dence said the San Jose people didn't appreciate the drama as illustrated by dancing dolls and Joe Murphy? Mrs Jeffreys Lewis and a capital company didn't draw expenses in San Jose. San Jose is the worst country show town in the United States, and the Mercury is the best country paper in the United States. No prejudice about this is there?

The Beecher-Tilton Matter.

The Sacramento Union, in a recent editorial on the great scandal, gives the gist of its conclusions as follows.—This, however, we must say: that if Plymouth Church, after a careful perusal of this last statement from Moulton, in spite of the public opinion which he has for so many years outraged, sends H. W. Beecher back into the pulpit, it will have dealt a severer blow to Christianity than was dealt to it by Tom Paine's "Age of Reason," and all the other causes of the last and the present century combined.

More Work.

We trust that an investigating committee will be appointed at once to clear the Reverend Mr. Glendenning of the charges made against him. A Jersey City dispatch of August 20th, says:—"The Rev. Mr. Glendenning was at the office of Mr. Howell today. He said to a reporter, 'When the dead shall have been decently buried, and the living tired of idle gossip, I will open my mouth, I will furnish proof, and I will set myself right before my people.'"

The Agony is Over.

Every one must rejoice at the manner in which the character of the Reverend Henry Ward Beecher has been cleared. The Committee have decided that in spite of temptation held out by Mrs. Tilton the great preacher did not "fall." While we congratulate the public we extend our sympathy to Henry W. Sage, Augustus Storrs, Henry M. Cleveland, Horace B. Claflin, John Winslow, S. V. White and Henry Ward Beecher.

Not Big Enough.

Mr. DeLong, who was somehow or other made Minister to Japan, wants to become a U. S. Senator. He is a queer little man, who tells many "funny" stories and laughs at them himself. He won't do for the position of Senator. He is neither mentally nor physically fitted to adorn the place.

A Good Suggestion.

The son of an Emir had red hair, of which he was ashamed, and wished to dye it. But his father said, "Nay, my son, rather behave in such a manner that all fathers should wish their own sons had red hair."

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there. The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated.

Dr. PAUL M. BRENAN has returned from his lecturing trip south, and can be consulted at his office, 127 Montgomery street, by those who require the services of a talented physician and surgeon. 7oj

One of Henry J. Raymond's Charities.

Henry J. Raymond was continually lending money to needy persons—giving, his friends called it, and used to chide him for it, somewhat, but he called it lending, with a cheery confidence that he should somehow be repaid. Once he came into his office laughing, and saying that one of his loans had come back to him. And he told the story how, one day, busily writing in his room, there appeared to him a man, saying:

"Is this Mr. Raymond?" Being assured of this, he continued, "Can I speak to you a few moments, sir?"

The MSS. was shoved aside.

"I have just come from Sing Sing," hesitated the man.

"Not from the prison, I hope," said the editor by the way of putting the caller at ease with a joke.

"Yes, sir;" said the visitor, "I got my discharge a few days ago."

"Well, my man," said Raymond, "I hope you were innocent."

"No, sir," replied the convict, "I was guilty. You see, sir, I am an engineer and machinist by trade. I want to lead an honest life; and when I got a place and was at work all very well, some kind friend came along and told my boss that I was a prison bird, and I had to be out of that. Then I got another place and got well to work and the same thing happened there. Now I am looking for another job, and I am going to begin by telling what I am, and when I get anything to do, I shan't lose it in the same way."

"How much is it, my man?" said Mr. Raymond.

"Well, sir," replied the man, "I haven't got the price of a dinner about me, now, and I don't know where I am to sleep to-night. I think if I had ten dollars I could get on until I found somebody to take me for what I am worth and give me some honest work to do. I don't want to go down hill, sir."

The ten dollars closed that conversation on the instant. Perhaps a year afterwards, Mr. Raymond was at a fair of the American Institute, and while looking at some machinery on exhibition a decent man in charge of it approached him and said: "Is this Mr. Raymond?"

"Yes," he replied, "but I don't remember you."

"Don't you remember the man from Sing Sing?"

"No," said Mr. Raymond, "I don't remember any man from Sing Sing."

"Why," said the man from Sing Sing, "don't you recollect?"—and then he rehearsed the story here set down, and said he had subsisted on Mr. Raymond's loan until he found employment in his own line, with a good man, who knew his story, and was well pleased with him, giving him good wages and steady work, in a place of honorable trust and responsibility. Taking a bank note from his pocket, the engineer repaid the borrowed money, saying that he had carried it for some months without finding an opportunity to leave his work and come to town for the purpose. It's a good ten dollars, Mr. Raymond, said he, for it's just the cost of saving me from ruin.

When he told the story afterwards, Mr. Raymond thought it was cheap and that he had charged all his other loans to the account of the engineer, and balanced it.

Minister Worship.

Then there is a blind and bigoted admiration of clergymen, outrunning the bounds of reason—a sort of semi-worship—a looking on them as if they were demi-gods. The old lady in the backwoods who replied to the protestation from her pastor, not to make his tea quite so sweet, "La, it would not be too good for the minister if it was all molasses," was but the ignorant prototype of a numerous and cultivated class.

Late Literature.

A young man asked for a copy of Homer's "Odyssey" at a bookstore in Norwich, Con., the other day, and the clerk not finding it, remarked in a reflective way, "Well, we haven't any of Homer's latest works in at present."

Wet Boots.

The Agriculturist gives the following advice to farmers, who, next to fishermen, are apt to get their boots wet through: "When the boots are taken off fill them quite full with dry oats. This grain has a great fondness for damp, and will rapidly absorb the last vestige of it from the wet leather. As it takes up the moisture it swells and fills the boot with a tightly fitting last, keeping its form good, and drying the leather without hardening it. In the morning shake out the oats and hang them in a bag near the fire to dry, ready for the next wet night, draw on your boots, and go happily about thy day's work."

Tom Niles, who lives on the San Joaquin, knows, he tried it last winter, and is perfectly satisfied. His boots were prepared according to directions and hung at the foot of his bed when he turned in. He thinks it was about 12 o'clock that night when he was awakened by an explosion. A double-barrelled shotgun, well loaded is nowhere. He got a new pair of boots the next day; but he says now it wasn't the small pox that pitted him so, and if he ever catches that son of a shomaker, who asked him to subscribe to the "Big Beet," and gave him a few paragraphs "Useful to Farmers," he'll induce him to stay all night, load all the boots in the shanty with oats; say a prayer for the repose of a sinner's soul and go to roost in they haystack. He is confident of a successful issue and a good crop. The mournful resignation with which he gazes into a glass, exhibits the hope of a missionary.

A Kindly Notice.

The New Orleans Picayune says: There is a delegate to the convention now sitting at the St. Louis Hotel who, in every respect is a curiosity and a wonder. Jet black, over six feet tall, and of the most colossal proportions his weight cannot be less than 500 pounds. He is venerable in appearance, dressed after a very eccentric fashion, and of the most kindly and good-humored expression imaginable. They have built a sort of divan for him, and there he sits straight through the meeting, taking no part in the proceedings, but beaming like a Titanic cherub on everything and everybody. His name is Reese. He appears to belong to the better class of colored people, and with his white hair, benevolent physiognomy, and decent behavior, no less than by his inconceivable size, is an isolated figure amid the snarling, disorderly mob of ruffians who compose in great part this latest manifestation of the Republican party in Louisiana.

Very Particular.

A prominent pious gentlemman, not unconnected with the newspaper business—there be such, for the saving of the Sodom of journalism—had his dignity disturbed this morning; when, after he had asked the divine blessing on his frugal meal, and was preparing for business, his cook rushed in with a plate of hash, hurriedly exclaiming: "Here Mr. P. this ain't been blessed!"

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen:
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a T."
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true
And ordered magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They've clams and crabs and terrapins:
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name.
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

The clever Vokeses will enter upon the last week of their engagement this evening, when they will present their new play entitled "The Wrong Man in the Right Place," Fred Vokes will appear as Benjamin Buttontop, Miss Jessie Vokes as Emily Merton, Miss Victoria Vokes as Clara Staunton, Miss Rosina Vokes as Sarah Jane and Fawdon Vokes as Sampson Rifles. A feature of the piece will be the International Quadrille, invented and arranged by the Vokes' Family. The evening's entertainment will commence with the comedy of "Kind to a Fault," the cast of which is given on our first page. On Thursday "Time Tries All," and "Fun in a Fog" will be played. On Friday the Vokeses will take a benefit when the bill will consist of "The Bells of the Kitchen," "A Day After the Wedding," and "Naa the Good for Nothing," at the Saturday matinee "The Wrong Man in the Right Place" will be played, and "The Bells of the Kitchen" in the evening will terminate the engagement.

Maguire's New Theatre.

Maguire's Dramatic Troupe, comprising Miss Jeffreys Lewis, Edward Arnot, Miss Mary Wells, W. G. Coggswell and others whose names are mentioned on our first page, will reappear at this house to-night in Bulwer's drama of "The Lady of Lyons" and tomorrow night the entertainment will consist of the ever popular society play of "Divorce." On Thursday Miss Jeffreys Lewis will take her farewell benefit and will appear as Juliet in "Romeo and Juliet." On Friday evening Mr. Edward Arnott will take his benefit, and will present "The Merchant of Venice," and the burlesque of "Paris."

Opera House.

No outside attrations can prevent the Opera House being crowded. Such a combination of talent does not exist in any other city in the United States. Billy Emerson, Lottie with her brother and sister, Frank and Katie, Ben Cotton, Billy Arlington, Ernest Linden, J. K. Kemble, J. T. Oberist, W. F. Baker, J. G. Russell, Billy Rice and all the stars will appear this evening in an entirely new bill, which is published in full elsewhere in our columns. The great gymnastic feat with which the evening's entertainment terminates, was the sensation of an entire season at the Alhambra Theatre, London.

Platt's Music Hall.

"Dr. Healy's Hibernian Gems" one of the most attractive entertainments of the kind ever introduced in this city enters upon its second week with flourishing prospects. John Moran has established himself as a general favorite, Wally Price is popular as a serio-comic singer and Miss Rose O'Reilly and Miss Jennie Moran play their respective parts pleasingly. The popular scale of prices has something to do with the large attendance. The managers certainly offer enough for the money.

Bella Union Theatre.

"Jack Sheppard," with Miss Kate Raymond in the title role, and O. B. Collins as Joe Blueskin, has made a great hit at this house. Miss Lizzie Watson and Harry Braham, appear to capital advantage in their original musical entertainment and a lively first part and brilliant olio of songs, acts and dances make up a very enjoyable performance.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

"A Manager's Troubles," "The Four O'Clock Train," Johnny Tuers in song and dance, "Capt. Blowhard's Troubles" and "The Parents Warning" are only a few of the attractions offered at this popular variety theatre this evening.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

The Fall.

The fall of man was a very lamentable event in one way of looking at it, but if it had not taken place the splendid Hats which are sold at "The Hat Store" 647 Washington street, would never have come into fashion. We make this remark apropos of the fact that this establishment has just introduced the new Fall and Winter styles.

At the Fair.

Messrs. Bradley & Rulofson have a magnificent display of Photographic Art, at the Fair, in the Art Gallery. This firm received the gold medal at Philadelphia for the best Photographs in the United States. Gallery, 429 Montgomery street. Don't go home without giving this gallery a call. 7-w

Music Hath Charms.

Pianos tuned and repaired, at moderate prices and satisfaction guaranteed, by one that understands the business. Also, will perform on Piano at Evening Parties, etc. Orders left at 754 Market or 54 Third street, will receive prompt attention by G. W. Morgan. 4-w

Removal—"White House" Restaurant

The popular and well known Dining Saloon "White House", 112 Kearny street, Louis Meyer Proprietor, will remove Saturday the 28th July, to his new and more commodious premises 211 Sutter street, near the Centre Market. Mr. Meyer, in his new and elegant premises, will be able to better accommodate his numerous patrons. 7-bg

Chair and Basket Factory.

The Buckeye Chair and Basket Factory, Walter W. Moses, & Co., proprietors, 920 and 922 Market street, is prepared to execute orders (whole sale and retail) for carriages, cradles, chairs, work baskets, market baskets etc. The Buckeye, sells everything low as any other responsible house. 7-bg

Removal.

S. Kohlman, the renowned Stove & Crockery dealer so long established on Third St., has removed to his Magnificent new store 216 Sixth St, between Howard & Folsom, where he will be pleased to meet his old friends and customers. 7-BG

Unjust Suspicious.

Among the trials and tribulations of this life, there are enough genuine griefs without the fancied ones. Life is full of misunderstandings which are grievous to be borne. We heard of a slight ripple on the usually calm sea of domestic life which was so nearly allied to the melo-dramatic, that we cannot refrain from telling it. The subjects of the story are a speciality Physician, and his wife who attends to all correspondence in his absence. She is a through business woman, and writes like a congressman; not a few curious bits of confidence fall into her hands, and she answers all letters, giving sound advice to the patients until such time as she can them.

Among the patients the doctor had been treating a young lady for deafness, and had prescribed as the only help for her the use of an ear-trumpet. She had made her calls personally on the doctor, and of course Mrs. Doctor knew nothing about it. What was her surprise then on receiving a note addressed to her husband, as follows.

July 1st,—

DEAR DR.—I have been thinking ever since of your proposition the other day. I cannot make up my mind to yield to your wishes. My pride will not allow it. Only think how it would ruin my prospects, and spare me. I must see you soon to tell you how unhappy your advice has made me.

Yours in doubt,

ALLIE.

Here was another case of black and foul wrong, and the fair amanuensis gnashed her teeth thinking about it.

She nursed her wrath until the return of the weary doctor from his rounds, and then—well, the doctor says that if there had been an autopsy held over his wife it would have been seen that she was insane. Mad as a March hare, and all because a poor girl didn't want to make a guy of herself by using an ear trumpet.

The above story shows the folly of hasty suspicion. Perhaps, after all Henry Ward Beecher only recommended Mrs. Tilton to use an ear-trumpet.

A Sporting Year.

This season has been an exceptional one for sports. Besides the customary great racing events of Saratoga and Long Branch, we have specially interesting occasions at Cleveland and Buffalo, while the marvellous efforts of Goldsmith Maid and Gray Planet have positively electrified the sporting world. But not alone in horse racing have we developed a positive mania for sporting, and a proficiency of excellence in our offered examples, upon which we may look with pride and satisfaction. Our regattas have displayed the muscle and training of our students and professionals both, as standing at the highest notch of proficiency. In yacht racing, both at home and abroad, we have been equally successful. Our base ball players have engaged the admiration of England in witnessing their games. Even in cricket—the national game of John Bull—we have beaten our English cousin on his own soil. At present Mr. Loubat has challenged the yacht clubs of all Europe to sail against his yacht, the Enchantress, for a hundred guinea cup; the Surrey cricket club and eighteen of America are playing a match; and two champion swimmers attempt an International contest at Long Branch. Truly, a wonderful sporting season.

Dost Like the Picture?

San Francisco Commercial Herald says: "Misfortune excites sympathy, injury evokes forgiveness, folly demands our pity, and the systematic mischief-maker calls for our avoidance. Such men subserve the purpose of human guideboards, to warn us from the commission of like errors. They are as necessary as the vermin that keep the earth porous and fresh, and some of them are no less pestilent. Every community is cursed with a Thersites, an incorrigible grumbler and irrepressible demagogue, but every community is not blessed with an Achilles to club the rude fellow whenever he indulges his vile propensity. San Francisco is no exception to this rule. There are those among us, who, by dint of pertinacity, unlimited brass and crystallized audacity, have succeeded in securing positions from which they hurl the javelins of malice, rudeness and prevarication at their superiors."

Dyspeptic Remorse.

A Rhode Island convict recently admitted to his spiritual guide that on one occasion he had suffered the keenest remorse for crime. It was when he stole four cucumbers from a poor but deserving man, and ate them. That night, before the doctor got there, he made a solemn vow that, if his life was spared, he would never repeat the act, and he never has.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc. printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

CENTRE MARKET.

WHO OCCUPY THE STALLS.

Hepburn has opened Stall 4, with fresh meats of all kinds. Families and restaurants supplied on the shortest notice.

Stall 38, Holm & Boyle have a splendid assortment butter, eggs, cheese and a general assortment of fancy groceries. Goods delivered free.

Stalls 39 and 40 are occupied by Kerlin & Hassard, dealers in fruits, vegetables, etc., of the best and freshest. Delivered free of charge.

Stall 3, makes a magnificent show of fresh meats. Jos. O. de Volt & Co., wholesale and retail dealers, have one of the nicest stalls in the market. Restaurants and families will find it to their advantage to give them a call.

Stalls 74 and 75 are taken by the pioneer Poultry and Game dealers, Benjamin & Strasser. The finest Poultry and Game, and the Freshest Butter and Eggs in the city. 7-N

BOSTON OYSTER HOUSE.—L. O. Pratt has opened stalls 89 and 90 in Centre Market. Oysters in every style. Chops and Steaks of the choicest. Ladies private rooms up stairs. 7-E

Stalls 91, 92 and 93, have been opened by Anderson & Marshall as the Long Branch oyster house. They are among the oldest oyster men in the city.

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Ackerman's Grand Opening.

The public are specially invited to attend the opening of Ackerman's Grand Central Variety Establishment, on Monday evening at seven o'clock. The various departments of this magnificent establishment will be thrown open for inspection. No Goods will be sold on this occasion. No. 209 Sutter street, near Kearny street. 8 bg

The Fair affords an agreeable lounging place for the ladies. The gentlemen's popular resort is Chapmen & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, northeast corner of Bush and Kearny streets, with the entrance on Bush. There they assemble nightly to play billiards, discuss new plays and new actors, and enjoy the good wines, liquors and cigars always kept here. 6-z

Re-Opened.

The Hot Scotch Saloon, 336 Bush street, between Kearny and Montgomery, has been purchased by Capt. Geo. Caleb and Thos W. Reid and thoroughly renovated. It will be opened on Wednesday evening, the 26th inst., with first-class Liquors of all kinds. Chowder every evening as usual.

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions, Club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relief by applying at Dr. R. H. Cowan's Institute, removed to 212 Kearny street, from 1 to 5 P.M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. References given if required. 8

Great Bargains in Clothing:

The only store in the city that has the largest cheapest and finest assortment of Men's and Boys Clothing, is H. Peyser's Montgomery Avenue Clothing Store, 719 Montgomery street, between Washington and Jackson. Also, a large assortment of Men's and Boys' Overcoats and Cloaks, and the finest stock of Gents' Furnishing Goods, Trunks, Valises, etc. 2-x

SOLDIERS'
WAR CLAIM AGENCY,
No. 34 Montgomery Block,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
W. H. AIKEN, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW AND Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in California and Nevada, gives prompt attention to the collection of Additional Travel Pay, now due California and Nevada Volunteers discharged more than three hundred miles from home. Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. Those writing enclose stamp for reply, and state company and regiment, and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional Bounty and [illegible] Act of July 3, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 2d, 1861, for three years, if not paid to same when discharged. Land Warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed to Mexican and Indian war soldiers. State of Texas has granted Pensions to surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Navy Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. H. Aiken also attends to General Law and Collection business. jy26-tf

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

QUERIST.—T. A. B. doesn't stand for "Tabbies" but for Temperance and Benevolent.

SARCASM.—You mustn't apply the term "reverend villain" to Mr. Beecher. You can call Mr. Glendenning "reverend villain" if it will give you any satisfaction to do so.

MOSES.—Your "joke" about the Right Man in the Wrong Place is too indecent for FIGARO. Send it to the Alta Brevities man.

LIBERAL CHRISTIAN.—The Unitarian Church service is a gross plagiarism on the Episcopal service with one of the leading characters left out.

FREE LUNCHER.—We decline to open our columns to any discussion of the Free Lunch question. It is a matter which we would rather leave to the individual conscience of each. However, we are free to confess that it is not necessary for a Free Luncher to make a beast of himself because Lunch is free.

A Dramatic Record.

San Jose is getting up quite a good dramatic record as may be seen by the following from the Mercury of Sunday:

There were fifteen hundred and seventy-six people at the matinee of the Royal Marionettes yesterday—something unprecedented in the history of the show business in San Jose.

When we remember that Joe Murphy's nights, and the Fat Woman and the Circus were also well patronized we must confess that the San Jose people don't mind spending money to see a show that they can appreciate.

Don't Make any Mistake.

We hope the English journals won't make the mistake of supposing Plymouth Church to be in California because Moulton had a narrow escape of his life when he went there. It seems that the Plymouth congregation are all heeled, judging from the following: "Several who stood in the forward part of the house put their hands on their pistols, and one man standing near Moulton took his pistol out of an inside pocket and rested it beneath his vest, the handle peeping out from beneath the lappels."

A Plendish Remark.

A man was about to be hanged in Alabama, sang, as he stood with the noose about his neck: "Oh! the bright angels are waiting for me." Whereupon the local editor fiendishly wrote, "And the angeles stirred up the fire and looked brighter than ever."

Oysters.

As strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen:
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
Over which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Say," said my friend, "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a T."
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name.
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
Pastables, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners,"
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To the hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who sees there once will go again.
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.
CHARLES HAAKE, Proprietor.

A Romance in High Life.

From the Galaxy for September: At the gaming table the Duke of Richmond incurred a debt of honor to Lord Cadogan, which he was unable to pay, and it was agreed that his son, a lad of fifteen, should marry the still younger daughter of Lord Cadogan. The boy was sent for from school and the girl from the nursery; a clergyman was in attendance, and the children were told that they were to be married on the spot. The girl had nothing to say; the boy cried out, "They surely are not going to marry me to that dowdy. But married they were. A post chaise was at the door; the bridegroom was packed off with his tutor to make the grand tour, and the bride was sent back to her mother. Lord Marsh remained abroad for several years, after which he returned to London, a well-educated, handsome young man, but in no haste to meet his wife, whom he had never seen except upon the occasion of their hasty marriage. So he tarried in London to amuse himself. One night at the Opera, his attention was attracted to a beautiful young lady in one of the boxes. "Who is that?" he asked of a gentleman beside him. "You must be a stranger in London," was the reply, "not to know the toast of the town, the beautiful Lady Marsh." The Earl went straight to the box, announced himself and claimed his bride. The two fell in love with each other on the spot, and lived long and happily and when the husband died she also died of a broken heart within a few months.

Long Words.

Big words are great favorites with people of small ideas and weak conceptions. They are often employed by men of mind when they use language that may best conceal their thought. With few exceptions, however, illiterate and half educated persons use more "big words" than people of thorough education. It is a very common but very egregious mistake to suppose that long words are more genteel than short ones—just as the same sort of people imagine that high colors and flashy figures improve the style of dress. They are the kind of folks who don't begin, but always "commence." They don't eat and drink, but "partake of refreshments." They are never sick, but "extremely indisposed." And instead of dying, at last, they "decease." The strength of the English language is in the short words—chiefly monosyllables of Saxon derivation—and people who are in earnest seldom use any other. Love, hate, anger, grief, joy, express themselves in short words and direct sentences; while cunning, falsehood and affectation delight in what Horace calls verba sesquepedalia—words "a foot and a half long."

Trusting to Chance.

A Long Branch correspondent has the following concerning Strakosch:

Everybody knows that Max had a hard time of it at the opening, but few know how near he was to suspension of performances. One day he looked over his books and found himself $42,000 out of pocket, with $7 and two lucifer matches left. He departed with this pleasant information to the Elysian Fields in Hoboken, and tramped up and down in that cheerful neighborhood almost insane. His hands came on those two lucifer matches, and he broke each into three pieces.

"Odd and I suspend, even and I go on," and up went the six little sticks of fate.

He caught two, went back to the Academy of Music, and came out ahead at the end of the season.

An Illustrated Paper.

The Philadelphia All Day City Item of the 17th, contains a picture of Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher, P. T. Barnum, Billy Edwards the winner of the late prize fight, Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, a balloon and Sam Collyer, the loser of the fight. They are all pretty, but the prize fighters are the prettiest.

Chinese Stock Speculators.

The Carson Appeal says: The denizens of the celestial quarter of Carson are not the impecunious wretches which they might be mistaken for. They save up many a score of gold pieces and are ready to take a hand in any enterprise that promises favorable result. The North Carson mine having been so favorably spoken of upon the streets, and the notices which appeared in the Appeal having come to the notice of the Chinamen, they determined to test the matter for themselves, and accordingly two of their number finding where the mine was situated, went thereto and, without the knowledge of any one, took quite a large sample of the ore and had it assayed, and also tested it in their own peculiar way. The result was that a moon-eyed imigrant from the land of the sun wended his way to the store of Mr. Brown (the office of the company), and inquired for "stock." The proprietor understood him "socks" and showed him that article, but John replied, "Me no likee sock, me catchee 'em mining stock." He was accommodated with one hundred shares. Others have purchased five hundred shares, and we are informed that negotiations are pending for five thousand more. Score one for the Chinamen.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Maguire's New Theatre.

"The Lady of Lyons" was performed last night by Miss Jeffreys Lewis, W. G. Coggswell, E. J. Buckley, E. Arnot, Miss Mary Wells, and others. To night "Divorce," always a popular play will be presented with a very strong cast. On Thursday night Miss Jeffreys Lewis, whose merit the public of San Francisco have scarcely yet learned to appreciate will take her farewell benefit. She will appear on this occasion as Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet." We believe there are enough people in San Francisco who appreciate good acting to crowd the house on this occasion.

Opera House.

The new bill presented at this house last night proved a decided success. The gymnastic feat performed by Miss Lottie and her brother and sister, Frank and Kattie, has never been paralleled in this city, and last night excited a perfect furore. Billy Emerson is a host in himself, Ernest Linden's new songs are extremely popular, and the great company of stars engaged at this house give an entertainment which eclipses that presented by any other combination in the United States, not excepting the famous San Francisco Minstrels, who have just commenced a new season in New York.

California Theatre.

The wonderful Vokeses are in the last week of their engagement at this house and are as popular as ever. Their performance of "The Wrong Man in the Right Place" last night, was preceeded by the comedy of "True to a Fault" admirably acted by Miss Jennie Lee, Miss Ellie Wilton, J. P. Burnett, Nelson Decker, Robert Pateman, and others. The Vokeses play is as full of fun as an egg is full of meat, and the capital singing and acting of Miss Victoria Vokes and Fred Vokes formed as great a feature as the fun. Miss Rosina Vokes has in this piece an opportunity to display her comic talent, and availed herself of it fully. She kept the audience laughing all the time she was on the stage. The International Quadrille, introducing the music and style of dancing prevailing in England, Ireland, Scotland and America, was a grand success, and the curtain fell to shouts of applause. The same bill will be played to-night.

Mechanics' Institute Fair.

The Fair continues to attract thousands of people, and as additions are daily being made to the collection of industrial and artistic objects of attraction, there seems no probability of the attendance falling off.

Platt's Music Hall.

Dr. Healy's Hibernian Gems is drawing great houses; the beautiful pictures of Ireland, the historical lecture, the admirable acting of John Moran who appears as Barney the Guide, the sericomic songs of Wally Price, and the other attractions offered suffice to crowd the house every night.

Bella Union Theatre.

This always popular variety theatre never did such a rushing business as it is doing at present. Variety is charming, and here the public can find it. Miss Kate Raymond O. B. Collins and others in the drama of "Jack Sheppard," Miss Lizzie Watson, Harry Braham, Matt Kelly, Tommy Bree, Cal Mandeville and others in amusing specialties, acts, songs and dances, and many other attractions are offered.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

"The Four O'Clock Train," Johnny Tuers in song and dance, "A Manager's Troubles," "Capt. Blowhard's Troubles" and "The Parents Warning," and an infinite variety of other performances suffice to crowd this house nightly.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Notes.

Jake Wallace, Little Mack, James Cotton, Carl Williams, J. Willis and others have returned from a most successful engagement in the towns on Humboldt Bay, and are about to start on a tour through other portions of the State. They cannot fail to please. Their route is published in another column.

T. J. Vivian, of the Open Letter, is the regular authorized San Francisco correspondent of the New York Spirit of the Times.

Miss Amy Stone was playing "Led Astray" and the "New Magdalen," last week, in Victoria, V. I., to good houses.

The Templeton Troupe, performed at Dutch Flat on Friday and Saturday. They have done well in California.

The Coleman Sisters, who have not yet appeared in San Francisco, performed at Redwood City, on Saturday.

A large number of amateur singers will compete to-morrow evening, at the free and easy, at Shepherd's saloon, No. 19 Geary street, for two silver, gold mounted goblets, to be awarded to the best sentimental and the best comic singer.

At the Fair.

Messrs. Bradley & Rulofson have a magnificent display of Photographic Art, at the Fair, in the Art Gallery. This firm received the gold medal at Philadelphia for the best Photographs in the United States. Gallery, 429 Montgomery street. Don't go home without giving this gallery a call. 7-v

Music Hath Charms.

Pianos tuned and repaired, at moderate prices and satisfaction guaranteed, by one that understands the business. Also, will perform on Piano at Evening Parties, etc. Orders left at 754 Market or 54 Third street, will receive prompt attention by G. W. Morgan. 4-v*

Chair and Basket Factory.

The Buckeye Chair and Basket Factory, Walter W. Moses, & Co., proprietors, 920 and 922 Market street, is prepared to execute orders (whole sale and [retail] for carriages, cradles, chairs, wood baskets, market baskets etc. The Buckeye, sells everything low as any other responsable house. 7-bg

What Cheer Laundry

Is the best Laundry in San Francisco

IN SUMMER TIME.

BY L. G. WARNER.

Little young Timothy, how he grew,
Timothy Grass of the meadow;
He grew in the rain, he grew in the wind,
In the sunshine and in the shadow.

At last he was up so very high—
So sturdy and tall and stately—
He looked all over the big, wide world,
And found himself pleased with it greatly.

And looking one day—one sweet June day,
So dreamy and soft and hazy,
He spied—what was it so fair and bright?
A dear little happy young daisy.

How fair she was—fairer than moon or cloud!
How gentle her face and cheery!
He gazed at her fondly all day long,
And never once was he weary,

And when all the tired little meadow-flowers,
And the birds and the bees were sleeping,
And only the owl in the far-off wood
His night-watch lonely was keeping.

So bright she shone through the deep still night,
In the eyes of her longing lover,
She seemed to be one of the gleaming stars,
Dropped down from the sky above her.

So Timothy wooed her his very best,
Till her heart with true love was filling;
And at last, with a shy little flutter and shake,
She answered him back, "I am willing."

So a wedding gay, one bright sweet day,
Set all the lily-bells ringing;
The breezes came floating from over the hill
The breath of the clover bringing.

And the larks and bobolinks came, their joy
In wildest song expressing;
And the buttercups gave their rarest gold,
And the grasses waved their blessing.

And happily glided their days away
In the wonderful midsummer glory,
Till the scythe of the thoughtless mower came
To end their lives—and my story.

Not to be Frightened.

An old French shoemaker, who boasted that nothing could frighten him, was put to the test by two young men. One of them pretended to be dead, and the other, going to the shoemaker, induced him to "sit up" with the supposed corpse. The shoemaker was in a hurry with some work he had promised to have completed the next morning. So he took his tools and leather and began working beside the corpse. About twelve o'clock at night a cup of black coffee was brought him to keep him awake. He drank it and resumed work. About one o'clock, the coffee having exhilarated him, forgetting that he was in the presence of death, he commenced to sing a lively tune, keeping time with his hammer. Suddenly the corpse arose, and exclaimed in a hollow voice: "When a man is in the presence of death he should not sing!" The shoemaker started, then suddenly dealt the corpse a blow on the head, exclaiming at the same time: "When a man is dead he should not speak." It was the last time they tried to scare the shoemaker.

Dining out in England.

The Danbury man says: "One English dinner in the inexperienced American stomach will produce that night, 12 cross-eyed lions; 8 bears with calico tails; 11 giants with illuminated heads; 1 awful dog with 12 legs; and 14 bow-legged ruffians chased by host of piratical cauliflowers, mounted on saddles of beef, roasted. Any respectable chemist will corroborated this statement."

Not Musical Instruments.

There is one recent decision of the Treasury Department in which a thankful public, or the adult portion of it at least, will readily acquiesce. It is that children's whistles, tin horns, etc., are a "not musical instruments."

The Custom in Chicago.

Chicago women are cool. When a husband is brought home dead, his wife does not utter a single howl until she has searched his pockets and satisfied herself that he hadn't any letters from any other woman, then she gives way to her grief.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc. printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-oj

The Fall.

The fall of man was a very lamentable event in one way of looking at it, but if it had not taken place the splendid Hats which are sold at "The Hat Store" 647 Washington street, would never have come into fashion. We make this remark apropos of the fact that this establishment has just introduced the new Fall and Winter styles.

Removal—"White House" Restaurant

The popular and well known Dining Saloon "White House", 112 Kearny street, Louis Meyer Proprietor, will remove Saturday the 28th July, to his new and more commodious premises 211 Sutter street, near the Centre Market. Mr. Meyer, in his new and elegant premises, will be able to better accommodate his numerous patrons. 7-bg

CENTRE MARKET.

Stalls 39 and 40 are occupied by Kerlin & Hassard, dealers in fruits, vegetables, etc., o the best and freshest. Delivered free of charge.

Stall 3, makes a magnificent show of fresh meats. Jos. O. de Volt & Co., wholesale and retail dealers, have one of the nicest stalls in the market. Restaurants and families will find it to their advantage to give them a call.

Stalls 74 and 75 are taken by the pioneer Poultry and Game dealers, Benjamin & Strasser. The finest Poultry and Game, and the Freshest Butter and Eggs in the city. 7-x

BOSTON OYSTER HOUSE.—L. O. Pratt ha opened stalls 89 and 90 in Centre Market. Oysters in every style. Chops and Steaks of the choicest. Ladies private rooms up stairs, 7-x

Stalls 91, 92 and 93, have been opened by Anderson & Marshall as the Long Branch oyster house. They are among the oldest oyster men in the city.

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow,
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Orville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Ackerman's Grand Opening.

The public are specially invited to attend the opening of Ackerman's Grand Central Variety Establishment, on Monday evening at seven o'clock. The various departments of this magnificent establishment will be thrown open for inspection. No Goods will be sold on this occasion. No. 209 Sutter street, near Kearny street. 8-bg

The Fair affords an agreeable lounging place for the ladies. The gentlemen's popular resort is Chapman & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, northeast corner of Bush and Kearny streets, with the entrance on Bush. There they assemble nightly to play billiards, discuss new plays and new actors, and enjoy the good wines, liquors and cigars always kept here. 6-x

Re-Opened.

The Hot Scotch Saloon, 336 Bush street, between Kearny and Montgomery, has been purchased by Capt. Geo. Caleb and Thos W. Reid and thoroughly renovated. It will be opened on Wednesday evening, the 26th inst., with first-class Liquors of all kinds. Chowder every evening as usual.

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions, Club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relief by applying at Dr. R. H. Cowan's Institute, removed to 212 Kearny street, from 1 to 6 P.M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. References given if required. x

Great Bargains in Clothing:

WAR CLAIM AGENCY,
No. 34 Montgomery Block,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
W. H. AIKEN, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW AND Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in California and Nevada, gives prompt attention to the collection of Additional Travel Pay, now due California and Nevada Volunteers discharged more than three hundred miles from home. Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply, and state company and regiment, and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional Bounty under Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875 so all now claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 2d, 1861, for three years, if not paid the same when discharged. Land Warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed to Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted Pensions to surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. H. Aiken also attends to General Law and Collection business. jy26-tf

Gould's "Ghost."

T. B. Gould, the Boston sculptor, has produced in marble the "Ghost of Hamlet." It consists of a head, bearded, helmeted and plumed, chisseled in high relief on a sunk oval set into a square. The Boston Advertiser says of this effort. "Here is a shadow in marble, yet a distinct personality of keen and varied expression. It is a spirit striving to become an apparition, and showing the strain of the endeavor. As one looks longer the piteousness of the whole expression grows—especially, again, in the wonderful eyes; the countenance, grim, and 'perturbed' as it is, is seen to be 'more in sorrow than in anger,' and even the dread frown seems tempered by the love and longing which led the father to seek his only son. In every line and aspect the head is most majestic and kingly, and by some subtle skill the effect of paleness, as required by the text of Shakspeare, seems to be imparted to the wasted cheeks."

A Problem Solved.

The New York Dispatch says: While attending a performance at Robinson Hall, where they do the "next to naked" business, a gentleman called our attention to the number of bald-headed men in the audience. Said he: "I don't understand it, but I've noticed the fact that wherever there is a performance that's considered deleterious to morality there you find crowds of bald-heads. And they always occupy the seats nearest the stage. How do you account for it? "Well," said we, looking wise, as most men do when they don't know what they're talking about, "we guess it's because they've heard that the performance is so shocking as to make everybody's hair stand on end. And they go to the performance to see if it's horrifying enough to make their hair take such a perpendicular position." He turned away, and he didn't ask us any more conundrums during the evening. He was not an admirer of levity.

Unappreciative Men.

The Police Commissioners of New York are harder on the guardians of the public peace than are our Commissioners. We take the following from the New York Dispatch:

Orpen, of the Thirty-second Precinct, was appointed in May last, but, young as he is in the force, he is entitled to a medal for getting up the most original excuse yet offered. The charge was smoking while on patrol duty. Boundsman Fisher said he saw him go through the motion of taking a cigar from his mouth. Coming up, he saw it in his hand, lighted. He said he was not smoking.

"What have you to say to that?" asked Commissioner Disbecker.

"I had my cigar in my hand," replied Orpen, "but I was not smoking. I picked it off a window sill. I thought there was powder in it, and it might explode."

"You thought it an infernal machine."

"That is the truth." Fined three days.

The originality of that policeman's excuse would certainly have got him off in San Francisco.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen:
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
Stop," said my friend. "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again,
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.
CHARLES HAAKE, Proprietor.

The Power of Conscience.

The Woonsocket (R. I.) Patriot is of the opinion that all the honest men aren't dead yet. This faith in mankind is caused by the fact that recently a man from Massachusetts called and settled a bill which had been standing against him for thirty-two years. It appears that he was driven from Rhode Island in 1842, in consequence of his connection with the "Dorr Rebellion," and had not been in the State since then. After reading this we feel that there is yet hope that the party who asked us to take a drink and then left us to pay for it, will turn up some day, and express sorrow for his sin, and pay us the amount with interest we disbursed on that inauspicious occasion. There is, however, one man who owes us something which we don't ever expect to have repaid. Some years ago, when we had faith in human nature, a young gentleman called on us and informed us that he was soliciting subscribers for a new edition of Shakspeare. He exhibited credentials, and showed us specimen copies of the book. We told him to enter our name on his book, and he did so, saying: "I suppose you know it is necessary that you should pay me one dollar to insure you the book. Our firm doesn't intend printing but a certain number, and it is a rule with them to accept no subscriber who does not prove his intention to take the book by an advance on the subscription." We paid that dollar, and we've never seen the book nor the agent since. We don't think that fellow will ever be compelled by his conscience to repay us that "advanced" money. The conscience of a book agent is like the Northwest Passage: There is no such thing.

Preying Round.

Mr. H. R. Haweis, the English clergyman, in a recent sermon told an entertaining story of a well-dressed, unhappy sort of gentleman who habitually calls on young ministers to talk about his religious difficulties. In mournful tones he first inquires whether he ought to pray in spiritual difficulties, and having that question settled satisfactorily he makes the same inquiry as to temporal difficulties. It then appears that these last are encompassing him in a painful manner, and that, having prayed persistently without effect, he is on the verge of total skepticism. Young minister, of course, rushes to the rescue with a pleasant sum, and the sad, sad victim of temporal difficulties goes gratefully weeping to the nearest other young clergyman until his little income is acquired. Mr. Haweis, after this experience, once found the poor man at the house of a brother in the church, and affably urged him to go on with his tale, but in vain, for he bounced desperately to the door and was seen no more.

An Urgent Steward.

Collector Buckley is scarcely in the position of the unjust steward, mentioned in the Holy Writ, as having wasted his lord's goods He has by no means made himself friends by his manner of handling the mammon of unrighteousness which he held in trust for the people. On the contrary, the evidence seems to show that Mr. Buckley went for the people individually as well as collectively. It is said that wherever he could double tax a dog, he did so, that he put double license on Chinese traders and pocketed the difference, and was not only dishonest, but particularly annoying in his style of robbery. Now, Mr. Buckley, has no friends. "Make unto yourselves friends of the mammon of unrighteousness," that when you get kicked out of one office you may obtain another.

A Chicago Love Scene.

It was a Chicago lady who, in answer to the query, "What are the Happiest Moments in Life?" replied: "When the Judge has handed you the divorce papers, and the other fellow is standing in front of the court room, with a carriage ready, to convey you to the minister's. Then, if you don't feel happy, your chances are not lively for joy on this side of the tomb."

Grief to the Owls.

Dr. Schliemann writes to the London Academy that he has solicited and obtained from the Greek Government permission to demolish at his own expense the great square tower in the Acropolis, known as the Venetian Tower, which seems to have been built in the fourteenth century. It occupies 1,600 square feet of the Propylæa, and consists of large square slabs of marble of common stone from various ancient monuments of the Acropolis and the theatre of Herodes Atticus; it measures eighty feet in height, and its walls are five feet thick. By the demolition of this tower, which will cost him £465, Dr. Schliemann renders a great service to science, for he brings to light the most interesting parts of the Propylæa, and is certain to find a vast number of interesting inscriptions, of which he has for three years the right of publication. The work began July 2, to the great delight of the Athenians, but to the grief of the thousands of owls by which the tower is inhabited. "But it is impossible," Dr. Schliemann says, "to please every one in the world."

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Opera House.

Miss Lottie, with her brother and sister, Frank and Kattie, the great Billy Emerson, Ernest Linden Miss Dutton, Billy Arlington, J. F. Oberist, and the other artistes making up the combination of talent at this theatre draw splendid houses. "The Aerial Voyage" is the sensation of the period.

California Theatre.

The sparkling comedietta of "Kind to a Fault" will be performed this evening by Miss Jennie Lee, Robert Pateman, Miss Ellie Wilton and others, and the Vokeses will appear in the Wrong Man in the Right Place." To-morrow evening "The Belles of the Kitchen" and "Faint Heart Never Won Fair Lady," will be performed.

Maguire's New Theatre.

Miss J. Freyer Lewis appeared to good advantage last night as Miss Fanny Ten Eyck in "Divorce," and received able support from Edward Arnott, W. H. Cogswell, Miss Mary Wells, and others. "Divorce" will be repeated to-night. To-morrow night Miss J. Freyer Lewis will take her farewell benefit, and appear as Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet."

Platt's Music Hall.

Dr Heath's "Hibernian Gems," with John Morgan as Paddy the Guide, is a very popular entertainment. There will be a matinee to-day and a performance this evening.

Mechanics' Institute Fair.

The Fair continues to attract thousands of people, and as additions are daily being made to the collection of industrial and artistic objects of attraction, there seems no probability of the attendance falling off.

Bella Union Theatre.

Miss Kate Raymond does some particularly good acting as Jack Sheppard, and O. B. Collins is very happy in his impersonation of the reckless Blueskin. Miss Lizzie Watson and Harry Braham, appear nightly in their specialties, Cook and Hart in song and dance and many others in acts, songs and dances.

Bachley's New Variety Theatre.

A host of popular performers appear nightly at this house in a great bill. The pathetic play of "The Parent's Warning" in which Frank Mortimore and Miss Maggie Brewer do some good acting, is one of the attractions at present.

The Gourlays.

Talent runs in families now-a-days. The Vokeses leave on Sunday, and on Monday, the Gourlays, who, like the Vokeses, give an entertainment by themselves, will commence an engagement at Maguire's New Theatre. The title of their entertainment is "Mrs. McGregor's Leaves," and affords opportunities for the display of Mr. Gourlay's talent in impersonation of Scotch characters and of the vocal talent of Mrs. Gourlay (nee Susan Goddard) and Miss Minnie Gourlay. Fun is always popular, and this is a distinguishing feature of the Gourlays' entertainment, which has been highly endorsed by the press of England and Australia.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most extensive collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An afternoon may be profitably spent here.

Burkhardt's 510 Washington street.

French calf boots made to order for $8; box calf gaiters made to order for $6; oxford tie shoes made to order for $4; boy's boots made to order for $5; and large assortment of boots and shoes, all of Burkhardt's own make, at equally low sales, at 510 Washington street. 9 s

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, near The San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc, printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 20 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 8-oj

FAIR AND FIFTEEN.

BY EDWARD GLYNDON.

She is the east just ready for the sun
Upon a cloudless morning. Oh, her cheek
Hath caught the trick of that first, delicate streak
Which says earth's lightward footsteps have begun.

And still her brow is like some Arctic height
Which never knows the full hot flush of noon;
She wears the seal of May, and not of June;
She is the new day, furthest off from night!

Luring in promise of all daintiest sweetness;
A bud with crimson rifting through its green;
The large, clear eyes, so shy their lids between,
Give hints of this dear wonder's near completeness.

For when the bud is fair and full like this,
We know that there will be a Queen of Roses
Before her cloister's emerald gate uncloses,
And her true knight unlocks her with a kiss!

And gazing on the young moon, fashioned slightly,
A silver cipher inlaid on the blue,
For all that she is strange and slim and new,
We know that she will grow in glory nightly.

And dear to the loving eyes as that first look
The watcher gets in the far, white mail,
This is new light on her face; she doth prevail
Upon us like a rare unopened book!

Sunday Theatricals.

The New York Dispatch says: "And has it come to this? It is wrong! It will not be allowed to go on! The theatrical profession is killed in this city if it does such a thing! Every man, woman and child that has a spark of godliness or self-respect will condemn it!"

Such were the remarks and censures uttered by a group of persons surrounding a bill-board on which was posted the announcement that a performance was to be given on Sunday evening at the Bowery Theatre, under the title of a Grand Sacred Concert, and such the gauntlet of queries, opinions and censures, through which the company wended their way to the theatre on that lovely Sabbath evening, sacrificing the much-needed rest and repose of mind to the over-strained mental and physical exactions of the actor's calling. Side by side and on the same pavement walked the minister of his church, to perform his evening service.

Was it sinful to him to allow a weary sigh to escape him, or silently wish that he could sit in a softly-cushioned pew and listen, without the great responsibility of being listened to? or, in the actor, to turn his eyes from the beauties of nature to the stern duties of his interpretation? To both, the question comes, "Am I prepared to teach my hearers?"

We entered the theatre at an early hour. The curtain was already drawn up, and remained so during the evening. We turned to watch the assembling auditors. Men, women and children, well clad, quiet and respectable-looking, filed in in rapid succession, took their seats, and but for the whispers and smiles of little family groups as some favorite name was read from the programme, no one could help remarking the reverential silence that pervaded the house. The boys in the gallery, with well-combed heads, clean faces, and eyes sparkling with anticipation, were a sight at once to suggest a fervent "Thank Heaven those boys are here, where instruction and amusement are given, and not in places where wickedness and sin are so easily learned." After the overture of appropriate music, the play commenced, and as each character appeared was greeted with a hearty welcome, that cheered and consoled the artists for their labors, and stimulated the actors to enter into the same vigorous interpretation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" as though it were a week-day night. The trials of the unhappy slave, whose unshaken faith supported him to the end; the narrow escapes of the devoted slave wife and child; the little untutored negro Topsy converted by the angelic Eva; the cruel planter's remorseful memories of his early childhood—all point a moral lesson of unequaled excellence, which was profoundly accepted by the audience, as many a moistened eye and a heartfelt wish for the continuance of such entertainments could testify.

The house is closed, the weary actor is trudging home to prepare for the next evening's labor. Our friend, the minister, has finished his work, and both are seeking rest, both actors in a good work; both seeking fame and fortune; both students; both studying and taxing to the utmost tension mind, heart and brain, in the ennobling exposition of lovely and divine nature, in gratitude to God for His kindly gifts. Then who shall say that, when the last trump shall sound, there will be any distinction between the followers of the pulpit and the stage by a beneficent Providence, whose acts are those of kindness and whose mantle is charity.

The Fall.

The fall of man was a very lamentable event in one way of looking at it, but if it had not taken place the splendid Hats which are sold at "The Hat Store" 647 Washington street, would never have come into fashion. We make this remark apropos of the fact that this establishment has just introduced the new Fall and Winter styles.

Music Hath Charms.

Pianos tuned and repaired, at moderate prices and satisfaction guaranteed, by one that understands the business. Also, will perform on Piano at Evening Parties, etc. Orders left at 754 Market or 54 Third street, will receive prompt attention by G. W. Morgan. 4-y

BOSTON OYSTER HOUSE.—L. O. Pratt has opened stalls 89 and 90 in Centre Market. Oysters in every style. Chops and Steaks of the choicest. Ladies private rooms up stairs. 7-z

Stalls 91, 92 and 93, have been opened by Anderson & Marshall as the Long Branch oyster house. They are among the oldest oyster men in the city.

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Night to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Ackerman's.

Have you visited Ackerman's Grand Central Variety Establishment? If not, you have not seen one of the new features of San Francisco. It is a Fair in itself, and visitors are invited to inspect the thousands of beautiful articles therein, and will be received with the utmost courtesy, whether they purchase or not. No. 269 Sutter street near Kearny. 8-bg

The Fair affords an agreeable lounging place for the ladies. The gentlemen's popular resort is Chapmen & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, northeast corner of Bush and Kearny streets, with the entrance on Bush. There they assemble nightly to play billiards, discuss new plays and new actors, and enjoy the good wines, liquors and cigars always kept here. 6-r

Re-Opened.

THURSDAY.....SEPTEMBER 3, 1874

We need Immigration.

We need immigration, but New York it appears wishes to be freed of its surplus labor by emmigration. An exchange of the 23d ult., says:

Too unemployed "muscle" which drifted hither, clamorous for work, is drifting back to Europe in its disappointment. Seven steamers left this port yesterday for Liverpool, Glasgow, Bremen and Havre, and the steerage in each case was crowded with poor working people "going home." Their departure will make it so much the better for those who remain. The labor market will not be so overstocked.

We wonder when these people will become aware that there is room for them in California, and that they can get far better wages here than they can in Europe. There is room in the United States for a few million more people, but a great many selfish people would rather they would stay away.

A Contrast.

In Brooklyn, the pious City of Churches, Henry Ward Beecher may still "walk the Heights" with smiling countenance, and be greeted by his neighbors as a saint. In Jersey City, a heathenish burgh, generally believed to be outside the limits of the Union, Glendenning, also a clergyman, is unmasked as a rogue, and the people rise up in indignation, denounce the crime in severe but just terms, and compel the scapegrace to fly the city for his safety. There is evidently a better sense of justice prevailing across the Hudson than on the other side of the East River.

A Child's Idea of the Deity.

A bright little miss of six or thereabouts was making what is known as a rag doll. Turning to her mother, she thoughtfully remarked: "Ma, didn't you say that God sees everything?" "Yes, dear; of course." "Well, I guess he'll laugh when he sees this doll, won't he?"

His Profession.

"What is your business?" asked a judge of a prisoner at the bar. "Well, I s'pose you might call me a locksmith." "When did you last work at your trade?" "Last night, when I heard a call for a perlice and I made a bolt for the front door."

A Seasonable Joke.

To see how eagerly a human being will catch at a straw, it is not necessary to witness a drowning. The phenomenon is now manifest chiefly within saloons, where one end of the straw is immersed in a tumbler

Be Careful.

It is true that there is nothing like advertising, but a public officer, with nothing but his salary of $2 000 a year to live on, should be careful not to give his wife more than $5,000 worth of diamonds at a time.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
Over which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend. "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
There's clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name.
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To those hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.
Pacific Oyster House, 837 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.

Asher's Squaw.

Isaac Ahaner has a cigar store, and in front of it until recently a splendid wooden squaw, for which he had paid ninety dollars. Every night, upon shutting up, he took the squaw tenderly into his store; but on the night of the 4th of July, owing to the heat, etc., he neglected to do so. Next morning the squaw was gone. Ruthless hands had carried her off. What had become of her? Isaac shuddered at the thought that she might have been profanely converted into kindling wood. He would not give her up, though, so easily. So he employed a detective to hunt for the carved lady. Next day the detective reported that there was a squaw answering the description given at a second-hand store on East Broadway. Thither Isaac sped on the wings of fond anticipation. He found the squaw. "It's mine!" he declared. "Hold on," said the owner of the store; "I have another one exactly like like it;" and, sure enough, from a corner he produced a different squaw, but a squaw in most respects an exact copy of the first. "Now," he said, triumphantly, to Isaac, 'pick out your squaw.' Isaac was in a quandary. "O, for a Solomon!" he thought; and then again:

"How happy I could be with either
Were t'other dear charmer away."

—for both squaws looked precisely like the one he had lost! He was compelled to leave the store amid the jeers of the owner, and pay the detective five dollars. Since then he has purchased a wooden Dundreary, and to prevent thieves from carrying that off, too, he has had his own name put in large gilt letters on his lordship's breast.

Noted Failures.

A writer in London Society says: "Monte Cristo," at the Adelphi, was as nearly damned as it could be on the first representation, some years ago; and not all the excellent acting of Mr. Fechter and Mr. B. Webster was able to stave off the bitter ridicule of an audience which refused to be patient toward midnight. But when the play was "out" it was a great success. Mr. Byron's "Prompter's Box," was an excellent play at the same theatre, very nearly failed from want of rehearsals. One of the strangest nights ever seen at a theatre was the first performance of "Oonagh," an Irish drama, by Mr. Falconer, at Her Majesty's Theatre. It was on a Saturday night; and it was of such an interminable length and so profoundly dull that the huge theatre emptied by degrees. Midnight came, still the characters went on talking. Half-past twelve struck, and the characters talked more than ever; a quarter to one, and no sign of a termination. At last, at one o'clock in the morning, three characters were standing in a row talking away their sesquipedalia verba, when a couple of carpenters, no doubt of Sabbatarian principles, or, at any rate, anxious to get home to supper and to bed, pulled rapidly away the cloth on which the three actors were standing. Down they all went in a row, and immediately after down went the curtain. If this had not happened, I firmly believe that "Oonagh" would have continued until the time when the unfortunate theatre was burned to the ground. I was one of the faithful dozen who remained true to "Oonagh," and who saw the wonderful finale of a most extraordinary play.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

The performance to-night will consist of the admirable comedy of "Faint Heart Never Won Fair Lady" and "The Belles of the Kitchen," in which the Vokeses appear to better advantage than in anything else which they have produced here. To-morrow night these talented artists will take their farewell benefit and will, of course, have an overflowing house.

Maguire's New Theatre.

This evening the popular young actress, Miss Jeffreys Lewis, will take her farewell benefit, and make her last appearance but one. She will appear for the first time here in the role of Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet," and will, we venture to prophesy, give as charming an interpretation of it as has ever been witnessed in this city. Miss Lewis deserves well at the hands of the public of San Francisco, and we trust they will avail themselves of this occasion to show their appreciation of one who has played many parts well. To-morrow night will be the last night of the season, on which occasion Mr. Edward Arnott will present an attractive bill for his farewell benefit and make his last appearance in this city.

Opera House.

Lottie, the graceful and charming gymnast, with her brother Frank and sister Katie, form a great attraction at this house, Billy Emerson appears in the first part and in his songs and original acts, Ernest Linden in his burlesque prima donna performances, and others in amusing acts.

Italian Opera.

An operatic performance will be given at Platt's Hall on Tuesday, September 8th, under the management of Charles Schutz. The opera of "Il Trovatore" will be presented with Signorina Ida Valerga as Leonora. Signora Ida Valerga is a California prima donna; she was born in this city and two years ago left for Italy, where she studied under the best masters and made a successful appearance at Milan. Signorina Frida de Gebele, prima donna contralto, will make her appearance on this occasion as Azucena, and Signor Pietro Bacci will sing the tenor role.

Platt's Music Hall.

There was a large attendance both at the matinee yesterday and in the evening, and all present thoroughly enjoyed the beautiful pictures of Ireland, the capital acting of John Moran, and the singing of Molly Price, Miss Jennie Moran and Miss Rose O'Reilly.

The Gourlays.

Talent runs in families now-a-days. The Vokeses leave on Sunday, and on Monday, the Gourlays, who, like the Vokeses, give an entertainment by themselves, will commence an engagement at Maguire's New Theatre. The title of their entertainment is "Mrs. McGregor's Levee," it affords opportunities for the display of Mr. Gourlay's talent in impersonation of Scotch characters and of the vocal talent of Mrs. Gourlay (nee Susan Goddard) and Miss Minnie Gourlay. Fun is always popular, and this is a distinguishing feature of the Gourlay's entertainment, which has been highly endorsed by the press of England and Australia.

Bella Union Theatre.

Harry Braham in his album of comic characters, Miss Lizzie Watson in her bouquet of melodies, Miss Kate Raymond and C. B. Collins in the drama of Jack Sheppard, Carl Mandeville in his budget of fun and numerous other attractions are offered at this house.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

Johnny Thers in song and dance and in amusing acts with Frank Mortimore and others, Miss Lizzie Worrell in dances, Mlle. Blanche in ballads and many other performances will be presented at this theatre to-night.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Notes.

Miss Mary Wells, of Maguire's New Theatre company, who played the very long and important part of Mrs. Ten Eyck in "Divorce" took an unannounced departure for the East yesterday morning. Not appearing at rehearsal, a messenger was sent for Miss Wells at her hotel, when it was learned she had not only "left on the morning train," but had also left the management behind in the lurch. As it was found impossible to procure any one to take the part in hand at so short a notice, and it being too late to put up another piece, the management was reluctantly compelled to omit the performance at the New Theatre last night. A telegram announcing the illness of the lady's husband was the cause of her sudden departure. As Miss Jeffreys Lewis, Miss Kate Browning, Mr. Arnott, and others have all pressing calls to report at once to the Eastern managers with whom they are engaged for the coming season, Manager Maguire has concluded to close his present dramatic season with Mr. Arnott's benefit on Friday night. The new company—mentioned elsewhere—will appear on Monday night.

W. G. Coggswell has received a telegram from Freligh, Manager of the Bowery Theatre tendering him an engagement of one year as leading man, to commence September 13th.

Lotta went East from Virginia City, on Monday.

Joe Murphy is drawing big audiences at Piper's Opera House.

Mrs. Chanfrau should have been here this morning, to commence rehersals of "Lady Lancarty." Her name is not announced among passengers to arrive this evening. The stage waits for Mrs. Chanfrau.

Ackerman's.

Have you visited Ackerman's Grand Central Variety Establishment? If not, you have not seen one of the new features of San Francisco. It is a Fair in itself, and visitors are invited to inspect the thousands of beautiful articles therein, and will be received with the utmost courtesy, whether they purchase or not. MY BROTHER JIM.

My brother Jim, my brother Jim,
How well do I remember him!
He was my senior by two years,
And I his junior nearly ten;
At least it so to me appears,
So much inferior I was then.

I loved him then because he was
The only boy that I could sauce,
Or boldly quarrel with, without
The fear of getting soundly licked—
Sometimes I would, without a doubt,
Go much too far and then get kicked.

Whenever I got in a fuss
With some boy ready for a "muss"
Who was almost my very size;
I'd always call for brother Jim;
He'd take the job off of my hands,
And very good it was in him.

How very proud was I, and bold,
To stand in safety off, and hold
(Behind some very handy tree
To keep the sun out of my eyes),
His coat and hat, and gladly see
That boy get polished in a trice!

Indeed, such was my modesty,
That I would much prefer that he Should win the honor and renown
Of every fight I had on hand
Than do't myself; the loss, I own,
Was something that I well could stand.

And he, I'm very proud to note,
My most original essays wrote—
Did my hard sums in Algebra—
Translated all my Latin dim,
And did my work while I would play;
Oh, how I loved my brother Jim!

I used to let him saw the wood
Just like a kindly brother should;
Permitted him to bear it in;
Allowed him all the fees to make;
I'd let him keep the garden clean;
I'd do most anything for his sake.

I never growled because he did
The work, to do which I was bid;
I shared with all I had to share—
Divided all my chores with him;
I helped him eat his oranges—
I was so good to brother Jim.

I used to let him take my place
In staying home of nights, and days
In which there was no school to bother;
I shared his joys and cakes with him—
There's nothing like a bigger brother,
If you had one like brother Jim!

Feminine Vagaries.

If to her share some female errors fall,
Look on her face, and you'll forget them all.

It makes a big difference when a lady faints away whether you bathe her temples with camphor or molasses.

A successful imitation of Whitby jet and very useful and handsome in jewelry is the vulcanite India-rubber.

The most fashionable ornament in jewelry now worn is the pendant, or locket—almost entirely substituting the brooch.

Cincinnati ladies at the watering-places won't go in bathing because it takes half-a-day to put the paint and powder on again.

When a Saratoga girl wishes to attend a masquerade, she appears in the costume of a sensible woman. Nobody recognizes her.

A housemaid in Chicago had her hair turned white in a single night last week. Cause—She fell head foremost into a flour barrel.

A woman in the surf is one thing, and a woman in a ball-room is quite another; the study of the first is sometimes the more interesting.

Somebody advertises a preparation for keeping a lady's hands free from chaps. A report that she has no money would do the same thing.

Among the importations for the coming season, are passementeries in separate designs; basque fronts and backs, sleeves, pockets, and apron-fronts having special trimmings.

Jet beads are extremely fashionable, and yet they have a rival in the shape of bluish steel beads, which are now come into fashion and are still more of a furour than jet was at first.

An exceedingly pretty fashion, introduced from abroad, gives toilettes of barred white organdie, with narrow pleatings of double tulle, also white, edging the flounces and dress-trimmings.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc. printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

The Fall.

The fall of man was a very lamentable event in one way of looking at it, but if it had not taken place the splendid Hats which are sold at "Toe Hat Store" 647 Washington street, would never have come into fashion. We make this remark apropos of the fact that this establishment has just introduced the new Fall and Winter styles.

Burkhardt's 540 Washington street.

French calf boots made to order for $8; box toed gaiters made to order for $6; oxford tie shoes made to order for $4; boy's boots made to order for $6; and large assortment of boots and shoes, all of Burkhardt's own make, at equally low sales, at 540 Washington street. 9 B

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Removal—"White House" Restaurant

The popular and well known Dining Saloon "White House", formerly 112 Kearny street, Louis Meyer, Proprietor, has removed to the new and more commodious premises 211 Sutter street, near the Centre Market. Mr. Meyer, in his new and elegant premises, will be able to better accommodate his numerous patrons. 7-bg

The Fair affords an agreeable lounging place for the ladies. The gentlemen's popular resort is Chapmen & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, northeast corner of Bush and Kearny streets, with the entrance on Bush. There they assemble nightly to play billiards, discuss new plays and new actors, and enjoy the good wines, liquors and cigars always kept here. 6-r

Re-Opened.

The Hot Scotch Saloon, 336 Bush street, between Kearny and Montgomery, has been purchased by Capt. Geo. Caleb and Thos W. Reid and thoroughly renovated. It will be opened on Wednesday evening, the 26th inst., with first-class Liquors of all kinds. Chowder every evening as usual.

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunons, Club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relief by applying at Dr. B. H. Cowan's Institute, removed to 212 Kearny street, from 1 to 6 P.M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. References given if required. 8

SUNDAY.....SEPTEMBER 4, 1874

Opening of the New Race Track.

The new track of the Bay District Association will be opened to the public to-morrow with a speeding around the track by some gentlemen's private teams, and a "match contest," three miles and repeat, between "Hiram" and "Sally Come Up." Several trotting and running horses will be shown, and Joe Daniels and Thad Stevens will be galloped together. This opening, for an Association of so much pretence, is a lamentably poor one. The admission will be $1. The association should vote a resolution of thanks to the gentlemen who so kindly lend themselves and their teams as part of the show, for without them there is not attraction enough to draw a corporal's guard. The inaugural of the new race track is a very weak one, and the opening week programme is wonderfully thin. There is but one horse of note entered for the running races. Neither Thad Stevens or Joe Daniels would enter for the little purses hung up by the Association. The highest purse offered is $700 for the first horse, $200 for the second, and $100 for the third. The Association should award the fourth horse something, if only a blanket or a sack of oats.

One way of Joking.

Some of those Eastern papers adopt the following method of manufacturing a funny paragraph: they first tell a lie and then found a joke on it. Here is an instance: One of San Francisco's billiard champions is a Chinaman; which is not at all wonderful, since every Chinese must have life-long practice in managing a queue.

A Genial Guardian.

The registrar of births, marriages, and deaths in New Haven, received the following letter the other day—names left out: "Dear Sir, —— ——, aged nineteen, having no parents, and she having appointed me her guardian, I hereby give my free and full consent to her marr age with —— ——, of Stratford, Ct., and may God have mercy on their souls!"

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
Over which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Stocked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name.
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

M. Quad on Popping.

Don't be too sudden about it. Many a girl has said "no" when she meant "yes", simply because her lover didn't choose the right time and pop the question gently.

Take a dark night for it, have the blinds closed, the curtains down and the lamp turned most out. Sit near enough to her so that you can hook your little fingers into hers. Wait until conversation begins to flag, and then quietly remark:

"Susie, I want to tell you something."

She will fidget around a little, reply "yes," and after a pause you can add;

"Susie, my actions must have shown—that is, you must have seen—I mean you must be aware that—that——"

Pause here for awhile, but keep your little finger firmly locked. She may cough and try to turn the subject off by asking you how you liked the circus, but she only does it to encourage you. After about ten minutes you can continue:

"I was thinking as I came up the path to night that before I went away I would ask you—that is, I would broach the subject nearest my—I mean I would know my——"

Stop again and give her hand a gentle squeeze. She may give a yank to get away, or she may not, in either case it augurs well for you. Wait about five minutes and then go on:

"The past year has been a happy one to me but I hope that future years will be still happier. However, that depends entirely upon you. I am here to-night to know—that is to ask you—I mean I am here to-night to hear from your own lips the one sweet——"

Wait again. It isn't best to be too rash about such things. Give her plenty of time to recover her composure, and then put your hand on your heart and continue:

"Yes, I thought as I was coming through the gate to-night how happy I had been, and I said to myself that if I only knew you would consent to be my—that is, I said if I only knew—if I was only certain that my heart had not deceived me and you were ready to share——"

Hold on—there's no hurry about it. Give the wind a chance to sob and moan around the gables. This will make her lonesome and call up all the love in her heart. When she begins to cough and grow restless, you can go on.

"Before I met you this world was a desert to me. I didn't take any pleasure in going black-berrying and stealing rare-ripe peaches, and it didn't matter whether the sun shone or not. But, what a change in one short year! It is for you to say whether my future shall be a prairie of happiness or a summer fallow of Canada thistles. Speak, dearest Susie, and say—and say that—

Give her five minutes more by the clock, and then add:

"That you will be—that is, that you will—I mean that you will be—be MINE!"

She will heave a sigh, look up at the clock and over to the stove and then, as she slides her head over your vest-pocket she will whisper:

"You are just right, I will!"

A Great Man Gone.

We take the following from the San Jose Mercury:

Professor Blot, the famous culinary artist, died August 27th, at his residence in Jersey City.—Overland Dispatch.

We don't know when we have felt more regret at the death of a public individual than when we read the above announcement. It is true that Sumner was a statesman, Greeley a philanthropist, and Blot was a cook. But then he was such a cook. Not one of your dyspepsia producers, a genuine cook, a cook scientifically and morally. And he was a philanthropist, too, having spent most of his life in teaching the Americans the true relation between the stomach and the brain. And he was also a moralist, one of the practical kind, for no unholy thoughts could enter the mind of a man fed on his dishes. And although not exactly a statesman, he laid the foundation on which statesmen are built, by instructing the people how to preserve a sound mind in a sound body. We remember some six or seven years ago, Professor Blot delivered a course of practical lectures in Chicago, cooking actual dinners and breakfasts on the stage, preparing every detail from the kindling of the fire to the announcement of "ready," in full view of the audience. His lectures were attended by crowds of ladies, each of whom brought her spoon to taste the dishes which were passed around after being cooked. Several of the husbands of these ladies we were acquainted with, and they informed us that after these lectures their kitchen expenses were reduced at least 30 per cent, and that there was an improvement in the quality of their board at least 200 per cent, and these very ladies had previously been counted as notable house-wives. And this brings us to the suggestion we have so often made in the Mercury: That some scientific cook like Blot, who can get up a good meal with a handful of charcoal and a few bits worth of provisions, should establish a school of cookery in San Jose. None but an artist need apply.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Maguire's New Theatre.

Miss Jeffreys Lewis, the able leading lady of Maguire's Dramatic Troupe took her farewell benefit last night. "Romeo and Juliet" was performed. Miss Lewis gave a delightfully natural impersonation of the heroine, Edward Arcott won much applause as Romeo. Mrs. Frank Rea did some good acting as the nurse, and the play was generally well performed. To-night, Edward Arnott, the leading man of the company will take his farewell benefit, and the entertainment which proved so acceptable last night will be repeated. This will close the dramatic season. On Monday the talented Gourlay's will commence an engagement in their novel entertainment, the leading characteristics of which are mirth and melody.

Opera House.

Miss Lottie, and her brother and sister, Frank and Kattie, continue great favorites at this house. She will appear this evening and at the matinee to-morrow in conjunction with Emerson's Minstrels in a great programme.

California Theatre.

The pleasant comedietta of "Faint Heart Never Won Fair Lady" by the regular company and "The Belle of the Kitchen" by the Vokeses constituted the entertainment last night. This evening a splendid bill will be presented on the occasion of the farewell benefit of this talented family. It will comprise "Nan the Good-for-Nothing," with Miss Rosina Vokes as Nan, "The Wrong Man in the Right Place" by the Vokeses, and "The Day After the Wedding." To-morrow the last Vokes matinee will be given, and the season will close in the evening with "Belles of the Kitchen," and "Kind to a Fault."

Platt's Music Hall.

The beautiful views of Ireland on exhibition here under the title of Dr. Healy's "Hibernian Gems," continue to draw good houses. There will be a matinee to-morrow.

ITALIAN OPERA AT PLAT'S HALL.—An operatic performance will be given at Platt's Hall on Tuesday, September 8th, under the management of Charles Schutz. The opera of "Il Trovatore" will be presented with Signorina Ida Valerga as Leonora. Signora Ida Valerga is a California prima donna; she was born in this city, and two years ago left for Italy, where she studied under the best masters and made a successful appearance at Milan. Signorina Frida de Gebele prima donna contralto, will make her appearance on this occasion as Azucena, and Signor Pietro Bacci will sing the tenor role.

MAGUIRE'S NEW THEATRE—GOURLAYS.—Talent runs in families now-a-days. The Vokeses leave on Sunday, and on Monday, the Gourlays, who, like the Vokeses, give an entertainment by themselves, will commence an engagement at Maguire's New Theatre. The title of their entertainment is "Mrs. McGregor's Levee," it affords opportunities for the display of Mr. Gourlay's talent in impersonation of Scotch characters and of the vocal talent of Mrs. Gourlay (nee Susan Goddard) and Miss Minnie Gourlay. Fun is always popular, and this is a distinguishing feature of the Gourlay's entertainment, which has been highly endorsed by the press of England and Australia.

Bella Union Theatre.

Miss Kate Raymond and C. B. Collins appear in "Jack Sheppard," Harry Braham in his photographs of comic character, Cal Mandeville and Matt Kelly in first part, Cook and Hart in "The O'Shaughnessy Guards," and Miss Lizzie Watson delights every one with her bouquet of melodies.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

Johnny Toers will appear this evening in song and dance. The pathetic drama of "The Parents Warning," and the acts of "Professor Fowler" and "Here She Goes And There She Goes." will form a portion of the entertainment.

Death of Madame Agatha States.

The telegraph yesterday brought the sad intelligence of the death of Madame Agatha States; which occurred in New York on the night of September 2d, after a comparatively brief illness, in the very prime of life and professional proficiency. The cause of her death is supposed to be a pulmonary affection, aggravated by a cold which subsequently developed into rapid consumption Misses Jennie and Agatha Maudeville came to California with the Pennsylvanians and appeared at the Metropolitan Theatre under the management of J. E. Johnson. Miss Agatha Maudeville married Mr. William States, in 1859, and devoted herself to the cultivation of her voice. In 1863 she appeared as Leonora in "Il Trovatore" with the Bianchi Opera Troupe. She received a grand benefit previous to going to Italy. In that land of song she made rapid progress, and returned to the United States after a few years an accomplished vocalist. In 1871 she played the most successful operatic engagement ever known in San Francisco. She then went to Australia where she was quite successful, returned here, made a few appearances, and in May last went to New York whence we now receive the news of her death.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS.—The Bedouin Arabs are the sensation at Woodward's. Their "Living Pyramids" and their great "Bridge of Bayonets" acts are wonderful feats of gymnastic skill. The Arabs on Saturday and Sunday, also a beautiful Blooming Orchird, a great rarity.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Ackerman's.

Have you visited Ackerman's Grand Central Variety Establishment? If not, you have not seen one of the new features of San Francisco. It is a Fair in itself, and visitors are invited to inspect the thousands of beautiful articles therein, and will be received with the utmost courtesy, whether they purchase or not. BURNS AND BEECHER.

[The following poem was written by Mrs. J. Webb, of Scotland, sixteen years ago, on the occasion of the appointment of Henry Ward Beecher to lecture at the celebration of Burns' 100th anniversary, January, 1867.]

I learn the task has fa'n to you
To gie the bard o' Ayr his due;
But me him wee;
He kept sweet Charity in view,
E'en for the De'il.

His few sma' fau'ts ye need na tell;
Folks say ye ne'er o'er guid yoursel;
But De'il may care;
Gin ye're but half as guid as Rab,
We'll ask nae mair,

Then diana seek to find a flaw;
But o'er his fau'ts a mantle thraw;
And leave the rest
To Him who made and tried the heart;
He kens the best.

A century hance, and wha ca' tell
What may be beta' yer kannie sel'l
Some holy preacher
May tak' the ostchels up for ane
Ca'd Harry Beecher.

I hae nae doubt ye'd like to ken
Wha 'tis that tak's the auld quill pen
To write this rhyme,
The knowledge wad be little worth—
I'm past my prime.

But when a lassie, young and fair,
I've wandered aft by bonnie Ayr
Wi' heartsome glee,
E'er fate's stern mandate sent me forth
Far o'er the sea.

Still Scotia's hills and Scotia's plains,
Her poets and her poets' strains
To me are dear—
A desert spring within my heart—
They claim a tear.

Olive Logan in Philadelphia.

The All Day City Item of the 26th ult., speaking of the Walnut Street Theatre says: On Monday, Mrs. Wirt Sykes, better known as Miss Olive Logan, whose books, lectures, news letters and comedies have made her name familiar in all parts of the country, will appear in a comedy from her own pen, entitled "The Woman That Talks." What she talks about we do not profess to know, but as Olive Logan generally talks and writes with point, piquancy and spirit upon all subjects, she will doubtless do so in the new piece.

"The Woman That Talks" contains only two scenes, one a Fifth avenue drawing room, the other Partridge's gardens, on the banks of the Hudson. Miss Logan will appear as Mrs. Merryweather, the talking woman, and in the course of the piece wear some $20,000 worth of millinery goods prepared in the latest styles by Worth, the celebrated man milliner of Paris. The jewels used by her in the piece will also be worth seeing. Miss Logan will be supported by Mr. and Mrs. Walcot, Mr. and Mrs. Chapman, Mr. Bailey, Mr. Howard, and other favorite artists.

We think Miss Logan lays too much stress upon the brilliancy of her costumes. If she expects millinery, said to be worth $20,000, to make "The Woman that Talks" a success, she is very seriously mistaken. Relying on Parisian costumes to save a weak piece has been attempted before with painful results to the person attempting.

The name of the play, "The Woman That Talks," sounds ominious. A talky piece, unless the language is as brilliant as "The School for Scandal," cannot succeed. There must be action in everything, and a comedy must move as rapidly as a drama.

Nor must Miss Logan rely upon her abilities as an actress, for, while she is pleasing and graceful, and intelligent, she lacks brilliancy and force. She is clever—nothing more.

We, however, hope for the best, and shall be glad to see Miss Logan and "The Woman That Talks" made a complete success.

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges moderate. D. G. M. Hepburn, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. 8-T

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc. printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-oj

The Fall.

The fall of man was a very lamentable event in one way of looking at it, but if it had not taken place the splendid Hats which are sold at "The Hat Store" 647 Washington street, would never have come into fashion, We make this remark apropos of the fact that this establishment has just introduced the new Fall and Winter styles.

CENTRE MARKET.

WHO OCCUPY THE STALLS.

Hepburn has opened stall 4, with fresh meats of all kinds. Families and restaurants supplied on the shortest notice.

Stall 38, Holm & Boyle have a splendid assortment butter, eggs, cheese and a general assortment of fancy groceries. Goods delivered free.

Stalls 39 and 40 are occupied by Kerlin & Hassard, dealers in fruits, vegetables, etc., of the best and freshest. Delivered free of charge.

Stall 3, makes a magnificent show of fresh meats. Jos. O. de Volt & Co., wholesale and retail dealers, have one of the nicest stalls in the market. Restaurants and families will find it to their advantage to give them a call.

BOSTON OYSTER HOUSE.—L. O. Pratt has opened stalls 89 and 90 in Centre Market. Oysters in every style. Chops and Steaks of the choicest. Ladies private rooms up stairs, 7-E

Stalls 91, 92 and 93, have been opened by Anderson & Marshall as the Long Branch oyster house. They are among the oldest oyster men in the city.

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Night to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Removal—"White House" Restaurant

The popular and well known Dining Saloon "White House", formerly 112 Kearny street, Louis Meyer, Proprietor, has removed to the new and more commodious premises 211 Sutter street, near the Centre Market. Mr. Meyer, in his new and elegant premises, will be able to better accommodate his numerous patrons. 7-bg

The Fair affords an agreeable lounging place for the ladies. The gentlemen's popular resort is Chapmen & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, northeast corner of Bush and Kearny streets, with the entrance on Bush. There they assemble nightly to play billiards, discuss new plays and new actors, and enjoy the good wines, liquors and cigars always kept here. 6-i

Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419 opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Coryille keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast.
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges moderate. D. G. M. Hepburn, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. 8-r

Removal—"White House" Restaurant

The popular and well known Dining Saloon "White House", formerly 112 Kearny street, Louis Meyer, Proprietor, has removed to the new and more commodious premises 211 Sutter street, near the Centre Market. Mr. Meyer, in his new and elegant premises, will be able to better accommodate his numerous patrons. 7-bg

The Fair affords an agreeable lounging place for the ladies. The gentlemen's popular resort is Chapmen & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, northwest corner of Bush and Kearny streets, with the entrance on Bush. There they assemble nightly to play billiards, discuss new plays and new actors, and enjoy the good wines, liquors and cigars always kept here. 6-r

Chair and Basket Factory.

The Buckeye Chair and Basket Factory, Walter W. Moses, & Co., proprietors, 920 and 922 Market street, is prepared to execute orders (whole sale and retail) for carriages, cradles, chairs, work baskets, market baskets etc. The Buckeye, sells everything low as any other responsible house. 7-bg

The Green Room.

This popular resort of the professian and all spirtsmen who can appreciate good liquors and a good lunch, is directly opposite the California Theatre. It has just been beautifully dressed and is now a modle of taste and elegance. Everybody goes to the Green Room between the acts. x

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions, Club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relief by applying at Dr. E. H. Cowan's Institute, removed to 212 Kearny street, from 1 to 4 P.M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. References given if required. x

AUSTRALIAN THEATRICALS.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

SYDNEY, N. S. W., July 31st, 1874.

DEAR FIGARO:—Things theatrical are very, very dull, and at the present time the opera and a variety company are the principal attractions here. At the Victoria Theatre the Italian opera, under the management of Messrs. Lyster & Cagli has met with good success. Their season is for about eight weeks, and after that we are to have Miss May Howard in the "Wandering Heir," "The New Magdalen," "Geneva Cross," and, of course, "Solid Silver." I am sorry to say that she has not been the success that was prophesied for her; as one Colonial remarked, 'There is more Worth in her costumes than her acting." At present she is at Adelaide, Victoria, to remain for three weeks; from thence to Maitland and Newcastle, playing one week in each place. Mr. and Mrs. Bates are meeting with great success through the Colonies, and are very great favorites with the Sydney people. At present they are at Brisbane.

MELBOURNE.

The "Girards" are the sensation at Melbourne and are spoken of as wonderful. After playing eight weeks there they go to Adelaide for two weeks. Mr. Lynch (who came here as advance agent for J. T. Raymond, who did not come), is acting as agent for them. The Williamses, James and Maggie, with James Moore, have not yet opened anywhere, nor are they underlined at present; but I hear they commence at Prince of Wales Theatre very shortly. Messrs. Scott & Boyd, with the "Hibernica," did a wonderful business here, it being something new in the Colonies. Charles Sutton and Rockfeller have taken a troupe to New Zealand. There is also a Japanese company over there under the management of Mr. T. King.

QUEEN'S THEATRE

The wonderful Box Trick (not like the kicked one at California Theatre,) is a grand success, and is introduced by Mr. Harry Montague, who has paid dearly for this whistle. Harry Rickards intends shortly to visit California, and will prove successful I am sure. He is one of the best London character singers I have ever seen, and has improved wonderfully since I saw him in London some years ago, at the Metropolitan. Fred Lyster is in Melbourne awaiting David Dundreary Garrick, who does not come, so I expect he will shortly go to London. Blondin and Madame Arabella Goddard, who were lately wrecked in the 'Flintshire" en route from India to Australia, have arrived safely. Blondin is performing successfully at Brisbane, Queensland, and Madame Goddard and piano arrived per "City of Brisbane" at this port to-day. She commences a series of piano forte recitals about August 10th, at "Society of Arts," lately occupied by Emerson Minstrels. Barlow and his troupe are now playing there to poor houses. Charles Weightman, the "Man-Fish," commences a six weeks' engagement, August 21st, at Queen's Theatre.

I was asked the other day if the account of the munificent gifts of James Lick, Esq., was not an Americanism originating from a newspaper report. They can scarcely credit that ONE man can donate so much money for the purposes named.

I think if you were to start a branch FIGARO here you would make a sensation as well as money, for there are only window bills used, and only those from the Victoria Theatre.

Hoping by return of mail to receive a few numbers of FIGARO, I remain, yours,

"POISSON."

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T,"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.

Stalls 91, 92 and 93, have been opened by Anderson & Marshall as the Long Branch oyster house. They are among the oldest oyster men in the city.

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

The Fall.

The fall of man was a very lamentable event in one way of looking at it, but if it had not taken place the splendid Hats which are sold at "The Hat Store" 647 Washington street, would never have come into fashion. We make this remark apropos of the fact that this establishment has just introduced the new Fall and Winter styles.

Ackerman's.

Have you visited Ackerman's Grand Central Variety Establishment? If not, you have not seen one of the new features of San Francisco. AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

OPERA HOUSE.—The entertainment given at this house has drawn crowded houses during the week, and has given general satisfaction. Billy Emerson, Ben Cotton, W. F. Baker, J. T. Oberist J. G. Russell, appear in the First Part. Ernest Linden presents his burlesque prima donna business, Billy Arlington, Billy Rice and J. F. Oberist, appear in "The Piccic Skirmishers," Emerson presents some of his best specialties, J. K. Kemble and others play the ethiopean farce of "Somebody's Coat," Ben Cotton and Billy Arlington perform "Ambidextrous Feats" and this rich evening's entertainment concludes with the extraordinary and perilous feat entitled "The Aerostatic Voyage" performed with wondrous grace by Miss Lottie, Frank and Katie.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—A splendid bill was presented at this house last night, for the farewell benefit of the Vokeses. The performance commenced with the pleasing comedietta of "The Day After the Wedding," which was admirably played by Barton Hill as Colonel Free Love, Miss Belle Pateman as Lady Elizabeth, Mrs. Judah as Mrs. Davis. This was followed by the farce of "Nan the Good-for-Nothing," in which Miss Rosina Vokes convulsed the audience with laughter by her piquant acting in the role of the irrepressible Nan. It is safe to say that there never was so much funny business introduced in the part before. "The Wrong Man in the Right Place," terminated the entertainment. This last named piece will be played at the matinee to-day, and this evening, the Vokeses will close their highly successful engagement appearing in "Belles of the Kitchen." The first piece will be "Kind to a Fault," performed by J. P. Burnett and others whose names appear on our first page.

MAGUIRE'S NEW THEATRE.—The dramatic season at this house closed last night with a farewell benefit to Edward Arnot. "Romeo and Juliet" was performed. We noticed this play when it was presented the previous night for the benefit of Miss Jeffreys Lewis. The theatre will be closed this evening and on Monday the Gourlays will commence an engagement and present an entertainment which cannot fail to gratify the popular demand for good music, pleasing vocalism and screaming fun.

ITALIAN OPERA AT PLATT'S HALL.—An operatic performance will be given at Platt's Hall on Tuesday, September 8th, under the management of Charles Schutz. The opera of "Il Trovatore" will be presented with Signorina Ida Valerga as Leonora. Signora Ida Valerga is a California prima donna; she was born in this city and two years ago left for Italy, where she studied under the best masters and made a successful appearance at Milan. Signorina Frida de Gebele prima donna contralto, will make her appearance on this occasion as Azucena, and Signor Pietro Bacci will sing the tenor role.

PLATT'S NEW MUSIC HALL.—Dr. Healy's Hibernican Gems, form an entertainment which has proved very popular. There will be a matinee to-day and a performance in the evening. Beautiful views of Ireland are presented and John Moran, Miss Jennie Moran, Molly Price and Miss Rose O'Rielly appear at each entertainment in songs, acts and dances.

PACIFIC HALL.—Johnny and Jennie Moran, the "Barney the Guide" and "Norah" of the Hibernia Gems, are to have a complimentary benefit at this hall on Tuesday evening, when a host of volunteers will appear and a very big bill will be given.

NEW BELLA UNION THEATRE.—This evening, Cook and Hart will appear in song and dance, Harry Braham the popular comique, will present his comical impersonations, Miss Lizzie Watson in her bouquet of melodies, Cal. Mandeville in his budget of fun, Miss Susie Robinson will appear in song and dance, and the ever popular Miss Kate Raymond and the sterling actor Mr. O. B. Collins in the play of "Jack Sheppard."

BUCKLEY'S NEW VARIETY THEATRE.—The screaming act of "The Oakland Ghost," Johnny Ticrs in song and dance, Frank Mortimore, Miss Maggie Brewer, and others in "The Parents Warning," Miss Lizzie Worrell in dances, and a great number of other attractions are offered this evening and to-morrow evening.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS.—The Bedouin Arabs are the sensation at Woodward's. Their "Living Pyramids" and their great "Bridge of Bayonets" acts are wonderful feats of gymnastic skill. The Arabs on Saturday and Sunday, also a beautiful Blooming Orchird, a great rarity.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—Captain Foster, the genial host of the Cliff House, entertains visitors from all parts of the Globe at his famous sea-side resort. The Cliff House is THE one thing San Francisco has to boast of as different from anything else in the world. Omnibuses run every day from the terminus of the Lone Mountain Railroad.

GOLDEN GATE PARK.—Those who drive out to the new park should visit The Villa which has just been opened. Here they will find four public parlors and ten private dining rooms. Guido Mangenberg, the proprietor, gets up epicurean breakfasts, dinners and suppers at short notice.

GRAND SUNDAY EXCURSION.—The steamer Antelope leaves San Francisco every Saturday at 2:30 P. M. and on Sunday at 8 A. M. from Front Street Wharf, connecting with the cars of the S. F. & N. P. Railroad at Donahue for Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Healdsburg and Cloverdale. Excursion tickets are issued at reduced rates, and are good from Saturday to Monday. Those who wish to enjoy a little country air at the end of the week could not choose a finer trip than this excursion offers.

NOTES.—The Vokes will start for Salt Lake on Sunday, and will proceed thence to the East. They will go to London in time for the pantomime season.

Ben Plympton, formerly of the California Theatre, is playing at Wallack's with Toole, and is getting good notices in the papers.

Porter has been for some time past painting new scenery for "Lord Clancarty," in which Mrs Chanfrau will appear on Monday. This popular artiste and estimable lady will commence her engagement at the California Theatre, on Monday next, when she will produce, under a special arrangement with the author, and for the first time in America, Tom Taylor's new drama "Lady Clancarty," now near the two hundredth night of its run in London. A Chicago contemporary remarks of Mrs. Chanfrau: Her celebrity as an artist dates from her exquisite performance of Ophelia in support of Edwin Booth's Hamlet, at his Theatre in New York, during the Winter of 1864. It will be remembered that the play had a run of one hundred nights, something unprecedented in the case of such a standard Shakesperean play. Mrs. Chanfrau's poetic and beautiful conception of the part contributed greatly to the success of the season, and elicited from the most critical judges a degree of enthusiastic admiration rarely vouchsafed, even to brilliant talents. Subsequently to this she has associated her name very successfully to a number of roles. There are few actresses on the American stage so lovely and attractive in person and in character, and her quiet, natural, refined style of acting is a luxury after the broad effects that seem to be aimed at by most of those who make the stage a profession. As an actress we regard her as one of the very best on the stage.

Madame Anna Bishop and Troupe are due here on Monday from Portland by the steamer John L. Stephens.

Harry Clark and Miss Laura (his wife), trapeze performers and gymnasts; A. Trueworthy a manfish performer and calcium light operator; Frank Blanchett, a contortionist, who came here with the Black Crook Company; and Harry Cauuland, the musical clown, left by the Panama steamer on Thursday, with professional designs on South America in general, and on Lima and the World's Fair to be held in about three months hence in Santa Iago, in particular. This will make a good working variety company to please the eye, just the kind that will be likely to take in those latitudes, and we hope they will have good enough luck there to overbalance their bad luck in California.

Talent runs in families now-a-days. The Vokeses leave on Sunday, and on Monday, the Gourlays, who, like the Vokeses, give an entertainment by themselves, will commence an engagement at Maguire's New Theatre. The title of their entertainment is "Mrs. McGregor's Levee," it affords opportunities for the display of Mr. Gourlay's talent in impersonation of Scotch characters and of the vocal talent of Mrs. Gourlay (nee Susan Goddard) and Miss Minnie Gourlay. Fun is always popular, and this is a distinguishing feature of the Gourlay's entertainment, which has been highly endorsed by the press of England and Australia.

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

SACRAMENTO.—The Langrishe & Glenn Black Crook Troupe opened at the Metropolitan Theatre on Wednesday evening to $940, the house being crowded. The attendance on the following night was equally large. During the performance a panic occurred. Plastering from the ceiling began to fall on the audience and a cry of earthquake was raised. The audience became demoralized and piled themselves on the top of one another in the most indiscriminate manner. The panic was caused by a number of men and boys who had got between the ceiling and the roof for the purpose of witnessing the performance through the dome ventilator. Manager Langrishe stepped forward and explained, and calmed the excited multitude. The performance was much admired, the dancing of Miles. Baretta and Kelsey being especially applauded. These two ladies were by the by in the original "Black Crook" when produced at Niblo's.

GRASS VALLEY.—The Templeton Star Alliance showed here September 2d.

STOCKTON.—Langrishe & Glenn's Black Crook Troupe played here on Tuesday to $860.

VICTORIA, V. I. Miss Fanny Morgan Phelps who has Miss Amy Stone and Mrs. Stone under engagement, reports to FIGARO that business has been good with "Led Astray," "The New Magdalen and other plays.

CHICO.—Little Mac's Minstrels are billed here for the 7th and 8 h.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

In New York at latest dates, "Belle Lamar," which has undergone many improvements since its production, was being played.....At the Fifth Avenue Theatre, Augustin Daly's new play "What Should She Do? or Jealousy" was produced on the 25.h ult.....Speaking of the opening of the Union Square Theatre for the regular season, the New York Dispatch says: After the unmitigated trash with which the stage of this excellent theatre was defiled a few weeks ago it was a treat of no ordinary description to witness on Wednesday evening a play that in itself, pure and healthy, was represented by one of the strongest casts it has been our good fortune to witness in a very long time. The dramatization of "Jane Eyre" has been effected with admirable skill and the vicissitudes of the heroine of Charlotte Bronte's beautiful work, afford firm scope for the genius of an able actress, such as Miss Charlotte Thompson, the present representative of the part, undoubtedly is. Fred Robinson played Rochester and was highly spoken of .....At Wallack's, J. L. Toole appeared on the 17th ult, in "Paul Pry" and in the farce of "Off the Line." On the withdrawal of "Paul Pry," he was to appear as Michael Garner, in "Dearer than Life;" Uncle Dick, in "Uncle Dick's Darling;" Caleb Plummer, in "Dot;" Job Bright, in "Through Fire and Water;" Tom Cranky, in "The Birthplace of Podgers," etc.....Of Leon Vassen's opera bouffe "La Timbale D'Argent," produced for the first time in America at the Lyceum Theatre by the Aimee Troupe on the 24th ult, an Eastern exchange says: The dialogue throughout is sparkling and brilliant, and the music of that character which will specially claim the admiration of the general musical public. The most attractive gems are, in the first act, 'Les Couplets de la Timbale,' "La Timbale au Sonnet." "The Choral March," "The Serenade," and the finale in the second act, "The Drinking Chorus," "The Postillion Song," "The Mercoeur Symphonique," and "The Valse du Serenade." In the third act, "The Lesson of Coquetry," "The Clock Duet," and the admirably worked-up finale of the opera .....The San Francisco Minstrels are at home again in New York, at their new Opera House 1,19 Broadway, formerly the Apollo Billiard Hall, and are doing a good business.....J. S. Bradsley is playing at the Bowery Theatre in Eustache Baudin.....At Niblo's, "The Bride of Abydos" succeeded "Griffith Gaunt" on the 24th ult. The regular fall and winter opening is announced for Sept. 7, with the Kiralfy Brothers' magnificent Parisian spectacular drama of the "Deluge; or, Paradise Lost."....At the Globe Theatre, Prof. Bob Hart's lectures on Anatomy continued to be attended by a large class of students. Jolly John Nash is to appear shortly.....At the Olympic, Sam Rickey and Master Barney, J. W. McAndrews, Johnny Allen, Miss Alice Harrison, J. H. O'Neil, and a host of others appear nightly in a variety programme.....E. L. Davenport is to appear shortly at Wood's Museum.....Prof. J. L. Davis' wonderful dogs are the stars at the Metropolitan Theatre.....At the Theatre Comique, Add Ryman, Cool Burgess, Miss Kitty O'Neil Geo. H. Coes, and many others appear to good houses.

Mr. W. J. Florence has purchased the "Colleen Bawn" from Dion Boucicault.

Mr. H. J. Montague will be the next star at Wallack's appearing in a leading character of Tom Taylor's latest play, "Lady Clancarty." This piece was originally written for Mr. Montague, but by reason of an unpleasantness that occurred between the contractors it was transferred to Mr. Neville, of the Olympic, London.

The New York Courier says: "The usual number of "beautiful young ladies" are underlined to make their dramatic debut during the coming season. What becomes of these demoiselle after they have made their debut, is a question quite as difficult to answer as that in relation to pins. Few are ever heard of again, and the supposition is that they go back to society or plain sewing."

Miss Charlotte Cushman deems it important that the public statements alleging that she is ill should be contradicted by all reliable papers. The rumor originated from the incident of Mr. John Gilbert being taken suddenly ill while on a visit to Miss Cushman at her Newport villa, and several physicians being hastily summoned. The gigs in front of the door attracted the attention of correspondents, and alarming paragraphs were the result. The great actress will positively appear at Booth's.

An Eastern paper says: A paragraph, to the following effect, has been going the rounds of the press: Marie Zoe, the actress of 'The French Spy, and plays of a like character, has been figuring in the Chicago police court. The Tribune, of Chicago, has traced her history, and found that she was a member of an aristocratic family of Indianapolis, and once a reigning belle. Driven from her home by a cruel and unfounded report affecting her reputation, she embraced the stage as a profession, sank lower and lower, and finally became the attraction at a low variety theatre, where she is now." The woman who has been figuring in the Chicago police courts is an impostor. Marie Zoe, who is sometimes called "the Cuban sylph," and who plays "The French Spy," was born in Havana; was never a resident of Indianapolis; has not been in Indianapolis since the close of the war; has not been in Chicago in two years, at which time she played at McVicker's Theatre; and never figured in police courts in Chicago, nor anywhere else. The Chicago female is a fraud, and has never played any character which required intelligence. Mlle. Marie Zoe, the lady who played "The French Spy," is a woman whose private life is without stain, and whose public career is without blemish. Her personal popularity is very great in her profession.

Miss Marie Bonifacc, daughter of George Bonifacc, formerly of the Globe Theatre, Boston, is engaged for the coming season, as soubrette, at the Opera House, Troy, N. Y.

Miss Adelaide Phillipps was to remain in Marshfield until September 1st. She then goes to the mountains with her sister, who has just returned from Europe.

The Montreal Herald speaking of the appearance of W. A. Mestayer at the Theatre Royal on the 17th says: "Mr. W. A. Mestayer from the California Theatre, opened a week's engagement last evening before one of the largest and most enthusiastic audiences we have ever seen greet a stranger." After describing the piece "On the Slope at Frisco," the Herald says: "Mr. Mestayer is an excellent character actor and fairly carries the piece with him. His recitation in the second act when he imitates a Scotchman, an Englishman, a Frenchman, an Irishman, a Yankee and a Nigger is immense, and is alone worth the price of admission."

A lion escaped recently from the Great Eastern's Menagerie department while on a train approaching Ballston, N. Y., at about three in the morning. The cage came in contact with the rafters of the bridge, breaking open its front end and releasing the beast. The lion sprang through the breach in the roof, and jumped to the ground. Quickly turning towards the cages nearest, in which were other animals, he jumped directly at them. Failing in this, he slank away and hid alongside the track. Prof. Saunders hastened to Ballston with the train, leaving one car on the track to attract the lion, obtained a box car, and quickly returned. Having bought a live calf of a farmer, the Professor began to entice the runaway. He was tempted towards the open car, in which was placed the calf, by bits of raw meat thrown to him. Saunders stood upon the top of the car swinging some meat in front, and presently the lion, who had approached very near, stepped back an instant and made a leap through the opening in the car. He seized the calf by the throat, and proceeded at once to devour him. The car was at once secured, after two hours of excitement and hard work.

Mr. M. J. Jordan is engaged to play the leading heavy business in the New Park Theatre, Brooklyn, next season.

The new Globe Theatre, Boston, will be opened under the management of Mr. Arthur Cheney on Dec. 7th.

J. K Emmett will sail from Liverpool for New York Sept. 19th.

Rose Wood and Lewis Morison, Arch, Philadelphia, September 14th, with Sherry's Combination one week.

Simmonds and Wall, the well known dramatic agents, advertise that "Clancarty; or, Wedded and Wooed," by Tom Taylor, has been disposed of for the following cities only: New York (Wallack); Philadelphia, (Mrs. Drew); Cincinnati, (Mills); Brooklyn, (Lamb); San Francisco and Providence, (Mrs. Chanfrau); New Orleans, (J. E. Owens); Toronto, (Mrs. Morrison); Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Indianapolis, Nashville, Memphis, St. Louis and Southern Circuit, (Edwin Adams); Albany, (Albaugh); Rochester, (Hall); Boston, (R. M. Field); Chicago, (Hooley).

At Toledo, on the 19th ult: Theatre Comique re-opened, under C. W. Blake & Co., with Joe Obilds, stage manager; Viola Clifton, the DeAngelis family Mlle. La Faunt, Laura Hughey, Julia Weston, Cincinnatus and Arthur, Johnny McVeigh, Jo A. Gulick, and Mons. Gussuto de Calabases.

Elsie Reed and Mary Smith, two young girls belonging to respectable families in Gloversville, N.Y. became infatuated recently with two performers in the Great Eastern Circus, and left the village with them. On reaching Albany, the men and the girls took rooms at the Adams House, and being suspected by the proprietor, the girls were arrested and committed to jail for further examination, and to follow their families to reclaim them. Singular to say, although the girls were arrested, the men were allowed their freedom.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
W. S. AIKEN, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW AND Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in California and Nevada, gives prompt attention to the collection of Additional Bounty, now due California and Nevada Volunteers discharged more than three hundred miles from home. Soldiers can draw and on fair terms. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply, and state company, regiment, and whether living or dead. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional Bounty under Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875 so all such claims must be in before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 2 d, 1861, for three years, if not paid the same when discharged. Land Warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and wars of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed to Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted bounties to surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money in the Navy being paid. W. S. PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

MARYSVILLE.—The Black Crook Troupe will play here on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

SAN JOSE.—The Black Crook Troupe played on Tuesday of last week at the Opera House, to $1115. The Mercury says:

G. Brokaska, proprieter of San Jose Opera House, is having new and gorgeous scenery painted at a cost of upwards of $1,000, and an elegant drop curtain to take the place of the present one in the Opera House. These improvements will add very materially to the appearance of the stage, and with other changes that are to be made, will afford still greater facilities for the accommodation of large troupes.

We are glad to see that under our friendly stimulation San Jose people are getting the idea into their heads that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," and realize that money spent on amusements is well invested.

VACAVILLE.—White and Kearn's Company played here on Wednesday.

MODESTO.—Charles Vivian gave an entertainment here last week.

HOLLISTER.—The Colman Sisters are billed for next Thursday.

VIRGINIA CITY.—Joe Murphy played at Piper's Opera House, last week, to good business. He will enter upon the second week of his engagement this evening, appearing in "Maum Cre."

They Rise Again to Die.

When Macready, the actor, died a few years ago, there were thousands of people we are sure who imagined that he had been dead for fifty years. The news that Taglioni was alive in London giving lessons in dancing, struck many with surprise. For ourselves we are not amazed at any of these resurrections of once famous people who have been dead to the public for years. We should receive news of the death of Paganini the violinist, or Fanny Elsler the dancer with perfect equinanimity. We take the following from an Eastern exchange, dated August 28th: "Betty the actor, fam ous in years past as a juvenile theatrical performer, died in London, England, on Wednesday. Nearly seventy years ago he was the "Young Roscius" of the English stage. As a boy actor he was a marvellous genius, and drew greater houses than either John Phill p Kemble, Mrs. Siddons or Edmund Kean. London went frantic over his wondrous performances, and every city of Great Britain gave forth audiences to great for their theatres to witness his efforts.

This lasted several years, but the precocity of youth exhausted his powers, and, although he lived to be nearly or quite eighty years of age, he never essayed the stage during the past three score years. He preceded Master P-yne (John Howard Payne), Clara Fisher, Martha Burke, etc., who followed his success as a prodigy in the same line."

An Unique Excuse.

A soldier of a cavalry regiment was brought up for stealing his comrade's liquor ration. He was an Irishman, and his defence was unique. "I'd be sorry indade sure, to be called a thief. I put the liquor in the same bottle, and mine was at the bottom, and shure I was obliged to drink his to get at my own!"

A Souvenir.

A souvenier of a great composer is exhibited at the stand of McCurrie & Weber, in the Mechanics Fair. It is an original composition in the handwriting of Rossini, written in 1846, and presented to one of his lady friends.

DALY'S LATEST PLAY.

At the Fifth Avenue Theatre, Augustin Daly's new play "What Should She Do? or Jealousy," was produced on the 25th ult. The New York Timessays: In "What Should She do?" Mr. Daly would seem to have borrowed a plot from Mr. Wilkie Collins, so intricate is it, and so full of sensations and situations. Dianthe De Marec, who supposed herself the widow of an aged and tyrannical husband, lost at sea, is married to Lord Basil Clavering, loving him fondly, and by him beloved. After some years of happiness, and the birth of a son, it is discovered that her first husband is living, he having been the only person saved from the wreck. This very unwelcome gentleman, however, does not put in an appearance. Her second marriage is, of course, void. At the earnest wish of his mother, who hates Dianthe, Basil Clavering marries Lady Elaine, the daughter of the impoverished Earl of Kleinmair. Elaine is supposed to be dying with consumption; but her real disease is her hopeless love for Basil, which dates from her girlhood, and has grown with her growth. She is expected to adopt Basil's child as her own, but every one shrinks from imposing this task upon her, and all the more because in her seclusion she has been ignorant of his marriage, and supposes that his proposal for her hand is due to a love like her own. His mother discovers the situation to her, and she, guessing the truth, that she is expected to die and relieve Basil from an undesired connection, is about to refuse the marriage, in horror and despair, but finally consents to it to save her mother's life and her father's fortune. The marriage accomplished, the whole family go to Jamaica for her health. While there she wins the love of her husband, who, however, shrinks from the avowal of his affection, because he attributes the cold manner which is due to her doubt of him to an aversion to the man to whom she has been sold. Dianthe De Marec, has, in the meantime, sent over to Jamaica with a letter of introduction to a Scotch villain who has been her servant, and whom she tells that when he returns with the news that Elaine is dead, he shall have £2,000. He undertakes the murder thus suggested to him, and attempts it by slow poison administered in the wine which she is to drink daily, but receiving a letter which tells him that some of his crimes at home have been discovered and that officers of justice are on his track and that he must hasten with his work, he prepares a dose which will cause instant death. Elaine has suffered so much from her wine that she suspects poison, and believing that her husband desires her death, she suspects him—revolting at the thought, Coaxing a poison test from Dr. Titcomb, under plea of beginning studies in chemistry, she tries her wine and finds it poisoned. Just then her husband comes in, and in her despair, she contrives that she shall take the poison from his hand. She drinks it and falls, but not dead; for in the next act she appears in better health than ever. The poison, Dr. Titcomb assures us, has acted as an efficient remedy, and we accept the situation. But Dianthe De Marec does not. She having been informed by her emissary that her rival is no longer living, and having, also been happily deprived by death of her old husband, comes over to Jamaica after Basil Clavering, who had promised to marry her again if she avoided him during Elaine's life. The complication is a trying one. She cannot have Basil, but she insists on having the child. She is told that she cannot even have him, and after a fierce scene she falls with a shriek, a very striking figure in what we must call an effective tableau. She afterward endeavors to bribe her Scotch servitor to abduct the child, but he prefers to rob her. He is about to kill her, when all the characters burst in; the child is bandied back and forth between the two ladies for a while; Elaine forgives her the attempt upon her life, which has been discovered, and the curtain at last falls upon her hasbandless and childless.

We cannot call this a good play. It is, at best, a fair melodrama; a thing made up of striking situations, fine costumes, good scenery, and music played while the business of the scene is going on.

She'll Not Forget.

A French paper says: "They parted in sorrow, they parted in tears." The husband was to remain at Bordeaux, for he had a situation there; the wife was to go to London as a governess, and they filled the railway station with the noise and sorrow of their parting. "Do not cease to love me, and do not forget that you are the wife of a decent man," said the husband. "Never, never," said the wife, and she pulled out her handkerchief and tied a knot in it, that she might remember.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

To-night, Mrs. Chanfrau, will begin an engagement at this theatre, and Tom Taylor's new play "Lady Clancarty," will be presented for the first time in America. Two of our morning contemporaries have published half a page of MacCauley's History of England and represented it as giving the plot of the play. To-morrow we shall be able to give the public a better idea of the dramatic treatment of a well known story. The play will be produced with new scenery and correct costumes. Mrs. Chanfrau will play Elizabeth Spencer (Lady Clancarty), Barton Hill, McDonough McCarthy (Lord Clancarty) Miss Ellie Wilton, Lady Betty Nole; Miss Belle Chapman, Susannah; Henry Edwards, King William III.; T. W. Keene, Lord Charles Spencer; Nelson Decker, Woodstock; Miss Katie Pelt, Lady Ann; and Mrs. C. R. Saunders, Mother Hunt. The full cast is published on our first page.

Maguire's New Theatre.

To-night Mr. Gourlay, the delineator of Scotch character assisted by Mrs. Gourlay (nee Goddard), Miss Minnie Gourlay and M. Corbet, will appear in the entertainment entitled "Mrs. McGregor's Levee." Mrs. Gourlay will impersonate Mrs. McGregor and sing ballads, Miss Minnie Gourlay will play Jennie the waitress and sing; Mr. Gourlay will appear in the characters of Andrew Guidale, Miss Katy McTavish, Mrs. Paterson, Daft-Watty, Needle Tam, Kirsty Claver and the Auld Village Nurse, and will introduce many characteristic songs, odd sayings, dances, funny stories and bits of Scotch humor. The programme with synopsis of songs and incidents is published on our first page.

Opera House.

A new bill will be performed at this house to-night. Billy Emerson, Con. T. Murphy, Ben Cotton and others will appear in the first part, Ernest Linden will present his new impersonations of popular singers, Billy Rice and J. K. Kemble will appear in the act entitled "Good Morning," Billy Emerson will present some of his best portraitures, J. K. Kemble, Billy Arlington, Ben Cotton Con. T. Murphy and Ernest Linden, will perform the farce entitled "Barnum's Elephant," and the performance will terminate with the thrilling feat entitled "The Aerostatic Voyage," which as performed by Miss Lattie, Miss Katie and their brother Frank, is the sensation of the day.

Italian Opera.

An operatic performance will be given at Platt's Hall on Tuesday, September 8th, under the management of Charles Schutz. The opera of "Il Trovatore" will be presented with Signorina Ida Valerga as Leonora. Signora Ida Valerga is a California prima donna; she was born in this city and two years ago left for Italy, where she studied under the best masters and made a successful appearance at Milan. Signorina Frida de Gebele prima donna contralto, will make her appearance on this occasion as Azucena, and Signor Pietro Baccei will sing the tenor role.

Platt's Music Hall.

The attractions presented at this Hall draw many people who seldom go to theatre or concert. How thoroughly the entertainment is enjoyed, is proved by the applause bestowed on the beautiful pictures of Ireland and the laughter provoked by the serio comic songs of Wally Price and others comprising the comedy company.

Bella Union Theatre.

Miss Kate Raymond and O. B. Collins are in the seventh week of their engagement at this house, and in the greatest height of popularity. Miss Lizzie Watson and Harry Braham are great favorites, and the company is a well organized one. To-night in addition to many other attractions the grand spectacular drama entitled "The Mountain Queen" will be produced with Miss Kate Raymond as Olympia, O. B. Collins as Spalatro and a generally good cast. The features of the piece will be a grand march by fifty ladies, beautiful tableaux, new scenery and magnificent costumes. The management also announce the first appearance of Albert De Courcy in descriptive ballads.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

Miss Maggie Brewer in comic songs, Johnny Tuers in song and dance, Edward Barry in baritone songs, Miss Lizzie Worrell in dances, and a great variety of other performances will be presented this evening.

The Pioneer's Celebration.

On Wednesday, the Society of California Pioneers will inaugurate a three days' celebration of the twenty-fourth anniversary of their formation. The Pioneers from all portions of the State will gather on that day and will march through Montgomery street to Woodward's Gardens, where addresses will be delivered, and patriotic songs sung. After this a collation will be served. At two o'clock there will be a grand entertainment in the Pavilion. Billy Emerson, Ben Cotton, Billy Rice, Ernest Linden, J. F. Oberist, W. F. Baker, J. G. Russell and Billy Arlington of Maguire's Minstrel troupe have by kind permission of Manager Maguire volunteered for this occasion, as have also W. S. Lawrence, Professor of Gymnastics; Captain Martin and L. P. Ward, fencing masters and the Baisley Family. At 4 o'clock the great gas balloon, Sierra Nevada, will ascend taking as passengers M. M. Fraveny and Taverney, artists for the New York illustrated papers. After the performance there will be dancing in the Pavilion. On the second day an excursion round the Bay will be made by the Pioneers and guests in the steamer Great Republic, the use of which has been kindly tendered by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. On the evening of the third day the Society will bring their festivities to a close with a grand ball at Union Hall commencing at 9 o'clock. Tickets for the various exercises can be procured at the Hall of the Pioneers, Room No 1, first floor.

PACIFIC HALL.—Johnny and Jennie Morgan, the "Barney the Guide" and "Norah" of the Hibernia Gems, are to have a complimentary benefit at this hall on Tuesday evening, when a host of volunteers will appear and a very big bill will be given.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Notes.

J. J. McClosky, the dramatist who is an old Californian will shortly arrive here to take the stage management of Maguire's New Theatre.

Howorth's Hibernica with Tim Cohan as the comedian, and Harry Nicholson, character change artist, is on its way to this city.

The London correspondent of the New York Spirit of the Times speaking of the performance of "The Grand Duchess" at the Lyceum says: Miss Kate Lee, sister to Jennie Lee, has made a great impression upon the more sensitive portion of her audience. She certainly is a very pretty child—for she is only a child.

E. S. Hill of the Madame Anna Bishop party made a hit at the farewell benefit in Portland in the serio-comic song "As I'd Nothing Else to D." and was recalled.

Fun in an Irish Theatre.

When a new Lord and Lady Lieutenant visited the theatre for the first time, Pat's peculiarities became most diverting.

"Pat Mooney!" shouts a voice in the gallery.

"Halloo!" answers Pat, from the opposite side.

Voice—"Can you see 'em?" (Meaning the Lord and Lady Lieutenant.)

Pat Mooney—"I can."

Voice—"Well, what is he like?"

Pat Mooney—"Oh, mighty like a grazier or a middleman. Any way, he has got a good long nose of his own." (Loud laughter, in which his lordship joins.)

Voice—"Is he clever, think you?"

Pat Mooney—"I'd be sorry to make him sinsekeeper." (Laughter again.)

Voice—"Does he look good-natured?"

Pat Mooney—"Well, he does, and enjoys a joke, too, (Heaven bless him!) like a gentleman as he is."

Voice—"Then we'll not have to send him back?"

Pat Mooney—"No, I don't think we shall. We may get a worse. (Roars of Laughter.) They say he's mighty generous, and means to spend his money among us just like a prince."

Gallery—"Bravo! bravo! We'll keep him, then—we'll keep him. Three cheers, lads—three cheers for the Lord Lieutenant!" (Cheers and laughter.)

Voice—"Well, what's she like, Pat?"

Pat Mooney—"Oh, nothing particular. She'd not frighten a horse." (Roars, her ladyship joining.)

Voice—"Is she tall?"

Pat Mooney—"Wait till she stands up."

Voice—"Maybe she's stout, Pat?"

Pat Mooney—"Faix! you may say that. It isn't the like of her lives on buttermilk." (Roars.)

Voice—"Do you think she is good-natured?"

Pat Mooney—"Oh, I'll engage she is. She has the raal blood in her, and there's plenty of it." (Roars, and Bravo! from the gallery.)

Many voices—"She'll do, then, Pat?"

Pat Mooney—"Och! she will—she will. I'll engage for her ladyship."

Voices—"We may keep her, then, may we?"

Pat Mooney—"Och! the longer the better—the longer the better. (Roars.) It's her landship I'll spake the good word for the man that's in thrubble, and niver let the dacent woman want that's in the straw. Long life to her!"

Gallery—"Bravo! bravo! Three cheers for her ladyship! Three cheers for the Lady Lieutenant!" (Laughter.)

Pat Mooney—(seeing the Lord Mayor)—"My sowl to ye! Dan Finnigan, is that you?"

"Gallery—"Ah! ah! Is that you, Dan Finnigan? Is that you?" Hisses, and laughter.)

Pat Mooney—"Faix! it's good for the likes of us to see you down among the gentry there, Dan Finnigan! (A laugh, at which his lordship does not seem particularly pleased.) Och, you needn't look up sour at us! Many's the good time your'e sat up here yourself; you know it is, ye old vinegar bottle!" (Roars.)

Voice—"Sure the world's gone well wid you, any way, Dan Finnigan. Ye hadn't them white kid gloves——"

Pat Mooney—"No, nor that grand cocked-hat there——"

Voice—"No, nor that white wand, ye cormorant! when you kept the chandler's shop, and cheated Mike Kelly out of a farden's worth of pipes, and——"

Gallery—"Ah! ah! who cheated Mike Kelly? who cheated Mike Kelly?" (Great confusion, during which the orchestra strikes up.)

The Fall.

The fall of man was a very lamentable event in one way of looking at it, but if it had not taken place the splendid Hats which are sold at "The Hat Store" 647 Washington street, would never have come into fashion. We make this remark apropos of the fact that this establishment has just introduced the new Fall and Winter styles.

The Green Room.

This popular resort of the professian and all epicures who can appreciate good liquors and a good lunch, is directly opposite the California Theatre. It has just been beautifully frescoed and is now a mode of taste and elegance. Everybody goes to the Green Room between the acts. x

BOSTON OYSTER HOUSE.—L. O. Pratt has opened stalls 89 and 90 in Centre Market. Oysters in every style. Chops and Steaks of the choicest. Ladies private rooms up stairs. 7-z

Stalls 91, 92 and 93, have been opened by Anderson & Marshall as the Long Branch oyster house. They are among the oldest oyster men in the city.

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
and cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.

The Pulpit and the Stage.

The Clipper says: Talking about churches and preachers, and the meek and lowly of their flocks, reminds us that interest or something of that sort is beginning to induce a spirit of liberality in their teachings strangely at variance with the intolerance and bigotry which formerly characterized them. Massachusetts, even, is less disposed to denounce public amusements than was her wont in the years past. In one of the papers we find the following suggestive advertisement:

"Dramatic entertainments for the benefit of the Congregational Church, at Union Hall, next Thursday and Friday evenings, July 30 and 31. Attend them by all means."

To our dear brethren of the Congregational Church we extend the hand of fellowship, and with true Christian feeling forgive them for the many hard things they have uttered against our professional friends before the church was brought to see the error of its ways. As a class the most unselfish people in existence, exponents of the drama are ever ready to give aid to the poor and needy, without stopping to ask whether they are church people or otherwise. Their mission is peace and good-will, and their bottom dollar is shared with the distressed of all nations, of every creed. Where other devices have failed to bring grist to the church mill, a dramatic entertainment has succeeded in replenishing the finances of our dear brethren, thus enabling them to continue in the prosecution of their good and holy offices. And we are rejoiced to find our histrionic friends thus buckling on the armor and assisting in fighting the great battle against the legions of the devil.

Woodland Girls.

They have such nice girls in Woodland. The Mail gives this: Miss H. met Miss M. and Miss R. on the road to the public school the other morning. Miss H. walked up to Miss M., and shaking her fist in her face, said, "You're a liar, and you dar'nt take it up." Miss R., who was larger than Miss M. and her friend, stepped up to Miss H. and said: "I darst take it up; and if you open your mouth I'll put a head on you."

"A Young Volunteer."

Dean Stanley preached to the volunteers at Wimbledon, his subject being David's fight with the giants at Gath. In the course of his sermon the reverend gentleman remarked that what gave him such a charm for the Biblical incident from which he took his text, was that David, "a young volunteer, sneered at by the regular army, redeemed the honor of his country."

Who They Are.

A Paris journal, speaking of the great scandal, says "Monsieur Beeches" was an actor before he turned clergyman, and that "Monsieur Tiltin" is an English lawyer who had gained a wide reputation in Boston as a prosecutor of criminal suits.

Discouraging Drinking.

The New York Dispatch tells the following story: He wears a lantern jaw, but he has got a good deal of cheek notwithstanding. He has an aspiring soul, and two pairs of pants. He revels in dreams of future glory, and waits on tables in a dining saloon in the vicinity of Frankfort street. And still he is not happy. He feels somewhat as Alexander the Great did after eating his first plate of beans. Every reader of Grecian history will remember Alexander's memorable remark on the occasion we refer to: "I've had enough of them stomach saddeners." This is how it happened that the hero of this tale—the Simon Bombastes Furioso Tapertit of Frankfort street—was disappointed. The barkeeper had been out gazing at the comet until a late hour the night before, and when the time came for him to make his appearance, he didn't appear. So Simon thought he knew how to dilute beverages, and smile kindly on a twenty-five cent customer, and look with lofty disdain on a five-center. Behind the bar he went, with a smile on his countenance, a blue tie surrounding his neck, and a pair of suspenders of brilliant color decorating his lath-like shoulders. Soon after two gentlemen entered. "What can I help you to?" asked the amateur barkeeper. "Well, I don't know," said the taller of the two. "I'm kind of played out in seeking for new drinks, I suppose I'll have to go back to some of the same I took last night. I guess I'll take a milk punch." "Yezzir," said Simon, and turning to the other gentleman he asked, "What'll you ev, sir?" "I guess I'll take a little of the same medicine," was the reply. Simon went to work and in about twenty minutes planted two glasses of milk punch on the bar. Both gentlemen had grown a little wearied with waiting, but they were convinced that the punch would be extra good. It took so long to make. Each took up his glass, and raised it to his lips. Then a long swallow, and both glasses dropped simultaneously on the counter. They both made the same remark. It consisted of but one word, and the letter g sounded prominent in it. Then they turned their backs on the counter. "Gentleman," asked Simon, "What's the matter?" "Oh, nothing," said the taller of the two. "You're a first-rate barkeeper, you are. If I was President of a Temperance Society, I'd bring in everybody I wanted to convert. One of your milk punches would do the biz. Come along, Dunk. Let's go and take a dose of rat poison. I want to get this taste out of my mouth." They departed. Since that time one of them has joined the church and taken the temperance pledge, and the hair of the other is falling out so rapidly that by Winter it will make a splendid skating pond for flies. And still the aspiring youth carries his towel gracefully on his arm, and sighs for other fields to gain glory in. Any person wanting a man who can run a hotel, wear a blue neck-tie, or spoil good whisky can find him by applying through us to Mr. Simon Bombastes Tappertit.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Foreign Notes.

London dates to the 8th ultimo, give no news at the London theatres beyond the closing of the Haymarket on the 3d, with Buckstone's annual benefit, at which he delievered his annual speech. In connection with other statements, he said: "I must confess that I cannot boast of any great successes during the season just ending, for, although I have produced three important pieces, not one of them answered my expectations; still, I do not dispair, but look forward with confidence to better fortune next year. With regard to the failure of the plays I have referred to, you may naturally ask why I accepted them, and where was my judgment in so doing. In the first place, it is impossible to know what piece may be successful until it has been fairly placed before the public; many circumstances may lead a manager astray; among them may be named the reception given by his company at the reading of a new play—an instance of this occurred very recently here. A new comedy was ready, the laughter was loud and continuous—indeed, at times, the hilarity was absolutely hysterical. I was promised that the piece would run for two or three years, that a fortune was before me, all sorts of congratulations poured in upon me and the authors. The play was placed upon the stage with every regard to correct and expensive scenery, and what we term properties. We are as realistic as possible; as we had a real pump with real water, real hens in a market-place, during the scene, one of the hens was so realistic as to lay a real egg. Now for the reverse: the piece was a failure; the dialogue, that in the green room caused roars of laughter, fell flat when delivered on the stage, and, after a few nights, the play was withdrawn. On Monday next I shall commence my annual tour with the Haymarket company, visiting Liverpool, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Newcastle-upon-Tyne, and Birmingham, leaving Mile Beatrice and her excellent company to occupy these boards for a few weeks. Therefore, ladies and gentlemen, until October, I respectfully bid you farewell."

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Maguire's New Theatre.

"Mrs. McGregor's Leves," held at this house last night, was extremely well attended, and all present proved their appreciation of the entertainment offered them by the Gourlays (Mr. Gourlay, Mrs. Gourlay and Miss Minnie Gourlay,) by much applause and laughter. Mrs. Gourlay is a very neat actress and a charming vocalist, Miss Minnie Gourlay is a pleasing soubrette and Mr. Gourlay is a whole company of actors in himself. His impersonations of Scottish characters are in dress, make-up and thorough individualization perfect studies. The various characters which this actor assumes in the course of the entertainment are set forth in the synopsis on our first page; they are all equally good. The duet of "Caller Herrin," by Mr. and Mrs. Gourlay, was one of the most pleasing features of the entertainment. Mrs. McGregor will hold another levee to-night.

Opera House.

The rush to this house continues unabated. Every night scores are turned away, the auditorium being too small to accommodate all who apply for admission. While the Emerson Minstrels, comprising Billy Emerson, Ben Cotton, Billy Arlington and a number of other professionals, do much toward crowding the house, it cannot be denied that the overwhelming attraction is the unrivalled performance presented by the gymnasts Lottie, Frank and Kattie. Nothing like this has ever been seen in San Francisco before, and, in conjunction with the best minstrel performance in the United States, it is simply irresistible. In order to obtain admission to-night it will be necessary to go early.

California Theatre.

Tom Taylor's play entitled "Lady Clancarty" was produced at this theatre, for the first time in America, with a careful attention to detail that would have rejoiced the author's heart had he been present. There was nothing admitted in any scene that was not in strict accordance with the era in which the action is supposed to take place, and the costumes were generally handsome and appropriate. Mrs. Chanfrau received considerable applause for her impersonation of the strongly drawn character of Lady Clancarty and was called before the curtain. Barton Hill as that gallant Irish gentleman Lord Clancarty, was excellent, and Miss Ellie Wilton never acted better in her life than she did last night in the character of Lady Betty Noble. Henry Edwards as King William III., brought out the best points in that monarch's character, as drawn by the dramatist, with very good effect, Nelson Decker did some good acting as Lord Woodstock, and T. W. Keene as Lord Charles Spencer, displayed considerable power. Miss Belle Chapman, whom it is always a pleasure to see on the stage, was charmingly simple and unaffected as Susannah, Robert Pateman acted the part of Cardell with his accustomed ability, and altogether the play was played in a manner which will insure its having a run. It will be repeated every night until further notice.

Platt's Music Hall.

The rehearsals held at this hall promise a great treat for those who attend the performance of Italian opera this evening. On this occasion Signorina Ida Valerga, the young California prima donna, will make her first appearance since completing her studies in Milan, and Signorina Frida de Gebele, prima donna contralto from the Academy of Music, New York, will make her first appearance in San Francisco. The opera of "Il Trovatore" will be produced, with the first-mentioned lady as Leonora, and Signora Frida de Gebele as Azucena. The favorite tenor, Signor Pietro Bacci, will sing the role of Manrico, and Signor G. Marra has been engaged for that of Count di Luna. Signor A. Spadina will conduct the orchestra.

Pacific Hall.

To-night the talented and versatile Johnny Moran whose performances as Barney the Guide, have made him such a favorite with the audiences who have during the past weeks crowded Platt's Hall will, with the piquante Miss Jennie Moran take a farewell benefit at Pacific Hall. The beneficiaries will appear in their most admired specialties, and in addition Little May, Thomas Burke the champion clog dancer, Billy Mestayer and Billy Welch, jig dancers, John M. Davis, tenor singer, and others will contribute to the entertainment. Johnny Moran is a host in himself, and will, we are sure provide bountiful entertainment for all present on this occasion.

Bella Union Theatre.

Miss Lizzie Watson made a great success last night in her new songs "My Johnny Love, he's a Soldier," and "Tally Ho, Tally Ho," Albert De Conroy's descriptive songs were a great feature of the entertainment, Harry Braham's new songs were received with much applause and the new spectacular drama entitled "The Mountain Queen" with its grand march, beautiful tableaux, and fine scenery proved a great success. Miss Kate Raymond as Olympia, O. E. Collins as Spartro, and the others engaged in its representation acquitted themselves admirably.

Backley's New Variety Theatre.

Among the acts to be performed to-night are "The Fellow That Looks Like Me," "The Oldest Snake I Ever Got," and "Boring for Treasure," Johnny Tuers, Edward Barry, Miss Maggie Brewer and a host of other popular favorites will appear.

The Pioneer's Celebration.

On Wednesday, the Society of California Pioneers will inaugurate a three days' celebration of the twenty-fourth anniversary of their formation. The Pioneers from all portions of the State will gather on that day and will march through Montgomery street to Woodward's Gardens, where addresses will be delivered, and patriotic songs sung. After this a collation will be served. At two o'clock there will be a grand entertainment in the Pavilion. Billy Emerson, Ben Cotton, Billy Rice, Ernest Linden, J. F. Oberist, W. F. Baker J. G. Russell and Billy Arlington of Maguire's Minstrel troupe have by kind permission of Manager Maguire volunteered for this occasion, as have also W. S. Lawrence, Professor of Gymnastics, Captain Martin and L. P. Ward, fencing masters and the Baisley Family. At 4 o'clock the great gas balloon, Sierra Nevada will ascend taking as passengers M. M. Fratzeny and Taverner, artists for the New York illustrated papers. After the performance there will be dancing in the Pavilion. On the second day an excursion round the Bay will be made by the Pioneers and guests in the steamer Great Republic, the use of which has been kindly tendered by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. On the evening of the third day the Society will bring their festivities to a close with a grand ball at Union Hall commencing at 9 o'clock. Tickets

THE KINGDOM OF GOD.

BY ARCHBISHOP TRENCH.

I say to thee, do thou repeat
To the first man thou mayest meet
In lane, highway, or open street—

That he, and we, and all men move
Under the canopy of love,
As broad as the blue sky above;

That doubt and trouble, fear and pain
And anguish, all are shadows vain;
That death itself shall not remain;

That weary deserts we may tread,
A dreary labyrinth may thread,
Through dark ways underground be led;

Yet, if we will one guide obey,
The dreariest path, the darkest way,
Shall issue out in heavenly day.

And we, on divers shores now cast,
Shall meet, our perilous voyage past,
All in our Father's house at last.

And ere thou leave him, say thou this,
Yet one word more: they only miss
The winning of that final bliss—

Who will not count it true that Love,
Blessing, not cursing, rules above,
And that in it we live and move.

And one thing further make him know—
That to believe these things are so,
This firm faith never to forego—

Despite of all which seems at strife
With blessing, all with curses rife—
That this is blessing, this is life

The Financial Problem.

The Sacramento Bee says: Our well known fellow-citizen "Soda Dick," the commercial traveler, may not be a profound political economist, yet it is evident that he has a keen appreciation of the financial condition. Some parties were bemoaning the tightness of the time, i. e., the scarcity of cash floating about loose, and predicting that the town had "gone in." Up spoke our fellow-citizen Soda Dick: "See here, now, I can tell you all about it. The town's just as prosperous as ever it was! Property's worth just as much. There's as much as ever. The trouble is them savings banks! They do it all! 'Fore they started, when a man was paid off for his work he'd settle his board and other little bills, and spend the rest of his money 'round town like a man. Now, when a man's paid off, if he ain't got money enough he goes and borrows from a friend to make up $50 to put in the bank. He puts all his money in the bank, and don't care nothing 'bout paying his bills. The money's all in the bank and nobody spends nothing. That's what's the matter!"

His Horse.

A man bought a horse. It was the first horse he ever owned. He saw in a newspaper that a side window in a stable makes a horse's eyes weak on that side; a window in front burts his eyes by the glare; a window behind makes him squint-eyed; a window on a diagonal line makes him shy when he travels; a stable without a window makes him blind. He sold the horse.

A Slight Difference.

"My dear," said a wife, looking up from her newspaper, what is the difference between 'collusion' and 'collision?'" "Oh!" responded the husband, "it is simply the difference between u and i." "Oh! yes," retorted the wife, "and the same difference exists in your answer, which is more ingenious than ingenuous."

A Good Definition.

Macaulay was present when the merits of a certain popular preacher of the Charles Honeyman kind were discussed. "He is a hypocrite," said Macaulay. "No," answered his friend, "he is not that; he is only affected." "And what is affectation," answered Macaulay, "but hypocrisy in trifles?"

High-toned Talk.

"Missus Snowdrop," said a gentleman of color, the other afternoon, during a shower, to a lady of his acquaintance, "as the webber is somewhat amphibious, will you do me de honor to step under my umbrella an' form a quorum. In dis webber an umbrella is radder cosmopolitan."

The Fall.

The fall of man was a very lamentable event in one way of looking at it, but if it had not taken place the splendid Hats which are sold at "The Hat Store" 647 Washington street, would never have come into fashion. We make this remark apropos of the fact that this establishment has just introduced the new Fall and Winter styles.

The Green Room.

This popular resort of the professian and all epicures who can appreciate good liquors and a good lunch, is directly opposite the California Theatre. It has just been beautifully frescord and is now a modle of taste and elegance. Everybody goes to the Green Room between the acts. x

CENTRE MARKET.

WHO OCCUPY THE STALLS.

Hepburn has opened stall 4, with fresh meats of all kinds. Families and restaurants supplied on the shortest notice.

Stall 36, Holm & Boyle have a splendid assortment butter, eggs, cheese and a general assortment of fancy groceries. Goods delivered free.

Stalls 39 and 40 are occupied by Kerlin & Hassard, dealers in fruits, vegetables, etc., o the best and freshest. Delivered free of charge.

Stall 3, makes a magnificent show of fresh meats. Jos. O. de Volt & Co., wholesale and retail dealers, have one of the nicest stalls in the market. Restaurants and families will find it to their advantage to give them a call.

BOSTON OYSTER HOUSE.—L. O. Pratt ha opened stalls 89 and 90 in Centre Market. Oysters in every style. Chops and Steaks of the choicest. Ladies private rooms up stairs, 7-E

Stalls 91, 92 and 93, have been opened by Anderson & Marshall as the Long Branch oyster house. They are among the oldest oyster men in the city.

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name.
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners,"
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.
CHARLES HAAKE, Proprietor.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc. printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-oj

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges moderate. D. G. M. Hepburn, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. 8-T

Central Hall, San Jose.

The San Jose Mercury of Sunday says:—Some important changes are being made in Central Hall. The stage has been extended back the full length of the building, and its dimensions are now 36x55; before it was 30x15. New scenes are also being painted for the stage by George Bell, the celebrated scenic artist, and when completed they will be equal to anything of the kind in the county. The construction of the stage is superintended by George Nichols, one of the best stage builders on the Coast. Both Bell and Nichols have long been connected with the theatres of San Francisco, and are both masters of their professions. They built the new theatre in Gilroy. Adjoining the hall is a spacious dining room 55x55, which will comfortably accommodate 300 persons at one time. To the rear of the dining-room is a kitchen which is well provided with shelves, cupboards, drawers, and all the necessary appliances for cooking, etc. Two large rooms have also been set apart for dressing rooms for ladies and gentlemen. The former is 44x18, and the latter 26x18. A small dressing-room is being constructed to the rear of the stage. The acoustic properties of Central Hall are good, and all its arrangements are most complete. It will be completed to-morrow, and will then be one of the finest halls in the State. It has been engaged for the use of the Santa Clara Valley Agricultural Society during the forthcoming fair. Central Hall is owned by N. Hayes.

The Reticent Susan.

The Washington Capital says: Every woman in the land, strong-minded or simple, has opened her feminine mouth and spoken on this Tilton-Beecher affair, except the one woman from whom to hear, and that is ye ancient Susan B. Authony. Susan, who heretofore has been found voluble of speech and prompt of action, is now as grim as Grant and close as a clam. She sits back calm as a cow-pen and silent as a stationary railway car. And why is Sister Susan silent? Is her sensitive soul shocked? Is her chaste mind disgruntled? Speak, oh Susan! What did the troubled female Tilton tell that night when you bade the catiff, Theodore, beware, and told him that he would have to pass over your venerable body ere he reached Elizabeth? That Tilton wilted we know; that he shrunk in his night shirt and vanished we are prepared to swear; but the confession Susan; the confession! Open the strong-minded jaw and speak. All in vain. Susan speaks not. Susan is a sphinx. She is an aggravating female sphinx. She gazes on us in dead stillness until our souls weaken in horror.

Let Him Die.

The papers are talking a good deal nowadays about "neglected graves of poets," and wailing considerable over Poe and Percival. Now, we know one, poet whose grave would not be neglected if he would consent to die. It's the young gentleman who writes "Lines on the Death of a Faithful Dog," "To my Childhood's Home," "The Weeping Willow's Monody," and other cheering things, and sends them to us. If he'll only agree to die, we'll visit his tomb once a week, and scatter over it all the poetry we've rejected during the preceding six days.

A Rough Joke on a Coroner.

Some genius out Kansas way informed a zealous coroner that a fellow whose first name was Abel had been murdered in a garden and had been dead some time. The coroner, after hunting every backyard in the city, went home, too tired and disgusted to search the Scriptures.

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions, Clubs and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relief by applying at Dr. R. H. Cowan's Institute, removed to 212 Kearny street, from 1 to 6 P.M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. References given if required. H

A Sermon for Girls.

Wildness, writes Gail Hamilton, is a thing which girls cannot afford. No art can restore to the grape its bloom. Familiarity without love, without confidence, without regard, is destructive of all that makes woman exalting and ennobling:

> The world is wide, these things are small,
> They may be nothing, but they are all.

Nothing? It is the first duty of a woman to be a lady. Good breeding is good sense. Bad manners in woman is immorality. Awkwardness may be ineradicable. Bashfulness is constitutional. Ignorance of etiquette is the result of circumstances. All can be condoned, and do not banish man or woman from the amenities of their kind. But self-possession, unshrinking and aggressive coarseness of demeanor may be reckoned as a State prison offense, and certainly merits the mild form of restraint called imprisonment for life. It is a shame for women to be lectured on their manners It is a bitter shame that they need it. Women are the umpires of society. It is they to whom all mooted points should be referred. To be a lady is more than to be a prince. A lady is always in her right inalienably worthy of respect. To a lady, prince and peasant alike bow. Do not be restrained. Do not have the impulses that need restraint. Do not wish to dance with the prince unsought. Feel differently. Be such that you confer honor. Carry yourself so lofty that men will look up to you for reward, not at you in rebuke. The natural sentiment of man toward woman is reverence. He loses a large means of grace when he is obliged to account her a being to be trained into propriety. A man's ideal is not wounded when a woman fails in worldly wisdom, but if in grace, in sentiment, in delicacy, in kindness, she should be found wanting, he receives an inward hurt.

Sound Talk.

If women ask men for work, remarks Miss Emily Faithful, they will get what they have always got—that kind men do not want to do themselves. They will get hard work, rough work, coarse work, poor paid work, hopeless work, all the cant about sex notwithstanding. But if they really want to be independent, if they want their share of the good things of life, if they want to make a home for themselves, if they want to help others, let them be neither afraid nor ashamed, but begin with any honest labor, for which they are paid, and work up. The difficulty with women is not that they are idle, but that their habits are so desultory, and their work so objectless. If the wretched little child's play which women call "fancy work," could at once be blotted out of their existence it would be an incalculable blessing. What would be thought of a man or grown boy who could deliberately sit down day after day and be content to kill time by working ridiculous little pen-wipers, bead napkin rings, and the like, which no one dreams of ever using; he would be considered, and rightly, as either a fool or crazy.

Stupid Man!

The Indianapolis Journal says that Mrs. Jipes, of Greasy Point, after sawing a cord of wood, digging five bushels of potatoes, milking twenty cows, carrying ten tubs of water, and doing a washing of ten dozen pieces, incidentally mentioned being tired. Mr. Jipes read to her from a newspaper: "I believe that nothing would tend so effectually to get rid of these creations of weariness, and that over stimulation of the emotions, as a fair share of healthy work directed towards a definite object." Just here a can of royal baking powder struck him in the abdomen. Following this came a stove lid, three pancakes, a rotten tomato, salt cellar, bowl of buttermilk, and all the dough for Thursday's baking. It was evident she considered her lord a "definite object," and the fair share of work directed toward him was a little healthier than he would have desired.

Unkind.

"Did you save your baggage?" exclaimed some sympathizing friends to a gentleman who had just escaped from a wrecked steamer on the Mississippi. "Oh, yes," said he, pointing to his wife.

Thompson is Dead.

"You will observe by this notice," said the melancholy man, "that Joseph Thompson is dead."

"Ah!" said the reporter: "that's too bad. Poor Thompson! By the way, who is Joseph Thompson?"

"Why, sir," said the melancholy man, removing his handkerchief from his eyes long enough to exhibit a stare of surprise, "Mr. Thompson kept the well-known establishment on Blank street. He was a Christian, and a very kind man."

"Poor Thomp.!" repeated the reporter, thoughtfully. "I'm so sorry. But what did he do in his establishment?"

"Really," said the melancholy man, "you surprise me! It was a junk shop, in the higher branches of that art. It did a nice business, as you must be aware."

"No; I don't think I am aware," said the reporter.

"Well, well; never mind," said the melancholy man, pausing a moment for the purpose of sobbing; "it's of no consequence. He was a thoroughly conscientious man, and the idol of his family. Nobody ever came begging to his door and went away empty-handed. Nobody ever sought his advice without getting it. He was a man of stern inflexibility, or rather of perfectly pure motives, and all his actions were devoid of guile."

"Jo-seph Thompson," said the reporter, musingly. "Somhow I can't place this man."

"Yes, yes," said the melancholy man, "Joseph Thompson. None knew him but to love him. His business will be continued by his widow at the old stand."

"See here," said the reporter, suddenly. "Did he advertise?"

"N-no," said the melancholy man, "but then—"

"Get out!" said the reporter, with extreme animation. Go to! Go to the deuce! Go to the counting-room! That's where you want to go, without climbing an extra pair of stairs in order to bore me with your infernal corpse. I never knew Joseph Thompson. I don't want to know anything about him. In fact, Joseph Thompson was a fraud, and if he were not dead I should hope he might be hanged."

Women and Dorgs.

"You see, sir," said a New York dog-fancier, "we keep all kinds here. Now, that little toy terrier on the floor there, he's worth $100. A lady came in her carriage yesterday from uptown, and says she, 'I want that dog; he's a darling; I'll give you $75 for him;' but my price was $100, and I didn't weaken. Bless you, she'll be down to-day and have that fellow out of this, with a silver collar round his neck and a long ribbon to lead him. Then she'll be back with him sick in a week from over feed, and want me to cure him. Ha! ha!" (with some contempt in his voice) "these women are wise as serpents with the men, but they don't know nothin' 'bout dorgs."

Too Polite.

M. Jules Favre is soon to be married to Mlle. Velter, Directress of the Maison d'Education Evangelique. The French papers state that Jules is a lively youth of sixty-six. They are too polite to mention anything about the lady's age. And yet she is not as old as Susan B. Anthony.

A Sad Surprise.

The New York Commercial Advertiser relates this: A gentleman at Lake George after waving his handkerchief for half an hour or more at an unknown lady, whom he discovered at a distant point on the shore, was encouraged by a warm response to his signals to approach his charmer. Imagine his feelings, when on drawing nearer, he saw that it was his own dear wife whom he had left at the hotel but a short time before. "Why, how remarkable that we should have recognized each other at such a distance!" exclaimed both at the same breath. And they changed the subject.

Opera House.

Billy Emerson, Ben Cotton, Ernest Linden, Billy Arlington J. K. Kemble and all the minstrels will appear this evening in a great programme of acts and specialties and the thrilling feat entitled "The Aerostatic Voyage," will be performed by Miss Lottie, Frank and Katie. The Opera House is crowded nightly.

California Theatre.

Tom Taylor's admirable play of "Lady Clancarty" should be witnessed by all who can appreciate a good drama and fine acting. Barton Hill has made a decided hit in the character of Lord Clancarty. "Lady Clancarty" will be played every night until further notice.

Maguire's New Theatre.

"Mrs. McGregor's Lovers," in which Mrs. Gourlay sings and acts charmingly, and Mrs. Gourlay appears in a great number of amusing characters, draws good houses. The entertainment has the charm of novelty as well as merit.

Italian Opera.

Miss Ida Valerga made a most successful debut as this Hall last night as Leonora in "Il Trovatore." She has a voice of good quality and a correct style of singing, Miss Frida de Gebele was a good Azucena and Signor Pietro Bacci sang the role of Manrico in his best style.

Platt's Music Hall.

Dr. Healy's Hibernian Gems will be exhibited at the matinee to-day, and this evening the long and very successful season of Irish panorama, Irish songs and Irish comedy, will terminate with a performance for the benefit of The Father Mathew Total Abstinence Society.

Pacific Hall.

The farewell benefit of John and Jennie Moran, which came off at the above-named hall last night was well attended, and an excellent entertainment was given.

Bella Union Theatre.

Miss Lizzie Watson, Harry Braham, Albert De Courcy and others appear in attractive specialties. Miss Kate Raymond, O. B. Collins, and others in the spectacular drama of "The Mountain Queen," and a bright first part and amusing afterpiece are given.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

Edward Barry in serio-comic songs, Miss Lizzie Worrell in dances, Frank Mortimore in acts, Johnny Tuers in song and dance, and many other attractions will be offered this evening.

The Pioneer's Celebration.

On Wednesday, the Society of California Pioneers will inaugurate a three days' celebration of the twenty-fourth anniversary of their formation. The Pioneers from all portions of the State will gather on that day and will march through Montgomery street to Woodward's Gardens, where addresses will be delivered, and patriotic songs sung. After this a collation will be served. At two o'clock there will be a grand entertainment in the Pavilion. Billy Emerson, Ben Cotton, Billy Rice, Ernest Linden, J. F. Oberist, W. F. Baker J. G. Russell and Billy Arlington of Maguire's Minstrel troupe have by kind permission of Manager Maguire volunteered for this occasion, as have also W. S. Lawrence, Professor of Gymnastics, Captain Martin and L. P. Ward, fencing masters and the Baisley Family. At 4 o'clock the great gas balloon, Sierra Nevada will ascend taking as passengers M. M. Fra-sany and Taverney, artists for the New York illustrated papers. After the performance there will be dancing in the Pavilion. On the second day an excursion round the Bay will be made by the Pioneers and guests in the steamer Great Republic, the use of which has been kindly tendered by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. On the evening of the third day the Society will bring their festivities to a close with a grand ball at Union Hall commencing at 9 o'clock. Tickets for the various exercises can be procured at the Hall of the Pioneers, Room No 1, first floor.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Ackerman's.

Have you visited Ackerman's Grand Central Variety Establishment? If not, you have not seen one of the new features of San Francisco. It is a Fair in itself, and visitors are invited to inspect the thousands of beautiful articles therein, and will be received with the utmost courtesy, whether they purchase or not. No. 24 Sutter street near Kearny. 8-bg

Chair and Basket Factory.

The Buckeye Chair and Basket Factory, Walter W. Moses, & Co., proprietors, 920 and 922 Market street, is prepared to execute orders (whole sale and retail) for carriages, cradles, chairs, wood baskets, market baskets etc. The Buckeye, sells everything low as any other responsible house. 7-bg

LINES AND FETTERS.

When the usage was young of a custom now old,
And friendship and love were not barter'd for gold,
A swain sought a fair one, with him to unite,
And shed on his destiny joy and delight.

"I consent" cried the maiden; "I freely consent."
The words had been spoken, but mark the event;
A new lover came to delude her aside.
And prove the light weight of the word of a bride.

Then was first forged the ring, wedded lovers to bind,
And link such free hearts as are found in mankind;
But the fetter of steel was too galling and cold:
And it quickly was changed for a circlet of gold.

Thus an emblem was furnished for marriages now
At first a light chaplet but wreathes the fond brow;
Anon a cold link seems the wedded to chain,
Until gold gives its aid, and in age binds the twain.

Feminine Vagaries.

If to her share some female errors fall,
Look on her face, and you'll forget them all.

Imported night-dresses cost seventy-five dollars. Sleep, dear one, sleep!

A female pawnbroker, arrested for extortion, claimed immunity on the ground that she was a loan woman.

The Russian ladies who have been so successful in concerts in London appear in national costume of blue and white.

The coming new boot will have the Marseilles bottom or the extension edge to the sole, with two rows of stitching, kid topped and morocco foxed.

When a dashing young widow removes all traces of bereavement, feels the shafts of love, and commences to talk of the bridle halter, it's safe to presume she's on the lookout for a Sir single.

The expression of a nervous woman's face upon getting into a dentist's chair is something that no man can imitate until he gets a letter from his mother-in-law sharply inquiring if that square room is ready.

A young gentleman remarked to his sweetheart the other evening. "Ah! the most beautiful evening in my recollection. Luna looks peculiarly beautiful." "Was that she that just went by?" quickly asked the young lady.

Mrs. Marrowfat got very angry at her husband upon detecting him taking a second drink before breakfast, but moderated considerably when he explained to her that it was only to fortify his confidence in the pastor.

A marriage license was recently issued in Washington to a couple whereof the gentleman, while in a state of temporary insanity, attempted to murder the lady he is about to marry. She was bound to have her revenge.

A girl of sixteen, in Buffalo, has fallen so intensely in love with her brother, a youth of twenty-three years, that her parents have sent her out of the country to Germany, where she will be kept at school until her unnatural passion is cured.

There is something very sensible in the impromptu remark of a young lady: "If our Maker thought it wrong for Adam to remain single when there was no woman on earth, how criminally wrong are the old bachelors, with the world full of pretty girls!"

A Brooklyn young woman, who abandoned her old husband, says: "He was too soft, I couldn't be hugging and kissing him all the while—it isn't my disposition. I could not bear to be obliged to sit on his lap and cuddle him every time I wanted a cent!"

Dull Times.

This has been a poor Summer for baseballists. Only two eyes have been knocked out and an arm and leg broken. The national game is falling into discredit when it can't do better than this. We've known one club to furnish, in a lively season, more interesting items for the papers than all the clubs in the country have done this year.

The Fall.

The fall of man was a very lamentable event in one way of looking at it, but if it had not taken place the splendid Hats which are sold at "The Hat Store" 647 Washington street, would never have come into fashion. We make this remark apropos of the fact that this establishment has just introduced the new Fall and Winter styles.

The Green Room.

This popular resort of the profession and all epicures who can appreciate good liquors and a good lunch, is directly opposite the California Theatre. It has just been beautifully frescoed and is now a model of taste and elegance. Everybody goes to the Green Room between the acts. x

WHO OCCUPY THE STALLS.

Hepburn has opened stall 4, with fresh meats of all kinds. Families and restaurants supplied on the shortest notice.

Stall 36, Holm & Boyle have a splendid assortment butter, eggs, cheese and a general assortment of fancy groceries. Goods delivered free.

Stalls 39 and 40 are occupied by Kerlin & Hassard, dealers in fruits, vegetables, etc., of the best and freshest. Delivered free of charge.

Stall 3, makes a magnificent show of fresh meats. Jos. O. de Volt & Co., wholesale and retail dealers, have one of the nicest stalls in the market. Restaurants and families will find it to their advantage to give them a call.

BOSTON OYSTER HOUSE.—L. O. Pratt has opened stalls 89 and 90 in Centre Market. Oysters in every style. Chops and Steaks of the choicest. Ladies private rooms up stairs. 7-E

Stalls 91, 92 and 93, have been opened by Anderson & Marshall as the Long Branch oyster house. They are among the oldest oyster men in the city.

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name.
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners,"
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 562 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc. printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well known Printing House was established by he present proprietor in 1850, and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges moderate. D. G. M. Hepburn, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. 8-T

SOLDIERS'
WAR CLAIM AGENCY,
No. 34 Montgomery Block,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

W. S. AIKEN, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW AND Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in California and Nevada, gives prompt attention to the collection of Additional Travel Pay, now due California and Nevada Volunteers discharged more than three hundred miles from home. Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply, and state company and regiment, and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional Bounty not to Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875 so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 2 d, 1861, for three years, if not paid the same when discharged. Land Warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed, for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed to Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted Pensions to surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. S. Aiken also attends to General Law and Collection business. jy24-tf

Be Careful.

It makes considerable difference to a lady in a faint whether you gently sprinkle her face with a few drops of water, press a bottle of camphor to her nose, or deluge her countenance with ink. A youth who lives on Folsom street knows this. His "dearest pet" was scared the other evening by a mouse which got into the room while they were in one of their tenderest moods. She gave one gentle sigh and keeled over into the arms of Augustus. He kissed her several times; but that didn't have the required effect. He laid her tenderly on the sofa, and then went hunting through the room for something with which to bring her back to life. He could find no smelling salts, no water. What could he do? He saw a big bottle. That was the thing. He grasped it, pulled the cork, and then poured some of the ink on her beauteous face. She recovered rapidly. But he won't. It takes longer to get rid of a black eye and a diagrammed face than to recover from a faint. No cards of invitation are likely to be issued in this case, although a good deal of sticking plaster has been used.

Alas! Alas!

A young lady of Friedenau, in Germany, having quarrelled with her betrothed, decided that life was no longer worth having under the circumstances, and resolved to poison herself. She therefore procured a bundle of lucifer matches, took the chemical composition from their heads, collected it in a cup of coffee, drank off the mixture, and lay down in her bed to await the approach of death. Violent pains soon came on, and the young sufferer began to sigh and groan so that her parents heard the sounds and hastened to her assistance. On ascertaining the cause of her illness, they ran in an agony of anxiety to the doctor, who, returning with them, found the poor girl convulsed with cramp. Having examined both the patient and the remains of the lucifer matches, he pronounced the draught swallowed by the would-be-suicide to be entirely harmless, as the matches were of Swedish make and contained no phosphorus. The cramp turned out to be the result of terror at the anticipated agonies of death, and the poor little maid was soon restored to perfect health.

A Live Paper.

The following description of how the present proprietor of the Chronicle commenced life as editor of an amateur paper is taken from the Chronicle itself. It is a very good picture of the Young paper: "He imitates mature journalism to the best of his immature ability, expanding his thin ideas to the greatest possible breath, and making his paper as he can the copy of the first-class journals of the large city. He has his editorial and local department, his book reviews, and holds his editorial conventions after the manner of a grave and serious puppet show. He has recently begun to progress at an accelerated rate of speed, and has fairly entered the sphere of impersonal journalism."

"The Homestead."

Dora Darmoore has moved her paper called The Homestead from Oakland to San Francisco. Dora is by no means radical in her ideas, doesn't care whether women get the suffrage or not, and is willing to float along with the tide. Let her float.

A Popular Ticket.

The Boston Courier says: Our ticket for the next presidental campaign is Phineas T. Barnum for President, and Henry Ward Beecher for Vice.

Olive Logan.

The Philadelphia All Day City Item of the 1st says: "The Woman Who Talks," was produced at the Walnut Street Theatre last evening, with Miss Olive Logan as the heroine, Mrs. Merryweather, supported by an excellent cast, including Mr. Charles Walcot, Miss Josephine Baker, Mr. George Howard, Mrs. W. A. Chapman, Mr. W. H. Bailey, Mr. W. A. Chapman, etc. The piece was neatly placed upon the stage, and was very kindly received by a good sized audience.

"The Woman Who Talks," cannot be called a comedy—it is more of a three-act farce than anything else, and tinged with a spirit more French than American. It constantly crops out with smart sayings, and relies more upon its dialogue than its plot.

This is a mistake, for while the dialouge is clever, is is not brilliant, and the many smart sayings go off so constantly, like so many torpedoes, that their snapping becomes somewhat tiresome. Miss Logan is a lady of intelligence and ability. She is precisely what one of the Chicago papers called her—"a thorough Bohemienne. She has written novels, plays, poems—everything, for that matter; has appeared on the stage, in the lecture room, etc. Her nature seems to be restless—she is either here, there, or somewhere else so constantly, that it is difficult to follow her.

Miss Logan's former plays are a dramatization of Wilkie Collins' novel, "Armadale" and a farcical comedy, entitled "Surf," which was originally brought out at the Arch Street Theatre, in this city, some half dozen years since, and proved successful because it was light and amusing, and because Mrs. Drew introduced a mechanical effect, representing the waves dashing on the beach.

The fault with everything Miss Logan does is its flippancy. "The Woman Who Talks" is frothy and as light and airy as feather-down. It amuses—but makes no deeper impression than a Charlotte de Russe does when compared to the dinner that has preceded it. Yes, Miss Logan is clever, and as another journal says (among the "opinions of the press" that Miss Logan has issued in pamphlet form for circulation among the audience), "she could not write anything that was not clever, even if she tried." But it takes something more than mere cleverness to write a so-called comedy that is not a farce, and, therefore, Miss Logan, while she has in "The Woman Who Talks," produced an amusing and very Summer-like piece, has not accomplished anything to be remembered.

The plot of "The Woman Who Talks," is of the slightest possible kind. The first Act is a mere introduction of the characters, and (as is the case through the entire play) it is not alone Mrs. Merryweather who talks. There is a constant chattering, and a constant effort to say something smart. And, it may be added, Miss Logan's wit is eminently French—flavored sometimes, as a natural consequence, with what the French call grossel.

The gayly dressed characters remind us of the fluttering of butterflies in the sunshine. Certainly a very bright and pretty picture, and somewhat monotonous.

As Mrs. Merryweather, Miss Logan was guilty of the same fault of which she accuses Mrs. Bodgerham—a tendency to talk through her nose. Miss Logan lacked reserve power—her efforts to make her points were too palpable—she needed repose of manner. Her desire that the smallest boy in the gallery, and the deafest old gentleman on the back seat of the parquet circle, should hear everything she said, was somewhat too visible. But, she was agreeable, and made a favorable impression, for she was called out after each Act, and received flowers from some generous admirer.

The Fair affords an agreeable lounging place for the ladies. The gentlemen's popular resort is Chapmen & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, northeast corner of Bush and Kearny streets, with the entrance on Bush. There they assemble nightly to play billiards, discuss new plays and new actors, and enjoy the good wines, liquors and cigars always kept here. 6-1

Art Appreciated.

An editor in New Jersey had a little nephew only six months old, and the little nephew died. Some of the editor's friends considered that it would be a good thing to give the afflicted uncle a substantial expression of their sympathy; so they contracted with a local sculptor for a grave-stone. The design consisted of an angel carrying the little one in her arms and flying away, while a woman sat weeping upon the ground. It was executed horribly. The tombstone was sent to the editor, with a simple request that he would accept it. As he was absent, the junior editor determined to acknowledge it, although he hadn't the slightest idea what it meant. So next day he burst out in the paper with the following remarks:

ART NEWS.

We have received from the hands of our eminent sculptor, Feliz Mullene, a comic bas relief designed for an ornamental fire-board. It represents an Irishman in his night-shirt running away with the little god Cupid, while the Irishman's sweetheart hides her head indifferently in the corner. Every true work of art tells its own story; and we understand, as soon as we glance at this, that our Irish friend has been coqueted with by the fair one, and is pretending to transfer his love to other quarters. There is a lurking smile on the Irishman's lips which expresses his mischievous intentions perfectly. We think it would have been better, however, to have clothed him in something else than a night-shirt, and to have smoothed down his hair. We have placed this chef d'œuvre beneath our parlor mantlepiece, where it will surely be admired by our friends when they call. We are glad to encourage such progress in local art.

This was painful. A committee called upon the editor when he returned, and explained the tombstone to him; and that very day an assistant editor was seen coming down stairs six steps at a time and flying up street without coat or hat, with an editor-in-chief close behind with a club. Persons desiring the services of an assistant editor can probably find this man by hunting among the Summer boarding-houses on the banks of the Yang-tse-Kiang river. He will remain in Asia until the New Jersey uncle cools off.

A Christian Crowd.

The Washington Critic of the 1st says: It is gratifying to know that there are some among the members of Plymouth Church who realize the disgraceful character of last Friday night's riot. So well had the Plymouth Christians learned the "muscular Christianity," of which their pastor has long been the recognized apostle, that but for the protecting truncheons of the police, they would almost have torn Frank Moulton limb from limb. "Club him," "knock him down," "shoot him," "give him h—ll," —such were the cries, according to the Tribune, Herald, and other papers, by which these followers of the meek and lowly Jesus exhorted each other to an observance of the Divine precepts, "Bless them that curse you," "Pray for them that despitefully use you and persecute you." By such cries and corresponding actions they exhibited the estimation in which they held the golden rule of equity, "Whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so to them."

Shocking as their conduct was, it does not in the least surprise us. It is what might reasonably have been expected of a congregation who are willing to receive their gospel from the lips of a man who stands accused of a revolting crime, who has furnished in his own letters and conduct a strong presumptive evidence of his guilt, and whose character has had no other vindication than a report based upon a sham trial, and made by a committee which the accused himself appointed. Such a congregation is not Christian, and can cast no stain upon Christianity, unless the Christian world shall voluntarily compromise itself by giving countenance and support to such proceedings.

Just the Thing.

Those graceful little hanging pockets worn by the ladies now, are just the thing. Jones says he picked a note out of one and learned that Smith had the start of him, which saved him the humiliation of being rejected.

A Flourishing Paper.

The Chronicle says that the Alta and the Call are down on it, not because it is an unprincipled paper, but because it is so "flourishing." The Chronicle flourishes like a toadstool.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

"Lady Clancarty," with Mrs. Henrietta Chanfrau in the title role, and Barton Hill as Lord Clancarty, will be performed this evening.

Maguire's New Theatre.

The Gourlays will appear in their illustrations of Scotch character this evening. On Friday these artistes will take a benefit, and it is expected that those in San Francisco who came from the land o' cakes, will rally on this occasion. On Monday Mademoiselle Zoe, the Cuban sylph, will commence an engagement.

Opera House.

This house is crowded to suffocation every night. Billy Emerson, Ben Cotton, Billy Arlington, and all the old favorites appear and Miss Lottie and Katie and their brother Frank, electrify the audience by their wonderful trapeze performance.

Bella Union Theatre.

Miss Lizzie Watson, Harry Braham, Albert de Courcy, Miss Kate Raymond, O. B. Collins and a host of others appear nightly in an entertainment comprising many attractive specialties, a grand spectacular drama, bright first part and screaming after piece.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

Hughey Robinson, Harry Devoy and Edward Barry are appearing at this house in "Bad Whisky" and causing much fun, Johnny Tuers appear nightly in song and dance. The sensational drama of the "Brand of Shame," is underlined for early production.

The Pioneer's Celebration.

All San Francisco seemed to join heartily with the Pioneers in celebrating yesterday. The streets were lined with people three and four deep while the procession passed, and Woodward's Gardens, where the exercises took place, were so full that there was scarcely any chance to see anything but the crowd. Everything went off well with the exception of the balloon. The gas company generously (?) donated the gas for the ascension and allowed such short measure that the balloon, instead of rising in the air feebly dragged itself over the top of a building and spilled the occupants of the basket. It was too good a load of lives to be risked in this manner—Thomas Newcomb, Paul Franzeny and Jules Tavernier. With the exception of this disgraceful fiasco, the result of the meanness of the Gas Company whose light by no means shines favorably before men, the festivities of the day were well carried out. To-day (Thursday), an excursion round the Bay is being made by the Pioneers and their guests in the steamer Great Republic, the use of which has been kindly tendered by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. On the evening of the third day the Society will bring their festivities to a close with a grand ball at Union Hall commencing at 9 o'clock. Tickets for the various exercises can be procured at the Hall of the Pioneers, Room No 1, first floor.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old-fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,'
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Ackerman's.

Have you visited Ackerman's Grand Central Variety Establishment? If not, you have not seen one of the new features of San Francisco. It is a Fair in itself, and visitors are invited to inspect the thousands of beautiful articles therein, and will be received with the utmost courtesy, whether they purchase or not. No. 269 Sutter street near Kearny. 8-bg

Chair and Basket Factory.

The Buckeye Chair and Basket Factory, Walter W. Moses, & Co., proprietors, 920 and 922 Market street, is prepared to execute orders (whole sale and retail) for carriages, cradles, chairs, work baskets, market baskets etc. The Buckeye, sells everything low as any other responsible house. 7-bg

Great Bargains in Clothing:

The only store in the city that has the largest cheapest and finest assortment of Men's and Boys Clothing, is H. Pepper's Montgomery Avenue Clothing Store, 719 Montgomery street, between Washington and Jackson. Also, a large assortment of Men's and Boys' Overcoats and Cloaks and the finest stock of Gents' Furnishing Goods, Trunks, Valises, etc. 2-x

THE VILLAGE BEAUTY.

There she stands just within the trellised porch,
Her fair face turned to meet the Summer air,
Half standing, and half leaning lazily
Against the lattice, thick with flowerets fair.

Here bend the roses heavily from the stem,
And spreads the jasmine in profusion sweet;
The grand westeria droops above her head,
While pink-fringed daisies blossom at her feet,

The eglantine caresses her young cheek,
The soft wind frolics with her shining hair,
And a truant lock escaped from the band
Flutters its gold on her forehead fair.

Her hat hangs listlessly down from her hand,
While her fingers toy with its ribbons blue:
From under her simple but dainty dress
Peeps a tiny foot in a buckled shoe.

She gazes dreamily out on the scene
Of coppice, and lane, and sunny field,
With eyes whose lustre their lashes strive
In vain to conceal, though they may shield.

A stillness lies in the scented air,
A delicious languor broods over all,
And nought is heard save the hum of bees,
And the murmur of some brooklet's fall.

Ask not her thoughts, seek not to understand
The subjects which engross her maiden mind,
For if we knew them, they perchance might be
What in so sweet a place 'twere strange to find.

But fondly hope that they would be fit theme
For painter's canvas, or for poet's sonnet;
How it would mar the tender scene to know!
Her thoughts were centred in her next new Bonnet!

Humor of the Scandal.

The Rochester Democrat and Chronicle says:

The champion interviewer lives in Brooklyn. There are a good many of him, and he is remarkably alive and healthy. He stopped a funeral procession the other day. "See here," said he to the manager of the hearse, "give us a moment, you know." "What the deuce do you want?" said the hearse-man. "Your opinion regarding the Beecher scandal," and the champion produced his book. "Go to the—go to Moulton, said the hearse man, and he drove on. The reporter was indignant, but he was not to be intimidated. He followed the procession to the grave. He interrupted the bearers in their melancholy work. He asked the mourners, "Come, now, what do you think of the Beecher scandal?"

They replied between sobs, "that he must really let them alone, and why in the name of propriety didn't he go to the—go to Mr. Moulton, for instance!" "I think I never saw such infernal impudence before in my life," said the champion reporter; but he was still confident and determined. "I am the resurrec—" began the minister. "See here," whispered the champion reporter, softly tapping him on the shoulder, "business of importance, old fellow. I beg your pardon, but it admits of no delay." "For heaven's sake," said the minister, "what is it?" "It's the Beecher scandal," said the champion reporter. "I want to know, you know—" "Sir," interrupted the minister, for the first time filling out a sentence often begun and rarely concluded, "go to the devil! And if you ever interrupt me again in these peculiar exercises I'll thrash you within an inch of your life!" And what does the champion reporter say? Simply that these ministers live too high anyhow, and they're getting so lately they can't answer so little a thing as a civil question.

A Free Translation.

The following translation was made by a Frenchman who professed to teach languages, and who thought he was telling the story in really beautiful English: "A lady which was to dine child to her servant that she not had used butter enough. This girl, for to excuse himselve, was bring a little cat on the hand, and told that she came to take him in the crime finishing to eat the two pounds from butter who remain. The lady took immediately the cat whom was put in the balances, it just weighed that two pound. 'This is all the very much well for the butter,' the lady then she said, 'but where is the cat?'"

The Fall.

The fall of man was a very lamentable event in one way of looking at it, but if it had not taken place the splendid Hats which are sold at "The Hat Store" 647 Washington street, would never have come into fashion. We make this remark apropos of the fact that this establishment has just introduced the new Fall and Winter styles.

The Green Room.

This popular resort of the professian and all epicures who can appreciate good liquors and a good lunch, is directly opposite the California Theatre. It has just been beautifully frescord and is now a modle of taste and elegance. Everybody goes to the Green Room between the acts. x

Stalls 39 and 40 are occupied by Kerlin & Hassard, dealers in fruits, vegetables, etc., o the best and freshest. Delivered free of charge.

Stall 3, makes a magnificent show of fresh meats. Jos. O. de Volt & Co., wholesale and retail dealers, have one of the nicest stalls in the market. Restaurants and families will find it to their advantage to give them a call.

BOSTON OYSTER HOUSE.—L. O. Pratt has opened stalls 89 and 90 in Centre Market. Oysters in every style. Chops and Steaks of the choicest. Ladies private rooms up stairs. 7-E

Stalls 91, 92 and 93, have been opened by Anderson & Marshall as the Long Branch oyster house. They are among the oldest oyster men in the city.

Swain's original bakery has opened a magnicent place at 213 Sutter street, near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of sparkling waters, made a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen!
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a T."
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins!
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners,"
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.
Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.
CHARLES HAAKE, Proprietor.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply, and state company and regiment, and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional Bounty under Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 2d, 1861, for three years, if not paid the same when discharged. Land Warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed to Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted Pensions to surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. S. The Pioneers' Excursion.

The Pacific Mail Company, with unprecedented liberality, tendered to the Pioneers' their mammoth steamer Great Republic, fully equiped and most bountifully supplied with edibles and drinkables, free of charge, for the excursion, yesterday. The steamer, and its management, was all that could be desired. But the management—or rather, lack of management on the part of the gentlemen that had the affair in hand in behalf of the Pioneer Society, of this city—was simply and plainly disgraceful in the extreme. The greed of overselling tickets was the first great fault of the committee. There were 2000 persons on board the Great Republic, and many hundreds were detained on the wharf with tickets in their hands unable to obtain passage on the overcrowded steamer, and yet we are requested to believe that only 1350 tickets were issued. We beg to be excused.

On board the steamer the interior Pioneer organizations, who should have been the honored guests of the San Francisco Pioneers, received no more attention at the hands of the committee than the Chinese deck hands did. No committee of arrangements was there to see that they were supplied with a share of the good things so bountifully provided by the Mail Company. If any of them obtained a snack of lunch, it was by persistent struggling and fighting for it with the rabble, at the door of the saloon in which the tables were spread. Even Marshall, the original discoverer of gold, came ashore dinnerless, and with the exception of a Sacramento pioneer taking him aft, after three-quarters of the passengers had landed on the wharf, and introducing him to the few left on board, unnoticed. The Committee appropriated to themselves the state-rooms and officers quarters, with their little cliques of friends, and enjoyed themselves hugely in drinking champagne and partaking of the choicest of the Mail Company's good things. The interior societies felt keenly the insult, and were open-mouth in denouncing the treatment they had received at the hands of the Committee. The Pioneers should call a grand meeting and openly apologize for the indignities offered in their name to their general guests—the Interior Pioneer Associations—and return the sums each society paid for their tickets.

A Portland Museum.

While Madame Anna Bishop was in Portland, she received an offer of an engagement which she declined. A gentleman who had a museum consisting of a stuffed porcupine, a armadillo, a boa constrictor, a three-headed calf and other strange animals, wished her to sing ballads during the pauses in his descriptive lecture. He issued handbills adorned with a likeness of the porcupine and as an inducement to Madame Anna Bishop, he promised to give her a line in the bill fully equally to that of his star attraction or even to publish her likeness immediately beneath that of the porcupine. Madame Anna Bishop declining the offer, the enterprising proprietor of the museum went for Jester, the man with the Talking Hand, and succeeded in effecting an engagement with him.

A Free Rendering.

A little boy that went to church was cautioned to remember the text, which was: "Why stand ye all the day idle? Go into my vineyard, and whatsoever is right I will pay thee." Johnny came home and was asked to repeat the text. He thought it over awhile, and then cried out: "What d'ye stand round here doin' noffin' for? Go into my barnyard and work; I'll make it all right with you."

The Right to Hiss.

One McDermott, in a song called the "D—d Scamp," at the Royal Music Hall, Holborne, London, included these lines: "If ever there was a d—d scamp, I flatter myself I am he. From Cain to Sir Roger, or Brigham to Odger, they can't hold a candle to me." The Odger alluded to was the noted Republican of that name, and his son, John, a robust young man of twenty, hearing of the lines, went with Mr. Bailey, a friend, to resent them. Both hissed vigorously, and were ejected, but not without a pugilistic defense on their part. For this defense they were arrested by Sweasy, the proprietor, for assault, and appeared at the Bow-street Police Court, on the 14th. Mr Richetts, counsel for defendants, pleaded that the way in which Mr. Odger's name was used in the song was outrageous. Though simply a politician, entertaining views which might not be approved by the majority, his name was coupled with those of felons. No young man could be expected to endure such an insult to a parent, and the hissing was deserved. The play of "Babagas," in which Orton was made to figure at the St. James' Theatre, had been suppressed a year or two before, and excisions had also been required by the censor from the "Happy Land," at another theatre, which burlesqued Messrs. Gladstone, Ayrton and Lowe. If theatres were not allowed to make offensive political allusions, there was no reason why music halls should do so. Justice Flowers took that view of the case and dismissed the defendants, arguing that they had a right to hiss and a right to defend themselves when seized.

A Wasted Opportunity.

A Washington correspondent says: We enjoyed a hearty laugh at the expense of our old and valued friend, Captain Goodman. In the last hours of the late Congress the Captain came tumbling down stairs in hot search for some one to carry from the committee room of Commerce a patent fog horn intrusted to his care by an ingenious Yankee acquaintance. At the foot of the stairway he encountered a colored man sauntering along, pulling away at a huge cigar. "My good fellow," cried the Captain, "I'll give you a dollar to carry down my fog-horn." "Who de debble do you take me foh?" responded Africa, drawing himself up in dignified wrath. "An able-bodied man, willing to make a dollar," responded Goodman. "Den you don't know me sah," "No sir, and I have no time to seek an introduction. Who are you, anyhow?" "Me, sah? I'se de honorable Mr. Cain, member of Congress." "You don't say," remarked the Captain, thoughtfully. "Well Mr Cain, I am sorry, for you have probably lost the only opportunity you will ever have of making an honest dollar."

A Modern Sapphira Found Out.

A very funny scene was noticed in Westminster Abbey in connection with the hospital Sunday services. The collectors were coming round with little bags for the offertory, and people began to take out their purses to hold their money in hand ready to give it. A lady of rank and fashion, well known at the west end, was one of the congregation, and as the bag approached she somewhat ostentatiously displayed a sovereign—nay, rather, she tried, ineffectually, to slip a three-penny piece into the bag—but the coin struck on the gilt edge of the receptacle, and had to be placed inside by the collectors. To say that the lady blushed is not to describe the scarlet appearance of her face when she saw how she had been detected in her little fraud. Those who stood by and saw the shabby act gazed at her in amazement, and in a minute she turned deadly pale, as though she would have fainted. Then she turned and left the church.

The Fair affords an agreeable lounging place for the ladies. The gentlemen's popular resort is Chapman & Terrill's Billiard Parlor, northeast corner of Bush and Kearny streets, with the entrance on Bush. Frank Mayo as Davy Crockett.

The dramatic critic of the Boston Courier says:

At the Boston Theatre, Mr. Frank Mayo, as Davy Crockett, has attracted even larger audiences than last year. It seems to be one of the peculiarities of this admirable play that people can see it the third and fourth time even with greater enjoyment than the first. Mr. Mayo's rendition of the principal character has changed a little since last year, being quieter, and, if possible, even more effective. If Mr. Mayo's impersonation of Davy Crokett possessed only the one merit of being an absolute flawless exposition of the dialect of the Southwest, it would deserve all the exceptional success which it has achieved. But when, in addition to this, is superadded its lesson of noble sacrifice and heroic manhood, interpreted with telling force by a happy method and a happier personality, we feel that society at large is put under new obligations to Mr. Mayo with every performance of the play, as exerting a palpable and abiding influence for good. In the gallery of American dramatic art there are as yet but two masterpieces—Rip Van Winkle and Davy Crockett, and of the two I prefer the latter, not only as having a truer flavor of the soil, but as being infused with a larger, heartier humanity. It would be difficult to imagine a more perfect piece of acting than Jefferson's Rip Van Winkle, but Mayo's Davy Crockett is in every respect its compeer. The happy go-lucky vagabond of Irving moves us alternately to smiles and tears by his very helplessness. He has our sympathy from first to last; we laugh and cry with him continually, but never respect him once. In the case of the Tennessee backwoodsman we are first charmed with the child-like symplicity of his manner, and then thrilled into admiration by his joyous readiness to sacrifice his life for the woman he loves—holding it as the merest nothing when weighed in the balance with her saftey. He is as simple and kindly as Rip himself, but in him these qualities are untinged by vagabondism. His simplicity is that of a deep, tender nature—rude it may be, and uncultivated from lack of association and education, but in its proportions massive, Homeric. Without derogating in any wise from Mr. Jefferson's originality, it is none the less true that both Burke and Hackett played Rip Van Winkle before him, and as he enjoyed the privilege of witnessing their performances it is safe to infer (while conceding his superiority) that he has not been altogether uninfluenced by the conceptions of his predecessors. With Mayo it is altogether different. He is the absolute creator of Davy Crockett. No other man has ever played it. Murdoch's gold bears lies his mark alone. His likeness is stamped upon it, and with no other man's will it pass for genuine coin. The character is his by the divine right of paternity. It exists as a living reality by the inspiration of his breath—by the transfusion of his life blood. There is nothing in Jefferson's Rip Van Winkle even remotely bearing upon our national character, but Mayo's Crockett is a type of the intensest Americanism, in the higher and nobler sense of that word. It belongs to no country save ours—it could exist in no other and is the noblest type which our institutions have as yet produced. And, dramatically speaking, I hail it as the

NEW BIRTH OF OUR NEW SOIL, THE FIRST AMERICAN.

The cast of the piece was pretty much the same as last year, with the exception of Mr. Alexander Fitzgerald, who played Oscar Crompton, and was a decided improvement upon Mr. Bichmond, Miss Rosa Rand was as winning, as womanly, and as pretty as ever. She certainly plays Eleanor Vaughn exquisitely, but it is a little cruel that in the present dearth of leading ladies fate should confine her efforts to the one part when they might be profitably employed upon many.

A Peaceful House.

What do the crusaders think of this? At Dunmow, England, there is annually given a "flitch of bacon" to the married couple who can swear that for a year and a day they have had no quarrel. This year the bacon was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Clegg. Mr. C. is clerk in the office of a wine merchant. We'd like to see the husband of a crusader who would voluntarily come forward and swear that he and his wife hadn't a quarrel for a year and a day. If he did we guess he be discovered to be like that fellow who when on the witness stand was asked: "Yes, sir, we never quarrel." His wife, who was in court, remarked loud enough to be heard in every part of the court room: "I'd like to catch him quarreling with me. There's but one party in our house that quarrels, I'm she."
